Federal Deficit Climbs Beyond Early Estimate

$8 1-2 Billion In Red For Year Is Record Revealed

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—An administration official said today the government expects to wind up the present fiscal year on Tuesday about 8 1-2 billion dollars in the red. This would be a deficit of about 2 1-2 billion more than former President Truman estimated in his January budget.

The same high official, looking ahead to the next 12 months, said it is going to be "very difficult to avoid some inflation," despite the Eisenhower government's "sound money" stand. The government still will be spending much more than it takes in, and that may mean new general price rises.

The official, who asked not to be named, said it would be no surprise if the Federal Reserve Board had to assist sometime this fall by unfreezing more bank reserves—as it did this week—or by increasing the money supply in other ways to keep government borrowing from exhausting credit supplies or forcing interest rates still higher.

Such action would be bound to build up inflationary pressures, but, the official said, the government will try to manage its borrowing so as to minimize inflationary effects.

By next spring, he said, the government expects to start reducing its debt sharply.

Corporation taxes have fallen 1⅛ billion dollars or more lower than was expected for this fiscal year, and individual income taxes will run about 750 million behind expectations, the official said, despite the fact that tax collections were at record highs this year.

Expenditures, he said, are going to be close to the $74,600,000,000 estimated by the Truman administration, so the $5,900,000,000 deficit predicted by Truman will be increased by as much as tax re-

Francis Keever's Body May Arrive In U. S. July 29

The body of Pfc. Francis W. Keever, son of Mrs. Ruby A. Keever, 2615 Price Street, Monroe, will be among the bodies of 120 Americans who gave their lives as a result of the fighting in Korea and who are being returned to the United States aboard the SS Rider Victory, the department of defense announced today.

The ship is expected to arrive at the San Francisco port of embarkation on or about June 29.

Bodies consigned to points east of the Mississippi River will be placed in rail mortuary cars for transportation to Brooklyn army base, New York, for delivery under escort to next of kin. Those for burial west of the Mississippi River will be placed in the San Francisco port of embarkation mortuary for delivery as rapidly as arrangements with next of kin can be effected.

It is not yet known just when the body of Pfc. Keever will arrive in Monroe or when funeral services will be held.

Sleep Climber Is Found Nude On Tree Branch

ENID, Okla., June 27 — UP — Oklahoma's fat harvest moon does different things to different people.

A 27-year-old Enid housewife, for instance, has a habit of walking in her sleep when the moon is full. Early Saturday, such a stroll took her, completely nude, to a tree in her backyard. She then became a sleep-climber.

The husband, a utility worker, missed his wife about 1 a.m. He found her 15 feet up on branches of the three, dreamily picking leaves and letting them waft to the ground.

Firemen came quietly and put a net around the tree. Then the husband climbed up after his wife. Together they fell into the net as he tried to awake her. The woman roused with the fall and began to cry.

Ailing Churchill Gets Rest Order

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Wan and exhausted, 78-year-old Prime Minister Churchill retired today to his country home on doctor's orders for a "complete rest" of at least a month, and thereby forced the Big Three to postpone their Bermuda conference again.

The Forign Office said he would meet President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel on the Atlantic isle as soon as he is fit again for vital talks on such issues as Korea and a possible Big Four showdown conference with Soviet Premier Malenkov.

Churchill, who drives himself mercilessly, buckled under the strain of simultaneously running the government, playing his role in coronation festivities and acting for ailing Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the No. 2 man in the British government who is recovering in Boston from a gall bladder operation.

A world-renowned nerve specialist is attending him.

The elder statesman has planned to sail for Bermuda Tuesday night on the battleship Vanguard. The conference had been set for July 8 after being postponed from two earlier dates because France was without a premier. Only yesterday the way was finally cleared by the French National Assembly's approval of Laniel as the new premier.

C. D. Chief Appointed For State

BATON ROUGE, June 27 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon announced today the appointment of Brig. Gen. Francis Woolfley as state director of civil defense.

Woolfley will become the second paid civil defense director since the post was created in 1950. He succeeds Brig. Gen. Dave Haas, whose resignation becomes effective June 30.

A professional soldier for 39 years, Woolfley is a native of New Orleans and a former commandant of cadets at Louisiana State University. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1917 and a brigadier general in 1943.

Woolfley has seen service in the Mexican Border Campaigns, World War I, and in the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater of World War II.

He has 15 years military experience in Louisiana, including two tours of duty as senior army instructor for the Louisiana National Guard.

His salary will be set Wednesday by Adjutant Gen. Raymond Fleming.

According to law, the civil defense director serves at the pleasure of the governor and his salary is fixed by the attorney general and approved by the governor.

The governor said Woolfley will receive a salary similar to that paid the last salaried director, somewhere between $7,000 and $9,000 a year. The last paid director was L. W. Eaton Jr. of Baton Rouge.

Previous directors who served without pay include Brig. Gen. Raymond Huft, former Lt. Gov. William J. Dodd, Douglas Manship and Haas.

Institute Reports On Lead Eating Termites

WASHINGTON, June 27—UP—Have you seen termites that eat through lead, thrive on arsenic, or kill off entire living trees?

The Smithsonian Institute says you can find all this and more at its tropical biological station on Barro Colorado Island in the canal zone.

For example, there is an "experimental cemetery" there where row of upright posts, half-buried in the soil like grave markers, served as testing blocks for poisons against the island's 42 species of termites.

The station has made some 35,000 tests to date. James Zetez, director, says he is more and more impressed with the "contrariness and ingenuity" of the blind, antlike animals that are one of man's most costly tropical enemies.

In a news release on termites, the Smithsonian says one of the 42 species of termites in the canal zone gnaws its way through lead sheathing on cables—not because it likes lead but in hopes of finding wood underneath.

This particular termite, known as coptotermes niger, also has been known to eat through a concrete floor nearly five inches thick in search of "digestible wood."

The Smithsonian reports that races of termites have developed on Barro, Colorado which "thrive on arsenic," having become resistant to it over a few generations.

The Smithsonian holds out some hope, however, against the tiny wood-eaters: Some 400 different treatments have been tested to date, "some of which appear to have been entirely successful in experimental buildings."

Another Billion Is Pared From Defense Budget

House Solons Endorse Ike's Air Force Aims

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today strongly endorsed President Eisenhower's reduced 120-wing Air Force goal and cut another billion dollars from his pruned down defense budget for next year.

The committee sent to the House a military budget $34,434,140,500 for the year beginning July 1.

This is $6,285,790,500 (15.4 per cent) below the "minimum" figures submitted by the Eisenhower administration. Secretary of Defense Wilson had asked the committee to avoid adding further cuts to the five billion dollars already slashed by the administration from the Truman estimates.

The committee, in a report flaying the military services for "chaotic" financial practices and "administrative hodge-podge," said it might have made deeper reductions if given more time.

The new budget is ample for defense under foreseeable conditions,

Squally Weather Watched

NEW ORLEANS, June 27—UP—A squally, "suspicious" weather disturbance, the type that breeds hurricanes, was reported Saturday by the U. S. weather bureau in the Gulf of Mexico from a point southwest of New Orleans to Brownsville, Texas.

The bureau defined the condition as a "low pressure trough," and said that ships in the area had been asked to report winds and barometric pressures. A spokesman said that the highest winds reported were 30-miles-an hour.

"We're merely watching this condition because it's the right time of the year for hurricanes," the spokesman said, "but so far there is nothing to indicate that a major storm will develop."

The New Orleans bureau by early Saturday had not considered the storm important to ask for an inspection by Navy planes.

Should the disturbance develop into a tropical storm it would be called "Barbara." This season's first storm, "Alice," boiled up in the Gulf on the first of June, nearly dissipated, then picked up speed again and developed winds of 50-miles an hour before it blew itself out near the Florida coast.

Danish Ducks Stage Drainpipe Descent

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 27 (AP)—Eight ducklings and their mother stopped traffic in Copenhaven this morning, baffled police and firemen trying to rescue them from a roof and finally rescued themselves.

Each time the would-be rescuers put a ladder to the roof, the mother led her brood in a dizzying walk along the rain gutter. Finally, the mother walked over an outlet. The eight ducklings, faithfully following her, plopped down the pipe, zip, zip, zip, one after another.

When mama saw them all lined up on the street, she flew down to join them.

Confused ROKs Helped By Rain In Slowing Reds

SEOUL, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—A "confused and fluid" South Korean force fought desperately today, aided by driving rain, against vanguards of 72,000 Chinese Reds driving toward the vital hydro-electric Hwachon Reservoir in East-Central Korea.

Latest reports said the rain had succeeded where the reeling South Koreans had failed in slowing the push 12 miles north of South Korea's biggest electric power source.

But the situation still was officially described as "confused and fluid" on the eastern side of a 13-mile activated front straddling the Pukhan River. A penetration of six or seven more miles would put defenders of the big Hwachon power project under Red artillery fire.

In the west, 40 miles north of Seoul, a Chinese Red division — 10,000 to 12,000 men — knocked South Korean 1st division men off three of five outposts, assaulted since Friday. Censorship clouded the exact points of these attacks beyond placing them west of Yonchon and north of the main Imjin River line.

The East-Central Front drive was the more serious. So far, after gains of more than a mile Saturday, the Reds held nothing but prestige and more hills. But it could begin to hurt if it isn't stopped soon.

A Red advance south would imperil the reservoir area. An equal drive southwest would allow Red artillery to cut the Chunchon-Kumhwa road linking the Central Front. Chunchon is 45 miles northeast of Seoul. Kumhwa is more than 35 miles northwest of Chunchon.

Phillips Given Twelve Years In Byrd Slaying

Floyd Phillips, 72, who was indicted by the Ouachita Parish grand jury in the slaying of Luther Byrd Easter Sunday, was sentenced to 12 years in the state penitentiary at Angola in Fourth District Court. The sentence was meted out by Judge David I. Garrett.

Originally charged with murder by the grand jury, the charge was changed to manslaughter by consent of District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr., and a plea of guilty was entered by Phillips Friday. He waived the customary 24-hour wait before sentencing. Fudickar said the charge was changed because of the advanced age of the defendant.

Phillips shot Byrd, a neighbor, while the latter stood on the back steps of his home in Ward 9, early on the morning of May 5. The homes of the two men were approximately 500 feet apart.

Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita Parish corner, stated immediately following the shooting that Byrd had died from a single blast of a .12 gauge shot gun. The bullets entered Byrd's upper left chest, causing instant death.

Death Decreed For Strangler Of Texas Girl

VERNON, Tex., June 27 (AP)—A West Texas jury ruled tonight Walter E. Whitaker Jr. must die for the strangling of Joyce Fern White.

Whitaker, 21, of Hartford, Conn., sat impassively as the jury decision was read. He had shown no emotion throughout his week long murder trial.

His parents also sat motionless. The elder Whitaker bowed his head.

Whitaker was convicted of murder with malice.

The state accused him of strangling the 18-year-old Lubbock, Tex., high school senior last Jan. 8 saying she wanted to marry him and that he planned with cold malice to get rid of her.

67 Gallons Of Gamma Globulin Are Rushed To Polio Plagued City

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 27 —(AP)— Sixty-seven gallons of costly gamma globulin were flown in here today to inoculate 30,000 children against a mounting polio outbreak.

The Office of Defense Mobilization, official distributing agent of gamma globulin, agreed yesterday to send in the entire available supply of the blood derivative after polio-stricken Montgomery was declared an emergency area.

The serum left the E. R. Squibb & Company plant in New Brunswick, N. J., last night. Officials there said the 250,000 cubic centimeters is the largest single shipment ever dispatched.

Low Down-Payment On Homes Okayed

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House voted today to let President Eisenhower lower down-payment requirements for Federal Housing Administration mortgage loans on low and medium-priced homes.

It also voted him power to extend the mortgage repayment period.

The mortgage liberalization authority was written into a general housing bill which the House passed by voice vote. It is similar to a provision in a Senate-passed measure which now goes to a Senate-House conference to harmonize differences between the two chambers' versions.

Plan To Revamp Defense Branch Receives Okay

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House brushed aside cries of "Prussian military dictatorship today and approved by a 2 to 1 margin President Eisenhower's plan to revamp the Defense Department.

The proposal goes into effect automatically Tuesday unless rejected by a majority of the full membership of the Senate, which so far has shown no inclination to oppose it seriously.

The actual House vote, after 10 hours of debate yesterday and today, came on a resolution by Rep. Condon (D-Calif) to disapprove the projected reorganization. Condon's resolution lost by a 234-108 count. To pass, it would have required 218 votes, a majority of the full House membership.

The unusual Saturday session was called to settle the row, stirred by a determined group of Republicans and Democrats, over sections in the plan which increase the authority of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The rest of the proposal was not in controversy.

Angry Charges Hurled In Profits Tax Fight

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Angry charges swelled from both sides today as President Eisenhower prepared a last-minute appeal for House support in his battle to extend the excess profits tax.

Leaders agreed the floor fight on the issue, set for Monday, would be close and bitter—the toughest the administration has faced in the House this year.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) protested hotly today that Congress members have been "dragged down to the White House" and subjected to pressure to "vote against their own convictions."

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) retorted that opponents of the administration move are trying "to confuse the issue" by attacking the procedure involved rather than the President's proposal itself.

House GOP leaders repeated confident predictions that when the chips were down, the administration would win. Some foes conceded the odds favored the President.

Rep. Priest (Tenn), acting Democratic leader, told a reporter his best estimate was that the issue could be decided by 10 votes in the 431-man House—and it could go either way.

Eisenhower, taking a week end out of town at Thurmont, Md., was reported reliably to have prepared a message to the House expressing this theme:

That despite the unusual procedure—admittedly the hottest issue—a vote against the bill would be a vote against the President's program to reduce the federal deficit, fight inflation and restore "a

The possibility of another meet ing was seen in the sudden chang in official plans for President E senhower's envoy, Walter S. Rob ertson, to tour the front today. I was announced that the U. S. as sistant secretary of state's front line trip either would be called of or drastically cut.

The "other two points" th spokesman referred to were Rhee' previous insistence upon withdraw al of Allied and Chinese Com munist forces from Korea and three-month time limit on politica conferences to follow an armistice

House Solons Endorse Ike's Air Force Aims

The committee sent to the House a military budget $34,434,140,500 for the year beginning July 1.

This is $6,285,790,500 (15.4 per cent) below the "minimum" figures submitted by the Eisenhower administration. Secretary of Defense Wilson had asked the committee to avoid adding further cuts to the five billion dollars already slashed by the administration from the Truman estimates.

The committee, in a report flaying the military services for "chaotic" financial practices and "administrative hodge-podge," said it might have made deeper reductions if given more time.

The new budget is ample for defense under foreseeable conditions,

Squally Weather Watched

NEW ORLEANS, June 27—UP—A squally, "suspicious" weather disturbance, the type that breeds hurricanes, was reported Saturday by the U. S. weather bureau in the Gulf of Mexico from a point southwest of New Orleans to Brownsville, Texas.

The bureau defined the condition as a "low pressure trough," and said that ships in the area had been asked to report winds and barometric pressures. A spokesman said that the highest winds reported were 30-miles-an hour.

"We're merely watching this condition because it's the right time of the year for hurricanes," the spokesman said, "but so far there is nothing to indicate that a major storm will develop."

The New Orleans bureau by early Saturday had not considered the storm important to ask for an inspection by Navy planes.

Should the disturbance develop into a tropical storm it would be called "Barbara." This season's first storm, "Alice," boiled up in the Gulf on the first of June, nearly dissipated, then picked up speed again and developed winds of 50-miles an hour before it blew itself out near the Florida coast.

Danish Ducks Stage Drainpipe Descent

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 27 (AP)—Eight ducklings and their mother stopped traffic in Copenhaven this morning, baffled police and firemen trying to rescue them from a roof and finally rescued themselves.

Each time the would-be rescuers put a ladder to the roof, the mother led her brood in a dizzying walk along the rain gutter. Finally, the mother walked over an outlet. The eight ducklings, faithfully following her, plopped down the pipe, zip, zip, zip, one after another.

When mama saw them all lined up on the street, she flew down to join them.

Confused ROKs Helped By Rain In Slowing Reds

SEOUL, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—A "confused and fluid" South Korean force fought desperately today, aided by driving rain, against vanguards of 72,000 Chinese Reds driving toward the vital hydro-electric Hwachon Reservoir in East-Central Korea.

Latest reports said the rain had succeeded where the reeling South Koreans had failed in slowing the push 12 miles north of South Korea's biggest electric power source.

But the situation still was officially described as "confused and fluid" on the eastern side of a 13-mile activated front straddling the Pukhan River. A penetration of six or seven more miles would put defenders of the big Hwachon power project under Red artillery fire.

In the west, 40 miles north of Seoul, a Chinese Red division — 10,000 to 12,000 men — knocked South Korean 1st division men off three of five outposts, assaulted since Friday. Censorship clouded the exact points of these attacks beyond placing them west of Yonchon and north of the main Imjin River line.

The East-Central Front drive was the more serious. So far, after gains of more than a mile Saturday, the Reds held nothing but prestige and more hills. But it could begin to hurt if it isn't stopped soon.

A Red advance south would imperil the reservoir area. An equal drive southwest would allow Red artillery to cut the Chunchon-Kumhwa road linking the Central Front. Chunchon is 45 miles northeast of Seoul. Kumhwa is more than 35 miles northwest of Chunchon.

Phillips Given Twelve Years In Byrd Slaying

Floyd Phillips, 72, who was indicted by the Ouachita Parish grand jury in the slaying of Luther Byrd Easter Sunday, was sentenced to 12 years in the state penitentiary at Angola in Fourth District Court. The sentence was meted out by Judge David I. Garrett.

Originally charged with murder by the grand jury, the charge was changed to manslaughter by consent of District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr., and a plea of guilty was entered by Phillips Friday. He waived the customary 24-hour wait before sentencing. Fudickar said the charge was changed because of the advanced age of the defendant.

Phillips shot Byrd, a neighbor, while the latter stood on the back steps of his home in Ward 9, early on the morning of May 5. The homes of the two men were approximately 500 feet apart.

Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita Parish corner, stated immediately following the shooting that Byrd had died from a single blast of a .12 gauge shot gun. The bullets entered Byrd's upper left chest, causing instant death.

Death Decreed For Strangler Of Texas Girl

VERNON, Tex., June 27 (AP)—A West Texas jury ruled tonight Walter E. Whitaker Jr. must die for the strangling of Joyce Fern White.

Whitaker, 21, of Hartford, Conn., sat impassively as the jury decision was read. He had shown no emotion throughout his week long murder trial.

His parents also sat motionless. The elder Whitaker bowed his head.

Whitaker was convicted of murder with malice.

The state accused him of strangling the 18-year-old Lubbock, Tex., high school senior last Jan. 8 saying she wanted to marry him and that he planned with cold malice to get rid of her.

67 Gallons Of Gamma Globulin Are Rushed To Polio Plagued City

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 27 —(AP)— Sixty-seven gallons of costly gamma globulin were flown in here today to inoculate 30,000 children against a mounting polio outbreak.

The Office of Defense Mobilization, official distributing agent of gamma globulin, agreed yesterday to send in the entire available supply of the blood derivative after polio-stricken Montgomery was declared an emergency area.

The serum left the E. R. Squibb & Company plant in New Brunswick, N. J., last night. Officials there said the 250,000 cubic centimeters is the largest single shipment ever dispatched.

Low Down-Payment On Homes Okayed

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House voted today to let President Eisenhower lower down-payment requirements for Federal Housing Administration mortgage loans on low and medium-priced homes.

It also voted him power to extend the mortgage repayment period.

The mortgage liberalization authority was written into a general housing bill which the House passed by voice vote. It is similar to a provision in a Senate-passed measure which now goes to a Senate-House conference to harmonize differences between the two chambers' versions.

Plan To Revamp Defense Branch Receives Okay

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House brushed aside cries of "Prussian military dictatorship today and approved by a 2 to 1 margin President Eisenhower's plan to revamp the Defense Department.

The proposal goes into effect automatically Tuesday unless rejected by a majority of the full membership of the Senate, which so far has shown no inclination to oppose it seriously.

The actual House vote, after 10 hours of debate yesterday and today, came on a resolution by Rep. Condon (D-Calif) to disapprove the projected reorganization. Condon's resolution lost by a 234-108 count. To pass, it would have required 218 votes, a majority of the full House membership.

The unusual Saturday session was called to settle the row, stirred by a determined group of Republicans and Democrats, over sections in the plan which increase the authority of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The rest of the proposal was not in controversy.

Angry Charges Hurled In Profits Tax Fight

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Angry charges swelled from both sides today as President Eisenhower prepared a last-minute appeal for House support in his battle to extend the excess profits tax.

Leaders agreed the floor fight on the issue, set for Monday, would be close and bitter—the toughest the administration has faced in the House this year.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) protested hotly today that Congress members have been "dragged down to the White House" and subjected to pressure to "vote against their own convictions."

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) retorted that opponents of the administration move are trying "to confuse the issue" by attacking the procedure involved rather than the President's proposal itself.

House GOP leaders repeated confident predictions that when the chips were down, the administration would win. Some foes conceded the odds favored the President.

Rep. Priest (Tenn), acting Democratic leader, told a reporter his best estimate was that the issue could be decided by 10 votes in the 431-man House—and it could go either way.

Eisenhower, taking a week end out of town at Thurmont, Md., was reported reliably to have prepared a message to the House expressing this theme:

That despite the unusual procedure—admittedly the hottest issue—a vote against the bill would be a vote against the President's program to reduce the federal deficit, fight inflation and restore "a

Korean Leader Said Seeking Arms Backing

Third Secret Meeting With Envoy Expected

SEOUL, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—A third secret meeting of President Syngman Rhee and Washington's special truce envoy was indicated today following a report that a promise of U. S. military aid against further Red aggression would erase Rhee's opposition to an armistice.

The possibility of another meeting was seen in the sudden change in official plans for President Eisenhower's envoy, Walter S. Robertson, to tour the front today. It was announced that the U. S. assistant secretary of state's front-line trip either would be called off or drastically cut.

Rhee was described as "very happy" after his second talk with Robertson yesterday. The American envoy said he was "very optimistic" about the progress of his mission to remove Rhee's defiance of an armistice, which was near the signing stage.

Robert Eunson, Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief, said a highly-placed South Korean source indicated Rhee might drop his fiery opposition to a truce if the U. S. would pledge military aid to the southern republic should the Reds launch another attack.

The South Korean spokesman told Eunson that the pact "is the one point the President will never back down on."

He said that Rhee "may give in on the other two points but he will never give in on the defense pact."

The "other two points" the spokesman referred to were Rhee's previous insistence upon withdrawal of Allied and Chinese Communist forces from Korea and a three-month time limit on political conferences to follow an armistice.

Robertson and Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. S. Far East commander, talked with Rhee for 40 minutes Saturday afternoon. Clark flew from Tokyo for the meeting. The day before, Robertson had his first talk with the 78-year-old South Korean chief executive.

No official announcements were made, but observers here believed that at the first meeting, nearly three hours long, Robertson told Rhee the U. S. stand and then

Break In Heat Wave Apparently At Hand

The much awaited relief in the current heat wave seems to be at hand, as promised in Friday's U. S. Weather Bureau forecast. For the first time in 20 days the mercury peak reading dropped below 95 degrees. The CAA's Selman Field station recorded yesterday's high at 94 degrees. Low for the month was 91 degrees, recorded on June 3.

The temperature meter in front of City Hall showed the down-town temperature to be four degrees above the Selman Field temperature. Down-town high was recorded between 3 and 4 p. m.

Weathermen predict widely scattered thundershowers for this section of the state this afternoon and evening. Monday, they predict, will be partly cloudy with widely scattered afternoon thundershowers.

Farm Key To Quest For Oil

TULSA, Okla., June 27 (UP)—Although many of them may not realize it, American farmers figuratively reap another crop when they buy petroleum products from service station or the tank wagon.

Just about oil's biggest buyer as an industry, the man on the farm also supplies some items vital to producing it.

To bring oil from deep in the earth, drillers use such things as starchg rice, beet pulps, beans — even chicken feathers.

And, according to the American Petroleum Institute's Oil Industry Information Committee (OIIC), they use them at times by the carloads daily.

In what it labeled "the care and feeding of oil wells," OICC explains their strange appetities and the farm diet that satisfies them.

Here's how:

Rotary drilling calls for mud, rivers of it. Not just plain, everyday mud but a specialized concoction to cool and lubricate the drill and the steel pipe encasing it.

Mud also cleans the hole of cuttings, washing them from the bottom and carrying them to the surface between the pipe and the hoe's wall. It also guards against cave-ins and escaping, dangerous gases.

Sometimes the drill finds porous geological formations that absorb too much of the fluids. Then the driller adds to his mud the starch that acts as a sealing agent and keeps the mud's circulation from clogging.

Senate's Crime Panel Requests Perjury Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 27 —UP—A Senate crime hunting committee suggested Friday that a Negro union leader be investigated for perjury and income tax evasion then wound up its hearing here by declaring that "wholesale corruption such as found in New York doesn't exist at this port."

The Senate subcommittee on interstate and foreign commerce, headed by Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R—N.H.), grilled some 20 persons, including longshoremen and New Orleans port officials, during its three-day hearing in federal court. Negro labor official Dave Dennis, who heads local 1419 of the International Longshore Association, drew the most attention from the group.

The committee promised to turn over to federal authorities files and records of its probe "so that they can determine whether Dennis should be indicted for perjury or for violating tax laws."

Sen. Charles E. Potter, (R—Mich), suggested also that the Orleans parish (county) district attorney's office look into the matter of how the funds of Dennis' union are handled.

Potter led today's sessions after Tobey, who had presided during the first two days, flew back to Washington.

In closing statements Potter said that the committee's probe had proved that New Orleans had one of the nation's best ports.

"There is no wholesale corruption here such as we found in our New York investigation," he said, "and there are no hoodlums on the docks here."

Earlier in Friday's sessions Porter had severely criticized Dennis' union for taking five per cent of member's wages for dues. He called the practice "outrageous."

Dennis, who investigators had pictured before the committee hearing as head of a "fabulously wealthy" union, was questioned for two days about a large discrepancy in his union's funds. Chief Counsel Downey Rice presented figures which he said showed Dennis' union had collected $287,000 that wasn't entered on union books.

The perjury question came up as Rice was questioning Dennis about $5,000 he got from International Longshore boss Joe Ryan. Ryan is under indictment in New York on charges of mis-using union funds.

Dennis said that none of the money Ryan gave him went to government employes. Rice then produced a transcript of Dennis' testimony before the New York group which quoted Dennis as saying: "We gave money to people in government service to help us."

"You've perjured yourself," Sen. Potter told Dennis, "either before us or before the grand jury."

The Michigan senator said Friday that the United States attorney here should take a look at Dennis' testimony.

He also said he would turn over to state authorities all information gathered during the hearing concerning union activities on the waterfront and assistant District Attorney Raoul Sere of Orleans parish promised to carry on the investigation "with interest."

"If there has been any misuse of union funds," Sere said, "it would constitute theft under Louisiana law."

Group Will Hunt For Bodies Of Crash Victims

MOBILE, Aa., June 26 (UP)—An expedition was being readied today to search islands off the Alabama and Mississippi coasts for bodies of DC-6 crash victims.

Richard Shaddick Sr. of Coral Gables, Fla., who organized the expedition, said the party of about 15 men would start early Monday aboard the chartered 47-foot boat Buckshot III. A barge and jeep will be picked up at Pascagoula, Miss.

Shaddick, who lost a son in the crash, began forming the search party after bones believed to be those of a crash victim were found on Horn Island, Miss.

Horn Island is about 33 miles west of the spot off the Alabama coast where the National Airlines transport was believed to have crashed Feb. 14 and killed 46 persons.

Shaddick said the first search would be made on Big Petit Bois Island off the Alabama coast. Later they will move to Horn Island and Little Petit Bois Island.

He said a private plane from Miami would search Chandeleur Island, off the Mississippi coast.

To bring oil from deep in the earth, drillers use such things as starchg rice, beet pulps, beans — even chicken feathers.

And, according to the American Petroleum Institute's Oil Industry Information Committee (OIIC), they use them at times by the carloads daily.

In what it labeled "the care and feeding of oil wells," OICC explains their strange appetities and the farm diet that satisfies them.

Here's how:

Rotary drilling calls for mud, rivers of it. Not just plain, everyday mud but a specialized concoction to cool and lubricate the drill and the steel pipe encasing it.

Mud also cleans the hole of cuttings, washing them from the bottom and carrying them to the surface between the pipe and the hoe's wall. It also guards against cave-ins and escaping, dangerous gases.

Sometimes the drill finds porous geological formations that absorb too much of the fluids. Then the driller adds to his mud the starch that acts as a sealing agent and keeps the mud's circulation from clogging.

Senate's Crime Panel Requests Perjury Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 27—UP—A Senate crime hunting committee suggested Friday that a Negro union leader be investigated for perjury and income tax evasion then wound up its hearing here by declaring that "wholesale corruption such as found in New York doesn't exist at this port."

The Senate subcommittee on interstate and foreign commerce, headed by Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R—N.H.), grilled some 20 persons, including longshoremen and New Orleans port officials, during its three-day hearing in federal court. Negro labor official Dave Dennis, who heads local 1419 of the International Longshore Association, drew the most attention from the group.

The committee promised to turn over to federal authorities files and records of its probe "so that they can determine whether Dennis should be indicted for perjury or for violating tax laws."

Sen. Charles E. Potter, (R—Mich), suggested also that the Orleans parish (county) district attorney's office look into the matter of how the funds of Dennis' union are handled.

Potter led today's sessions after Tobey, who had presided during the first two days, flew back to Washington.

In closing statements Potter said that the committee's probe had proved that New Orleans had one of the nation's best ports.

"There is no wholesale corruption here such as we found in our New York investigation," he said, "and there are no hoodlums on the docks here."

Earlier in Friday's sessions Porter had severely criticized Dennis' union for taking five per cent of member's wages for dues. He called the practice "outrageous."

Dennis, who investigators had pictured before the committee hearing as head of a "fabulously wealthy" union, was questioned for two days about a large discrepancy in his union's funds. Chief Counsel Downey Rice presented figures which he said showed Dennis' union had collected $287,000 that wasn't entered on union books.

The perjury question came up as Rice was questioning Dennis about $5,000 he got from International Longshore boss Joe Ryan. Ryan is under indictment in New York on charges of mis-using union funds.

Dennis said that none of the money Ryan gave him went to government employes. Rice then produced a transcript of Dennis' testimony before the New York group which quoted Dennis as saying: "We gave money to people in government service to help us."

"You've perjured yourself," Sen. Potter told Dennis, "either before us or before the grand jury."

The Michigan senator said Friday that the United States attorney here should take a look at Dennis' testimony.

He also said he would turn over to state authorities all information gathered during the hearing concerning union activities on the waterfront and assistant District Attorney Raoul Sere of Orleans parish promised to carry on the investigation "with interest."

"If there has been any misuse of union funds," Sere said, "it would constitute theft under Louisiana law."

Group Will Hunt For Bodies Of Crash Victims

MOBILE, Aa., June 26 (UP)—An expedition was being readied today to search islands off the Alabama and Mississippi coasts for bodies of DC-6 crash victims.

Richard Shaddick Sr. of Coral Gables, Fla., who organized the expedition, said the party of about 15 men would start early Monday aboard the chartered 47-foot boat Buckshot III. A barge and jeep will be picked up at Pascagoula, Miss.

Shaddick, who lost a son in the crash, began forming the search party after bones believed to be those of a crash victim were found on Horn Island, Miss.

Horn Island is about 33 miles west of the spot off the Alabama coast where the National Airlines transport was believed to have crashed Feb. 14 and killed 46 persons.

Shaddick said the first search would be made on Big Petit Bois Island off the Alabama coast. Later they will move to Horn Island and Little Petit Bois Island.

He said a private plane from Miami would search Chandeleur Island, off the Mississippi coast.

Flood Control Debate May Hit Power Policy

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) —An attack on the administration power policy by a group of liberal senators today highlighted Senate debate on the $473,762,900 money bill for flood control and navigation projects.

The Senate passed the measure —the Civil Functions Appropriations Bill — on a voice vote and sent it to a House-Senate Conference Committee to work out a compromise version. As passed by the House last month the bill carries a total of $416,391,600.

The bulk of money is for waterway projects. The Senate version carries $455,140,000 for the program in the year starting July 1. This is 5.2 percent under President Eisenhower's budget recommendations but $55,856,000 over the amount voted by the House.

The bill includes $51,433,000 for flood control work on the Lower Mississippi River and its tributaries, as recommended last Tuesday by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) launched the attack on the administration power policy, charging that the new administration "has scuttled every proposal to go ahead with a comprehensive public power policy."

He was joined by senators Jackson (D-Wash) Morse (Ind-Ore) and Kefauver (D-Tenn).

In his speech Kefauver declared that the bill represented a "philosophy of crippling public power developments wherever they may occur."

He said legislation had crippled the Southwest Power Administration and the Southeastern Power Administration and that funds for planning on the Niagara are in jeopardy.

Then he referred to a fight over funds for a TVA steam plant near Memphis.

Private power interests, Kefauver said, had decided some time ago to attack the TVA as socialistic. Recently, he said, Eisenhower at a news conference had cited the TVA as an example of "creeping socialism."

Paper Company In West Monroe Sets Expansion

The Brown Container Company, whose general offices and plant are located in West Monroe, announced this week an expansion in their facilities which will step up production more than 50 percent.

This local firm, in the short span of less than five years, has shown such tremendous growth that today it ranks among the top five in business volume among the 131 single corrugator container companies in the nation. The officers and ma[illegible]nt the company give much of the credit for its phenomenal growth to the splendid cooperation of its more than 400 employees and its acceptance by the community in which the plant is located.

The expansion program, plans for which have been in preparation for the past six months, is being effected because of the outstanding work and cooperation of the sales and production department of the company.

In the face of a decline in employment generally, Brown's personnel department solicits applications from prospective employees, with 20 men [illegible] been hired last week. In the weeks ahead 45 more will be hired and trained to handle the additional work load brought on by the expansion program.

With its large number of sales offices Brown Container is supplying packaging for companies in 36 states. To list the industries which are being served by Brown Container would mean making a virtual roll call of the nation's leading industries and manufacturers. They are proud that with the appearance of Brownie, their symbol, on containers they manufacture for these nationally known products, the name of West Monroe is being carried all over the world. They have sales offices located in St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Atlanta, New York City, Memphis, Mobile, Louisville, Fort Smith, Alexandria, La., Charlotte, Dallas, Tampa, Birmingham, and Tulsa.

Measure Is Passed To Halt Leave Pay

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House passed and sent to President Eisenhower today a bill prohibiting top federal officials from drawing cash payments in lieu of unused leave.

The measure is an outgrowth of disclosures that former Truman Administration officials, including most Cabinet members, drew payments running up to several thousand dollars when they left office. It is a compromise between different bills passed by the Senate and the House.

Kerr Demands Treasury Aid's Income Report

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) tonight demanded to know if Randolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the Treasury, receives a pension from and holds stock in the National City Bank of New York.

Treasury officials in Washington cited a letter from Secretary Humphrey, printed in the June 22 Congressional Record, in which the Treasury chief said that Burgess "has qualified himself in every respect and has divested of his bank stock and complied with all provisions of the law."

Burgess was not reached immediately for comment, but Treasury officials said he receives a pension as the result of his work with the bank. They said it was a standard-type retirement pension, to which he had made contributions; that it was handled by an insurance company and was not revokable by the bank or insurance company.

Kerr, in a speech prepared for a Polk County Democratic dinner, said the National City Bank profits greatly "from the hard money policies and higher interest rates" he said Burgess had helped bring about.

Kerr said it is the "general impression" that Burgess, appointed to a post which does not require Senate confirmation, "draws a retirement pension from and is a stockholder in the National City Bank of New York."

"I challenge him to tell," Kerr said, "how much higher the prime interest rate collected by that bank is today than it was on Nov. 4 and the first of this year when he resigned as an official of that bank to take his present important policy - making job with the United States Treasury."

Kerr Demands Treasury Aid's Income Report

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) tonight demanded to know if Randolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the Treasury, receives a pension from and holds stock in the National City Bank of New York.

Treasury officials in Washington cited a letter from Secretary Humphrey, printed in the June 22 Congressional Record, in which the Treasury chief said that Burgess "has qualified himself in every respect and has divested of his bank stock and complied with all provisions of the law."

Burgess was not reached immediately for comment, but Treasury officials said he receives a pension as the result of his work with the bank. They said it was a standard-type retirement pension, to which he had made contributions; that it was handled by an insurance company and was not revokable by the bank or insurance company.

Kerr, in a speech prepared for a Polk County Democratic dinner, said the National City Bank profits greatly "from the hard money policies and higher interest rates" he said Burgess had helped bring about.

Kerr said it is the "general impression" that Burgess, appointed to a post which does not require Senate confirmation, "draws a retirement pension from and is a stockholder in the National City Bank of New York."

"I challenge him to tell," Kerr said, "how much higher the prime interest rate collected by that bank is today than it was on Nov. 4 and the first of this year when he resigned as an official of that bank to take his present important policy - making job with the United States Treasury."

A Thousand Paul Reveres

On the world wide front in the battle against Communist slavery, the steady retreat from victory by American governments is beginning to cause serious concern among the American people. There have been numerous opportunities for effective counter attack presented to this nation and each time, the foreign policy fails to grasp the situation, or if it does, it falls short of the maximum effort which could be exerted.

The American people are shocked by the actual truce details coming from Korea despite the efforts of the internationalists to make the proposed settlements palatable and to make it appear that all the original aims have been reached by force of American arms when no such thing is the truth.

The details, or the leak in them are causing worry among those who would keep such information away from the American public and also, the great patriot who forced them out into the open for all to see, President Rhee who is being severely denounced by all segments of the left, the world over. The air is filled with the mouthings of these leftists in scorn and hate of this great Korean whose love of his country should stand out as a shining symbol to patriots everywhere.

The question is being asked by Americans, many of whom have lost loved ones in Korea, and all of whom are shouldering a fearful burden of taxation, that since the American people have furnished some 95% of the fighting men in Korea (excluding the ROKs) and have paid almost all the costs, why should the Americans not be the dominant force in the "truce" negotiations? It is not clearly understood why the British "allies" have such great power when their contribution has been so small and their treachery so great. It was these British you remember who were greatly responsible for the removal of Douglas MacArthur and his plans for an honorable American victory in Korea. The American command agreed to the foisting upon that command of a British "advisor" after the British House of Commons raised such a cry after the Americans, out of necessity, bombed the Yalu River power plants which were supplying power to the Communists.

It is now widely known that the basis of these "truce discussions" is the old Indian plan which was approved by Truman and Acheson and actually drafted by Mao himself. This plan was carried out in the first discussions at Panmunjom which were terminated until the Communists saw that they again needed peace to rebuild their armies. The question which will have to be answered is why was this old plan again continued when the second truce got under way after the assumption of President Eisenhower to the presidency.

The "U.N." could have started with an entirely new program, but it has continued with the old one. This plan, as is known, contains the preposterous idea that five "neutral" nations are to handle the prisoners who refuse to be repatriated. These nations are two Communist nations and one very procommunist one.

The old idea of considering Europe ahead of Asia is still in operation even though the Communists themselves are on record as saying the "road to Paris is through Peiking". Even with these words of advice, Europe is still paramount. All this even with the rising tide of anti-Americanism which now is coming over Europe and also with the knowledge that only in Asia are America's real friends.

There have already been "hints" in the major British and French papers that in the event of war, these two nations would "sit on the sidelines" to watch the war. Against the Communists, this would be sheer suicide. They do not respect neutrality. In the fight against the Communists, the United States has become involved in a most unusual combination of events. That is the "U.N." Some of these nations are ironically, Communist nations themselves. In fact, one of the members of this "world body" is the seat of Communism, "mother Russia". These Communist nations have the power to "veto" anything which the U. S. might desire.

The membership of this nation in the "U. N." has lost the U. S. the right to carry out its own desires in this "U. N." war which is really a war for U. S. freedom, and with the exception of the heroic contribution of little South Korea which is not a member of this "body" the war has been a complete U. S. proposition.

Now, the British are attempting to regain their lost power in the Orient. They hope to do this at the expense of the United States. They know that they can never regain this power if Chiang returns to the mainland and they have thrown in their lot with the Communists, a move which they will regret even as Mongolian troopers loot Fleet street and Coventry. All of this clearly explains the British position and why they have been able to force this nation into a terrible stalemated war which is killing Americans and Koreans and perhaps a few British. The British have been able to force this great nation into a retreat from victory.

If the United States as a great Republic is to stand, if your freedoms under the greatest constitution ever to be devised by mortals are to be protected, this time is now.

This country needs a thousand Paul Reveres who will arouse the countryside to the terrible and acute dangers facing the United States both from within and without. These modern Paul Reveres must arouse the citizenry to the people who are even now, at this late hour in high policy making positions, positions which will determine the future of Americans for years to come.

When the dark corners of this lack of knowledge are lighted up, the people, the real sovereigns, the real rulers of America will demand the replacement of these policy makers with Americans who place the welfare of their nation above all other ideas.

The hours are so short, the light in the old North Church is again lighted. When the familiar hoofbeats are heard, heed them, they are modern Paul Reveres come to save you, to warn you in time to save your nation.

Dangerous Shrubs

The City of Monroe is fortunate in having beautiful trees and shrubs all over town. At this time of year, they are all in glorious foliage. They unfortunately, sometimes can present a few hazards. When shrubs are placed directly on street corners and around bends in roads, they wipe out the vision of oncoming autos and can be the causes of terrible wrecks.

There are very many instances of this sort of vegetation and why no accidents have been caused already, is a matter of mystery. It is a terrible thing to have to slash beautiful shrubs as sometimes, it results in the total destruction of the shrub or the plant. However, the destruction of a tree is better than the destruction of human lives and that is what the entire situation amounts to.

Commissioner Huckaby has been most lenient with the owners, many who don't understandably want to trim these trees, but the time has come for some sort of action. Shrubs which grow on corners are a terrible safety hazard. In many cities and communities, they are arbitrarily removed withor without the consent of the owner as a safety measure.

Fortunately, this city in which you live, does not use that type action. The whole matter should be and is generally left up to the property owners involved.

The time to stave off serious consequences is before those consequences arise. That time is now. The city will still be beautiful and will be far safer than before with the removal of these traffic hazards. In many cases, the property owner can remove them himself, or call the city to do the job. You certainly don't want any accidents to be caused by shrubs on your property.

Also, the fast driving around corners must stop. There is absolutely no sense in attempting to see how fast a car can "make a corner." That results in tragic and terrible accidents. It has happened before and can easily happen again. If the drivers and the property owners all cooperate, this city will grow safer by the day.

Put safety before beauty in this case and help ward off serious and perhaps, fatal accidents.

The Puzzle Of French Politics

French premiers come and go as do the winds of March. There have been 19 since the close of the Second war and none of them have remained in office over a long period of time. Some months ago, the News-Star reviewed this entire situation which requires a little delving into French history, but now that six weeks have gone by and the French are just getting another premier into office, perhaps another review is necessary.

In the beginning of the Third French Republic, after the defeat by Germany of the last vestiges of French Imperial domination, the French people staged a revolution and wrote a constitution designed to prevent forever a powerful leader. They stripped the power of the president until there is no real need for such a figure and gave that power to a premier. However, his power is also extremely limited.

It all began in the years immediately after the American revolution. The Bourbon Monarchy had become more and more corrupt and the French financial position had become acute. French intervention in the revolution worsened matters and on May 5th, 1789, there was a meeting of the "Estates General" to see if a remedy could not be found. In July of that year, the King was rumored to have ordered the dissolvement of the National Assembly and this led directly to the storming of the Bastille and the end of the Monarchy. On September 21, 1792, France declared the Monarchy abolished and the establishment of the First Republic. This was preceded by terrible violence.

The years following saw more bloodshed with many heads rolling before the guillotine including the inventor of that machine.

On December 2nd, 1815, Napoleon 1st was consecrated in Paris as the Emperor of France. The history of Napoleon is well known. Then, followed his end and the establishment of the monarchy. The Restoration of the Bourbon monarchy came about for a few years and was termed the "July monarchy". It lasted until 1848. In 1848, came the Second Republic. It lasted but four years until the ascent of Napoleon III. Those years were known as the "years of Authoritarianism." They lasted until the defeat of the Empire by the Germans in the early 1870's and the establishment of the Second Republic.

All of these years saw war after war, internal conflict after conflict and revolution after revolution. A brief period of tranquility followed until the First War in which the French nation lost some four million men. From this disaster, she has never recovered. The antics of Marshal Foch to decimate his ranks succeeded and France was ruined as a nation in those terrible four years. The intervening years saw the rise of the Germans and then, the Second war and the complete and final degradation of the Third Republic and all France. This was the final end to France as a great power.

Now the present unstable situation is the direct result of a constitution which tried after the war to please every body, but pleased no one. It has less power than that of the Third Republic and gives neither the Premier nor the President any authority. Instead, the power is left to the Assembly composed of many divergent parties. The Communists hold more than 25% of the seats and of the voting population. The Center parties are split and the rightists are strong on the other side.

Actually, there is no real system of taxation. Nobody will pay their taxes. Any premier who attempts to enforce tax laws is immediately removed from office. Any premier who cannot please every faction is removed from office. Is it possible to please Communists, Socialists, DeGaulists, Centrists and all the other parties? Is it possible to maintain a stable government knowing that any "wrong" move you make will be your end? Is it possible to maintain a stable government with no possible way to balance the budget and to operate a war in the Orient? It is also impossible to maintain any sort of stability operating on the slim majority of one vote in the Chamber when that vote will suddenly swing the other way.

Until the French people agree to a constitution giving some power to the leaders of government and giving the three branches of French government equality as is seen in the American system, there can never be a stable France. These facts and these facts alone scare the American military men away from France as a "great base" in Europe. As far as France is concerned, there can be no Bermuda conference as any premier who goes to that conference will be voted out as soon as he returns if he has aroused the anger of the many deputies.

This is probably the unsolvable puzzle of French politics.

Critic Fires Blast At Monroe City Officials

Monroe, La.

Citizens of Monroe:

The topic of this letter is indeed a very serious and grave one that does concern every citizen and tax payer in the City of Monroe.

Most of us here in Monroe lead lives of quiet desperation. Much of that desperation can be blamed on the weakness of our city government, but more of it can be blamed on the failure of the average good citizen to meet his responsibilities toward government.

The situation that concerns us now is one that must be taken care of immediately. We cannot honestly expect Tom, Dick or Harry to do it. We must do it ourselves. Please, always remember this, we the Citizens are the government and our elected officials are employed by us to function for the good of the entire city.

During the past election opponents of the present city officials informed the voters of the true status of the City of Monroe's finances and administration. These truths were denied by the administration to the extent that the mayor and finance commissioner were reelected.

In order to refresh the memories of our duly elected city officials I would like to make a few "quotes" and comments.

There appeared an official statement issued by Mayor Coon and Commissioners Cline and Huckaby published in the News-Star Monday September 8, 1952. It was stated in this statement, paragraph 2, that the city authorized Ford, Bacon and Davis to make a survey of the requirements needed to improve the water and light systems. It was concluded that $7,000,000.00 was needed and so voted by the people in 1949. "This was all to be done without one cent additional tax on the people."

Remember this, prior to election, not one word was said about raising any utility rates — in fact the administration went to great pains and expense to impress and remind us that these plant improvements were being made without one cent additional cost to us. Also, bear this in mind, no mention was made before or during the election campaign, that the utility rates were entirely too low and would have to be raised.

Now, in this statement, paragraph 4, these city officials say that prior to the issuance of the bonds, which incidentally was also prior to the election, that, quote "The water rates were entirely too low to operate the plant without loss. Now listen to this, am still quoting from paragraph 4, "The council therefore had no alternative other than to increase the rates." Please bear this in mind—the rates were raised after election! If the council knew before election that the city was losing money then, why was that fact not made known to the voters then instead of waiting until after election? The ad announcing the rate increase was published on July 18th less than one month after the election and was signed by Coon, Cline and Simmons.

To further refresh the memory of our city council, I wish to quote from two ads which appeared in the local papers during the election campaign and were signed by Mr. Cline (and not denied by Mr. Coon). May 15th ad, quote "Monroe has the lowest water rate in the south. All the above improvements financed in a business-like manner through the profits of the light and water plants and without any additional tax." May 20th ad, after listing all of the accomplishments and all of the wonderful things to come after re-election this statement is made, quote "All the program was and is being financed in a business-like manner by revenue bonds to be paid from the profits of the utilities and without the necessity for any additional tax." Yet, less than one month after the election the above rates were increased!

Listen to this — Two months after the election and only a few days after the rates were raised this announcement was made (August 24, 1952 issue of News-Star page IIA):

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Section 1: A resolution authorizing an increase in salaries of the mayor and commissioners of the City of Monroe, etc, etc, each hereby increased in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) per year, etc, etc, effective August 1st. Approved and adopted this 12th day of August 1952.

A few days later on September 3, 1952, Page 13 of the News-Star there appeared this notice:

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Ordinance No. 2981. Be it ordained, etc, etc, in order to pay it's current expenses for the year 1952, etc, etc, they are empowered to borrow the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) etc, etc.

Now, please listen to this—this quote is taken from a full page ad in the News-Star on June 23rd (day before election): The City of Monroe is in sound financial condition. Our utility system increased in revenues each year and that there is an excess revenue over expense, and the same will be true for the current fiscal year when the audit is completed." (This statement was not denied or commented upon by Mayor Coon).

Isn't it logical to think that we are entitled to know what has happened to the money we were supposed to have been making with our utility system?

Was it business-like for our city officials to raise their salaries $1,000.00 per year and at the same time borrow $33,000.00 to pay current bills?

Was it business-like for the city officials to grant the bus - drivers a raise (which they and all city employees so deserve) and then "discover after the agreement was made, that the city did not have sufficient funds to meet the obligations, and since they had agreed to pay the workers with funds which did not exist they had acted illegally! Pray tell me, what sort of business men are these officials?

When are we going to wake up and demand to know exactly what is going on at the City Hall? After it is too late? After the City of Monroe is declared bankrupt? When?

Our City of Monroe does not deserve this. We have a city that should have been one of the greatest cities in the South! We should have been a great industrial city. We had the world's largest gas fields, excellent rail and water transportation, roads, centrally located, plenty of labor and what happens? Nothing! Whose fault is in that Monroe has become stagnated? The blame rests squarely upon our city officials, present and past, and the voters. If we had elected officials with vision, initiative, responsibility, business ability, etc, and had the interest of Monroe at heart, then Monroe would have been a real city. A city to be proud of. But instead, what have we got? A run down, heavily taxed, heavily indebted town with no future.

I am a native born citizen of Monroe. I was born here in 1911. I have my home here and I sincerely hope to die and be buried here in Monroe. In view of this, it breaks my heart to think what Monroe is and what a great city it could have been if only we, the citizens of Monroe, would only wake up and take an interest in the administration of our city. There is no need for a few so-called "big-shots" running the city. We, the "little-shots" far outnumber them and could certainly make our voices be heard and heeded if we only will take an interest.

Remember that old saying — "While the good people are busy taking care of themselves, the wrongdoers are busy taking care of everyone else."

VINCENT MARSALA.

Will Great Britain Cede Scotland To The Russians?

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have been reading your recent editorials in the Monroe Morning World with a great deal of interest and will add that I have agreed with them just about one hundred per cent. Apropos to this, I would like to make one or two comments of my own.

You have called my attention to the fact that Winston Churchill and Gen. Mark Clark have both denounced the stand taken by Pres. Syngman Rhee and have even advocated the use of armed force to make him sign the proposed peace treaty. I am just wondering what these two gentlemen would say in case the following proposition was made. The U.N. would say that in view of the objections to the proposed treaty, Russia had made a new suggestion to bring about a truce. Namely, that if Great Britain would cede Scotland to the Russians or if the United States would give up New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Russia would then agree to a peace treaty. These terms would be given to a committee of three neutral nations composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia and India and whatever these three nations decided to do would be binding on us and England. Do you think that for one moment Winston Churchill or President Eisenhower would agree to these terms? No, they would state in no uncertain terms, and rightly too, that we would die to the last man rather than give up a single foot of our country to a foreign nation. It seems to me that Syngman Rhee and South Korea are in this same position and that it should be respected.

All of this just goes to prove that it is a darned sight easier to give away the other fellows land and property than it is to give up our own.

GIL A. WOODS.

McCarthy, The British And Syngman Rhee

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I read your editorial in the Monroe Morning World under date line of June 21. I fully agree with you, and the people I have heard discuss agree also.

It would appear that Joe McCarthy is on the right track although I did not think so at first. I heard McCarthy and Mr. Rankin on Sunday afternoon on the American Forum of the Air. McCarthy told Mr. Rankin to his face that ships under British control had shipped rubber from Ceylon and that rubber was essential. And may I add that a boy of ten years old knows that his motor scooter travels on tires made of rubber. Mr. McCarthy also gave Mr. Rankin figures to prove that since 1950 the tonnage of rubber shipped had steadily increased since that time.

Mr. Rankin said that the British navy had orders to stop such shipments. I have not heard of a single instance of the British navy doing anything about it.

Now I was for the U. N. I was for NATO and Foreign aid, until we and the Korean people were let down by the very two nations we had fought side by side in two world wars, and loaned money too, the tax payers money. If they ever paid back one red cent I have never heard of it. When someone decided that the tax payer was going to get sore about this, they came up with the Marshall Plan. Something must have gone wrong with this plan. The next thing they came up with the Four Point Program. Now, when we look back over history, we know what British Policy really is.

The thirteen colonies had a sample of that. India did also a few years back. Now Egypt, the Sudan, Africa, Iran and French Indo-China. Now I wonder with all the aid we have sent to Britian and France, they tell us Britain fell from a world power to about a third rate power and France had no government at all. We can only concede that we too have been exploited through sending lease and aid to these two countries.

I think the American people will be against any more aid to countries that do these things we fight against. Now they say we need allies, that I agree to. But past history proves that these same countries, Britain and France, need us even more than we need them. They are not the only allies we have, we would not have to go it alone in Korea. If, instead of the British trading with Red China, they had helped us to keep supplies out of Red China and had not let the Communists know that the British did not agree with us on policy, we might have had an honorable truce in Korea. And to prove how unfair the Reds are, they, instead of holding their force when they believed a truce was about to be signed, they started shooting up the U. N. forces.

And then to think that they demand that we gather up these POW's is all out of reason. I never heard anyone demand they stop fighting. And when we remember what happened after the secret meeting at Yalta, Potsdam and Teheran, I will never be in favor of anymore secret meetings. I believe this is what Syngman Rhee has in mind at this time. And too, he must have heard or read the speech of President Truman in which he said "To the best of my memory, the Communists have broken 92 treaties. We are told that the Communist policy ruling the world has not changed. Then, why is there any reason to believe that they would keep a truce at this time. Now it looks as if the Communists have about all they can handle and need a truce so as to shift their weight to some other places. We are to be sucked in again like we were on the truce talks.

I listened in to the truce meeting until it became repulsive.

I hope you will not become bored with this letter as you know more about world affairs than I do.

J. R. BLALOCK.

Paper Deletes Ike's Letter, But Never Deletes Critics

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorials have criticized the position of those who oppose the actions of President Rhee. Inasmuch as the paper has taken the position of openly criticizing those who oppose Mr. Rhee, it will be well for the paper to print President Eisenhower's letter to President Rhee. Since your readers have to indulge your pleasure in disagreeing with critics of Mr. Rhee, then the paper should feel obligated (if it is not a leftist paper) to print all of the facts in the matter and not just editorial opinions. Excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter are as follows:

"The enemy has proposed an armistice which involves a clear abandonment of the fruits of aggression. The Armistice would leave the Republic of Korea in undisputed possession of substantially the territory which the Republic administered prior to the aggression; indeed this territory will be somewhat enlarged."

"It is my profound conviction that acceptance of the armistice is required of the United Nations and the Republic of Korea. We would not be justified in prolonging the war with all the misery that it involves in the hope of achieving, by force, the unification of Korea.

"The unification of Korea is an end to which the United States is committed, not once, but many times, through its World War II declarations and through its acceptance of the principles enunciated in reference to Korea by the United Nations. Korea is unhappily not the only country which remains divided after World War II."

"It was indeed a crime that those who attacked from the north invoked violence to unite Korea under their rule. Not only as your official friend but as a personal friend I urge that your country not embark upon a similar course.

"The United States will not renounce its efforts by all peaceful means to effect the unification of Korea. Also as a member of the United Nations we shall seek to assure that the United Nations continues steadfast in its determination in this respect. In the political conference which will follow an armistice, that will be our central objective. The United States intends to consult with your government both before and during such a conference and expects the full participation of your government in that conference.

"You speak of a mutual defense pact. I am prepared promptly after the conclusion and acceptance of an armistice to negotiate with you a mutual defense treaty along the lines of treaties heretofore made between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines, and the United States and Australia and New Zealand.

"Of course you realise that under our constitutional system, any such treaty would be made only with the advice and consent of the Senate. However, the action which the United States has heretofore taken, and the great investment of blood and treasure which has already been made for the independence of Korea are certainly clear indications of American temper and intentions not to tolerate a repetition of unprovoked aggression."

The editorial in today's World certainly does not reflect any understanding of these vital points made by the President. The very constitutional right you insist upon enjoying, the right to criticize whom you please, you want to deny those who criticize the action of President Rhee in his unlawful act of freeing the prisoners. Among those who criticized President Rhee are those parents who lost sons in the continuing prolongation of the war which is the direct responsibility of President Rhee. Certainly these critics are not "leftists."

In this country we judge leaders as we do all men, by their actions alone. President Rhee certainly did not present any qualities of leadership in his action of freeing the prisoners.

I respectfully request that your paper, if it is an American publication, refrain from vehement criticism and adhere to a policy of printing all the facts.

I am sure that you will print this contesting of your implications and will print my remarks and the excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter in tomorrow's edition of the Monroe World. My best wishes to the entire staff.

ARTHUR M. LE BLANC, JR.

P. S. I keep a file copy of every letter that I write for presentation to those who contend that we do not enjoy a free press. In this manner, I can prove to them that your paper never deletes any criticisms from letters it prints from readers.

A Thousand Paul Reveres

On the world wide front in the battle against Communist slavery, the steady retreat from victory by American governments is beginning to cause serious concern among the American people. There have been numerous opportunities for effective counter attack presented to this nation and each time, the foreign policy fails to grasp the situation, or if it does, it falls short of the maximum effort which could be exerted.

The American people are shocked by the actual truce details coming from Korea despite the efforts of the internationalists to make the proposed settlements palatable and to make it appear that all the original aims have been reached by force of American arms when no such thing is the truth.

The details, or the leak in them are causing worry among those who would keep such information away from the American public and also, the great patriot who forced them out into the open for all to see, President Rhee who is being severely denounced by all segments of the left, the world over. The air is filled with the mouthings of these leftists in scorn and hate of this great Korean whose love of his country should stand out as a shining symbol to patriots everywhere.

The question is being asked by Americans, many of whom have lost loved ones in Korea, and all of whom are shouldering a fearful burden of taxation, that since the American people have furnished some 95% of the fighting men in Korea (excluding the ROKs) and have paid almost all the costs, why should the Americans not be the dominant force in the "truce" negotiations? It is not clearly understood why the British "allies" have such great power when their contribution has been so small and their treachery so great. It was these British you remember who were greatly responsible for the removal of Douglas MacArthur and his plans for an honorable American victory in Korea. The American command agreed to the foisting upon that command of a British "advisor" after the British House of Commons raised such a cry after the Americans, out of necessity, bombed the Yalu River power plants which were supplying power to the Communists.

It is now widely known that the basis of these "truce discussions" is the old Indian plan which was approved by Truman and Acheson and actually drafted by Mao himself. This plan was carried out in the first discussions at Panmunjom which were terminated until the Communists saw that they again needed peace to rebuild their armies. The question which will have to be answered is why was this old plan again continued when the second truce got under way after the assumption of President Eisenhower to the presidency.

The "U.N." could have started with an entirely new program, but it has continued with the old one. This plan, as is known, contains the preposterous idea that five "neutral" nations are to handle the prisoners who refuse to be repatriated. These nations are two Communist nations and one very procommunist one.

The old idea of considering Europe ahead of Asia is still in operation even though the Communists themselves are on record as saying the "road to Paris is through Peiking". Even with these words of advice, Europe is still paramount. All this even with the rising tide of anti-Americanism which now is coming over Europe and also with the knowledge that only in Asia are America's real friends.

There have already been "hints" in the major British and French papers that in the event of war, these two nations would "sit on the sidelines" to watch the war. Against the Communists, this would be sheer suicide. They do not respect neutrality. In the fight against the Communists, the United States has become involved in a most unusual combination of events. That is the "U.N." Some of these nations are ironically, Communist nations themselves. In fact, one of the members of this "world body" is the seat of Communism, "mother Russia". These Communist nations have the power to "veto" anything which the U. S. might desire.

The membership of this nation in the "U. N." has lost the U. S. the right to carry out its own desires in this "U. N." war which is really a war for U. S. freedom, and with the exception of the heroic contribution of little South Korea which is not a member of this "body" the war has been a complete U. S. proposition.

Now, the British are attempting to regain their lost power in the Orient. They hope to do this at the expense of the United States. They know that they can never regain this power if Chiang returns to the mainland and they have thrown in their lot with the Communists, a move which they will regret even as Mongolian troopers loot Fleet street and Coventry. All of this clearly explains the British position and why they have been able to force this nation into a terrible stalemated war which is killing Americans and Koreans and perhaps a few British. The British have been able to force this great nation into a retreat from victory.

If the United States as a great Republic is to stand, if your freedoms under the greatest constitution ever to be devised by mortals are to be protected, this time is now.

This country needs a thousand Paul Reveres who will arouse the countryside to the terrible and acute dangers facing the United States both from within and without. These modern Paul Reveres must arouse the citizenry to the people who are even now, at this late hour in high policy making positions, positions which will determine the future of Americans for years to come.

When the dark corners of this lack of knowledge are lighted up, the people, the real sovereigns, the real rulers of America will demand the replacement of these policy makers with Americans who place the welfare of their nation above all other ideas.

The hours are so short, the light in the old North Church is again lighted. When the familiar hoofbeats are heard, heed them, they are modern Paul Reveres come to save you, to warn you in time to save your nation.

Dangerous Shrubs

The City of Monroe is fortunate in having beautiful trees and shrubs all over town. At this time of year, they are all in glorious foliage. They unfortunately, sometimes can present a few hazards. When shrubs are placed directly on street corners and around bends in roads, they wipe out the vision of oncoming autos and can be the causes of terrible wrecks.

There are very many instances of this sort of vegetation and why no accidents have been caused already, is a matter of mystery. It is a terrible thing to have to slash beautiful shrubs as sometimes, it results in the total destruction of the shrub or the plant. However, the destruction of a tree is better than the destruction of human lives and that is what the entire situation amounts to.

Commissioner Huckaby has been most lenient with the owners, many who don't understandably want to trim these trees, but the time has come for some sort of action. Shrubs which grow on corners are a terrible safety hazard. In many cities and communities, they are arbitrarily removed withor without the consent of the owner as a safety measure.

Fortunately, this city in which you live, does not use that type action. The whole matter should be and is generally left up to the property owners involved.

The time to stave off serious consequences is before those consequences arise. That time is now. The city will still be beautiful and will be far safer than before with the removal of these traffic hazards. In many cases, the property owner can remove them himself, or call the city to do the job. You certainly don't want any accidents to be caused by shrubs on your property.

Also, the fast driving around corners must stop. There is absolutely no sense in attempting to see how fast a car can "make a corner." That results in tragic and terrible accidents. It has happened before and can easily happen again. If the drivers and the property owners all cooperate, this city will grow safer by the day.

Put safety before beauty in this case and help ward off serious and perhaps, fatal accidents.

The Puzzle Of French Politics

French premiers come and go as do the winds of March. There have been 19 since the close of the Second war and none of them have remained in office over a long period of time. Some months ago, the News-Star reviewed this entire situation which requires a little delving into French history, but now that six weeks have gone by and the French are just getting another premier into office, perhaps another review is necessary.

In the beginning of the Third French Republic, after the defeat by Germany of the last vestiges of French Imperial domination, the French people staged a revolution and wrote a constitution designed to prevent forever a powerful leader. They stripped the power of the president until there is no real need for such a figure and gave that power to a premier. However, his power is also extremely limited.

It all began in the years immediately after the American revolution. The Bourbon Monarchy had become more and more corrupt and the French financial position had become acute. French intervention in the revolution worsened matters and on May 5th, 1789, there was a meeting of the "Estates General" to see if a remedy could not be found. In July of that year, the King was rumored to have ordered the dissolvement of the National Assembly and this led directly to the storming of the Bastille and the end of the Monarchy. On September 21, 1792, France declared the Monarchy abolished and the establishment of the First Republic. This was preceded by terrible violence.

The years following saw more bloodshed with many heads rolling before the guillotine including the inventor of that machine.

On December 2nd, 1815, Napoleon 1st was consecrated in Paris as the Emperor of France. The history of Napoleon is well known. Then, followed his end and the establishment of the monarchy. The Restoration of the Bourbon monarchy came about for a few years and was termed the "July monarchy". It lasted until 1848. In 1848, came the Second Republic. It lasted but four years until the ascent of Napoleon III. Those years were known as the "years of Authoritarianism." They lasted until the defeat of the Empire by the Germans in the early 1870's and the establishment of the Second Republic.

All of these years saw war after war, internal conflict after conflict and revolution after revolution. A brief period of tranquility followed until the First War in which the French nation lost some four million men. From this disaster, she has never recovered. The antics of Marshal Foch to decimate his ranks succeeded and France was ruined as a nation in those terrible four years. The intervening years saw the rise of the Germans and then, the Second war and the complete and final degradation of the Third Republic and all France. This was the final end to France as a great power.

Now the present unstable situation is the direct result of a constitution which tried after the war to please every body, but pleased no one. It has less power than that of the Third Republic and gives neither the Premier nor the President any authority. Instead, the power is left to the Assembly composed of many divergent parties. The Communists hold more than 25% of the seats and of the voting population. The Center parties are split and the rightists are strong on the other side.

Actually, there is no real system of taxation. Nobody will pay their taxes. Any premier who attempts to enforce tax laws is immediately removed from office. Any premier who cannot please every faction is removed from office. Is it possible to please Communists, Socialists, DeGaulists, Centrists and all the other parties? Is it possible to maintain a stable government knowing that any "wrong" move you make will be your end? Is it possible to maintain a stable government with no possible way to balance the budget and to operate a war in the Orient? It is also impossible to maintain any sort of stability operating on the slim majority of one vote in the Chamber when that vote will suddenly swing the other way.

Until the French people agree to a constitution giving some power to the leaders of government and giving the three branches of French government equality as is seen in the American system, there can never be a stable France. These facts and these facts alone scare the American military men away from France as a "great base" in Europe. As far as France is concerned, there can be no Bermuda conference as any premier who goes to that conference will be voted out as soon as he returns if he has aroused the anger of the many deputies.

This is probably the unsolvable puzzle of French politics.

Critic Fires Blast At Monroe City Officials

Monroe, La.

Citizens of Monroe:

The topic of this letter is indeed a very serious and grave one that does concern every citizen and tax payer in the City of Monroe.

Most of us here in Monroe lead lives of quiet desperation. Much of that desperation can be blamed on the weakness of our city government, but more of it can be blamed on the failure of the average good citizen to meet his responsibilities toward government.

The situation that concerns us now is one that must be taken care of immediately. We cannot honestly expect Tom, Dick or Harry to do it. We must do it ourselves. Please, always remember this, we the Citizens are the government and our elected officials are employed by us to function for the good of the entire city.

During the past election opponents of the present city officials informed the voters of the true status of the City of Monroe's finances and administration. These truths were denied by the administration to the extent that the mayor and finance commissioner were reelected.

In order to refresh the memories of our duly elected city officials I would like to make a few "quotes" and comments.

There appeared an official statement issued by Mayor Coon and Commissioners Cline and Huckaby published in the News-Star Monday September 8, 1952. It was stated in this statement, paragraph 2, that the city authorized Ford, Bacon and Davis to make a survey of the requirements needed to improve the water and light systems. It was concluded that $7,000,000.00 was needed and so voted by the people in 1949. "This was all to be done without one cent additional tax on the people."

Remember this, prior to election, not one word was said about raising any utility rates — in fact the administration went to great pains and expense to impress and remind us that these plant improvements were being made without one cent additional cost to us. Also, bear this in mind, no mention was made before or during the election campaign, that the utility rates were entirely too low and would have to be raised.

Now, in this statement, paragraph 4, these city officials say that prior to the issuance of the bonds, which incidentally was also prior to the election, that, quote "The water rates were entirely too low to operate the plant without loss. Now listen to this, am still quoting from paragraph 4, "The council therefore had no alternative other than to increase the rates." Please bear this in mind—the rates were raised after election! If the council knew before election that the city was losing money then, why was that fact not made known to the voters then instead of waiting until after election? The ad announcing the rate increase was published on July 18th less than one month after the election and was signed by Coon, Cline and Simmons.

To further refresh the memory of our city council, I wish to quote from two ads which appeared in the local papers during the election campaign and were signed by Mr. Cline (and not denied by Mr. Coon). May 15th ad, quote "Monroe has the lowest water rate in the south. All the above improvements financed in a business-like manner through the profits of the light and water plants and without any additional tax." May 20th ad, after listing all of the accomplishments and all of the wonderful things to come after reelection this statement is made, quote "All the program was and is being financed in a business-like manner by revenue bonds to be paid from the profits of the utilities and without the necessity for any additional tax." Yet, less than one month after the election the above rates were increased!

Listen to this — Two months after the election and only a few days after the rates were raised this announcement was made (August 24, 1952 issue of News-Star page IIA):

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Section 1: A resolution authorizing an increase in salaries of the mayor and commissioners of the City of Monroe, etc, etc, each hereby increased in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) per year, etc, etc, effective August 1st. Approved and adopted this 12th day of August 1952.

A few days later on September 3, 1952, Page 13 of the News-Star there appeared this notice:

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Ordinance No. 2981. Be it ordained, etc, etc, in order to pay it's current expenses for the year 1952, etc, etc, they are empowered to borrow the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) etc, etc.

Now, please listen to this—this quote is taken from a full page ad in the News-Star on June 23rd (day before election): The City of Monroe is in sound financial condition. Our utility system increased in revenues each year and that there is an excess revenue over expense, and the same will be true for the current fiscal year when the audit is completed." (This statement was not denied or commented upon by Mayor Coon).

Isn't it logical to think that we are [illegible] to know what has happened to the money we were supposed to have been making with our utility system?

Was it business-like for our city officials to raise their salaries $1,000.00 per year and at the same time borrow $33,000.00 to pay current bills?

Was it business-like for the city officials to grant the bus - drivers a raise (which they and all city employees so deserve) and then "discover after the agreement was made, that the city did not have sufficient funds to meet the obligations, and since they had agreed to pay the workers with funds which did not exist they had acted illegally! Pray tell me, what sort of business men are these officials?

When are we going to wake up and demand to know exactly what is going on at the City Hall? After it is too late? After the City of Monroe is declared bankrupt? When?

Our City of Monroe does not deserve this. We have a city that should have been one of the greatest cities in the South! We should have been a great industrial city. We had the world's largest gas fields, excellent rail and water transportation, roads, centrally located, plenty of labor and what happens? Nothing! Whose fault is in that Monroe has become stagnated? The blame rests squarely upon our city officials, present and past, and the voters. If we had elected officials with vision, initiative, responsibility, business ability, etc, and had the interest of Monroe at heart, then Monroe would have been a real city. A city to be proud of. But instead, what have we got? A run down, heavily taxed, heavily indebted town with no future.

I am a native born citizen of Monroe. I was born here in 1911. I have my home here and I sincerely hope to die and be buried here in Monroe. In view of this, it breaks my heart to think what Monroe is and what a great city it could have been if only we, the citizens of Monroe, would only wake up and take an interest in the administration of our city. There is no need for a few so-called "big-shots" running the city. We, the "little-shots" far outnumber them and could certainly make our voices be heard and heeded if we only will take an interest.

Remember that old saying — "While the good people are busy taking care of themselves, the wrongdoers are busy taking care of everyone else."

Will Great Britain Cede Scotland To The Russians?

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have been reading your recent editorials in the Monroe Morning World with a great deal of interest and will add that I have agreed with them just about one hundred per cent. Apropos to this, I would like to make one or two comments of my own.

You have called my attention to the fact that Winston Churchill and Gen. Mark Clark have both denounced the stand taken by Pres. Syngman Rhee and have even advocated the use of armed force to make him sign the proposed peace treaty. I am just wondering what these two gentlemen would say in case the following proposition was made. The U.N. would say that in view of the objections to the proposed treaty, Russia had made a new suggestion to bring about a truce. Namely, that if Great Britain would cede Scotland to the Russians or if the United States would give up New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Russia would then agree to a peace treaty. These terms would be given to a committee of three neutral nations composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia and India and whatever these three nations decided to do would be binding on us and England. Do you think that for one moment Winston Churchill or President Eisenhower would agree to these terms? No, they would state in no uncertain terms, and rightly too, that we would die to the last man rather than give up a single foot of our country to a foreign nation. It seems to me that Syngman Rhee and South Korea are in this same position and that it should be respected.

All of this just goes to prove that it is a darned sight easier to give away the other fellows land and property than it is to give up our own.

GIL A. WOODS.

McCarthy, The British And Syngman Rhee

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I read your editorial in the Monroe Morning World under date line of June 21. I fully agree with you, and the people I have heard discuss agree also.

It would appear that Joe McCarthy is on the right track although I did not think so at first. I heard McCarthy and Mr. Rankin on Sunday afternoon on the American Forum of the Air. McCarthy told Mr. Rankin to his face that ships under British control had shipped rubber from Ceylon and that rubber was essential. And may I add that a boy of ten years old knows that his motor scooter travels on tires made of rubber. Mr. McCarthy also gave Mr. Rankin figures to prove that since 1950 the tonnage of rubber shipped had steadily increased since that time.

Mr. Rankin said that the British navy had orders to stop such shipments. I have not heard of a single instance of the British navy doing anything about it.

Now I was for the U. N. I was for NATO and Foreign aid, until we and the Korean people were let down by the very two nations we had fought side by side in two world wars, and loaned money too, the tax payers money. If they ever paid back one red cent I have never heard of it. When someone decided that the tax payer was going to get sore about this, they came up with the Marshall Plan. Something must have gone wrong with this plan. The next thing they came up with the Four Point Program. Now, when we look back over history, we know what British Policy really is.

The thirteen colonies had a sample of that. India did also a few years back. Now Egypt, the Sudan, Africa, Iran and French Indo-China. Now I wonder with all the aid we have sent to Britian and France, they tell us Britain fell from a world power to about a third rate power and France had no government at all. We can only concede that we too have been exploited through sending lease and aid to these two countries.

I think the American people will be against any more aid to countries that do these things we fight against. Now they say we need allies, that I agree to. But past history proves that these same countries, Britain and France, need us even more than we need them. They are not the only allies we have, we would not have to go it alone in Korea. If, instead of the British trading with Red China, they had helped us to keep supplies out of Red China and had not let the Communists know that the British did not agree with us on policy, we might have had an honorable truce in Korea. And to prove how unfair the Reds are, they, instead of holding their force when they believed a truce was about to be signed, they started shooting up the U. N. forces.

And then to think that they demand that we gather up these POW's is all out of reason. I never heard anyone demand they stop fighting. And when we remember what happened after the secret meeting at Yalta, Potsdam and Teheran, I will never be in favor of anymore secret meetings. I believe this is what Syngman Rhee has in mind at this time. And too, he must have heard or read the speech of President Truman in which he said "To the best of my memory, the Communists have broken 92 treaties. We are told that the Communist policy ruling the world has not changed. Then, why is there any reason to believe that they would keep a truce at this time. Now it looks as if the Communists have about all they can handle and need a truce so as to shift their weight to some other places. We are to be sucked in again like we were on the truce talks.

I listened in to the truce meeting until it became repulsive.

I hope you will not become bored with this letter as you know more about world affairs than I do.

J. R. BLALOCK.

Paper Deletes Ike's Letter, But Never Deletes Critics

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorials have criticized the position of those who oppose the actions of President Rhee. Inasmuch as the paper has taken the position of openly criticizing those who oppose Mr. Rhee, it will be well for the paper to print President Eisenhower's letter to President Rhee. Since your readers have to indulge your pleasure in disagreeing with critics of Mr. Rhee, then the paper should feel obligated (if it is not a leftist paper) to print all of the facts in the matter and not just editorial opinions. Excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter are as follows:

"The enemy has proposed an armistice which involves a clear abandonment of the fruits of aggression. The Armistice would leave the Republic of Korea in undisputed possession of substantially the territory which the Republic administered prior to the aggression; indeed this territory will be somewhat enlarged."

"It is my profound conviction that acceptance of the armistice is required of the United Nations and the Republic of Korea. We would not be justified in prolonging the war with all the misery that it involves in the hope of achieving, by force, the unification of Korea.

"The unification of Korea is an end to which the United States is committed, not once, but many times, through its World War II declarations and through its acceptance of the principles enunciated in reference to Korea by the United Nations. Korea is unhappily not the only country which remains divided after World War II."

"It was indeed a crime that those who attacked from the north invoked violence to unite Korea under their rule. Not only as your official friend but as a personal friend I urge that your country not embark upon a similar course.

"The United States will not renounce its efforts by all peaceful means to effect the unification of Korea. Also as a member of the United Nations we shall seek to assure that the United Nations continues steadfast in its determination in this respect. In the political conference which will follow an armistice, that will be our central objective. The United States intends to consult with your government both before and during such a conference and expects the full participation of your government in that conference.

"You speak of a mutual defense pact. I am prepared promptly after the conclusion and acceptance of an armistice to negotiate with you a mutual defense treaty along the lines of treaties heretofore made between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines, and the United States and Australia and New Zealand.

"Of course you realize that under our constitutional system, any such treaty would be made only with the advice and consent of the Senate. However, the action which the United States has heretofore taken, and the great investment of blood and treasure which has already been made for the independence of Korea are certainly clear indications of American temper and intentions not to tolerate a repetition of unprovoked aggression."

The editorial in today's World certainly does not reflect any understanding of these vital points made by the President. The very constitutional right you insist upon enjoying, the right to criticize whom you please, you want to deny those who criticize the action of President Rhee in his unlawful act of freeing the prisoners. Among those who criticized President Rhee are those parents who lost sons in the continuing prolongation of the war which is the direct responsibility of President Rhee. Certainly these critics are not "leftists."

In this country we judge leaders as we do all men, by their actions alone. President Rhee certainly did not present any qualities of leadership in his action of freeing the prisoners.

I respectfully request that your paper, if it is an American publication, refrain from vehement criticism and adhere to a policy of printing all the facts.

I am sure that you will print this contesting of your implications and will print my remarks and the excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter in tomorrow's edition of the Monroe World. My best wishes to the entire staff.

ARTHUR M. LE BLANC, JR.

P. S. I keep a file copy of every letter that I write for presentation to those who contend that we do not enjoy a free press. In this manner, I can prove to them that your paper never deletes any criticisms from letters it prints from readers.

Try This Poultry Dressing On Your July Fourth Menu

POULTRY STUFFING

One of the finest things that has come our way in many a moon is a simple stuffing for poultry. The quantities described here are for a two-pound chicken. (We used the same amount in roasting half a small turkey recently, with florious results).

Mrs. Blanche Crawford, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Chapter, to whom we are indebted for this, uses the following ingredients:

¼ cup shredded onion.
¼ cup carrots, diced.
¼ cup celery, chopped.
6 slices dry bread.
2 tablespoons chicken fat (rendered from the hen).
2 tablespoons butter, melted.
Salt and pepper.

Parboil the onion a few minutes, "tunking (that's local lingo) off the liquid it was cooked in." We hadn't been in Mrs. Crawford's part of Pennsylvania for some time, but we crossed our fingers and 'drained' off the water — and the results were good!

Cook carrots, celery, and parboiled onion in a little water until carrots are tender. Shred dry bread into this mixture, adding salt and pepper to taste. Mix in the chicken fat and melted butter.

In cooking a half-turkey, we massage the flesh side of the bird with butter, and roast flesh-side-up until slightly browned. Then remove fill the cavity with the stuffing, place a sheet of aluminum foil over to hold it, then return to the heat foil side down. Let the foil extend out around the bird, and turn the edges up slightly, so the stuffing will absorb all the juices. Very, very satisfactory!

Tomato Snowball Dumplings, from Mrs. Evangeline Kemp, Detroit Times Chapter, will bring the crowd to its feet. Use a deep pan or kettle with tight-fitting cover, and put in:

6 to 8 cups canned or stewed tomatoes.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ teaspoon salt.
3 dashes pepper.
1 dash cinnamon.
1 teaspoon grated onion and juice.
½ cup diced ham or other left-over meat.
⅛ teaspoon MSG powder.
1 dash maggi sauce.

Stir all together and bring to a gentle boil. Make the dumplings of the following:

1 cup sweet milk.
2 cups cake flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 teaspoons melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.

Mix the above well, and drop by spoonfulls on top of the tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook 15 to 20 minutes without removing cover. These two prizes can make the basis of a fine Fourth of July dinner, believe you us!

And for a nice hot weather refresher, James Patrick Delaney of the Chicago Daily News Chapter sends us "Orange Julius." Just mix 3 tablespoons malted milk powder, ¾ cup orange juice (2 oranges), and 1 teaspoon honey or sugar. Mix or shake thoroughly, divide among 3 tall glasses, add ice cubes and fill with chilled charged water. Dust on nutmeg if desired.

Quota Is Reached In Palsy Drive, Chairman States

The United Cerebral Palsy Association of Northeast Louisiana has reached its quota in the first annual fund collections, Oliver E. Moore, fund chairman, has announced. The chairman stated Saturday that the amount collected during the month drive was comparatively small, considering other drives conducted in the Twin Cities, but that the drive netted was above the amount marked for this area.

Moore pointed out that Henry Plitt, state president of Cerebral Palsy, was well pleased with the first drive to be conducted in Monroe. This first drive shows that thousands of parents and children who fight against cerebral palsy realize the crucial stage of this battle has been reached. They know that recent progress in scientific research and the continuing increase year after year of cerebral palsy cases make their responsibilities greater than ever before.

"Through the generosity of the citizens of northeast Louisiana, the excellent efforts of our division chairman, and the fine cooperation of the local radio stations and Monroe and West Monroe newspapers, we were able to conduct this drive. The division chairman together with their workers did a splendid job and are entitled to the thanks of everyone interested in the United Cerebral Palsy," Moore said.

There are more than 4,000 cerebral palsied children and adults in the state and some 100 or more in northeast Louisiana.

Mr. Moore paid tribute to Altrusa Business Women's Club, sponsors of the Northeast Louisiana Association, and to membres of Tefils Grotto who helped to conduct the fund-raising crusade; to Lambda Sorority, and to postmen for their work.

Without their unselfish efforts, the people of northeast Louisiana would not have been so acutely aware of the increasing responsibilities of the Cerebral Palsy Association," he declared.

The division chairmen in this year's drive were J. Y. Pipes, Mrs. B. V. Durbin, Miss Lillie Glenn Miss Bernice McCoy, Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Miss Mary Lee Frost, Dr. Katherine Foster, Miss Ann Mickel, Mr. M. S. Greenblatt, Mr. George A. Bennett, Mrs. Louis Gruber and Mrs. Smith.

Miss Lillie Glenn also served as publicity chairman.

Has Fingerprints And Name Of Man Hanged In 1919

KAMLOOPS, B. C., June 27 (AP)—Puzzled Royal Canadian mounted police Friday discovered a man they hold in jail here apparently has the same name and fingerprints as a man who was hanged 34 years ago.

Alex Ignace, an Indian from Deadman's Creek, was sentenced to six months in jail for common assault. In taking his fingerprints, the Mounted Police found they were identical to those of a man hanged in Kamloops for murder.

"But the strangest thing about this million-to-one coincidence is that the hanged man's name also was Alex Ignace," an officer said, "and if he had lived he would have been the same age as the man we now have behind bars."

Civil Service Day Hailed As Bright Day For Employes

Mrs. I. E. Lobrano, Baton Rouge, president of the Louisiana Organizations for State Legislation, Saturday hailed civil service day as a bright light in the lives of state employees of Louisiana and for the public in general. Mrs. Lobrano said:

"June, 30, the day on which the civil service law becomes effective in Louisiana, marks the beginning of an era when our public employes can work with peace of mind and satisfaction. They can now build a career in public employment of which they can be proud.

"There will be no fear of being fired at every change of administration — no having to vote for this or that candidate to hold their jobs — no fear of political reprisals . . . at every turn.

"The LOSL, consisting of 26 statewide organizations, had as its Number 1 project last year the restoration of civil service in Louisiana by constitutional amendment. This organization having such a broad scope of membership, wields great power in supporting legislative projects — back at the grass roots. The civil service constitutional amendment was the first project ever to be adopted unanimously by this organization.

"The Louisiana Organizations for State Legislation designed to expand the interest of the State of Louisiana in the process of securing enactment of laws to improve the conditions of the citizens or institutions — and to further the effective administration of laws contributing to the progress of our state — is proud to have had a part in this great movement for Constitutional Civil Service - for the betterment of the welfare of our state government and its people."

CHILD FALLS

NEW ORLEANS, June 27 (AP)—Three-year-old Cynthia Glaser raised a bathroom screen yesterday and toppled 25 feet from a third floor residence into a mud puddle.

Hospital attendants said she suffered a deep cut on the head, a possible skull fracture and possible internal injuries.

Her mother, Mrs. Claude W. Kurtz, said the child was halfway out of the window when she saw her and, "I screamed, and she just let go and fell."

Tensas Votes Mill Tax For Health Unit

ST. JOSEPH, June 27, (Special) —The voters of Tensas Parish recently voted overwhelmingly in favor of a one mill tax for support of the local health unit.

Funds from federal and state sources have been reduced, making it necessary for health units to find additional sources of revenue if services offered are to continue at the present level.

The millage tax was carried by a vote of $394,000 to $188,000 in assessment and 72 to 15 in popular vote.

Milk Plant Unit Is Considered For Public Fund

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The state Bond and Tax Board took under advisement today a proposal to construct a milk processing plant in Washington Parish, first request under Louisiana's new industry inducement program.

The board heard heated debate on the proposal from dairymen advocating the plant and a delegation of Bogalusa businessmen who opposed it.

The state Board of Commerce and Industry has already approved a contract for the Washington Parish Police jury to float $500,000 worth of bonds to construck and equip a milk plant at Franklington to be operated by the Louisiana-Mississippi Milk Producers Association, a dairy cooperative.

Under the state's new balance agriculture with industry bill, the contract must next be approved by the Bond and Tax Board before the bond issue is submitted to Washington Parish voters.

The BAWI law, approved in a constitutional amendment last November, permits political subdivisions to vote bonds to purchase plant sites and build and equip factories as an inducement for new industries.

Bogalusa businessmen, headed by former state Sen. H. H. Richardson, contended the contract as written would "make the taxpayers of Washington Parish the sole assets behind the plant...the proponnents are not putting up a darn cent."

"We think there is a need for this plant and it should be built," Richardson said, "but we object to the manner in which it is being done. The BAWI bill was meant to attract industries and not create them."

Richardson questioned the wisdom of using the bond money to purchase the land, construct and equip the plant and arrange other facilities.

"We're giving this association a going concern. It's not costing them a red cent," he said. "They can walk out tomorrow if they want, leaving the taxpayers holding the bag."

The former lawmaker argued that the city of Bogalusa was included in the bond district "as an eleventh hour proposition in order to cut the millage down from five to two mills. We weren't even consulted."

He also protested that the terms of the contract were vague and that the president of the Association lived in Mississippi.

W. W. Erwin of Franklington, attorney for the dairymen, charged that the "big taxpayers of Bogulasa are against this and it's not hard to see why."

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have been married for nine months during which time my husband has left me three times to go home to his "mama." We both are 28. He was a perfect husband for three months, working and bringing home his paycheck. Then his mother would phone him at work, tell him she had something she wanted him to do and encourage him to leave work. She would give him enough money for him to get by. From that time on he has not worked.

I finally packed up and moved back to my mother's home. He keeps calling and visiting but still won't get a job. His mother bought him a car so that he will not leave her to live with me. I have threatened, begged and pleaded to get him to straighten out and be a man but all I get is promises.

When I left, I took all of our unpaid bills and have been paying them myself. I always have worked. Please help me.—B. B.

You are almost as bad as your husband's mother! Everybody killing themselves to keep the bum happy. Your husband's big trouble is his lack of responsibility and instead of giving him some, you take it right away from him. Why didn't you send the debts to your husband in a registered letter, then send notes to the creditors as to where they could find him? Paying his debts was the worst thing you could do. You don't think for one minute that he appreciates your effort, do you? A parasite of his gender just takes such things for granted.

What can you do about him? Nothing. Either he loves you enough to break away from his mother's iron clutches (no 'apron strings' here!) and to assume the responsibility of a husband or he doesn't. Tell him you have done all you are going to do for him and that the rest is up to him. Under no circumstances lend him money or talk to or see him until he is ready to seek help and be weaned away from his mother. It is obvious that she will not cooperate!

Dear Mrs. Landers: When you receive an invitation to a wedding shower and you cannot attend, is it necessary to send a gift? Also, are "Currency Showers" proper? We have been arguing about this for a week and decided to put it into your lap.—Four Office Girls

No; you are not obligated to send the gift to a shower. If you mean by "Currency Showers" a bid for money instead of a gift, they are not proper. If the girls invited are very close to the bride-to-be and decided to pool their gift money to allow her to make her own selection or to apply it on something she wants, that is all right. But the giver of the shower must not dictate or suggest an amount of money to be given in lieu of a gift; that must be left to the guest.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I went out with one of your "Brave Soldiers," whom I had met at the USO. (There is no rule at the one I attend against hostesses going out with the servicemen.)

Though the date got started late, I saw no reason to object to the proposal that we three couples go up to one of the boy's apartments to eat and play cards as I realized they had little money for taking us out. After two minutes, I realized it was time to head for the door (if you know what I mean). Two hours of talk, resistance and frigidity finally convinced our hero that here was one girl whose answer was really no! These are the nice boys who grew up next door? Maybe next door to you, but not next door to me!—Ex-Hostess

Dear Mrs. Landers: Being Junior Hostesses at the USO, we really were amused by your recent article. Believe us, there are some boys who frequent the USO who never have and never will "fight for their country." Secondly, your statement about them being heartsick with loneliness and homesickness was quite funny.

Most of them have been stationed here for months and months and regard it as their second home. And, they would like the comforts of home including someone, namely a hostess, to perform the wifely duties! They reverse the roles and think they are there to boost the morale of the hostesses in return for which they want a hostess to give her all, and we do mean, all. —3 Honorable Hostesses.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Try This Poultry Dressing On Your July Fourth Menu

POULTRY STUFFING

One of the finest things that has come our way in many a moon is a simple stuffing for poultry. The quantities described here are for a two-pound chicken. (We used the same amount in roasting half a small turkey recently, with florious results).

Mrs. Blanche Crawford, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Chapter, to whom we are indebted for this, uses the following ingredients:

¼ cup shredded onion.
¼ cup carrots, diced.
¼ cup celery, chopped.
6 slices dry bread.
2 tablespoons chicken fat (rendered from the hen).
2 tablespoons butter, melted.
Salt and pepper.

Parboil the onion a few minutes, "tunking (that's local lingo) off the liquid it was cooked in." We hadn't been in Mrs. Crawford's part of Pennsylvania for some time, but we crossed our fingers and 'drained' off the water — and the results were good!

Cook carrots, celery, and parboiled onion in a little water until carrots are tender. Shred dry bread into this mixture, adding salt and pepper to taste. Mix in the chicken fat and melted butter.

In cooking a half-turkey, we massage the flesh side of the bird with butter, and roast flesh-side-up until slightly browned. Then remove fill the cavity with the stuffing, place a sheet of aluminum foil over to hold it, then return to the heat foil side down. Let the foil extend out around the bird, and turn the edges up slightly, so the stuffing will absorb all the juices. Very, very satisfactory!

Tomato Snowball Dumplings, from Mrs. Evangeline Kemp, Detroit Times Chapter, will bring the crowd to its feet. Use a deep pan or kettle with tight-fitting cover, and put in:

6 to 8 cups canned or stewed tomatoes.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ teaspoon salt.
3 dashes pepper.
1 dash cinnamon.
1 teaspoon grated onion and juice.
½ cup diced ham or other left-over meat.
½ teaspoon MSG powder.
1 dash maggi sauce.

Stir all together and bring to a gentle boil. Make the dumplings of the following:

1 cup sweet milk.
2 cups cake flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 teaspoons melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.

Mix the above well, and drop by spoonfulls on top of the tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook 15 to 20 minutes without removing cover. These two prizes can make the basis of a fine Fourth of July dinner, believe you us!

And for a nice hot weather refresher, James Patrick Delaney of the Chicago Daily News Chapter sends us "Orange Julius." Just mix 3 tablespoons malted milk powder, ¾ cup orange juice (2) oranges), and 1 teaspoon honey or sugar. Mix or shake thoroughly, divide among 3 tall glasses, add ice cubes and fill with chilled charged water. Dust on nutmeg if desired.

We added 2 oz. gin to each drink —and were we ever surprised!

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have been married for nine months during which time my husband has left me three times to go home to his "mama." We both are 28. He was a perfect husband for three months, working and bringing home his paycheck. Then his mother would phone him at work, tell him she had something she wanted him to do and encourage him to leave work. She would give him enough money for him to get by. From that time on he has not worked.

I finally packed up and moved back to my mother's home. He keeps calling and visiting but still won't get a job. His mother bought him a car so that he will not leave her to live with me. I have threatened, begged and pleaded to get him to straighten out and be a man but all I get is promises.

When I left, I took all of our unpaid bills and have been paying them myself. I always have worked. Please help me.—B. B.

You are almost as bad as your husband's mother! Everybody killing themselves to keep the bum happy. Your husband's big trouble is his lack of responsibility and instead of giving him some, you take it right away from him. Why didn't you send the debts to your husband in a registered letter, then send notes to the creditors as to where they could find him? Paying his debts was the worst thing you could do. You don't think for one minute that he appreciates your effort, do you? A parasite of his gender just takes such things for granted.

What can you do about him? Nothing. Either he loves you enough to break away from his mother's iron clutches (no 'apron strings' here!) and to assume the responsibility of a husband or he doesn't. Tell him you have done all you are going to do for him and that the rest is up to him. Under no circumstances lend him money or talk to or see him until he is ready to seek help and be weaned away from his mother. It is obvious that she will not cooperate!

Dear Mrs. Landers: When you receive an invitation to a wedding shower and you cannot attend, is it necessary to send a gift? Also, are "Currency Showers" proper? We have been arguing about this for a week and decided to put it into your lap.—Four Office Girls

No; you are not obligated to send the gift to a shower. If you mean by "Currency Showers" a bid for money instead of a gift, they are not proper. If the girls invited are very close to the bride-to-be and decided to pool their gift money to allow her to make her own selection or to apply it on something she wants, that is all right. But the giver of the shower must not dictate or suggest an amount of money to be given in lieu of a gift; that must be left to the guest.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I went out with one of your "Brave Soldiers," whom I had met at the USO. (There is no rule at the one I attend against hostesses going out with the servicemen.)

Though the date got started late, I saw no reason to object to the proposal that we three couples go up to one of the boy's apartments to eat and play cards as I realized they had little money for taking us out. After two minutes, I realized it was time to head for the door (if you know what I mean). Two hours of talk, resistance and frigidity finally convinced our hero that here was one girl whose answer was really no! These are the nice boys who grew up next door? Maybe next door to you, but not next door to me!—Ex-Hostess

Dear Mrs. Landers: Being Junior Hostesses at the USO, we really were amused by your recent article. Believe us, there are some boys who frequent the USO who never have and never will "fight for their country." Secondly, your statement about them being heartsick with loneliness and homesickness was quite funny.

Most of them have been stationed here for months and months and regard it as their second home. And, they would like the comforts of home including someone, namely a hostess, to perform the wifely duties! They reverse the roles and think they are there to boost the morale of the hostesses in return for which they want a hostess to give her all, and we do mean, all. —3 Honorable Hostesses.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Ike May Use Pressure For Legislative Aims

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower is heading into the critical period of his congressional relations with indications that he is determined to crack the whip on major legislative proposals if compromises fail.

The President's support of a move to force a House vote on his proposal for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax apparently has convinced lawmakers he can get tough if persuasion fails.

But congressional leaders who know him best say Eisenhower doesn't like the whip cracking role and will continue to compromise where he can do so without losing prestige or conceding defeat on legislation classed as "must".

The tax fight is yet to be won in the House and Eisenhower's lieutenants face some other stiff battles before they can add up their legislative accomplishments and call them good.

In one of the few occasions in which they have departed from support of presidential proposals, Senate Democrats are lining up for a last-ditch fight against Eisenhower's cutback of five billion dollars in Air Force money requests.

Unless the signs are wrong, the President is going to win that and some other budget-cutting tests. He apparently will get somewhat less than the $5,318,000,000 in foreign aid funds he requested.

Unless there is an upset, Congress also will approve a year's extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program. It already has voted submerged lands bills he asked for and has continued his government reorganization powers.

But some of the "must" legislation listed by GOP leaders after a conference with the President early in February already is being put on the shelf until next year.

The House-approved Hawaiian statehood bill, proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act and social security expansion are in this category.

The White House and State Department had to admit defeat on one presidential request—a resolution to condemn Russia for enslaving other people. It was put in cold storage as a result of an intra-party fight over whether also to condemn the Yalta and Potsdam agreements made with the Soviet by Democratic presidents.

A bill to simplify customs procedures—promised by Eisenhower in his State of the Union Message—thus far has been stuck in the House Ways and Means Committee. Its fate is doubtful because of the resentment created among members by the House Rules Committee's action in taking the excess profit tax measure out of the ways and means files and bringing it before the House.

This whip cracking operation, carried out at Eisenhower's behest, may backfire on the customs bill and some other measures.

More of the same kind of White House pressure may be needed, however, to get out of a Senate judiciary subcommittee a bill to admit 240,000 European refugees to this country in two years.

Graduation Rule Voided By Order Of High Court

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The superior court has told a chiropody school it cannot refuse to graduate a woman student who has completed three years' study althought she lacked proper entrance requirements.

John Rudolph Desort issued an injunction against the Chicago College of Chiropody and Pedic Surgery in favor of Millicent Dashwood, 27, of Jackson, Miss., who will complete a four-year course next year.

Miss Dashwood sued the school and G. E. Gunezler of Freeport, Ill., a member of the council of education of the National Association of Chiropodists. She alleged they told her she could not be graduated because she failed to meet certain preliminary entrance requirements.

She said she has finished three years of study and would have been graduated at the end of the fourth. Her previous academic training includes graduation from high school in England and two years of study at the London Foot Hospital School of Chiropody, London, England.

The suit named the chiropodists association on the ground that it threatens to remove the Chicago school from its accredited list if it lets her be graduated.

Miss Dashwood said school officials wrote her April 22, 1953, that although her academic record was "excellent" she should not be permitted to graduate.

She said she was born in the United States, went with her parents to England and lived there until after the war. She married an American soldier there and came to Chicago with him. They since have been divorced.

The woman said she planned to practice Chiropody in Mississippi. She said she has had to work part time to pay her living and school expenses.

GOING TO FORMOSA—Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., was in Monroe for the Chiang Kai-shek day, which was held Friday. Mrs. Strong is a candidate for President of the National Altrusa Club. She will leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

Woman At Chiang Meeting Here To Go To Formosa

Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., a candidate for international president of Altrusa Clubs, said yesterday that the "people of the Twin Cities have put their right foot forward in the betterment of government in declaring and celebrating Chiang Kai-shek day."

The Memphis business woman, who came to Monroe to participate in Chiang Kai-shek day is the past vice - president of her hometown Altrusa Club and is now seeking the top international post.

Mrs. Strong is the owner of a fabricated steel mill in Memphis, in conjunction with her family.

Mrs. Strong stated that she had become interested in the Chinese people when she was a young girl and that she had studied very hard to increase her knowledge about these people, and that some day she would like very much to go to China.

"The people of Monroe," she stated, "are very unaware of the great thing they have done for the Chinese people and their government by declaring a Chiang Kai-shek day. To me, it was a wonderful event and will long be remembered by everyone of the Twin Cities, China, and the people throughout the states."

Mrs. Strong will leave for Formosa the latter part of July, where she will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. M. T. Tung. She stated that she has always wanted to go to China but because of the conditions at the present she will be unable to go into China.

A group of the Altrusa members attended this celebration from all over the states. The Altrusa club is for business women and is an international organization and has a membership in Korea.

She stated, "Being in contact with the Chinese people, I know that they love the American country and their people. China was the first to offer her services in the Korean war, even though they were not accepted."

Mrs. Strong will leave Monroe and return to Memphis and from there will go to Los Angeles to attend the Altrusa convention. She plans to leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

City Treasurer Of New Orleans Gets Dismissal

NEW ORLEANS, June 27 (AP)—Thomas J. Heier, appointed New Orleans city treasurer only two months ago, was fired by Finance Commissioner Lionel Ott, effective Monday.

Ott dismissed Heier yesterday and gave no reason for the firing.

Heier finished first in a city civil service examination given for the post. Former City Treasure C. Jones finished fifth and the selection had to be made from the top three.

Under the civil service law, appointees cannot be dismissed during the first 60 days of their probationary period. But at the end of 60 days and prior to six months, they may be dismissed at any time, if found to be "unsatisfactory in the opinion of the appointing authority."

Jones, close political friend of Ott, lost an appeal to the Civil Service Commission for the review of his examination for the job as treasurer.

Two Young Girls Die In Drug Co. Fireworks Fire

KANSAS CITY, June 27—UP—A stock of "safe" fireworks burst into flames in an eastside Kansas City drugstore Friday and the fire gutted the store and killed two teen-aged soda fountain girls.

The girls, Nancy Darlene Braden, 16, and Donna Hernrich, 17, were trapped behind the fountain. Their bodies were burned badly.

A store employe, Mrs. Gloria Beard, said the fireworks were of the so-called "safe" variety, the only kind permitted by law in Kansas City. She said the stock consisted mainly of sparklers, pinwheels and other non-explosive types.

"I was standing at the fountain drinking a glass of water when I heard a kind of gentle whoosh behind me," Mrs. Beard said. "I set the glass down and looked around to see a ball of flame and sparks. Then I beat it out the door."

George Foxton, manager of the chain store unit, said from 20 to 25 customers and employes were in the building when the display caught fire. He fought the flames and shouted for everyone to leave by the front door. All except the fountain clerks made it.

The entire stock and fixtures of the store were destroyed. An assistant manager, Vitale Swan, said he believed damage, exclusive of the building, would amount to $40,000.

Recently the Presbytery of Red River sent a commission of ministers and elders to organize a church. The actual and basic work was done on June 5. Three elders and four deacons were elected to carry on the work of the church and there is reported much enthusiasm in the new organization.

Wilson Strips Civil Service From Top Men

WASHINGTON, June 27 —UP—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson Friday stripped civil service protection from 52 "high evel" positions in his department.

One of the jobs is that of chauffeur to Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

The action was in line with President Eisenhower's new order removing merit system protection from certain jobs blanketed into civil service by the Truman administration.

Wilson told the Defense Department these "relatively few high level positions are being paced outside the competitive service because they involve either the determination of executive policies or a close personal and confidential relationship with the top officials of the department."

Anderson's chauffeur was the only driver on the list. It was not explained what classification he comes under.

Wealthy Farmer Wins On Bathroom, Loses On Heater

LINCOLN, Neb., June 27—UP—The Nebraska supreme court Friday ruled in favor of a wealthy farmer accused by his wife of failing to provide such "necessaries of life" as a bathroom and an auto heater that worked.

The court held that Charles McGuire, 79, was legally supporting his wife despite her claims that she was given no money for furniture or modern plumbing.

McGuire owns 398 acres of land in rural Wayne county, has bank deposits of $12,786, government bonds worth $104,300 and a yearly income of $8,000 to $9,000.

But Mrs. McGuire charged in a lower court suit that her home had no bathroom, bathing facilities or inside toilet and the kitchen was not modern.

She said she did not want a divorce, only enough money for life's necessities.

The lower court upheld Mrs. Mc-among other things to make repairs to the house and get a new car with an "effective heater."

But the high bench reversed the lower court. It said that "as long as the home is maintained and the parties are living as husband and wife, it may be said that theh usband is legally supporting his wife and the purpose of the marriage relation is being carried out."

Average altitude of West Virginia is 1500 feet, highest of any state east of the Mississippi River.

Ike May Use Pressure For Legislative Aims

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower is heading into the critical period of his congressional relations with indications that he is determined to crack the whip on major legislative proposals if compromises fail.

The President's support of a move to force a House vote on his proposal for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax apparently has convinced lawmakers he can get tough if persuasion fails.

But congressional leaders who know him best say Eisenhower doesn't like the whip cracking role and will continue to compromise where he can do so without losing prestige or conceding defeat on legislation classed as "must".

The tax fight is yet to be won in the House and Eisenhower's lieutenants face some other stiff battles before they can add up their legislative accomplishments and call them good.

In one of the few occasions in which they have departed from support of presidential proposals, Senate Democrats are lining up for a last-ditch fight against Eisenhower's cutback of five billion dollars in Air Force money requests.

Unless the signs are wrong, the President is going to win that and some other budget-cutting tests. He apparently will get somewhat less than the $5,318,000,000 in foreign aid funds he requested.

Unless there is an upset, Congress also will approve a year's extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program. It already has voted submerged lands bills he asked for and has continued his government reorganization powers.

But some of the "must" legislation listed by GOP leaders after a conference with the President early in February already is being put on the shelf until next year.

The House-approved Hawaiian statehood bill, proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act and social security expansion are in this category.

The White House and State Department had to admit defeat on one presidential request—a resolution to condemn Russia for enslaving other people. It was put in cold storage as a result of an intra-party fight over whether also to condemn the Yalta and Potsdam agreements made with the Soviet by Democratic presidents.

A bill to simplify customs procedures—promised by Eisenhower in his State of the Union Message—thus far has been stuck in the House Ways and Means Committee. Its fate is doubtful because of the resentment created among members by the House Rules Committee's action in taking the excess profit tax measure out of the ways and means files and bringing it before the House.

This whip cracking operation, carried out at Eisenhower's behest, may backfire on the customs bill and some other measures.

More of the same kind of White House pressure may be needed, however, to get out of a Senate judiciary subcommittee a bill to admit 240,000 European refugees to this country in two years.

Graduation Rule Voided By Order Of High Court

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The superior court has told a chiropody school it cannot refuse to graduate a woman student who has completed three years' study althought she lacked proper entrance requirements.

John Rudolph Desort issued an injunction against the Chicago College of Chiropody and Pedic Surgery in favor of Millicent Dashwood, 27, of Jackson, Miss., who will complete a four-year course next year.

Miss Dashwood sued the school and G. E. Gunezler of Freeport, Ill., a member of the council of education of the National Association of Chiropodists. She alleged they told her she could not be graduated because she failed to meet certain preliminary entrance requirements.

She said she has finished three years of study and would have been graduated at the end of the fourth. Her previous academic training includes graduation from high school in England and two years of study at the London Foot Hospital School of Chiropody, London, England.

The suit named the chiropodists association on the ground that it threatens to remove the Chicago school from its accredited list if it lets her be graduated.

Miss Dashwood said school officials wrote her April 22, 1953, that although her academic record was "excellent" she should not be permitted to graduate.

She said she was born in the United States, went with her parents to England and lived there until after the war. She married an American soldier there and came to Chicago with him. They since have been divorced.

The woman said she planned to practice Chiropody in Mississippi. She said she has had to work part time to pay her living and school expenses.

GOING TO FORMOSA—Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., was in Monroe for the Chiang Kai-shek day, which was held Friday. Mrs. Strong is a candidate for President of the National Altrusa Club. She will leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

Woman At Chiang Meeting Here To Go To Formosa

Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., a candidate for international president of Altrusa Clubs, said yesterday that the "people of the Twin Cities have put their right foot forward in the betterment of government in declaring and celebrating Chiang Kai-shek day."

The Memphis business woman, who came to Monroe to participate in Chiang Kai-shek day is the past vice - president of her hometown Altrusa Club and is now seeking the top international post.

Mrs. Strong is the owner of a fabricated steel mill in Memphis, in conjunction with her family.

Mrs. Strong stated that she had become interested in the Chinese people when she was a young girl and that she had studied very hard to increase her knowledge about these people, and that some day she would like very much to go to China.

"The people of Monroe," she stated, "are very unaware of the great thing they have done for the Chinese people and their government by declaring a Chiang Kai-shek day. To me, it was a wonderful event and will long be remembered by everyone of the Twin Cities, China, and the people throughout the states."

Mrs. Strong will leave for Formosa the latter part of July, where she will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. M. T. Tung. She stated that she has always wanted to go to China but because of the conditions at the present she will be unable to go into China.

A group of the Altrusa members attended this celebration from all over the states. The Altrusa club is for business women and is an international organization and has a membership in Korea.

She stated, "Being in contact with the Chinese people, I know that they love the American country and their people. China was the first to offer her services in the Korean war, even though they were not accepted."

Mrs. Strong will leave Monroe and return to Memphis and from there will go to Los Angeles to attend the Altrusa convention. She plans to leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

City Treasurer Of New Orleans Gets Dismissal

NEW ORLEANS, June 27 (AP)—Thomas J. Heier, appointed New Orleans city treasurer only two months ago, was fired by Finance Commissioner Lionel Ott, effective Monday.

Ott dismissed Heier yesterday and gave no reason for the firing.

Heier finished first in a city civil service examination given for the post. Former City Treasure C. Jones finished fifth and the selection had to be made from the top three.

Under the civil service law, appointees cannot be dismissed during the first 60 days of their probationary period. But at the end of 60 days and prior to six months, they may be dismissed at any time, if found to be "unsatisfactory in the opinion of the appointing authority."

Jones, close political friend of Ott, lost an appeal to the Civil Service Commission for the review of his examination for the job as treasurer.

Two Young Girls Die In Drug Co. Fireworks Fire

KANSAS CITY, June 27—UP—A stock of "safe" fireworks burst into flames in an eastside Kansas City drugstore Friday and the fire gutted the store and killed two teen-aged soda fountain girls.

The girls, Nancy Darlene Braden, 16, and Donna Hernrich, 17, were trapped behind the fountain. Their bodies were burned badly.

A store employe, Mrs. Gloria Beard, said the fireworks were of the so-called "safe" variety, the only kind permitted by law in Kansas City. She said the stock consisted mainly of sparklers, pinwheels and other non-explosive types.

"I was standing at the fountain drinking a glass of water when I heard a kind of gentle whoosh behind me," Mrs. Beard said. "I set the glass down and looked around to see a ball of flame and sparks. Then I beat it out the door."

George Foxton, manager of the chain store unit, said from 20 to 25 customers and employes were in the building when the display caught fire. He fought the flames and shouted for everyone to leave by the front door. All except the fountain clerks made it.

The entire stock and fixtures of the store were destroyed. An assistant manager, Vitale Swan, said he believed damage, exclusive of the building, would amount to $40,000.

New Presbyterian Church Organized Outside Of Bast.

BASTROP ,June 27 (Special) — The Woodlawn Presbyterian Church, just outside of Bastrop, was organized recently and has recorded on its church rolls 41 members.

The new church had its beginning some 15 years ago when a Sunday School was started in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodhouse, members of the First Presbyterian church of Bastrop. Until two years ago the Sunday School class continued to meet in the Woodhouse home when a chapel building was constructed.

Recently the Presbytery of Red River sent a commission of ministers and elders to organize a church. The actual and basic work was done on June 5. Three elders and four deacons were elected to carry on the work of the church and there is reported much enthusiasm in the new organization.

Wilson Strips Civil Service From Top Men

WASHINGTON, June 27 —UP—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson Friday stripped civil service protection from 52 "high evel" positions in his department.

One of the jobs is that of chauffeur to Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

The action was in line with President Eisenhower's new order removing merit system protection from certain jobs blanketed into civil service by the Truman administration.

Wilson told the Defense Department these "relatively few high level positions are being paced outside the competitive service because they involve either the determination of executive policies or a close personal and confidential relationship with the top officials of the department."

Anderson's chauffeur was the only driver on the list. It was not explained what classification he comes under.

Miller was governor of the Empire State from 1920 to 1922. He handed the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith his first political defeat. but in 1922 Smith reversed the vote and Miller retired from active politics.

Wealthy Farmer Wins On Bathroom, Loses On Heater

LINCOLN, Neb., June 27—UP—The Nebraska supreme court Friday ruled in favor of a wealthy farmer accused by his wife of failing to provide such "necessaries of life" as a bathroom and an auto heater that worked.

The court held that Charles McGuire, 79, was legally supporting his wife despite her claims that she was given no money for furniture or modern plumbing.

McGuire owns 398 acres of land in rural Wayne county, has bank deposits of $12,786, government bonds worth $104,300 and a yearly income of $8,000 to $9,000.

But Mrs. McGuire charged in a lower court suit that her home had no bathroom, bathing facilities or inside toilet and the kitchen was not modern.

She said she did not want a divorce, only enough money for life's necessities.

The lower court upheld Mrs. Mc- among other things to make repairs to the house and get a new car with an "effective heater."

But the high bench reversed the lower court. It said that "as long as the home is maintained and the parties are living as husband and wife, it may be said that theh usband is legally supporting his wife and the purpose of the marriage relation is being carried out."

Average altitude of West Virginia is 1500 feet, highest of any state east of the Mississippi River.

Ike May Resolve Row Over T-H Change Bids

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower may have to resolve differences between two Cabinet members over proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Taft said in an interview that Secretary of Labor Durkin and representatives of Secretary of Commerce Weeks still are at odds on some points after a series of meetings by a committee named to suggest changes in the law.

Besides Durkin and Weeks, other members of the group are Taft, and the chairmen of the congressional labor committees, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Rep. McConnel (R-Pa.) The White House is represented by Bernard M. Shanley, the President's special counsel.

"I think we can get through in about three more meetings," Taft said. "But I am not at all sure that Durkin and Secretary Weeks, representatives can agree on all of the proposals.

"In that case, we will have to have the assistance of the President in working out an agreement. He has taken a very great personal interest in the mater."

The target is agreement on a dozen or more amendments which Smith and McConnell would immediately introduce in Congress and for which they would seek the support of their labor committees. Congressional leaders plan to seek action by Senate and House in 1954.

The committee trying to draft the changes is believed to have reached substantial agreement in the following areas of labor-management relations:

Increasing the National Labor Relations Board from five to seven members; allowing the AFL building trades unions to write special union shop contracts compelling workers to join the union after the seventh day on the job; permitting strikers to vote in representation elections even if they have been permanently replaced; and either extending the Taft-Hartley law's non-Communist oath provision to employers or dropping it altogether as ineffective.

Serious disagreement is reported in the highly critical area of secondary boycotts — union activity which involves pressure on a neutral employer to gain concessions from another employer.

Durkin was said to have taken a no-retreat position on a proposal by Weeks to tighten up the law further against picketing of a neutral employe.

Weeks was reported to have insisted that neutral employers be afforded complete legal protection against being caught in the middle of a labor dispute involving others. Durkin argued that no employe should be forced to cross a picket line, even though his employer was not directly involved in a dispute.

Freedom Urge Is Pitfall

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP)—The two pleasure-bent AWOL sailors, who were being held here for court martial proceedings, succumbed to their urge for freedom Wednesday and walked away from the base, the Navy said today.

The two Korean veterans, Charles H. Robinson, 21, Knoxville and Roy Lee Austin, 19, Wilson, Okla., slipped away from the sprawling Millington Naval Air Station where they were under "technical arrest."

Robinson and Austin went over the hill from the San Diego Navy Base and 13 days later surrendered to police in Rockwood, Tenn. Rockwood turned out to be a "paradise" for the two wandering gobs. Policeman Avert Billings befriended the pair and allowed them to leave jail and go out and enjoy themselves. All they had to do was return to their cell at night.

The Navy revealed today that Robinson and Austin slipped away late Wednesday. Neither had liberty cards as they were confined to the base. They were not brig prisoners, although they had to stand a muster every two hours and were available for various duties.

Their eventful spree started when they walked away from the San Diego Base June 1. Robinson and Austin hitch-hiked 3,000 miles to Knoxville, Tenn. After a visit in Knoxville, Robinson said, "we decided to give up and let the Navy take us back."

They gave up to police in Rockwood. Billings said he questioned Robinson and Austin and found "they were just typical American boys who had decided to take a trip home."

"So I unlocked the jail door at 9 a.m. and they reported back at nine each night to be locked up again," Billings added.

Robinson and Austin were quoted in Memphis as saying "we love Rockwood. It's the best town we've ever been in."

The Navy sent orders for the pair to take a bus to Memphis, where they showed up June 19. They were then put under "technical-arrest" and restricted to the base.

Nothing has been heard from the two boys since they left Wednesday.

Another Billion

the committee said.

After reviewing secret testimony on the "controversy" over a 143-wing or 120-wing Air Force goal by mid-1955, the committee said President Eisenhower is following a "sound and reasonable" policy in setting the lower level, subject to top-level review. A wing contains from 30 to 75 aircraft.

Then the committee made a further $240,000,000 cut in the new Air Force funds, already slashed five billion dollars by the new President.

It cut Eisenhower's Army requests by $689,000,000, and Navy figures by $398,280,000.

The action threatened to create bitter debate before the House reached a showdown vote late next week. Truman last night joined Air Force and congressional critics in labeling the cuts as short-sighted.

Here is the breakdown of the recommendations made by Truman, Eisenhower and the committee.

TRUMAN
Army	$12,109,591,000
Navy	11,499,850,000
Air Force	16,078,000000
Sec. Defense	1,030,975,000
Misc	1,515,00
EISENHOWER
Army	$13,671,000,000
Navy	9,782,663,000
Air Force	11,288,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,029,625,000
Misc.	275,000
COMMITTEE
Army	$12,982,000,000
Navy	9,384,383,00
Air Force	11,048,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,019,500,000
Misc.	257,500

The Army sum is actually $90,000,000 more than recommended by Truman. But the committee said it includes about two billion dollars to cover Korean War expenses, which were put in the regular defense budget for the first time this year.

The total is $12,750,863,642 below last year's defense appropriations. Of this reduction over 10 billion was from the Air Force.

The committee said these new funds, plus holdover appropriations, would give the department $91,903,000,000 to spend, and said this is more than it could use in three years, for some items. The department actually plans to spend $43,200,000,000 next year, a 20 million dollar boost over 1953, the committee said.

sound dollar."

A top GOP leader said tentative plans called for this message to take the form of a letter to Martin or to Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind), to be read to the House Monday morning.

Administration leaders said final strategy in the tense situation would not be decided until early Monday, however.

Eisenhower has staked his prestige on an almost unprecedented situation in the House. The tax is now due to expire Tuesday, but can be extended retroactively.

Weeks ago, the President proposed that the levy be extended for six months.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee fiercely opposing the extension, bottled it up in his committee and thwarted every effort by the administration to force action.

House leaders then prevailed upon the rules committee to snatch the bill from the ways and means committee and force it to the House floor.

The bill reported out by the rules committee is a proposal by Rep. Sadlak (R-Conn) exempting firms making less than $100,000 a year from the excess profits tax, and extending it for six more months.

Federal Cotton Acreage Details Still Unsettled

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—A member of the American Farm Bureau Federation's cotton committee today said members still were far from agreement concerning federal cotton planting acreage allotments.

The committeeman, who declined use of his name, said still at issue were recommendations concerning allotments for the South and West.

The committee, representing 13 states, met to make recommendations relative to cotton acreage allotment. Secretary of Agriculture Benson recently announced 1954 would be an allotment year due to a surplus of cotton in the past five years.

Under the allotment plan a farmer must reduce the number of acres he plants in cotton to qualify for a federal subsidy. The proposed cuts would amount to as much as 50 per cent in some sections of the West.

The spokesman said the committee is acting in an industry advisory capacity and will present its conclusions to Congress.

States represented at the meeting were Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

City, State Tax Powers On Same Level, Suggested

BILOXI, Miss., June 27 (AP) — Mayor Clyde Fant of Shreveport, La., president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, said today that cities and towns should have the same taxing powers as the state Legislature.

Fant told the closing session of the Mississippi Municipal Association that the cities and towns should not have to "go hat in hand" to seek financial aid. Municipalities, he said, are "close enough to the people that if we did not use the taxing powers properly, then we would not be in office long."

Mayor Harvey Lee Morrison of Okolona was elected president of the organization, succeeding Mayor Harvey Lee Campbell of Brookhaven who was made a lifetime honorary member.

Mayor Allen Thompson of Jackson was elected vice president and George L. Sugg of Jackson was renamed manager.

Other speakers included state Attorney General J. P. Coleman, Mayor H. H. Dees of Atmore, Ala., president of the Alabama League of Municipalities and Mayor John Robinson of Winder, Ga., president of the Georgia Municipal Association.

Coleman said that "getting into public office is not a way of avoiding trouble." Municipal officers, as well as other officials, must be prepared to undergo criticism "whether you deserve it or not," he said.

Fant told delegates that he had helped fight for municipal aid in Louisiana through a division of state taxes "but basically I am against the states handing out revenues to the municipalities."

He described the pledge made to the Mississippi Municipal Association last night by Gov. Hugh White as "a courageous stand."

"Your battle has just started," Fant told the delegates. "The best way to lose it is to go home and say, 'The governor is on our side,' and do nothing yourselves."

The Mississippi governor last night outlined ways through which the state could share revenues with hard-pressed municipalities.

White said the cities and towns could share in the 34 million dollar biennial tax increases proposed for the school equalization program, or allocated general fund revenues now being diverted to the state-aid rural road program, or given a share of the state gasoline tax.

TROUBLE SPOTS ON KOREAN FRONT, AND REAR — This map locates South Korean prison camps where American troops battled new outbreaks while United Nations forces were fighting to stem Chinese Red drives on both ends of the battlefront. American guards killed two anti-Communist North Korean prisoners during a mass outbreak attempt at Camp No. 2, near Pusan, and announced that five prisoners escaped from Camp No. 7, near Masan. Meanwhile, at least 13,000 Chinese Reds hit Allied lines in the Little Nori-Old Baldy sector and on the eastern front near the Pukhan River.

Rhee Reported

received Rhee's reaction at Saturday's brief meeting.

Both Robertson and Rhee believed awaiting Washington reaction to Rhee's reply.

A United Nations source close to Robertson told newsmen that "if things go as well as they have so far" the special envoy may leave soon for Washington.

To the public, both sides have presented a picture of cordial relations. Rhee was host Saturday night to a dinner for Robertson and military and diplomatic officials. Friday night U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs gave a dinner for the President and Mrs. Rhee and other dignitaries.

The happy social scenes were in sharp contrast to the stern United Nations and U. S. reactions to Rhee's order last week which turned loose 27,000 anti-Red North Korean war prisoners from camps in South Korea.

The prisoner release by South Korean guards shattered immediate chances for the quick signing of an armistice.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 27 (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today called on the U. N. to forego total military victory in Korea as a prelude to a peace without vengeance.

Hammarskjold broadcast (CBS) his ideas in his first major address on world affairs since taking over as U. N. secretary general from Trygve Lie. It was made to mark the signing of the U. N. Charter in San Francisco eight years ago yesterday.

The U. N. chief spoke against a background of demands from President Syngman Rhee for continued war to unite divided North and South Korea.

Without referring specifically to these demands, Hammarskjold warned that the U. N. Charter does not allow use of force to secure "victory in terms of land or power" but only for self-defense or to repel aggression.

Once this has been done, he declared, there is no provision for further punishment of the aggressor.

The Swedish diplomat said he was outlining a new approach to world affairs which would be opposed by those who believed "in the unconditional surrender of old wars."

Nevertheless, he said, it "is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives."

Hammarskjold admitted that, in order to put his new formula to work, "we will have to revise many of our inherited notions."

"The U. N. action in Korea," he declared, "marks the first attempt in history to meet aggression with unified force under an international standard. Parallel activity designed to seek a settlement was carried on within the council chambers with perseverance and a firm resolution to uphold the concepts of the charter.

"This approach is a new formula in the history of political conflicts, and its importance may well be underlined by the historians of the future.

"In exploring these new avenues of collective security we must adapt ourselves to accept such unfamiliar developments as a war which ends without total victory for any party, but only for a principle.

"Such a victory, although it may not be considered as satisfactory by those who still believe in the unconditional surrenders of old wars, is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives for this principle."

Bill Would Name Unit For Study Of Government

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Senate passage sent to President Eisenhower today a bill to create a new commission to study government reorganization.

Legislative action on the measure was completed with Senate acceptance of a House amendment eliminating a requirement that the two major political parties have equal representation on the 16-member body.

The new commission is patterned after one set up in 1947 under former President Herbert Hoover. It functioned for about two years and submitted recommendations, many since put into effect, for reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

A broader field of study is provided for the new commission, however. For one thing, it would be directed to look into federal activities in competition with private enterprise.

It also would be empowered to make recommendations for changes in basic laws relating to federal activities, whereas the Hoover commission was concerned only with promoting efficiency and economy through reorganization of the existing federal set-up.

posed of a 112 members, four each appointed by President Eisenhower, the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate. It is to report by Dec. 31, 1954.

1,000 Are Lost In Japan's Most Disastrous Flood

TOKYO, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—The rising toll of modern Japan's worst flood seemed certain to pass 1,000 today with more than 600,000 homeless and damage well in excess of 33 million dollars. More rain was forecast for the stricken southern island of Kyushu.

No U. S. casualties were reported and three big U. S. bases, all on high ground, escaped damage.

The latest national police count showed 252 dead, 703 missing and 725 injured. But many remote areas were cut off by the murky floodwaters and no word came from them.

Hundreds of American soldiers and airmen worked side by side with 1,000 Japanese police in around-the-clock mercy missions.

U. S. helicopters directed rescuers in rubber boats to persons marooned on housetops. U. S. authorities promised full use of ships, planes, engineers and other American resources.

Whole villages were engulfed and in one instance the entire populace of 488 was reported to have perished.

The entire northern half of Kyushu was threatened. The island is about half the size of South Carolina.

Police officials said the flood was "unprecedented" in modern history and was a heartbreaking disaster even in a land lashed by typhoons and repeated earthquakes.

Since Thursday, heavy rains have pounded the island. Black clouds hung overhead and Japanese weather officials ominously predicted more downpours.

The U. S. southwest command, the defense force for the area, declared Kyushu a disaster area. Quick aid was rushed in.

Army water purification units were sent to avert epidemics.

The drenching rainstorms and floods struck the island three weeks after a driving typhoon battered river dikes. The dikes still were being repaired in many places when the rains struck.

Railroad transportation was halted in spots. Roads crumbled beneath the floodwaters.

Confused ROKs

Reds would threaten to flank Allied-held Heartbreak Ridge. Heartbreak is a mile east of Mundung and about 30 miles northeast of Kumhwa.

U. S. advisors with the hard-pressed South Koreans on the East-Central Front said the Chinese Red push there had three possible explanations:

1. The Reds simply are out to teach a lesson to the South Koreans for saying they might try to drive north alone in event a truce was signed soon on terms leaving Korea divided.

2. The drive might have started out that way and the Reds then decided to exploit it when it made such startling progress. (They ripped more than five miles into Allied lines in the first phase two weeks ago and gained up to a mile and a quarter in the new attack Saturday.

3. The Reds are driving seriously for the Hwachon Reservoir in efforts either to seize it or gain a share of its power in any cease-fire settlement.

American officers told AP Correspondent Milo Farneti that the Red drive involved forward elements of six divisions.

The battle was being fought in two halves, on either side of the Pukhan. The gravest situation was on the east where South Korean withdrawals let the Reds swing forward, starting Friday night.

On the west bank, the South Koreans capped a wild battle raging since Friday by storming back up 1,500-foot Lookout Mountain Saturday afternoon and staying there. They had been pushed off three times in 18 hours but got it back the third time after a hand grenade action on the crest.

LEGAL FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, June 27 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today declared it is "ready to bring the legal fight against segregation down to the local level."

The declaration came in resolution form during the group's 44th annual convention and is part of the NAACP's fight to end racial segregation and discrimination by 1963, the centennial of the emancipation proclamation.

Famed Surgeon Is Dead

BOSTON, June 27 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, 73, a surgeon whose fame was worldwide, died today of a heart ailment he suffered six days after assisting in an operation on British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Death came to the thin, 5 foot 6 surgeon at New England Baptist HOSPITAL WHILE Hrsh hr tist Hospital while his wife and three doctors were at his bedside.

He was the founder and director of surgery of the Lahey Clinic, established in 1922, where hundreds of operations are performed yearly on persons ranging from the penniless to the world famous.

Dr. Lahey operated twice on President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua and last year was awarded the Nicaraguan Presidential Medal of Honor.

One of his more recent operations was performed May 23 on a 41-year-old Siamese twin from Holyoke, Mass. He successfully removed an abdominal tumor from Margaret Gibb after anesthetizing the other twin, Mary, as well.

In the June 10 bile duct operation on Eden Lahey served as assistant to Dr. Richard B. Cattell of the Lahey Clinic staff.

It was an unusual role for Dr. Lahey, who also was surgeon in chief of both the Deaconness Hospital and the New England Baptist Hospital.

He was the second noted Boston surgeon to die this month. Dr. Marius Smith-Petersen, world-famous orthopedic surgeon, died on June 16.

Federal Deficit

ceipts fall under expectations. That means a June 30 deficit of about 8½ billion dollars, give or take a hundred million or so depending on how things go in the last few days of the fiscal year.

About the coming 1954 fiscal year beginning July 1, the administration official said:

1. If President Eisenhower's tax program is approved by Congress, the government will go in the red by an estimated $5,600,000,000.

2. The Treasury plans to announce its first borrowing plan for fiscal 1954 about the middle of next week.

3. Because tax receipts are light in the first half of the fiscal year July through December and heavy in the last half, the Treasury will need to borrow in the next six months somewhere between six and nine billion dollars to tide it over until the heavy spring tax receipt time.

More than 100 Montgomery doctors, along with the medical staff at nearby Maxwell Air Force Base, have volunteered their services in the first such attempt ever made to stop a polio outbreak.

Groups in Sioux City, Ia., and Houston, Tex., were given gamma globulin and gelatin in test shots last year, but this will be the first time the precious serum has been used as a control measure, State Health Officer D. G. Gill said.

Two more infantile paralysis cases were reported today, bringing the county score to 75 with the polio "season" just reaching the halfway mark. Three Montgomery County children have died from the disease.

Callender Field Appropriation Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Rep. Hebert (D-La) said today an appropriation of $16,027,000 for Alvin Callender Field at New Orleans is included in a bill approved by the House Appropriations Committee.

Callender Field, he said, is to become a training base for reserves of all services.

"This is the biggest project to come to New Orleans since the Algiers Naval Base was located there 50 years ago," he told a reporter.

The bill is to be up for debate in the House Tuesday.

Hebert said the funds are included in a 30 million dollar marine construction item. The eventual cost of the base, he said, will be above 50 million dollars.

Of the total in the bill, he said, $3,400,000 would be for lengthening present runways to 8,000 feet, $3,078,900 for hangers; $1,726,600 for utilities; $178,500 for fuel storage facilities; $346,000 for supply buildings; and $286,000 for public works facilities.

Treasury Chief Heads British

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Treasury Chief Richard A. Butler, a shy, brilliant ex-professer called Rab, took charge of the British government today.

He normally is the No. 3 man as chancellor of the Exchequer in Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill's Cabinet.

But now both Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Nos. 1 and 2, are incapacitated—under rest and medical care.

Fifty-year-old Rab, touted as Churchill's heir-apparent ever since illness felled Eden, took over the reins from the Prime Minister this morning with typical machine-like efficiency.

Butler, who for a long time has been considered the theoretician of the Churchill government, simply took charge of the papers streaming into his neighbor's house.

Buter lives at No. 11 Downing Street, Churchill at No. 10.

Butler will preside over Cabinet meetings, referring only top foreign policy matters to Churchill for final decision. The Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel will await Churchill's recovery.

Rab will share responsibility for major policy statements in Parliament with Capt. Harry Crookshank, leader of the House of Commons.

Butler lives at No. 11 Downing before. Last September, he was given charge while Churchill and Eden were out of the country.

Butler's day-by-day job in the Cabinet is the same post Churchill held a long time back. As chancellor Butler is economic and financial boss of this hard-pressed nation.

ment came to power in November, 1951, Butler introduced a stern economic regime that won him respect but not much popularity.

He cut government expenditures, restricted credit to block inflation and painstakingly built up the country's dollar-gold reserves.

The Conservatives claim Butler rescued Britain from bankruptcy and strengthened Britain's economic position in the world.

Butler become the "golden boy" of the government last April when he introduced a budget that won him wide popular acclaim. His budget gave Britons their first reduction in income tax since the war, slashed the purchase tax on things like cars and refrigerators, and cut the unpopular levy on some sports events.

Butler gambled that by putting more consumer goods within John Bull's reach, he could make him work harder and thus boost national production.

Butler's popular budget catapulted him into the limelight and established him as a likely successor to Churchill. His position was reinforced shortly afterward when Eden, who is seven years his senior, became seriously ill and underwent a series of operations. Eden is in Boston recuperating from a bile duct operation and may be out of public life for several more months.

Butler has been the leader of the progressives within the Conservative party. After the Conservatives crushing defeat in 45, he set out to "wrest the initiative in the realm of political ideas" from the Socialists. The changes he introduced in social policy are credited with giving Churchill the margin of votes he needed for victory in 1951.

Ike May Resolve Row Over T-H Change Bids

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower may have to resolve differences between two Cabinet members over proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Taft said in an interview that Secretary of Labor Durkin and representatives of Secretary of Commerce Weeks still are at odds on some points after a series of meetings by a committee named to suggest changes in the law.

Besides Durkin and Weeks, other members of the group are Taft, and the chairmen of the congressional labor committees, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Rep. McConnel (R-Pa.) The White House is represented by Bernard M. Shanley, the President's special counsel.

"I think we can get through in about three more meetings," Taft said. "But I am not at all sure that Durkin and Secretary Weeks, representatives can agree on all of the proposals.

"In that case, we will have to have the assistance of the President in working out an agreement. He has taken a very great personal interest in the mater."

The target is agreement on a dozen or more amendments which Smith and McConnell would immediately introduce in Congress and for which they would seek the support of their labor committees. Congressional leaders plan to seek action by Senate and House in 1954.

The committee trying to draft the changes is believed to have reached substantial agreement in the following areas of labor-management relations:

Increasing the National Labor Relations Board from five to seven members; allowing the AFL building trades unions to write special union shop contracts compelling workers to join the union after the seventh day on the job; permitting strikers to vote in representation elections even if they have been permancutly replaced; and either extending the Taft-Hartley law's non-Communist oath provision to employers or dropping it altogether as ineffective.

Serious disagreement is reported in the highly critical area of secondary boycotts — union activity which involves pressure on a neutral employer to gain concessions from another employer.

Durkin was said to have taken a no-retreat position on a proposal by Weeks to tighten up the law further against picketing of a neutral employe.

Weeks was reported to have insisted that neutral employers be afforded complete legal protection against being caught in the middle of a labor dispute involving others. Durkin argued that no employe should be forced to cross a picket line, even though his employer was not directly involved in a dispute.

Freedom Urge Is Pitfall

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP)—The two pleasure-bent AWOL sailors, who were being held here for court martial proceedings, succumbed to their urge for freedom Wednesday and walked away from the base, the Navy said today.

The two Korean veterans, Charles H. Robinson, 21, Knoxville and Roy Lee Austin, 19, Wilson, Okla., slipped away from the sprawling Millington Naval Air Station where they were under "technical arrest."

Robinson and Austin went over the hill from the San Diego Navy Base and 13 days later surrendered to police in Rockwood, Tenn. Rockwood turned out to be a "paradise" for the two wandering gobs. Policeman Avert Billings befriended the pair and allowed them to leave jail and go out and enjoy themselves. All they had to do was return to their cell at night.

The Navy revealed today that Robinson and Austin slipped away late Wednesday. Neither had liberty cards as they were confined to the base. They were not brig prisoners, although they had to stand a muster every two hours and were available for various duties.

Their eventful spree started when they walked away from the San Diego Base June 1. Robinson and Austin hitch-hiked 3,000 miles to Knoxville, Tenn. After a visit in Knoxville, Robinson said, "we decided to give up and let the Navy take us back."

They gave up to police in Rockwood. Billings said he questioned Robinson and Austin and found "they were just typical American boys who had decided to take a trip home."

"So I unlocked the jail door at 8 a.m. and they reported back at nine each night to be locked up again," Billings added.

Robinson and Austin were quoted in Memphis as saying "we love Rockwood. It's the best town we've ever been in."

The Navy sent orders for the pair to take a bus to Memphis, where they showed up June 19. They were then put under "technical-arrest" and restricted to the base.

Nothing has been heard from the two boys since they left Wednesday.

Another Billion

the committee said.

After reviewing secret testimony on the "controversy" over a 143-wing or 120-wing Air Force goal by mid-1955, the committee said President Eisenhower is following a "sound and reasonable" policy in setting the lower level, subject to top-level review. A wing contains from 30 to 75 aircraft.

Then the committee made a further $240,000,000 cut in the new Air Force funds, already slashed five billion dollars by the new President.

It cut Eisenhower's Army requests by $689,000,000, and Navy figures by $398,280,000.

The action threatened to create bitter debate before the House reached a showdown vote late next week. Truman last night joined Air Force and congressional critics in labeling the cuts as short-sighted.

Here is the breakdown of the recommendations made by Truman, Eisenhower and the committee:

TRUMAN

Army	$12,109,591,000
Navy	11,499,850,000
Air Force	16,078,000000
Sec. Defense	1,030,975,000
Misc	1,515,00

EISENHOWER

Army	$13,671,000,000
Navy	9,782,663,000
Air Force	11,288,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,029,625,000
Misc.	275,000

COMMITTEE

Army	$12,982,000,000
Navy	9,384,383,00
Air Force	11,048,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,019,500,000
Misc.	257,500

The Army sum is actually $90,000,000 more than recommended by Truman. But the committee said it includes about two billion dollars to cover Korean War expenses, which were put in the regular defense budget for the first time this year.

The total is $12,750,863,642 below last year's defense appropriations. Of this reduction over 10 billion was from the Air Force.

The committee said these new funds, plus holdover appropriations, would give the department $91,903,000,000 to spend, and said this is more than it could use in three years, for some items. The department actually plans to spend $43,200,000,000 next year, a 20 million dollar boost over 1953, the committee said.

sound dollar."

A top GOP leader said tentative plans called for this message to take the form of a letter to Martin or to Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind), to be read to the House Monday morning.

Administration leaders said final strategy in the tense situation would not be decided until early Monday, however.

Eisenhower has staked his prestige on an almost unprecedented situation in the House. The tax is now due to expire Tuesday, but can be extended retroactively.

Weeks ago, the President proposed that the levy be extended for six months.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee fiercely opposing the extension, bottled it up in his committee and thwarted every effort by the administration to force action.

House leaders then prevailed upon the rules committee to snatch the bill from the ways and means committee and force it to the House floor.

The bill reported out by the rules committee is a proposal by Rep. Sadlak (R-Conn) exempting firms making less than $100,000 a year from the excess profits tax, and extending it for six more months.

Federal Cotton Acreage Details Still Unsettled

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—A member of the American Farm Bureau Federation's cotton committee today said members still were far from agreement concerning federal cotton planting acreage allotments.

The committeeman, who declined use of his name, said still at issue were recommendations concerning allotments for the South and West.

The committee, representing 13 states, met to make recommendations relative to cotton acreage allotment. Secretary of Agriculture Benson recently announced 1954 would be an allotment year due to a surplus of cotton in the past five years.

Under the allotment plan a farmer must reduce the number of acres he plants in cotton to qualify for a federal subsidy. The proposed cuts would amount to as much as 50 per cent in some sections of the West.

The spokesman said the committee is acting in an industry advisory capacity and will present its conclusions to Congress.

States represented at the meeting were Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

City, State Tax Powers On Same Level, Suggested

BILOXI, Miss., June 27 (AP) — Mayor Clyde Fant of Shreveport, La., president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, said today that cities and towns should have the same taxing powers as the state Legislature.

Fant told the closing session of the Mississippi Municipal Association that the cities and towns should not have to "go hat in hand" to seek financial aid. Municipalities, he said, are "close enough to the people that if we did not use the taxing powers properly, then we would not be in office long."

Mayor Harvey Lee Morrison of Okolona was elected president of the organization, succeeding Mayor Harvey Lee Campbell of Brookhaven who was made a lifetime honorary member.

Mayor Allen Thompson of Jackson was elected vice president and George L. Sugg of Jackson was renamed manager.

Other speakers included state Attorney General J. P. Coleman, Mayor H. H. Dees of Atmore, Ala., president of the Alabama League of Municipalities and Mayor John Robinson of Winder, Ga., president of the Georgia Municipal Association.

Coleman said that "getting into public office is not a way of avoiding trouble." Municipal officers, as well as other officials, must be prepared to undergo criticism "whether you deserve it or not," he said.

Fant told delegates that he had helped fight for municipal aid in Louisiana through a division of state taxes "but basically I am against the states handing out revenues to the municipalities."

He described the pledge made to the Mississippi Municipal Association last night by Gov. Hugh White as "a courageous stand."

"Your battle has just started," Fant told the delegates. "The best way to lose it is to go home and say, 'The governor is on our side,' and do nothing yourselves."

The Mississippi governor last night outlined ways through which the state could share revenues with hard-pressed municipalities.

White said the cities and towns could share in the 34 million dollar biennial tax increases proposed for the school equalization program, or allocated general fund revenues now being diverted to the state-aid rural road program, or given a share of the state gasoline tax.

received Rhee's reaction at Saturday's brief meeting.

Both Robertson and Rhee believed awaiting Washington reaction to Rhee's reply.

A United Nations source close to Robertson told newsmen that "if things go as well as they have so far" the special envoy may leave soon for Washington.

To the public, both sides have presented a picture of cordial relations. Rhee was host Saturday night to a dinner for Robertson and military and diplomatic officials. Friday night U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs gave a dinner for the President and Mrs. Rhee and other dignitaries.

The happy social scenes were in sharp contrast to the stern United Nations and U. S. reactions to Rhee's order last week which turned loose 27,000 anti-Red North Korean war prisoners from camps in South Korea.

The prisoner release by South Korean guards shattered immediate chances for the quick signing of an armistice.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today called on the U. N. to forego total military victory in Korea as a prelude to a peace without vengeance.

Hammarskjold broadcast (CBS) his ideas in his first major address on world affairs since taking over as U. N. secretary general from Trygve Lie. It was made to mark the signing of the U. N. Charter in San Francisco eight years ago yesterday.

The U. N. chief spoke against a background of demands from President Syngman Rhee for continued war to unite divided North and South Korea.

Without referring specifically to these demands, Hammarskjold warned that the U. N. Charter does not allow use of force to secure "victory in terms of land or power" but only for self-defense or to repel aggression.

Once this has been done, he declared, there is no provision for further punishment of the aggressor.

The Swedish diplomat said he was outlining a new approach to world affairs which would be opposed by those who believed "in the unconditional surrender of old wars."

Nevertheless, he said, it "is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives."

Hammarskjold admitted that, in order to put his new formula to work, "we will have to revise many of our inherited notions."

"The U. N. action in Korea," he declared, "marks the first attempt in history to meet aggression with unified force under an international standard. Parallel activity designed to seek a settlement was carried on within the council chambers with perseverance and a firm resolution to uphold the concepts of the charter.

"This approach is a new formula in the history of political conflicts, and its importance may well be underlined by the historians of the future.

"In exploring these new avenues of collective security we must adapt ourselves to accept such unfamiliar developments as a war which ends without total victory for any party, but only for a principle.

"Such a victory, although it may not be considered as satisfactory by those who still believe in the unconditional surrenders of old wars, is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives for this principle."

Bill Would Name Unit For Study Of Government

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Senate passage sent to President Eisenhower today a bill to create a new commission to study government reorganization.

Legislative action on the measure was completed with Senate acceptance of a House amendment eliminating a requirement that the two major political parties have equal representation on the 16-member body.

The new commission is patterned after one set up in 1947 under former President Herbert Hoover. It functioned for about two years and submitted recommendations, many since put into effect, for reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

A broader field of study is provided for the new commission, however. For one thing, it would be directed to look into federal activitie in competition with private enterprise.

It also would be empowered to make recommendations for changes in basic laws relating to federal activities, whereas the Hoover commission was concerned only with promoting efficiency and economy through reorganization of the existing federal set-up.

posed of a 112 members, four each appointed by President Eisenhower, the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate. It is to report by Dec. 31, 1954.

1,000 Are Lost In Japan's Most Disastrous Flood

TOKYO, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—The rising toll of modern Japan's worst flood seemed certain to pass 1,000 today with more than 600,000 homeless and damage well in excess of 33 million dollars. More rain was forecast for the stricken southern island of Kyushu.

No U. S. casualties were reported and three big U. S. bases, all on high ground, escaped damage.

The latest national police count showed 252 dead, 703 missing and 725 injured. But many remote areas were cut off by the murky floodwaters and no word came from them.

Hundreds of American soldiers and airmen worked side by side with 1,000 Japanese police in around-the-clock mercy missions.

U. S. helicopters directed rescuers in rubber boats to persons marooned on housetops. U. S. authorities promised full use of ships, planes, engineers and other American resources.

Whole villages were engulfed and in one instance the entire populace of 488 was reported to have perished.

The entire northern half of Kyushu was threatened. The island is about half the size of South Carolina.

Police officials said the flood was "unprecedented" in modern history and was a heartbreaking disaster even in a land lashed by typhoons and repeated earthquakes.

Since Thursday, heavy rains have pounded the island. Black clouds hung overhead and Japanese weather officials ominously predicted more downpours.

The U. S. southwest command, the defense force for the area, declared Kyushu a disaster area. Quick aid was rushed in.

Army water purification units were sent to avert epidemics.

The drenching rainstorms and floods struck the island three weeks after a driving typhoon battered river dikes. The dikes still were being repaired in many places when the rains struck.

Railroad transportation was halted in spots. Roads crumbled beneath the floodwaters.

Reds would threaten to flank Allied-held Heartbreak Ridge. Heartbreak is a mile east of Mundung and about 30 miles northeast of Kumhwa.

U. S. advisors with the hard-pressed South Koreans on the East-Central Front said the Chinese Red push there had three possible explanations:

1. The Reds simply are out to teach a lesson to the South Koreans for saying they might try to drive north alone in event a truce was signed soon on terms leaving Korea divided.

2. The drive might have started out that way and the Reds then decided to exploit it when it made such startling progress. (They ripped more than five miles into Allied lines in the first phase two weeks ago and gained up to a mile and a quarter in the new attack Saturday.

3. The Reds are driving seriously for the Hwachon Reservoir in efforts either to seize it or gain a share of its power in any cease-fire settlement.

American officers told AP Correspondent Milo Farneti that the Red drive involved forward elements of six divisions.

The battle was being fought in two halves, on either side of the Pukhan. The gravest situation was on the east where South Korean withdrawals let the Reds swing forward, starting Friday night.

On the west bank, the South Koreans capped a wild battle raging since Friday by storming back up 1,500-foot Lookout Mountain Saturday afternoon and staying there. They had been pushed off three times in 18 hours but got it back the third time after a hand grenade action on the crest.

LEGAL FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, June 27 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today declared it is "ready to bring the legal fight against segregation down to the local level."

The declaration came in resolution form during the group's 44th annual convention and is part of the NAACP's fight to end racial segregation and discrimination by 1963, the centennial of the emancipation proclamation.

Famed Surgeon Is Dead

BOSTON, June 27 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, 73, a surgeon whose fame was worldwide, died today of a heart ailment he suffered six days after assisting in an operation on British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Death came to the thin, 5 foot 6 surgeon at New England Baptist HOSPITAL WHILE Hrsh hr tist Hospital while his wife and three doctors were at his bedside.

He was the founder and director of surgery of the Lahey Clinic, established in 1922, where hundreds of operations are performed yearly on persons ranging from the penniless to the world famous.

Dr. Lahey operated twice on President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua and last year was awarded the Nicaraguan Presidential Medal of Honor.

One of his more recent operations was performed May 23 on a 41-year-old Siamese twin from Holyoke, Mass. He successfully removed an abdominal tumor from Margaret Gibb after anesthetizing the other twin, Mary, as well.

In the June 10 bile duct operation on Eden Lahey served as assistant to Dr. Richard B. Cattell of the Lahey Clinic staff.

It was an unusual role for Dr. Lahey, who also was surgeon in chief of both the Deaconness Hospital and the New England Baptist Hospital.

He was the second noted Boston surgeon to die this month. Dr. Marius Smith-Petersen, world-famous orthopedic surgeon, died on June 16.

Federal Deficit

ceipts fall under expectations. That means a June 30 deficit of about 8½ billion dollars, give or take a hundred million or so depending on how things go in the last few days of the fiscal year.

About the coming 1954 fiscal year beginning July 1, the administration official said:

1. If President Eisenhower's tax program is approved by Congress, the government will go in the red by an estimated $5,600,000,000.

2. The Treasury plans to announce its first borrowing plan for fiscal 1954 about the middle of next week.

3. Because tax receipts are light in the first half of the fiscal year July through December and heavy in the last half, the Treasury will need to borrow in the next six months somewhere between six and nine billion dollars to tide it over until the heavy spring tax receipt time.

More than 100 Montgomery doctors, along with the medical staff at nearby Maxwell Air Force Base, have volunteered their services in the first such attempt ever made to stop a polio outbreak.

Groups in Sioux City, Ia., and Houston, Tex., were given gamma globulin and gelatin in test shots last year, but this will be the first time the precious serum has been used as a control measure, State Health Officer D. G. Gill said.

Two more infantile paralysis cases were reported today, bringing the county score to 75 with the polio "season" just reaching the halfway mark. Three Montgomery County children have died from the disease.

Callender Field Appropriation Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Rep. Hebert (D-La) said today an appropriation of $16,027,000 for Alvin Callender Field at New Orleans is included in a bill approved by the House Appropriations Committee.

Callender Field, he said, is to become a training base for reserves of all services.

"This is the biggest project to come to New Orleans since the Algiers Naval Base was located there 50 years ago," he told a reporter.

The bill is to be up for debate in the House Tuesday.

Hebert said the funds are included in a 30 million dollar marine construction item. The eventual cost of the base, he said, will be above 50 million dollars.

Of the total in the bill, he said, $3,400,000 would be for lengthening present runways to 8,000 feet; $3,078,900 for hangers; $1,726,600 for utilities; $178,500 for fuel storage facilities; $346,000 for supply buildings; and $286,000 for public works facilities.

ATHENS, June 27 (AP)—Greece soon may add 10,000 men to her present army of 143,000 men in order to take full advantage of U. S. aid. The defense minister, Panayoti Canellopoulos, said the move is being considered "because of the importance and extent of military equipment and supplies that are being given Greece by America" which otherwise might be lost.

Treasury Chief Heads British

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Treasury Chief Richard A. Butler, a shy, brilliant ex-professer called Rab, took charge of the British government today.

He normally is the No. 3 man as chancellor of the Exchequer in Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill's Cabinet.

But now both Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Nos. 1 and 2, are incapacitated—under rest and medical care.

Fifty-year-old Rab, touted as Churchill's heir-apparent ever since illness felled Eden, took over the reins from the Prime Minister this morning with typical machine-like efficiency.

Butler, who for a long time has been considered the theoretician of the Churchill government, simply took charge of the papers streaming into his neighbor's house.

Buter lives at No. 11 Downing Street, Churchill at No. 10.

Butler will preside over Cabinet meetings, referring only top foreign policy matters to Churchill for final decision. The Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel will await Churchill's recovery.

Rab will share responsibility for major policy statements in Parliament with Capt. Harry Crookshank, leader of the House of Commons.

Butler lives at No. 11 Downing before. Last September, he was given charge while Churchill and Eden were out of the country.

Butler's day-by-day job in the Cabinet is the same post Churchill held a long time back. As chancellor Butler is economic and financial boss of this hard-pressed nation.

ment came to power in November, 1951, Butler introduced a stern economic regime that won him respect but not much popularity.

He cut government expenditures, restricted credit to block inflation and painstakingly built up the country's dollar-gold reserves.

The Conservatives claim Butler rescued Britain from bankruptcy and strengthened Britain's economic position in the world.

Butler become the "golden boy" of the government last April when he introduced a budget that won him wide popular acclaim. His budget gave Britons their first reduction in income tax since the war, slashed the purchase tax on things like cars and refrigerators, and cut the unpopular levy on some sports events.

Butler gambled that by putting more consumer goods within John Bull's reach, he could make him work harder and thus boost national production.

Butler's popular budget catapulted him into the limelight and established him as a likely successor to Churchill. His position was reinforced shortly afterward when Eden, who is seven years his senior, became seriously ill and underwent a series of operations. Eden is in Boston recuperating from a bile duct operation and may be out of public life for several more months.

Butler has been the leader of the progressives within the Conservative party. After the Conservatives crushing defeat in .45, he set out to "wrest the initiative in the realm of political ideas" from the Socialists. The changes he introduced in social policy are credited with giving Churchill the margin of votes he needed for victory in 1951.

Soon after the Churchill govern-

Moscow To Free More Than 600 Austrian POWs

VIENNA, Austria, June 27 (AP) — Eight years after the war Moscow has decided to release more than 600 Austrian prisoners of war and civilians held in the Soviet Union, the Austrian government announced today.

The government said it had been informed of the release by Dr. Norbert Bischof, Austrian ambassador in the Soviet Union, who was handed a note by the Soviet Foreign Ministry last night.

The first group will be freed at the Austrian town of Wiener Neustadt in the Soviet zone on July 1, the announcement said.

Though the United States, France, and Great Britain released all their prisoners of war years ago, about 1,000 Austrians have been held in Soviet Russia.

County Judge Resigns Post

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 27 —UP—Crittenden County Judge W. K. Ingram announced he is resigning July 1 in order to devote more time to his "private affairs."

Gov. Francis Cherry immediately announced the appointment of A. E. Miller of Terrell to fill out Ingram's unexpired term. Ingram, 41, is serving his third term as county judge.

He operates the W. K. Ingram Construction Co. in West Memphis and is president of the politically-powerful Arkansas County Judges Association which has been feuding with the State Highway Commission over the question of counties and local governments providing rights-of-way to obtain new state road commission.

Ingram was asked if his dispute with the commission had anything to do with his resignation.

"Maybe it did," he replied.

Merchants To Give Customer New Automobile

"The retail merchants division of the Monroe - West Monroe Chamber of Commerce will initiate a special automobile-award promotion on July 15," according to David C. Silverstein, chairman of the group, "with a 1953 Chevrolet being given to some person on August 22nd."

Chamber officials revealed that the registration promotion would require "nothing to be bought, no obligation to the customer," with only registration in person being the only pre-requisite.

Shoppers may register once on each Wednesday and Saturday beginning on July 15, and continuing until Saturday, August 22.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Jim Williams revealed that a group of 30 business firms were sponsoring the promotion.

Participating firms where shoppers may register include: Sear's, Howard Brothers Jewelers, Palace, Brice's Super Market, Finks, Woman's Shop, Gays, Montgomery-Ward, Style Shop, Piggly-Wiggly, York, Ruth Shop, Keene Shoe Store, R & A Jewelers, D. Masur & Sons, J. C. Penney, Peacocks, Fields, Lee - Rogers Chevrolet; Holloway & Thompson, Silverstein's, Roxyanna, Dixie Shop, Ferd Levi, Renfro & Son, Dew Music Co., Sherwin-Williams Paint Company, P. N. Edwards Esso - Station, Louisville Pharmacy, Kelso's, Grayson's and D & E Furniture Company.

The automobile will be displayed on various thoroughfares of Monroe, through the courtesy of Lee-Rogers Chevrolet company.

Shoppers may conveniently register in the above listed firms, where registration tables will be set up with adjacent depository boxes.

This marks the initial "grand-award" type promotion entered into by the retail merchants division this year, Chamber officials stated.

"Signs will be placed in the show-windows and inside of these participating firms," Chairman Silverstein said, "to act as reminders to shoppers on each Wednesday and Saturday, so that they may register regularly."

"The automobile will be awarded at a special drawing on Saturday, August 22, at the American Legion Stadium," according to Jim Williams, "and, the lucky winner will not have to be present to win."

Veterans enrolled at the college this summer include 21 from the Korean war and 26 who served during World War II.

Three foreign students matriculated at Northeast, representing Venezuela, Honduras and China.

Examiner Okays Radio Stock Sale To State Group

WASHINGTON, (AP)— A communications commissioner examiner ruled today it was no violation of commission rules for owners and employes of the International Broadcasting Corp., Shreveport, La., to purchase stock in a Lufkin, Texas, Radio station.

The question arose at a hearing conference before Examiner Basil P. Cooper on conflicting applications by International and by KTBS, Inc., for authority to operate a television station on channel 3 at Shreveport.

Russell Rowell, attorney for KTBS, contended, in presenting points on which he will rely during the hearing, that International had violated rules of the commission.

Pressed by William Dempsey, attorney for International, for details Rowell said commission records showed that owners of station KTRE, Lufkin, had sold sufficient stock to lose control and that some of the stock had been purchased by four persons connected with International.

Dempsey protested that while sale might have been a violation of rules it was no violation to purchase stock and that furthermore the four persons in question had not acquired control of KTRE.

Cooper upheld Dempsey, ruling that the purchase did not violate commission rules.

Rowell said he objected to the ruling and later during the hearing would "offer proof."

Rowell said he also would offer evidence that International had violated the National Labor Relations Act. He said he would offer a decision by the NLRB in support of his contention.

Rowell also contended that a monopoly exists in the Shreveport-Monroe area since International, operator of radio station KWKH, is affiliated with The Shreveport Times and The Monroe Morning World and The News-Star.

Asked by Dempsey if he was specifically charging violation of anti-trust laws, Rowell said he was not but wanted to indicate it would not be in the public interest "to add further to the concentration of control now in the hands of International and its affiliated corporations" by granting International's TV application.

Today's conference was one of a series involving attorneys for both sides, attorneys for the commission staff and Cooper in an effort to hold testimony and presentation of evidence to a minimum. The parties have agreed to exchange programming exhibits on July 24 and will have another conference Aug. 3. Presentation of witnesses will start early in August under present plans.

Under commission rules the parties are to submit evidence on background and experience which would qualify them to operate a TV station, information on management and operation plans and information on programming.

Dr. Dainow will also lecture on American legal and political institutions at the Universities of Paris and Lyons under a Fulbright grant.

Hollywood Clan Is Treated To Glamor Wedding

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 27 (AP)—A doll-like movie star bride and a handsome obstetrician today gave Hollywood a wedding that would be hard to duplicate on film.

Ann Blyth, looking radiantly beautiful, became the bride of Dr. James V. McNulty at St. Charles Borromeo Church in the San Fernando Valley. It was the film capital's most glamorous wedding in years.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles, wearing red and gold vestments of his high church office, read the ancient marriage liturgy of the Roman Catholic church.

Both the 24-year-old actress and her 35-year-old husband voiced the traditional "I do" in firm tones.

After the cardinal finished the marriage ceremony, he read a personal message of congratulation from Pope Pius XII.

The Rev. Harry Mead, pastor of St. Charles, celebrated the nuptial mass. A male choir sang throughout the hour-long ceremony, mixing its selections among sixth century Gregorian chants and more recent English hymns.

An orderly crowd of 2,000 fans lined the street outside the church. Early arrivals were waiting an hour before the ceremony began.

The crowd cheered as Dr. McNulty arrived with his brother and best man, singer Dennis Day. Then a shout went up when the bride arrived.

Inside 500 guests nearly filled the church. Among them were Irene Dunne, Piper Laurie, who came with producer Leonard Goldstein; Terry Moore, who came with Dick Clayton, an old boy friend of the bride; Edmund Gwenn, Jerry Colonna and Jeanne Crain.

But the setworkers and crew members, all friends of the bride, far outnumbered the celebrities.

More than a score of priests and monsignori were in the sanctuary.

The McNulty clan, 28 strong, filled many front pews. Three of the doctor's brothers were ushers. Other ushers were doctor friends.

The bride wore a long-sleeved gown of white mousseline with heirloom lace forming a deep yoke. Her veil billowed from under a Mary Queen of Scots cap of seed pearls. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley, also the floral decor of the church.

She entered on the arm of her uncle, Patrick Francis Tobin. Her maid of honor was her cousin, Betty Lynch. Bridesmaids were actresses Joan Leslie, Jane Withers and Betty Lynn. Alice Krasiva, Ann's movie stand-in, was also a bridesmaid.

After the nuptial mass Ann arose from her kneeling bench and walked over and knelt for a moment before a statue of the Blessed Virgin. She then returned and took her husband's arm for the procession out of the church.

Truman To Shy From Vote Races, He Tells Demos

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — Harry S. Truman let it be known today that he plans to take no part in local elections other than those in his home state of Missouri.

The statement was made public by Matt Connely, secretary to Truman, after the former chief executive had conferred with Richard H. Balch, Democratic state chairman of New York.

Connelly said today that Truman would take no part in New York City's mayoralty election in November.

Balch said he and Truman talked "mainly about my job of political organization."

Truman had said earlier he would be available for service to the Democratic party in future general elections.

Truman came here today for a short visit during which he plans to do some sightseeing with his daughter, Margaret, as his guide.

Oil Leaders May Appear In Hearing On Price Increases

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Representatives of oil producers, refiners and marketers are expected to be among witnesses appearing before the House Commerce Committee in its investigation, opening July 1, of recent boosts in gasoline and oil prices.

Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) says the committee wants to develop "facts or conditions with reference to such price increases," explaining that the committee has received many protests about increases in gasoline prices, particularly on the Eastern Seaboard.

Most major oil companies recently raised crude oil prices about 25 cents a barrel.

Budapest Night Clubs Spy Dens

(Editor's Note: This is another story by Richard O'Regan, the Associated Press Bureau Chief in Vienna., just back from a visit behind the Iron Curtain in Budapest.)

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—In Budapest Pipacs night club, crowded with girls who are police spies and waiters who are informers, an agent of the secret police recently was found dead in a washroom.

He had been stabbed eight times. The newspapers of the Communist regime did not mention it. They never report crimes of passion because nobody can die in the "happy Hungarian peoples democracy." The management claimed it was suicide, without explaining how that was possible.

Western diplomats in Budapest say there is little doubt that 90 per cent of Hungary's nine million people would wreak similar vengeance if they had a good chance of action against their Communist rulers and the police who keep them in power.

But there is no organized resistance. There is only a smouldering resentment that finds its expression in negligence, inefficiency, minor corruption, swindling and theft, and in criticism when it is safe to express it.

In a busy market, a woman owning one of the few remaining private stalls, asked this correspondent:

"An American, yes? When are you coming to liberate us". A woman trying to peddle a pair of shoes sent by a relative in America, asked the same.

On Budapest's Vaci Utca, once its most fashionable street, the Russians have a big information center and book store. Few people stopped to look.

But from morning until night outside the American legation on a quiet square, crowds of men and women gathered before the windows to read President Eisenhower's April 16 speech calling for general world peace and evidence of Soviet intentions.

Within hours of the recent Berlin riots, word had spread throughout the city. Visibly concerned, Communist officials were overheard asking each other anxiously: "Any news from Berlin?"

Fear of similar outbursts causes the regime to seal off all streets approaching Communist party headquarters on Akademia Utca. This is why police guard the approaches to the villas of the top Communist aristocracy.

And this is why the Russians maintain armed patrols along their telephone lines from Vienna to Moscow and keep their 25,000 troops out of sight lest their appearance should spark the latent hate against them.

Even the Communist party newspaper Szabad Nep has armed guards outside.

Diplomats say the hardships of communism have not gone so far in Hungary as they have in some other satellite states.

For the time being, it appears the Hungarians express their resentment in subtle forms.

Farmers ignore warnings to weed their crops. Workers produce shoddy goods.

A few cigarettes to a clerk in a state grocery store will insure you get butter and meat when there is insufficient to go around. Newspapers complain that milk is watered.

Petty thievery from state undertakings is reported almost daily, and wage swindling brought heavy sentences to the leaders of a cooperative while correspondents were in Hungary.

The newspaper Szab Ad Ifjusag complained that functionaries of the Disz youth organization "take sums of money and 'forget' to refund them."

The same newspaper said the "infiltration of hostile elements in the Disz leadership is furthered by the frequent change and unhealthy fluctuation of secretaries and leadership members." This indicates that even youths who may get major benefits from communism grow fed up and quit.

Not even the secret police is free from purges and the regime of terror. It is said here that its former chief, Lt. Gen. Gabor Peter, had no knowledge of his impending arrest when he was summoned from his home to a recent early morning interview with Premier Matyas Rakosi. Reportedly, he has been shot.

Parking Meters Fall Before Woman Driver

NEW ORLEANS, June 26—UP—Four sturdy parking meters succumbed here Friday to the prowess of a 21-year-old woman driver.

Officers Arnold Risey and Charles Trapani — who witnessed the event—said a rented car driven by Carol Christman of New Orleans veered around a corner in a left turn with tires screeching, jumped the sidewalk, dodged in between a car and building, uprooted two parking meters, tore the tops off two others, and came to rest after a collision with a tree.

The woman told the officers, "The brakes gave out."

Officer Risey said, however, "I tried the brakes and they appeared all right to me."

The woman was booked with reckless driving, causing damage to city property and driving without an operator's permit.

Three Persons Killed In Train-Car Crash

WICHITA, Kan., June 27—UP—A Rock Island Rocket passenger train and a gasoline transport truck collided at a grade crossing Saturday, killing the truck driver and the engineer and fireman of the train.

The dead were not identified immediately.

First reports said the train ran for a mile and a half before it was stopped. Fire spread to adjoining wheat fields.

The collision occurred at the north city limits of Wichita.

DEATH REPORT

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 27 — UP—Rapides parish coroner Dr. W. L. Murrell said Saturday that a heart attack caused the death of a 52-year-old Alexandria man who collapsed after his truck crashed into the railing of a bridge near Chamora.

State police said that Charles Clark Delaney got out of the truck after the collision, walked a few steps and then fell dead. Police said Delaney did not appear to be injured from the wreck.

Bank Shortage Case Filing Date Extended

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 27—UP—The government was given 20 extra days Friday in which to file briefs in a case involving a shortage of $150,000 at the Bank of Dierks.

Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley granted the extra time because of the illness of a United States district attorney.

Two former employes of the small bank, Opal Simmington and Thomas F. Westbrook, are charged with embezzlement and conspiracy. The defense claims indictments against the two are insufficient. The government a few weeks ago dismissed seven counts of a nine-count indictment.

The defense has filed a motion to quash the two other counts.

BIG BURYING JOB

NEW YORK, June 27—UP—Ten men using a reinforced stretcher Saturday removed the body of a 720-pound woman who died of a heart attack from her second-floor apartment. Mrs. Florence Shine, 43, died Friday night but an ambulance crew and a police emergency squad were unable to carry her from the building.

Moscow To Free More Than 600 Austrian POWs

VIENNA, Austria, June 27 (AP) — Eight years after the war Moscow has decided to release more than 600 Austrian prisoners of war and civilians held in the Soviet Union, the Austrian government announced today.

The government said it had been informed of the release by Dr. Norbert Bischof, Austrian ambassador in the Soviet Union, who was handed a note by the Soviet Foreign Ministry last night.

The first group will be freed at the Austrian town of Wiener Neustadt in the Soviet zone on July 1, the announcement said.

Though the United States, France, and Great Britain released all their prisoners of war years ago, about 1,000 Austrians have been held in Soviet Russia.

County Judge Resigns Post

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 27 —UP—Crittenden County Judge W. K. Ingram announced he is resigning July 1 in order to devote more time to his "private affairs."

Gov. Francis Cherry immediately announced the appointment of A. E. Miller of Terrell to fill out Ingram's unexpired term. Ingram, 41, is serving his third term as county judge.

He operates the W. K. Ingram Construction Co. in West Memphis and is president of the politically-powerful Arkansas County Judges Association which has been feuding with the State Highway Commission over the question of counties and local governments providing rights-of-way to obtain new state road commission.

Ingram was asked if his dispute with the commission had anything to do with his resignation.

"Maybe it did," he replied.

Merchants To Give Customer New Automobile

"The retail merchants division of the Monroe - West Monroe Chamber of Commerce will initiate a special automobile-award promotion on July 15," according to David C. Silverstein, chairman of the group, "with a 1953 Chevrolet being given to some person on August 22nd."

Chamber officials revealed that the registration promotion would require "nothing to be bought, no obligation to the customer," with only registration in person being the only pre-requisite.

Shoppers may register once on each Wednesday and Saturday beginning on July 15, and continuing until Saturday, August 22.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Jim Williams revealed that a group of 30 business firms were sponsoring the promotion.

Participating firms where shoppers may register include: Sear's, Howard Brothers Jewelers, Palace, Brice's Super Market, Finks, Woman's Shop, Gays, Montgomery-Ward, Style Shop, Piggly-Wiggly, York, Ruth Shop, Keene Shoe Store, R & A Jewelers, D. Masur & Sons, J. C. Penney, Peacocks, Fields, Lee - Rogers Chevrolet; Holloway & Thompson, Silverstein's, Roxyanna, Dixie Shop, Ferd Levi, Renfro & Son, Dew Music Co., Sherwin-Williams Paint Company, P. N. Edwards Esso - Station, Louisville Pharmacy, Kelso's, Grayson's and D & E Furniture Company.

The automobile will be displayed on various thoroughfares of Monroe, through the courtesy of Lee-Rogers Chevrolet company.

Shoppers may conveniently register in the above listed firms, where registration tables will be set up with adjacent depository boxes.

This marks the initial "grand-award" type promotion entered into by the retail merchants division this year, Chamber officials stated.

"Signs will be placed in the show-windows and inside of these participating firms," Chairman Silverstein said, "to act as reminders to shoppers on each Wednesday and Saturday, so that they may register regularly."

"The automobile will be awarded at a special drawing on Saturday, August 22, at the American Legion Stadium," according to Jim Williams, "and, the lucky winner will not have to be present to win."

Examiner Okays Radio Stock Sale To State Group

WASHINGTON, (AP)— A communications commissioner examiner ruled today it was no violation of commission rules for owners and employes of the International Broadcasting Corp., Shreveport, La., to purchase stock in a Lufkin, Texas, Radio station.

The question arose at a hearing conference before Examiner Basil P. Cooper on conflicting applications by international and by KTBS, Inc., for authority to operate a television station on channel 3 at Shreveport.

Russell Rowell, attorney for KTBS, contended, in presenting points on which he will rely during the hearing, that International had violated rules of the commission.

Pressed by William Dempsey, attorney for International, for details Rowell said commission records showed that owners of station KTRE, Lufkin, had sold sufficient stock to lose control and that some of the stock had been purchased by four persons connected with International.

Dempsey protested that while sale might have been a violation of rules it was no violation to purchase stock and that furthermore the four persons in question had not acquired control of KTRE.

Cooper upheld Dempsey, ruling that the purchase did not violate commission rules.

Rowell said he objected to the ruling and later during the hearing would "offer proof."

Rowell said he also would offer evidence that International had violated the National Labor Relations Act. He said he would offer a decision by the NLRB in support of his contention.

Rowell also contended that a monopoly exists in the Shreveport-Monroe area since International, operator of radio station KWKH, is affiliated with The Shreveport Times and The Monroe Morning World and The News-Star.

Asked by Dempsey if he was specifically charging violation of anti-trust laws, Rowell said he was not but wanted to indicate it would not be in the public interest "to add further to the concentration of control now in the hands of International and its affiliated corporations" by granting International's TV application.

Today's conference was one of a series involving attorneys for both sides, attorneys for the commission staff and Cooper in an effort to hold testimony and presentation of evidence to a minimum. The parties have agreed to exchange programming exhibits on July 24 and will have another conference Aug. 3. Presentation of witnesses will start early in August under present plans.

Under commission rules the parties are to submit evidence on background and experience which would qualify them to operate a TV station, information on management and operation plans and information on programming.

Hollywood Clan Is Treated To Glamor Wedding

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 27 (AP)—A doll-like movie star bride and a handsome obstetrician today gave Hollywood a wedding that would be hard to duplicate on film.

Ann Blyth, looking radiantly beautiful, became the bride of Dr. James V. McNulty at St. Charles Borromeo Church in the San Fernando Valley. It was the film capital's most glamorous wedding in years.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles, wearing red and gold vestments of his high church office, read the ancient marriage liturgy of the Roman Catholic church.

Both the 24-year-old actress and her 35-year-old husband voiced the traditional "I do" in firm tones.

After the cardinal finished the marriage ceremony, he read a personal message of congratulation from Pope Pius XII.

The Rev. Harry Mead, pastor of St. Charles, celebrated the nuptial mass. A male choir sang throughout the hour-long ceremony, mixing its selections among sixth century Gregorian chants and more recent English hymns.

An orderly crowd of 2,000 fans lined the street outside the church. Early arrivals were waiting an hour before the ceremony began.

The crowd cheered as Dr. McNulty arrived with his brother and best man, singer Dennis Day. Then a shout went up when the bride arrived.

Inside 500 guests nearly filled the church. Among them were Irene Dunne, Piper Laurie, who came with producer Leonard Goldstein; Terry Moore, who came with Dick Clayton, an old boy friend of the bride; Edmund Gwenn, Jerry Colonna and Jeanne Crain.

But the setworkers and crew members, all friends of the bride, far outnumbered the celebrities.

More than a score of priests and monsignori were in the sanctuary.

The McNulty clan, 28 strong, filled many front pews. Three of the doctor's brothers were ushers. Other ushers were doctor friends.

The bride wore a long-sleeved gown of white mousseline with heirloom lace forming a deep yoke. Her veil billowed from under a Mary Queen of Scots cap of seed pearls. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley, also the floral decor of the church.

She entered on the arm of her uncle, Patrick Francis Tobin. Her maid of honor was her cousin, Betty Lynch. Bridesmaids were actresses Joan Leslie, Jane Withers and Betty Lynn. Alice Krasiva, Ann's movie stand-in, was also a bridesmaid.

After the nuptial mass Ann arose from her kneeling bench and walked over and knelt for a moment before a statue of the Blessed Virgin. She then returned and took her husband's arm for the procession out of the church.

Oil Leaders May Appear In Hearing On Price Increases

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Representatives of oil producers, refiners and marketers are expected to be among witnesses appearing before the House Commerce Committee in its investigation, opening July 1, of recent boosts in gasoline and oil prices.

Most major oil companies recently raised crude oil prices about 25 cents a barrel.

Budapest Night Clubs Spy Dens

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—In Budapest Pipacs night club, crowded with girls who are police spies and waiters who are informers, an agent of the secret police recently was found dead in a washroom.

He had been stabbed eight times. The newspapers of the Communist regime did not mention it. They never report crimes of passion because nobody can die in the "happy Hungarian peoples democracy." The management claimed it was suicide, without explaining how that was possible.

Western diplomats in Budapest say there is little doubt that 90 per cent of Hungary's nine million people would wreak similar vengeance if they had a good chance of action against their Communist rulers and the police who keep them in power.

But there is no organized resistance. There is only a smouldering resentment that finds its expression in negligence, inefficiency, minor corruption, swindling and theft, and in criticism when it is safe to express it.

In a busy market, a woman owning one of the few remaining private stalls, asked this correspondent:

"An American, yes? When are you coming to liberate us". A woman trying to peddle a pair of shoes sent by a relative in America, asked the same.

On Budapest's Vaci Utca, once its most fashionable street, the Russians have a big information center and book store. Few people stopped to look.

But from morning until night outside the American legation on a quiet square, crowds of men and women gathered before the windows to read President Eisenhower's April 16 speech calling for general world peace and evidence of Soviet intentions.

Within hours of the recent Berlin riots, word had spread throughout the city. Visibly concerned, Communist officials were overheard asking each other anxiously: "Any news from Berlin?"

Fear of similar outbursts causes the regime to seal off all streets approaching Communist party headquarters on Akademia Utca. This is why police guard the approaches to the villas of the top Communist aristocracy.

And this is why the Russians maintain armed patrols along their telephone lines from Vienna to Moscow and keep their 25,000 troops out of sight lest their appearance should spark the latent hate against them.

Even the Communist party newspaper Szabad Nep has armed guards outside.

Diplomats say the hardships of communism have not gone so far in Hungary as they have in some other satellite states.

For the time being, it appears the Hungarians express their resentment in subtle forms.

Farmers ignore warnings to weed their crops. Workers produce shoddy goods.

A few cigarettes to a clerk in a state grocery store will insure you get butter and meat when there is insufficient to go around. Newspapers complain that milk is watered.

Petty thievery from state undertakings is reported almost daily, and wage swindling brought heavy sentences to the leaders of a cooperative while correspondents were in Hungary.

The newspaper Szab Ad Ifjusag complained that functionaries of the Disz youth organization "take sums of money and 'forget' to refund them."

The same newspaper said the "infiltration of hostile elements in the Disz leadership is furthered by the frequent change and unhealthy fluctuation of secretaries and leadership members." This indicates that even youths who may get major benefits from communism grow fed up and quit.

Not even the secret police is free from purges and the regime of terror. It is said here that its former chief, Lt. Gen. Gabor Peter, had no knowledge of his impending arrest when he was summoned from his home to a recent early morning interview with Premier Matyas Rakosi. Reportedly, he has been shot.

Parking Meters Fall Before Woman Driver

NEW ORLEANS, June 26—UP—Four sturdy parking meters succumbed here Friday to the prowess of a 21-year-old woman driver.

Officers Arnold Risey and Charles Trapani — who witnessed the event—said a rented car driven by Carol Christman of New Orleans veered around a corner in a left turn with tires screeching, jumped the sidewalk, dodged in between a car and building, uprooted two parking meters, tore the tops off two others, and came to rest after a collision with a tree.

The woman told the officers, "The brakes gave out."

Officer Risey said, however, "I tried the brakes and they appeared all right to me."

The woman was booked with reckless driving, causing damage to city property and driving without an operator's permit.

Three Persons Killed In Train-Car Crash

WICHITA, Kan., June 27—UP—A Rock Island Rocket passenger train and a gasoline transport truck collided at a grade crossing Saturday, killing the truck driver and the engineer and fireman of the train.

The dead were not identified immediately.

First reports said the train ran for a mile and a half before it was stopped. Fire spread to adjoining wheat fields.

The collision occurred at the north city limits of Wichita.

DEATH REPORT

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 27 — UP—Rapides parish coroner Dr. W. L. Murrell said Saturday that a heart attack caused the death of a 52-year-old Alexandria man who collapsed after his truck crashed into the railing of a bridge near Glenmora.

State police said that Charles Clark Delaney got out of the truck after the collision, walked a few steps and then fell dead. Police said Delaney did not appear to be injured from the wreck.

Bank Shortage Case Filing Date Extended

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 27—UP—The government was given 20 extra days Friday in which to file briefs in a case involving a shortage of $150,000 at the Bank of Dierks.

Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley granted the extra time because of the illness of a United States district attorney.

Two former employes of the small bank, Opal Simmington and Thomas F. Westbrook, are charged with embezzlement and conspiracy. The defense claims indictments against the two are insufficient. The government a few weeks ago dismissed seven counts of a nine-count indictment.

The defense has filed a motion to quash the two other counts.

BIG BURYING JOB

NEW YORK, June 27—UP—Ten men using a reinforced stretcher Saturday removed the body of a 720-pound woman who died of a heart attack from her second-floor apartment, Mrs. Florence Shine, 43, died Friday night but an ambulance crew and a police emergency squad were unable to carry her from the building.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Great Days To Be Over 40 If You'll Eat As You Should

Good protein consumption is important to you. Maybe you'll need some concentrated vitamin capsules. Ask your doctor.

It's good news today for the "after forty" girls and boys in many ways. In the first place they are not classified as old but thought of as mere kids when compared to estimates of the past.

There was also a theory not long ago that from middle age on much less food should be eaten and that meat should be cut low in the diet. This was a sort of tea and toast era which left most men and women of sixty deficient in iron and protein and calcium, with premature aging and an increased susceptibility to chronic diseases.

Thanks to the studies of nutritionists and biochemists, it is now recognized that food is just as important in the last forty years of life as it was earlier. While it is true that the calorie requirements are less because of decreased activity, and that fats should be cut low, the high grade maintenance foods such as proteins and foods which are rich in vitamins and minerals are even more essential.

Protein is the chief building material of the body. Eighteen per cent of total body weight is pure protein. Laboratory experiments have indicated that the aging process is speeded up unless there is an adequate amount of protein in the diet, not below the minimum of one gram per kilogram of body weight. Calories should be balanced to energy needs and the intake of vitamins and minerals should be high.

Nutritionists feel that we should get as many vitamins and minerals as possible through the food we eat. However many of them advise reinforcement with vitamin pills. Some persons have chronic disorders which make it difficult to obtain a sufficient vitamin and mineral intake while some do not seem to utilize these as well as others. Some people have a tendency to chronic diseases which respond to larger vitamin intake than it is possible to get through food. Then too there are the losses which occur in storage and shipping and cooking.

Many men and women have missing teeth at middle age or later and fail to replace them with dentures. This is a mistake not only because of facial contour and appearance but because of the demands of good nutrition. Without teeth it is impossible to eat many of the foods which are essential to your best health. If for some reason it is impossible to have dentures, then the older person should have meat ground and vegetables sieved.

These are the fine days for the after forty individual!

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 61 "Watchwords of Science for Youth After Forty," send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pastor Arrested In Church, Tells Of Difficulties

GRETNA, La., June 27—UP—A Negro disciple of a Baptist preacher charged with disturbing the peace said, "We were down on our knees praying, and then we sang awhile—and then the law came and said, 'Boys, you gotta' go.' "

The testimony came out at a court hearing in New Orleans involving a squabble over the pastorship of the Sunrise Baptist church here by two Negro ministers.

The Rev. Samuel Williams and three of his disciples were charged with disturbing the peace when they tried to hold services at the church on the same night another faction, led by the Rev. Samuel Bennett, was holding services.

Bennett founded the church but, after an illness in 1952, the congregation elected Williams and re-elected him this year. Williams said that the election by-laws make him the legal shepherd of the flock.

Williams complained in court that he had difficulty getting in the church on numerous occasions because Bennett kept changing the lock on the front door.

He said he "didn't understand the election" and that, as the church founder, he is still its legal pastor.

Bennett countered that on the night in question Williams entered the church with three persons, and another "drunk man who later left" and broke up his services. He said the majority of the flock was on his side.

Judge L. Julian Samuel, who listened to the testimony for an hour, ruled that Williams was legally guilty, but acquitted him and his disciples because they were trying to be peaceful. He warned them against any further disturbance.

The opposing parties then departed—by separate isles.

Truman Challenges Eisenhower's Defense Cuts

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman challenged the Eisenhower administration's defense budget cuts tonight and said "those who talk about our defense program being too big may be letting their pocketbooks obscure their judgment."

Asserting it is only natural to wish for lower taxes, the former President said:

"But I warn you soberly and plainly: do not be misled by the desire for lower taxes into cutting corners on our national security.

"Increasing the risk of World War III means increasing the risk of atom bombs on our own homes."

In a speech prepared for the national convention of the Reserve Officers' Association—his first formal address since leaving the White House on Jan. 20 — Truman declared a "balanced program" of military goals was worked out by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1951.

"And they urged that we try to achieve those targets just as soon as possible after 1954," he said, "Because it was about that time that they expected the Soviets to have amassed a stockpile of atomic bombs that would put this country in the gravest kind of danger."

It is "of the highest signifiance," he said, that Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, testified recently that "nothing has happened to change the strategic estimate" on which that program was based.

"I am sorry to read, however," he added, "that a great deal has happened to cut that program down."

The Eisenhower administration sliced the Truman defense budget from about 41 billion dollars to about 36 billion.

Truman's words brought a quick retort from Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"Mr. Truman is back at the old stand—soft on economy, soft on money and soft on communism," Hall said in a statement issued in Washington.

"He professes to see no improvement. The American people know that until President Eisenhower put some muscle into American defense and foreign policies we had no exchange of prisoners in Korea, there was no possibility of a truce, the peoples of Pilsen, Leipzig and East Berlin had no inspiration to resist, and even William Oatis continued to languish in a Communist jail in Czechoslovakia.

"Mr. Truman was given a well deserved rest by the American people, and he should take it."

In mellowed tones that contrasted with some of the bare knuckled speeches he made as President, Truman went on:

"All of us are hopeful that there will be a real transformation—of Soviet policy and its threat to our survival. There have already been some signs of change. But we cannot tell yet what these signs mean.

"As the President has said, our government sees no reliable evidence of any modification in the fundamental Soviet aim of world dominion.

"We can be sure of one thing, in any case. We must be strongly armed, now and as far ahead as we can see. If the Soviets are genuinely interested in real settlements we must be able to negotiate from strength.

"If they are tempted to make war, we must be able to deter them by our strength.

"And if they should attack, we must be able to beat them back, by strength.

"We cannot, we simply cannot, lead the free world and secure a condition of peace if our defenses are weak," he said.

Declaring the Soviet leaders "watch our national defense appropriations" and plan accordingly, Truman said:

"We must spend whatever we have to spend to protect ourselves against a menace that threatens to wipe out our civilization.

There can be no doctrine more dangerous than the notion that we cannot afford to defend ourselves. And no doctrine quite so foolish either."

The military goals worked out in 1951, which "represented the composite judgment of our military and civilian leadership," Truman said, called for an Army of 21 divisions, a Navy of more than 400 active ships, and an Air Force of 143 wings.

The Eisenhower administration, in cutting Truman's proposed defense budget for the 12 months starting July 1 by five billion dollars, applied most of the reductions to the Air Force. The present goal is for 120 wings by mid-1955. A wing varies in size from 30 bombers to 75 fighters.

The Army goal is for 20 divisions, 18 regimental combat teams, and 117 anti-aircraft battalions. The Navy remains virtually unchanged, with a little more than 400 warships.

France Faces Trouble From Her Restive Allies

SAIGON, Indochina, June 27 (AP)—Hard pressed by her seven-year war with Communist-led rebels, France faced new troubles today among her own restive Indochinese allies.

French and North African troop reinforcements were sent into the little Indochinese kingdom of Cambodia as a precaution against King Norodom Sihanouk's threat of open war against France for full independence.

In the sister state of Viet Nam, 500 soldiers of a local politico-military sect deserted posts southwest of Saigon which they had been assigned to guard against red-led Vietminh rebels.

The French reinforcements, including both land and sea forces, were rushed to the Cambodian capital at Phnom Penh, where reside the majority of the French civilians operating more than 100 large plantations in the kingdom. A French command spokesman said the troops were sent to "protect the lives and property" of the French.

Another battalion of tough paratroopers stationed in North Indochina have been alerted, semi-official sources reported, for possible movement into Cambodia.

King Norodom made his threat of open war—backed by some 10,000 Cambodian troops under his undisputed command, another 10,000 irregulars and 80,000 influential Buddhist priests scattered throughout the kingdom—unless France gives up its control over the country's domestic and foreign affairs.

The 30-year-old monarch dramatized this demand last week by fleeing with an entourage into neighboring Thailand, where he remained in self-imposed exile for a week. He returned because the Siamese would not permit him to carry on political activities.

Although the French express confidence the Cambodia people will not turn against them, observers here consider the situation grave and fear the once peaceful little kingdom — least harassed by the Reds — may become another battleground for rebellion like Viet Nam.

The desertion from Vietnamese posts last night by members of the Hoa Hao sect — led by Chief Hoa Hao Le Quang Vinh, otherwise known as Bacut (Chopped Finger) — signalled the threat of more desertions by the sect's estimated 5,000 followers and might be joined by other independent bands enlisted by the French in 1946 to fight the Reds.

The Hoa Hao deserters took their arms with them, and burned down a number of outpost fortresses they were assigned to guard in the sectors of Cainua and Tot Not, 55 and 85 miles respectively southwest of Saigon.

This was the second desertion in less than a week by native troops allied to the French. On Tuesday, about 100 Vietnamese partisans killed their commander and 14 non-coms and deserted their post 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

Neither group is believed to have gone over to the Vietminh rebels.

Hot Weather Is Potent Tonic For Cotton Futures

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Cotton futures prices were bolstered this week by continued hot, dry weather in the central cotton belt which forced a downward revision of crop prospects for the current season.

The one soft spot in the list was the nearby July contract which came under heavy selling pressure and wound up the week at a substantial loss.

Net price changes of active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange during the week ranged from $1.30 a bale lower for nearby July to $1.05 higher for the distant July delivery. Nearby July was the only contract to finish lower.

The balance of the list ended up in the plus column, despite such bearish influences as softness in nearby July and a slackening of demand for cotton goods in the worth street textile market.

Reports from the belt indicated that if rain doesn't come soon, the 1953 crop may be seriously affected. Estimates of acreage planted are already being revised downward because of the hot, arid weather. Early in March, trade sources looked for 1953 plantings of 27,400,000 acres. This week the estimate was reduced to 26,400,000. This trend, it was pointed out, suggests the possibility that the 1953 crop may be no larger than the 15,136,000 500-pound gross-weight bales harvested last season.

Current estimates of plantings, however, are still well above the official government forecast of 22,800,000 acres.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Great Days To Be Over 40 If You'll Eat As You Should

Good protein consumption is important to you. Maybe you'll need some concentrated vitamin capsules. Ask your doctor.

It's good news today for the "after forty" girls and boys in many ways. In the first place they are not classified as old but thought of as mere kids when compared to estimates of the past.

There was also a theory not long ago that from middle age on much less food should be eaten and that meat should be cut low in the diet. This was a sort of tea and toast era which left most men and women of sixty deficient in iron and protein and calcium, with premature aging and an increased susceptibility to chronic diseases.

Thanks to the studies of nutritionists and biochemists, it is now recognized that food is just as important in the last forty years of life as it was earlier. While it is true that the calorie requirements are less because of decreased activity, and that fats should be cut low, the high grade maintenance foods such as proteins and foods which are rich in vitamins and minerals are even more essential.

Protein is the chief building material of the body. Eighteen per cent of total body weight is pure protein. Laboratory experiments have indicated that the aging process is speeded up unless there is an adequate amount of protein in the diet, not below the minimum of one gram per kilogram of body weight. Calories should be balanced to energy needs and the intake of vitamins and minerals should be high.

Nutritionists feel that we should get as many vitamins and minerals as possible through the food we eat. However many of them advise reinforcement with vitamin pills. Some persons have chronic disorders which make it difficult to obtain a sufficient vitamin and mineral intake while some do not seem to utilize these as well as others. Some people have a tendency to chronic diseases which respond to larger vitamin intake than it is possible to get through food. Then too there are the losses which occur in storage and shipping and cooking.

Many men and women have missing teeth at middle age or later and fail to replace them with dentures. This is a mistake not only because of facial contour and appearance but because of the demands of good nutrition. Without teeth it is impossible to eat many of the foods which are essential to your best health. If for some reason it is impossible to have dentures, then the older person should have meat ground and vegetables sieved.

These are the fine days for the after forty individual!

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 61 "Watchwords of Science for Youth After Forty," send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pastor Arrested In Church, Tells Of Difficulties

GRETNA, La., June 27—UP—A Negro disciple of a Baptist preacher charged with disturbing the peace said, "We were down on our knees praying, and then we sang awhile—and then the law came and said, 'Boys, you gotta' go.' "

The testimony came out at a court hearing in New Orleans involving a squabble over the pastorship of the Sunrise Baptist church here by two Negro ministers.

The Rev. Samuel Williams and three of his disciples were charged with disturbing the peace when they tried to hold services at the church on the same night another faction, led by the Rev. Samuel Bennett, was holding services.

Bennett founded the church but, after an illness in 1952, the congregation elected Williams and reelected him this year. Williams said that the election by-laws make him the legal shepherd of the flock.

Williams complained in court that he had difficulty getting in the church on numerous occasions because Bennett kept changing the lock on the front door.

He said he "didn't understand the election" and that, as the church founder, he is still its legal pastor.

Bennett countered that on the night in question Williams entered the church with three persons, and another "drunk man who later left" and broke up his services. He said the majortiy of the flock was on his side.

Judge L. Julian Samuel, who listened to the testimony for an hour, ruled that Williams was legally guilty, but acquitted him and his disciples because they were trying to be peaceful. He warned them against any further disturbance.

The opposing parties then departed—by separate isles.

Truman Challenges Eisenhower's Defense Cuts

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman challenged the Eisenhower administration's defense budget cuts tonight and said "those who talk about our defense program being too big may be letting their pocketbooks obscure their judgment."

Asserting it is only natural to wish for lower taxes, the former President said:

"But I warn you soberly and plainly: do not be misled by the desire for lower taxes into cutting corners on our national security.

"Increasing the risk of World War III means increasing the risk of atom bombs on our own homes."

In a speech prepared for the national convention of the Reserve Officers' Association—his first formal address since leaving the White House on Jan. 20 — Truman declared a "balanced program" of military goals was worked out by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1951.

"And they urged that we try to achieve those targets just as soon as possible after 1954," he said, "Because it was about that time that they expected the Soviets to have amassed a stockpile of atomic bombs that would put this country in the gravest kind of danger."

It is "of the highest signifiance," he said, that Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, testified recently that "nothing has happened to change the strategic estimate" on which that program was based.

"I am sorry to read, however," he added, "that a great deal has happened to cut that program down."

The Eisenhower administration sliced the Truman defense budget from about 41 billion dollars to about 36 billion.

Truman's words brought a quick retort from Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"Mr. Truman is back at the old stand—soft on economy, soft on money and soft on communism," Hall said in a statement issued in Washington.

"He professes to see no improvement. The American people know that until President Eisenhower put some muscle into American defense and foreign policies we had no exchange of prisoners in Korea, there was no possibility of a truce, the peoples of Pilsen, Leipzig and East Berlin had no inspiration to resist, and even William Oatis continued to languish in a Communist jail in Czechoslovakia.

"Mr. Truman was given a well deserved rest by the American people, and he should take it."

In mellowed tones that contrasted with some of the bare knuckled speeches he made as President, Truman went on:

"All of us are hopeful that there will be a real transformation—of Soviet policy and its threat to our survival. There have already been some signs of change. But we cannot tell yet what these signs mean.

"As the President has said, our government sees no reliable evidence of any modification in the fundamental Soviet aim of world dominion.

"We can be sure of one thing, in any case. We must be strongly armed, now and as far ahead as we can see. If the Soviets are genuinely interested in real settlements we must be able to negotiate from strength.

"If they are tempted to make war, we must be able to deter them by our strength.

"And if they should attack, we must be able to beat them back, by strength.

"We cannot, we simply cannot, lead the free world and secure a condition of peace if our defenses are weak," he said.

Declaring the Soviet leaders "watch our national defense appropriations" and plan accordingly, Truman said:

"We must spend whatever we have to spend to protect ourselves against a menace that threatens to wipe out our civilization.

There can be no doctrine more dangerous than the notion that we cannot afford to defend ourselves. And no doctrine quite so foolish either."

The military goals worked out in 1951, which "represented the composite judgment of our military and civilian leadership," Truman said, called for an Army of 21 divisions, a Navy of more than 400 active ships, and an Air Force of 143 wings.

The Eisenhower administration, in cutting Truman's proposed defense budget for the 12 months starting July 1 by five billion dollars, applied most of the reductions to the Air Force. The present goal is for 120 wings by mid-1955. A wing varies in size from 30 bombers to 75 fighters.

The Army goal is for 20 divisions, 18 regimental combat teams, and 117 anti-aircraft battalions. The Navy remains virtually unchanged, with a little more than 400 warships.

France Faces Trouble From Her Restive Allies

SAIGON, Indochina, June 27 (AP)—Hard pressed by her seven-year war with Communist-led rebels, France faced new troubles today among her own restive Indochinese allies.

French and North African troop reinforcements were sent into the little Indochinese kingdom of Cambodia as a precaution against King Norodom Sihanouk's threat of open war against France for full independence.

In the sister state of Viet Nam, 500 soldiers of a local politico-military sect deserted posts southwest of Saigon which they had been assigned to guard against red-led Vietminh rebels.

The French reinforcements, including both land and sea forces, were rushed to the Cambodian capital at Phnom Penh, where reside the majority of the French civilians operating more than 100 large plantations in the kingdom. A French command spokesman said the troops were sent to "protect the lives and property" of the French.

Another battalion of tough paratroopers stationed in North Indochina have been alerted, semi-official sources reported, for possible movement into Cambodia.

King Norodom made his threat of open war—backed by some 10,000 Cambodian troops under his undisputed command, another 10,000 irregulars and 80,000 influential Buddhist priests scattered throughout the kingdom—unless France gives up its control over the country's domestic and foreign affairs.

Pennie Greathouse, as she appears today

Nurse Grateful for Relief from Paralyzing Multiple Sclerosis

Pennie Greathouse was completely paralyzed below the waist when she was wheeled into Spears Hospital on a stretcher August 18, 1951. She even required the aid of a nurse to change positions in bed. Her case was diagnosed as multiple sclerosis.

She had been an army nurse with the rank of [illegible] prisoner when Corregidor surrendered. She resumed her professional career after the war ended and she was [illegible]. Later she contracted multiple sclerosis.

Five days after Mrs. Greathouse was admitted to Spears, she felt pain when the masseur took hold of her right foot—the first time there had been any sensation in that region for nearly a year. This hopeful symptom was followed by a discouraging period of numbness; then came a revival of sensation which continued until nerve and muscular energy moved upward from the toes until it joined that of the upper body.

Her apparent complete recovery was revealed when she walked into the hospital to greet staff doctors May 16, 1952 after a period of recuperation at her home in Texas. There was no hint of a limp in the confident stride with which she moved about the familiar corridors that had known her as a cripple. Having also seen many other multiple sclerosis cases regain their footing at Spears, Pennie is anxious that the world know of the encouraging work available to all at Spears Hospital.

Multiple Sclerosis Relieved, Railroader Resumes His Job

Less than two years ago, James M. Ball, former Great Northern railroad telegraph operator at Stanley, North Dakota, was completely paralyzed by multiple sclerosis. Ball could move his head. That was all. His speech was blurred. He saw nurses move his flabby legs and wasted arms. Otherwise he had no sense of possessing his own limbs.

In July, 1950, Jim Ball was brought to Spears. For the first three months progress seemed to be slow, he recalls. Then, one October day, two interns helped him out of bed, and he stood for the first time in two years. A month later he walked—with human help—to the door of his room. He promised himself he'd be ambulatory by Christmas, 1950. He made it, aided by a cane. April 1, 1951, he discarded the cane and now walks almost as well as anyone, barring a slight stiffness in the ankles which will correct itself with normal usage, according to hospital authorities.

Jim Ball's muscular legs walked him up the loading ramp of a United Airlines passenger plane on May 14, 1951—less than ten months from the time he arrived at Spears. He resumed his old job at the telegraph key in Stanley on June 4th, 1951. This surprised the railway system which carried him as "totally and permanently disabled." Jim Ball figures that he will work another fourteen years.

CHIROPRACTIC METHODS DEVELOPED THROUGH YEARS OF RESEARCH BRING NEW HOPE TO SUFFERERS OF MANY DISEASES.

Intensive research into the causes and correction of the crippling and killing diseases has been quietly going on at Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital, Denver, Colorado, for several years. During that time, many discoveries and developments have been made which are proving of immense value in the relief of numbers of heretofore unyielding diseases. One of these is the crippler commonly known as multiple sclerosis.

WHAT IS MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS?

It is a form of paralysis which usually starts as a weakness in the legs and a loss of balance, and slowly grows and spreads until its victim is unable to walk, feed himself, turn over in bed, or even talk understandably. In the advanced stage, the limbs jerk and shake, the kidneys and bowels get out of control, vision fails and the muscles waste away. With a good heart, patients may live in this unfortunate state for many years.

WHAT IS THE CAUSE OF MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS?

It has long been believed that the crippling effects of this disease and its several cousins known by such names as amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, annular sclerosis, lateral sclerosis, cerebral spinal sclerosis, disseminated sclerosis, etc., were the immediate result of a progressive hardening of multiple (many) cells in the brain and spinal cord.

WHAT CAUSES NERVE CELLS TO HARDEN OR DEGENERATE?

But the question that has puzzled thousands of therapeutic scientists these many years is: What causes the hardening of these cells? While there is much research and development yet to be done, our experience at Spears with hundreds of multiple sclerosis patients indicates that the cause of hardening may be an injury to the spine and spinal cord which results in cord and nerve pressures.

WHAT IS THE RESULT OF SUCH PRESSURES?

The effect of such pressures is two-fold (1) They deprive the brain, spinal cord, nerves and muscles of their required amount of nerve energy and (2) of nutrition. Without both of these, no part of the body can function normally. Nerve energy can be measured like electricity and flows over the nerve as electricity flows over wires. Nutritional energy comes from the food one eats and reaches the cells by osmosis through the spaces between the cells as water seeps through sand.

HOW DOES THE SPINE AND ITS CORD SUSTAIN INJURY?

The next question naturally is: What causes the injury to the spine and spinal cord? Such injuries result from falls, blows, automobile or other accidents; or strains from running, jumping, tussling, lifting, etc., which often cause no distress at the time and are, therefore, soon forgotten. Sometimes they arise from sitting or working in one position for years, from pelvic injuries at childbirth, or other factors which appear to be too slight to cause trouble.

PATIENTS SELDOM SUSPECT INJURIES AS CAUSE OF DISEASE

Histories, X-rays and other tests have almost invariably revealed some type of spinal injury to the many multiple sclerosis cases treated at Spears. These are typical: One fell from a horse; one was hurt playing leap frog; one was injured while wrestling; one fell while skating; one hurt his neck diving into a shallow pool; and one became paralyzed after giving birth to a child.

NERVES CARRY LIFE ENERGY TO ALL ORGANS AND TISSUES

One reason why multiple sclerosis has successfully resisted treatment in the past is that hardening is one of the worst types of nerve degeneration. Even when the primary strangulating nerve pressures have been completely removed, nature finds it extremely difficult to change the hardened cells back into normal nerve tissue capable of transmitting nerve impulses as before. Though discoveries at Spears have aided our progress, we are still not happy with our results on extremely advanced cases of multiple sclerosis, but a goodly portion of those patients are. We are happy that we have proved that multiple sclerosis is not completely unconquerable.

FINDINGS ASSURE PROGRESS AND RELIEF OF OTHER CONDITIONS

Fortunately our findings in this disease aid our progress with our research and treatment of practically all other types of paralysis, including polio, cerebral palsy and strokes, and many other crippling and killing diseases, including cancer, arthritis, rheumatic fever and heart diseases. Since we get absolutely none of the hundreds of millions of dollars constantly being contributed by the public for health research, our discoveries and developments have been modest in comparison with what they might have been with ample funds. We started building Spears Hospital ten years ago with less than $1,000. By our own efforts, we claim it is now one of the finest and largest private hospitals in the country. Plans for a new 2,150-bed cancer unit are now under way. We ask the prayers of everyone that God will bless our efforts to make our discoveries available to all people as rapidly as possible and to continue our research for the benefit of mankind.

Since you have but one life and one body, protect them now while you may, and protect them the chiropractic way, which is nature's way.

Mable Davis demonstrates her new strength and coordination

MUSIC TEACHER RESUMES JOB AFTER RELIEF FROM MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Strange things began happening to this young and talented school teacher almost before her career was well launched.

They started in 1941 when petite Mable Davis, whose home is Mountainair, New Mexico, was teaching music, baton twirling and the calisthenics that go with it, to public school pupils of her native state.

When she reached for an object, it wasn't there. The proper piano keys eluded her. The bow of her violin wouldn't balance and the strings didn't respond to her ordinarily delicate touch. She required almost constant support of a wall or piece of furniture to stand or walk.

For years, Miss Davis was under the care of doctors. Grimly, she resisted the aid of a cane, crutch or other device that would betray her infirmity. She disciplined herself to sit or lean, quite casually, when prolonged conversations took place — especially with members of the school board!

When the 1947 fall term opened, Miss Davis resigned because other symptoms appeared that couldn't be concealed. Momentary blackouts, sometimes five or six in an hour, attacked her and the perfect pitch with which Nature had endowed her, was gone.

Thus, in December, 1947, she came to Spears. Spears laboratory examinations and X-rays clearly indicated Miss Davis' ailment to be multiple sclerosis. After three months, she was so improved that she began casting about for a new school. In March, 1948, she returned to Mountainair, astounding her family as she stepped from the train and strode off with confidence.

Miss Davis returned again to Spears in July, 1951, for another month's treatment "just to give me added strength for the coming school year."

Once more the Mountainair schoolmarm is capable of teaching active little girls to twirl the baton and step high in approved drum majorette style. She can instantly detect a musical instrument out of tune and can tune her violin without the aid of a pitch-pipe. She approaches her new and greater responsibilities with the confidence born of health, poise and splendid vitality.

Pennie Greathouse, as she appears today

Nurse Grateful for Relief from Paralyzing Multiple Sclerosis

Pennie Greathouse was completely paralyzed below the waist when she was wheeled into Spears Hospital on a litter August 13, 1951. She even required the aid of a nurse to change positions in bed. Her case was diagnosed: "multiple sclerosis."

She had been an army nurse with the rank of major. Taken prisoner when Corregidor surrendered, she resumed her professional career after the war ended and she was repatriated. Later she contracted multiple sclerosis.

Five days after Mrs. Greathouse was admitted to Spears, she felt pain when the masseur took hold of her right foot—the first time there had been any sensation in that region for nearly a year. This hopeful symptom was followed by a discouraging period of numbness; then came a revival of sensation which continued until nerve and muscular energy moved upward from the toes until it joined that of the upper body.

Her apparent complete recovery was attested when she walked into the hospital to greet staff doctors May 18, 1952, after a period of recuperation at her home in Texas. There was no hint of a limp in the confident stride with which she moved about the familiar corridors that had known her as a cripple. Having also seen many other multiple sclerosis cases regain their footing at Spears, Pennie is anxious that the world know of the encouraging work available to all at Spears Hospital.

Multiple Sclerosis Relieved, Railroader Resumes His Job

Less than two years ago, James M. Ball, former Great Northern railroad telegraph operator at Stanley, North Dakota, was completely paralyzed by multiple sclerosis. Ball could move his head. That was all. His speech was blurred. He saw nurses move his flabby legs and wasted arms. Otherwise he had no sense of possessing his own limbs.

In July, 1950, Jim Ball was brought to Spears. For the first three months progress seemed to be slow, he recalls. Then, one October day, two interns helped him out of bed, and he stood for the first time in two years. A month later he walked—with human help—to the door of his room. He promised himself he'd be ambulatory by Christmas, 1950. He made it, aided by a cane. April 1, 1951, he discarded the cane and now walks almost as well as anyone, barring a slight stiffness in the ankles which will correct itself with normal usage, according to hospital authorities.

Jim Ball's muscular legs walked him up the loading ramp of a United Airlines passenger plane on May 14, 1951—less than ten months from the time he arrived at Spears. Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

"Just Rough" -- Ann Sheridan

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Hollywords on the Record: PAULETTE GODDARD on her reputation as the world's foremost collector of diamonds, mink, old masters and other negotiable gifts:

"I've stopped that kind of collecting. I found out that I'm not really a collector. Once I collect something, I don't really know what to do with it."

STEVE COCHRAN, about movie plots:

"The screen has been making moviegoers mentally lazy. You don't have to tell an audience what's going to happen, show it happening and then tell them what happened. Audiences should be given a chance to use their minds."

ANN SHERIDAN, after tussling with Glenn Ford in "Rage in the Jungle":

"They warned me he was realistic in his clinches with his leading ladies. Realistic nothing. He's just rough."

EDMOND O'BRIEN, about his roller-coastering in "Man in the Dark":

"I've had it. Once is enough. They ran us around 18 times just for one scene on that blankety-blank roller coaster. I kept my nerve up but I couldn't keep my food down."

EVA LE GALLIENE, indicating stage retirement in her autobiography, "With a Quiet Heart":

"I cannot tell whether there is any longer a place for me in the American theater."

DALE ROBERTSON, not worried about scenery stealing all the honors in big-screen movies:

"There's always been too much emphasis on actors, anyhow."

MONA FREEMAN, being philosophical about her career:

"The challenging adult roles haven't come along as I hoped, but being off the screen for a while gives people the chance to forget the juvenile things I did. There has to be an interval when you grow into something else. I think it will happen for me. No actress hits a stride until she's 30. She can't start to understand acting until then."

SAM GOLDWYN, spiking retirement rumors:

"The only time I'll retire is when they take me away in a casket."

KEENAN WYNN, electing to remain at MGM for another year rather than turn free-lance to accept television offers:

"I don't see any point in deserting a studio that's been gold to me for 11 years. There's plenty of time for television."

ELAINE STEWART, new MGM glamor doll:

"People are unfair when they say that big screens and 3-D are making Hollywood forget all about building stars. A few months ago I was an unknown. Now I'm getting all the breaks — in roles and in pictures."

ALLERGIC TO POVERTY

JOSE FERRER, on nixing membership in the 18-month, tax-exempt overseas club:

"I toyed with the idea. I'm not allergic to money. I'm just allergic to poverty. But when they started explaining to me what I could and couldn't do if I wanted to take advantage of the tax exemption, I began to feel like an exile from my own country. For no other reason than that I gave up the idea."

JOAN CAULFIELD, after starring in a live TV drama:

"I had so many wardrobe changes I had to wear three costumes, one on top of the other, in one scene. Later people asked me, 'Joan, haven't you gained a lot of weight?'

"I'm surprised I didn't lose 50 pounds. I had to run so fast from the wardrobe room to the stage and back that I was panting. I felt like I had run two miles in Olympic record time."

RAY BRADBURY, dean of science-fiction writers:

"I boiled when 'It Came From Outer Space' was called a fantasy. Science-fiction writing is sociological studies of the future—things that the writer believes are going to happen by putting two and two together. Fantasy is dream-world stuff you can't believe has a chance of happening."

DIANA LYNN, after working on TV with Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca:

"I liked Sid because he isn't a full-time comedian. He doesn't try to get laughs every time he opens his mouth. Imogene is shy and retiring off-stage. But when the camera catches her she's an entirely different person."

GENE EVANS, wiring his agent that he'd be available for "flat" as well as 3-D movies:

"When 2-D calls I'll be there. Not dimension the money."

Susan Hayward, Bob Mitchum Co-Starred In Witch Doctor'

Susan Hayward, who co-stars with Robert Mitchum in Twentieth Century-Fox's Technicolor production, "White Witch Doctor" which comes to the Paramount Theater on Friday is a firm believer in anti-swellhead insurance for movie stars. she gets this unusual type of insurance by surrounding her self with persons who seldom say "yes." That little word, she belives, has been the undoing of many a potentially great star. Accordingly she picked out her wardrobe woman, hairdress attendant and make-up expert who are properly argumentative.

"There is so much gratuitous adulation heaped upon the average film personality," she explained, "that there is a serious occupational hazard involved in coming to believe it all. I can't think of anything duller than meeting with constant approval in everything you might say or do. It could only make for a very stuffy character."

As an example of her position in this matter she cited the kind of hairdress she had decided upon for her role of the intrepid nurse in "White Witch Doctor," who is guided into the trackless jungles of the Belgian Congo by Robert Mitchum, seen as a white hunter bent on findin ggold in the country occupied by the Bakuba tribe.

"I had my mind pretty well made up," she said, "but my hairdresser wasn't of the same opinion. She stood her ground so firmly I felt I had better reconsider, and I was glad that I did because I liked her suggestion much better."

Miss Hayward admitted that she can see the over-all value of having the ego deflated fairly regularly. And if there is any actress in Hollwyood these days who is entitled to a swelled head it is Miss Hayward for, during 1952, she emerged as Twentieth Century Fox's box-office champion among the studio's feminine personalities with such pictures as "With A Song In My Heart" and "Snows Of Kilimanjaro." Miss Hayward, who long has had a reputation of being a most forthright persons, says that her system of anti-swellhead insurance "just keeps a person more livable."

Starring Fred MacMurray and Vera Ralston, with a strong supporting cast which includes Robert Douglas, Victor McLaglen, John Russell, Buddy Baer, Claude Jarman, Jr. and Grant Withers, this outstanding production is an able successor to Republic's top box office winner, "Wake of the Red Witch," and is by the same author, Garland Roark.

High Adventure

Noted for his novels of suspenseful intrigue and action on the high adventure in this story which revolves around MacMurray's trading operations as skipper of a new ship out of Boston. His activities not only bring him into association with the beautiful half-caste girl, Kim Kim, portrayed by Miss Ralston, but also put him on the trail of a fabulous cache of diamonds which is also being sought by the scourge of the Java Sea, Robert Douglas.

In the spirited race for the hidden wealth, a mutiny aboard MacMurray's ship is spearheaded by John Russell, the first mate, who fits in with Douglas' plans. Capture by the pirates, a sensational escape and a fast run for the diamonds figures in the furious climax with the eruption of the South Seas' volcano, Krakatau, adding to the high tension.

Brilliant Performances

Fred MacMurray scores in the colorful and romantic role of the hard-boiled skipper while Miss Ralston is superb as the lovely and impetuous Kim Kim. Robert Douglas gives a brilliant performance in a role that calls for a dual personality, that of St. Ebenezer, respected merchant, and Pulo Besar, treacherous pirate.

Important acting contributions are also made by Victor McLaglen, who ultimately becomes first mate, Buddy Baer, in the role of the giant Chinese bodyguard of Douglas, John Russell and such screen stalwarts as Claude Jarman, Jr., Grant Withers, Howard Petrie, Paul Fix, William Murphy and the balance of the large and expertly-chosen cast.

Filmed in Trucolor by Consolidated, "Fair Wind to Java" bolsters its terrific thrill action with eye-filling spectacle. All the tropical hues of the islands, the fierce tones of the Java typhoon belt have been magnificently transferred to the screen while amazing results have been achieved in recreating the world-shaking eruption of the volcano, Krakatau, a catastrophe which resulted in the disappearance of entire islands, gigantic tidal waves and the scattering of volcanic ash to every corner of the world. Lavish are the oriental palaces with their Balinese dancing girls and the huge Indonesian village with its flow of oriental traffic.

Producer-director Joseph Kane, master of action and thrilling spectacle, builds this colorful and swashbuckling affair to a furious climax. Jack Marta rates special credit for the excellent Trucolor photography, as does Victor Young for his unusual musical score. In fact, all those concerned with the production deserve the highest praise.

"Fair Wind to Java" is smash entertainment and will rank with the biggest films of the year.

Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

"Just Rough" -- Ann Sheridan

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywords on the Record: PAULETTE GODDARD on her reputation as the world's foremost collector of diamonds, mink, old masters and other negotiable gifts:

"I've stopped that kind of collecting. I found out that I'm not really a collector. Once I collect something, I don't really know what to do with it."

STEVE COCHRAN, about movie plots:

"The screen has been making moviegoers mentally lazy. You don't have to tell an audience what's going to happen, show it happening and then tell them what happened. Audiences should be given a chance to use their minds."

ANN SHERIDAN, after tussling with Glenn Ford in "Rage in the Jungle":

"They warned me he was realistic in his clinches with his leading ladies. Realistic nothing. He's just rough."

EDMOND O'BRIEN, about his roller-coastering in "Man in the Dark":

"I've had it. Once is enough. They ran us around 18 times just for one scene on that blankety-blank roller coaster. I kept my nerve up but I couldn't keep my food down."

EVA LE GALLIENE, indicating stage retirement in her autobiography, "With a Quiet Heart":

"I cannot tell whether there is any longer a place for me in the American theater."

DALE ROBERTSON, not worried about scenery stealing all the honors in big-screen movies:

"There's always been too much emphasis on actors, anyhow."

MONA FREEMAN, being philosophical about her career:

"The challenging adult roles haven't come along as I hoped, but being off the screen for a while gives people the chance to forget the juvenile things I did. There has to be an interval when you grow into something else. I think it will happen for me. No actress hits a stride until she's 30. She can't start to understand acting until then."

SAM GOLDWYN, spiking retirement rumors:

"The only time I'll retire is when they take me away in a casket."

KEENAN WYNN, electing to remain at MGM for another year rather than turn free-lance to accept television offers:

"I don't see any point in deserting a studio that's been gold to me for 11 years. There's plenty of time for television."

ELAINE STEWART, new MGM glamor doll:

"People are unfair when they say that big screens and 3-D are making Hollywood forget all about building stars. A few months ago I was an unknown. Now I'm getting all the breaks — in roles and in pictures."

ALLERGIC TO POVERTY

JOSE FERRER, on nixing membership in the 18-month, tax-exempt overseas club:

"I toyed with the idea. I'm not allergic to money. I'm just allergic to poverty. But when they started explaining to me what I could and couldn't do if I wanted to take advantage of the tax exemption, I began to feel like an exile from my own country. For no other reason than that I gave up the idea."

JOAN CAULFIELD, after starring in a live TV drama:

"I had so many wardrobe changes I had to wear three costumes, one on top of the other, in one scene. Later people asked me, 'Joan, haven't you gained a lot of weight?'

"I'm surprised I didn't lose 50 pounds. I had to run so fast from the wardrobe room to the stage and back that I was panting. I felt like I had run two miles in Olympic record time."

RAY BRADBURY, dean of science-fiction writers:

"I boiled when 'It Came From Outer Space' was called a fantasy. Science-fiction writing is sociological studies of the future—things that the writer believes are going to happen by putting two and two together. Fantasy is dream-world stuff you can't believe has a chance of happening."

DIANA LYNN, after working on TV with Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca:

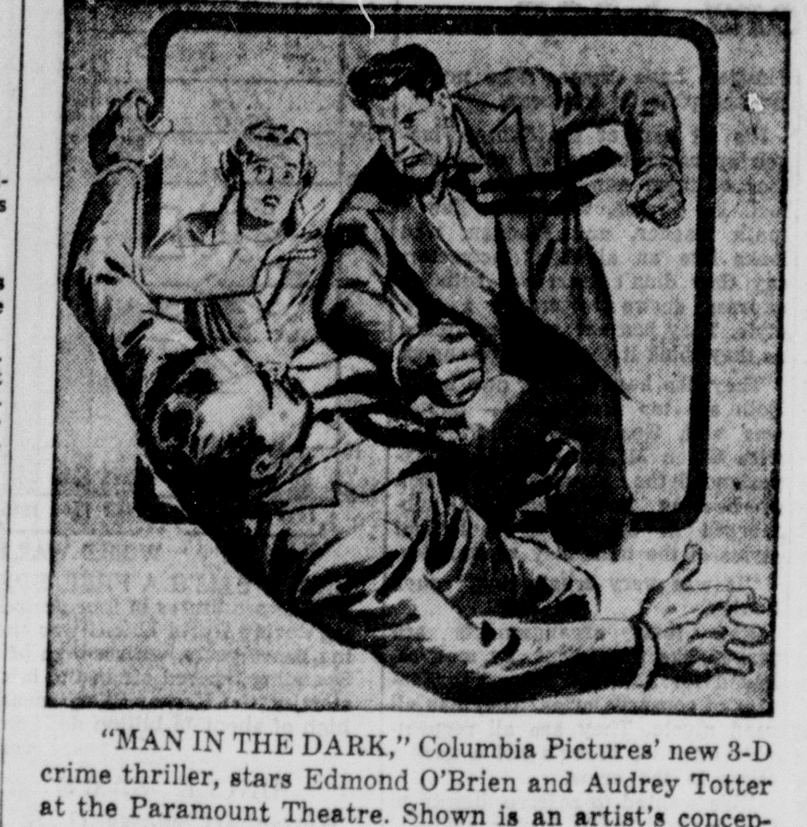
"I liked Sid because he isn't a full-time comedian. He doesn't try to get laughs every time he opens his mouth. Imogene is shy and retiring off-stage. But when the camera catches her she's an entirely different person."

GENE EVANS, wiring his agent that he'd be available for "flat" as well as 3-D movies:

"When 2-D calls I'll be there. Not dimension the money."

LADY CHURCHILL WEDS

OXFORD, England, June 27—UP—Lady Rosemary Spencer Churchill, 23, cousin of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, was married Friday to Robin Muir, a 28-year-old London stockbroker. The bride, who was a maid of honor at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, is the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough.



"MAN IN THE DARK," Columbia Pictures' new 3-D crime thriller, stars Edmond O'Brien and Audrey Totter at the Paramount Theatre. Shown is an artist's conception of the 3-dimensional realism of the film.

Susan Hayward, Bob Mitchum Co-Starred In Witch Doctor'

Susan Hayward, who co - stars with Robert Mitchum in Twentieth Century - Fox's Technicolor production, "White Witch Doctor" which comes to the Paramount Theater on Friday is a firm believer in anti - swellhead insurance for movie stars. she gets this unusual type of insurance by surrounding her self with persons who seldom say "yes." That little word, she belives, has been the undoing of many a potentially great star. Accordingly she picked out her wardrobe woman, hairdress attendant and make - up expert who are properly argumentative.

"There is so much gratuitous adulation heaped upon the average film personality," she explained, "that there is a serious occupational hazard involved in coming to believe it all. I can't think of anything duller than meeting with constant approval in everything you might say or do. It could only make for a very stuffy character."

As an example of her position in this matter she cited the kind of hairdress she had decided upon for her role of the intrepid nurse in "White Witch Doctor," who is guided into the trackless jungles of the Belgian Congo by Robert Mitchum, seen as a white hunter bent on findin ggold in the country occupied by the Bakuba tribe.

"I had my mind pretty well made up," she said, "but my hairdresser wasn't of the same opinion. She stood her ground so firmly I felt I had better reconsider, and I was glad that I did because I liked her suggestion much better."

Miss Hayward admitted that she can see the over - all value of having the ego deflated fairly regularly. And if there is any actress in Hollwyood these days who is entitled to a swelled head it is Miss Hayward for, during 1952, she emerged as Twentieth Century Fox's box - office champion among the studio's feminine personalities with such pictures as "With A Song In My Heart" and "Snows Of Kilimanjaro." Miss Hayward, who long has had a reputation of being a most forthright persons, says that her system of anti-swellhead insurance "just keeps a person more livable."

ISLE OF CAPRI, Italy, June 27—UP— Irwin Netcher, Chicago merchant, whose wife, Rosie, is one of the famed Dolly sisters, died here Friday.

'Fair Wind To Java' Is Epic Drama Of Piracy

A robus and roaring drama of piracy and aventure on the Java Sea, lavish in spectacle and rich in the atmosphere of the Far East, Republic's magnificent Trucolor production, "Fair Wind to Java," opening today at the Tem Theatre.

Starring Fred MacMurray and Vera Ralston, with a strong supporting cast which includes Robert Douglas, Victor McLaglen, John Russell, Buddy Baer, Claude Jarman, Jr. and Grant Withers, this outstanding production is an able successor to Republic's top box office winner, "Wake of the Red Witch," and is by the same author, Garland Roark.

Federal Deficit Climbs Beyond Early Estimate

$8 1-2 Billion In Red For Year Is Record Revealed

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—An administration official said today the government expects to wind up the present fiscal year on Tuesday about 8 1-2 billion dollars in the red. This would be a deficit of about 2 1-2 billion more than former President Truman estimated in his January budget.

The same high official, looking ahead to the next 12 months, said it is going to be "very difficult to avoid some inflation," despite the Eisenhower government's "sound money" stand. The government still will be spending much more than it takes in, and that may mean new general price rises.

The official, who asked not to be named, said it would be no surprise if the Federal Reserve Board had to assist sometime this fall by unfreezing more bank reserves—as it did this week—or by increasing the money supply in other ways to keep government borrowing from exhausting credit supplies or forcing interest rates still higher.

Such action would be bound to build up inflationary pressures, but, the official said, the government will try to manage its borrowing so as to minimize inflationary effects.

By next spring, he said, the government expects to start reducing its debt sharply.

Corporation taxes have fallen 1¼ billion dollars or more lower than was expected for this fiscal year, and individual income taxes will run about 750 million behind expectations, the official said, despite the fact that tax collections were at record highs this year.

Expenditures, he said, are going to be close to the $74,600,000,000 estimated by the Truman administration, so the $5,900,000,000 deficit predicted by Truman will be increased by as much as tax re-

Francis Keever's Body May Arrive In U. S. July 29

The body of Pfc. Francis W. Keever, son of Mrs. Ruby A. Keever, 2615 Price Street, Monroe, will be among the bodies of 120 Americans who gave their lives as a result of the fighting in Korea and who are being returned to the United States aboard the SS Rider Victory, the department of defense announced today.

The ship is expected to arrive at the San Francisco port of embarkation on or about June 29.

Bodies consigned to points east of the Mississippi River will be placed in rail mortuary cars for transportation to Brooklyn army base, New York, for delivery under escort to next of kin. Those for burial west of the Mississippi River will be placed in the San Francisco port of embarkation mortuary for delivery as rapidly as arrangements with next of kin can be effected.

It is not yet known just when the body of Pfc. Keever will arrive in Monroe or when funeral services will be held.

Sleep Climber Is Found Nude On Tree Branch

ENID, Okla., June 27 — UP — Oklahoma's fat harvest moon does different things to different people.

A 27-year-old Enid housewife, for instance, has a habit of walking in her sleep when the moon is full. Early Saturday, such a stroll took her, completely nude, to a tree in her backyard. She then became a sleep-climber.

The husband, a utility worker, missed his wife about 1 a.m. He found her 15 feet up on branches of the three, dreamily picking leaves and letting them waft to the ground.

Firemen came quietly and put a net around the tree. Then the husband climbed up after his wife. Together they fell into the net as he tried to awake her. The woman roused with the fall and began to cry.

Ailing Churchill Gets Rest Order

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Wan and exhausted, 78-year-old Prime Minister Churchill retired today to his country home on doctor's orders for a "complete rest" of at least a month, and thereby forced the Big Three to postpone their Bermuda conference again.

The Forign Office said he would meet President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel on the Atlantic isle as soon as he is fit again for vital talks on such issues as Korea and a possible Big Four showdown conference with Soviet Premier Malenkov.

Churchill, who drives himself mercilessly, buckled under the strain of simultaneously running the government, playing his role in coronation festivities and acting for ailing Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the No. 2 man in the British government who is recovering in Boston from a gall bladder operation.

A world-renowned nerve specialist is attending him.

The elder statesman has planned to sail for Bermuda Tuesday night on the battleship Vanguard. The conference had been set for July 8 after being postponed from two earlier dates because France was without a premier. Only yesterday the way was finally cleared by the French National Assembly's approval of Laniel as the new premier.

C. D. Chief Appointed For State

BATON ROUGE, June 27 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon announced today the appointment of Brig. Gen. Francis Woolfley as state director of civil defense.

Woolfley will become the second paid civil defense director since the post was created in 1950. He succeeds Brig. Gen. Dave Haas, whose resignation becomes effective June 30.

A professional soldier for 39 years, Woolfley is a native of New Orleans and a former commandant of cadets at Louisiana State University. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1917 and a brigadier general in 1943.

Woolfley has seen service in the Mexican Border Campaigns, World War I, and in the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater of World War II.

He has 15 years military experience in Louisiana, including two tours of duty as senior army instructor for the Louisiana National Guard.

His salary will be set Wednesday by Adjutant Gen. Raymond Fleming.

According to law, the civil defense director serves at the pleasure of the governor and his salary is fixed by the attorney general and approved by the governor.

The governor said Woolfley will receive a salary similar to that paid the last salaried director, somewhere between $7,000 and $9,000 a year. The last paid director was L. W. Eaton Jr. of Baton Rouge.

Previous directors who served without pay include Brig. Gen. Raymond Huft, former Lt. Gov. William J. Dodd, Douglas Manship and Haas.

HOUSING LOANS

WASHINGTON, June 27 (UP) — House passage by voice vote sent to the Senate today a bill extending for one year the program by which the Veterans Administration makes direct housing loans to veterans.

The present law expires next Tuesday midnight.

3 Area Soldiers War Casualties

The names of a West Monroe soldier and two other area G.I.'s were on a casualty list of Louisiana servicemen released Saturday by the U. S. Department of Defense. The list of those wounded in Korean action included Pfc. Leslie O. McManus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McManus, Route 3, West Monroe; Sgt. Autra J. Brock, husband of Mrs. Annie M. Brock, of Epps, and Sfc. Edward W. Whited, husband of Mrs. Louise Whited, Route 2, Newellton.

The Defense Department reported one death on the list, Pvt. Jack D Moore, husband of Mrs. Lelia L. Moore, 1207 Aaron Avenue, Leesville. Pvt. Moore was reported to have died of injuries.

Other Louisiana wounded included Pfc. Earl J. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Clark, Big Bend; Sgt. Herman B. Fullen, son of Mrs. Katherine F. Fullen, 2161 Timoleaon Street, New Orleans; Cpl. Charles J. Melancon, Route of Mrs. Mary L. Melancon, Route 2, Church Point, and M-Sgt. Kenneth Stone, husband of Mrs. Josephine M. Stone, 13 Carroll Drive, Chalmette.

Institute Reports On Lead Eating Termites

WASHINGTON, June 27—UP—Have you seen termites that eat through lead, thrive on arsenic, or kill off entire living trees?

The Smithsonian Institute says you can find all this and more at its tropical biological station on Barro Colorado Island in the canal zone.

For example, there is an "experimental cemetery" there where row of upright posts, half-buried in the soil like grave markers, served as testing blocks for poisons against the island's 42 species of termites.

The station has made some 35,000 tests to date. James Zetez, director, says he is more and more impressed with the "contrariness and ingenuity" of the blind, antlike animals that are one of man's most costly tropical enemies.

In a news release on termites, the Smithsonian says one of the 42 species of termites in the canal zone gnaws its way through lead sheathing on cables—not because it likes lead but in hopes of finding wood underneath.

This particular termite, known as coptotermes niger, also has been known to eat through a concrete floor nearly five inches thick in search of "digestible wood."

The Smithsonian reports that races of termites have developed on Barro, Colorado which "thrive on arsenic," having become resistant to it over a few generations.

The Smithsonian holds out some hope, however, against the tiny wood-eaters: Some 400 different treatments have been tested to date, "some of which appear to have been entirely successful in experimental bulidings."

Another Billion Is Pared From Defense Budget

House Solons Endorse Ike's Air Force Aims

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today strongly endorsed President Eisenhower's reduced 120-wing Air Force goal and cut another billion dollars from his pruned down defense budget for next year.

The committee sent to the House a military budget $34,434,140,500 for the year beginning July 1.

This is $6,285,790,500 (15.4 per cent) below the "minimum" figures submitted by the Eisenhower administration. Secretary of Defense Wilson had asked the committee to avoid adding further cuts to the five billion dollars already slashed by the administration from the Truman estimates.

The committee, in a report flaying the military services for "chaotic" financial practices and "administrative hodge-podge," said it might have made deeper reductions if given more time.

The new budget is ample for defense under foreseeable conditions,

Squally Weather Watched

NEW ORLEANS, June 27—UP—A squally, "suspicious" weather disturbance, the type that breeds hurricanes, was reported Saturday by the U. S. weather bureau in the Gulf of Mexico from a point southwest of New Orleans to Brownsville, Texas.

The bureau defined the condition as a "low pressure trough," and said that ships in the area had been asked to report winds and barometric pressures. A spokesman said that the highest winds reported were 30-miles-an hour.

"We're merely watching this condition because it's the right time of the year for hurricanes," the spokesman said, "but so far there is nothing to indicate that a major storm will develop."

The New Orleans bureau by early Saturday had not considered the storm important to ask for an inspection by Navy planes.

Should the disturbance develop into a tropical storm it would be called "Barbara." This season's first storm, "Alice," boiled up in the Gulf on the first of June, nearly dissipated, then picked up speed again and developed winds of 50-miles an hour before it blew itself out near the Florida coast.

Danish Ducks Stage Drainpipe Descent

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 27 (AP)—Eight ducklings and their mother stopped traffic in Copenhaven this morning, baffled police and firemen trying to rescue them from a roof and finally rescued themselves.

Each time the would-be rescuers put a ladder to the roof, the mother led her brood in a dizzying walk along the rain gutter. Finally, the mother walked over an outlet. The eight ducklings, faithfully following her, plopped down the pipe, zip, zip, zip, one after another.

When mama saw them all lined up on the street, she flew down to join them.

Confused ROKs Helped By Rain In Slowing Reds

SEOUL, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—A "confused and fluid" South Korean force fought desperately today, aided by driving rain, against vanguards of 72,000 Chinese Reds driving toward the vital hydro-electric Hwachon Reservoir in East-Central Korea.

Latest reports said the rain had succeeded where the reeling South Koreans had failed in slowing the push 12 miles north of South Korea's biggest electric power source.

But the situation still was officially described as "confused and fluid" on the eastern side of a 13-mile activated front straddling the Pukhan River. A penetration of six or seven more miles would put defenders of the big Hwachon power project under Red artillery fire.

In the west, 40 miles north of Seoul, a Chinese Red division — 10,000 to 12,000 men — knocked South Korean 1st division men off three of five outposts, assaulted since Friday. Censorship clouded the exact points of these attacks beyond placing them west of Yonchon and north of the main Imjin River line.

The East-Central Front drive was the more serious. So far, after gains of more than a mile Saturday, the Reds held nothing but prestige and more hills. But it could begin to hurt if it isn't stopped soon.

A Red advance south would imperil the reservoir area. An equal drive southwest would allow Red artillery to cut the Chunchon-Kumhwa road linking the Central Front. Chunchon is 45 miles northeast of Seoul. Kumhwa is more than 35 miles northwest of Chunchon.

Phillips Given Twelve Years In Byrd Slaying

Floyd Phillips, 72, who was indicted by the Ouachita Parish grand jury in the slaying of Luther Byrd Easter Sunday, was sentenced to 12 years in the state penitentiary at Angola in Fourth District Court. The sentence was meted out by Judge David I. Garrett.

Originally charged with murder by the grand jury, the charge was changed to manslaughter by consent of District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr., and a plea of guilty was entered by Phillips Friday. He waived the customary 24-hour wait before sentencing. Fudickar said the charge was changed because of the advanced age of the defendant.

Phillips shot Byrd, a neighbor, while the latter stood on the back steps of his home in Ward 9, early on the morning of May 5. The homes of the two men were approximately 500 feet apart.

Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita Parish corner, stated immediately following the shooting that Byrd had died from a single blast of a .12 gauge shot gun. The bullets entered Byrd's upper left chest, causing instant death.

Death Decreed For Strangler Of Texas Girl

VERNON, Tex., June 27 (AP)—A West Texas jury ruled tonight Walter E. Whitaker Jr. must die for the strangling of Joyce Fern White.

Whitaker, 21, of Hartford, Conn., sat impassively as the jury decision was read. He had shown no emotion throughout his week long murder trial.

His parents also sat motionless. The elder Whitaker bowed his head.

Whitaker was convicted of murder with malice.

The state accused him of strangling the 18-year-old Lubbock, Tex., high school senior last Jan. 8 saying she wanted to marry him and that he planned with cold malice to get rid of her.

67 Gallons Of Gamma Globulin Are Rushed To Polio Plagued City

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 27 —(AP)— Sixty-seven gallons of costly gamma globulin were flown in here today to inoculate 30,000 children against a mounting polio outbreak.

The Office of Defense Mobilization, official distributing agent of gamma globulin, agreed yesterday to send in the entire available supply of the blood derivative after polio-stricken Montgomery was declared an emergency area.

The serum left the E. R. Squibb & Company plant in New Brunswick, N. J., last night. Officials there said the 250,000 cubic centimeters is the largest single shipment ever dispatched.

Low Down-Payment On Homes Okayed

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House voted today to let President Eisenhower lower down-payment requirements for Federal Housing Administration mortgage loans on low and medium-priced homes.

It also voted him power to extend the mortgage repayment period.

The mortgage liberalization authority was written into a general housing bill which the House passed by voice vote. It is similar to a provision in a Senate-passed measure which now goes to a Senate-House conference to harmonize differences between the two chambers' versions.

Plan To Revamp Defense Branch Receives Okay

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House brushed aside cries of "Prussian military dictatorship today and approved by a 2 to 1 margin President Eisenhower's plan to revamp the Defense Department.

The proposal goes into effect automatically Tuesday unless rejected by a majority of the full membership of the Senate which so far has shown no inclination to oppose it seriously.

The actual House vote, after 10 hours of debate yesterday and today, came on a resolution by Rep. Condon (D-Calif) to disapprove the projected reorganization. Condon's resolution lost by a 234-108 count. To pass, it would have required 218 votes, a majority of the full House membership.

The unusual Saturday session was called to settle the row stirred by a determined group of Republicans and Democrats over sections in the plan which increase the authority of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The rest of the proposal was not in controversy.

Angry Charges Hurled In Profits Tax Fight

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Angry charges swelled from both sides today as President Eisenhower prepared a last-minute appeal for House support in his battle to extend the excess profits tax.

Leaders agreed the floor fight on the issue, set for Monday, would be close and bitter—the toughest the administration has faced in the House this year.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) protested hotly today that Congress members have been "dragged down to the White House" and subjected to pressure to "vote against their own convictions."

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) retorted that opponents of the administration move are trying "to confuse the issue" by attacking the procedure involved rather than the President's proposal itself.

House GOP leaders repeated confident predictions that when the chips were down, the administration would win. Some foes conceded the odds favored the President.

Rep. Priest (Tenn), acting Democratic leader, told a reporter his best estimate was that the issue could be decided by 10 votes in the 431-man House—and it could go either way.

Eisenhower, taking a week end out of town at Thurmont, Md., was reported reliably to have prepared a message to the House expressing this theme:

That despite the unusual procedure—admittedly the hottest issue—a vote against the bill would be a vote against the President's program to reduce the federal deficit, fight inflation and restore "a

Korean Leader Said Seeking Arms Backing

Third Secret Meeting With Envoy Expected

SEOUL, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—A third secret meeting of President Syngman Rhee and Washington's special truce envoy was indicated today following a report that a promise of U. S. military aid against further Red aggression would erase Rhee's opposition to an armistice.

The possibility of another meeting was seen in the sudden change in official plans for President Eisenhower's envoy, Walter S. Robertson, to tour the front today. It was announced that the U. S. assistant secretary of state's front-line trip either would be called off or drastically cut.

Rhee was described as "very happy" after his second talk with Robertson yesterday. The American envoy said he was "very optimistic" about the progress of his mission to remove Rhee's defiance of an armistice, which was near the signing stage.

Robert Eunson, Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief, said a highly-placed South Korean source indicated Rhee might drop his fiery opposition to a truce if the U. S. would pledge military aid to the southern republic should the Reds launch another attack.

The South Korean spokesman told Eunson that the pact "is the one point the President will never back down on."

He said that Rhee "may give in on the other two points but he will never give in on the defense pact."

The "other two points" the spokesman referred to were Rhee's previous insistence upon withdrawal of Allied and Chinese Communist forces from Korea and a three-month time limit on political conferences to follow an armistice.

Robertson and Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. S. Far East commander, talked with Rhee for 40 minutes Saturday afternoon. Clark flew from Tokyo for the meeting. The day before, Robertson had his first talk with the 78-year-old South Korean chief executive.

No official announcements were made, but observers here believed that at the first meeting, nearly three hours long, Robertson told Rhee the U. S. stand and then

Break In Heat Wave Apparently At Hand

The much awaited relief in the current heat wave seems to be at hand as promised in Friday's U. S. Weather Bureau forecast. For the first time in 20 days the mercury peak reading dropped below 95 degrees. The CAA's Selman Field station recorded yesterday's high at 94 degrees. Low for the month was 91 degrees recorded on June 3.

The temperature meter in front of City Hall showed the down-town temperature to be four degrees above the Selman Field temperature. Down-town high was recorded between 3 and 4 p. m.

Weathermen predict widely scattered thundershowers for this section of the state this afternoon and evening. Monday, they predict, will be partly cloudy with widely scattered afternoon thundershowers.

Farm Key To Quest For Oil

TULSA, Okla., June 27 (AP)—Although many of them may not realize it, American farmers figuratively reap another crop when they buy petroleum products from service station or the tank wagon.

Just about oil's biggest buyer as an industry, the man on the farm also supplies some items vital to producing it.

To bring oil from deep in the earth, drillers use such things as starchg rice, beet pulps, beans — even chicken feathers.

And, according to the American Petroleum Institute's Oil Industry Information Committee (OIIC), they use them at times by the carloads daily.

In what it labeled "the care and feeding of oil wells," OICC explains their strange appetities and the farm diet that satisfies them. Here's how:

Rotary drilling calls for mud, rivers of it. Not just plain, everyday mud but a specialized concoction to cool and lubricate the drill and the steel pipe encasing it.

Mud also cleans the hole of cuttings, washing them from the bottom and carrying them to the surface between the pipe and the hoe's wall. It also guards against cave-ins and escaping, dangerous gases.

Sometimes the drill finds porous geological formations that absorb too much of the fluids. Then the driller adds to his mud the starch that acts as a sealing agent and keeps the mud's circulation from clogging.

Group Will Hunt For Bodies Of Crash Victims

MOBILE, Aa., June 26 (AP)—An expedition was being readied today to search islands off the Alabama and Mississippi coasts for bodies of DC-6 crash victims.

Richard Shaddick Sr. of Coral Gables, Fla., who organized the expedition, said the party of about 15 men would start early Monday aboard the chartered 47-foot boat Buckshot III. A barge and jeep will be picked up at Pascagoula, Miss.

Shaddick, who lost a son in the crash, began forming the search party after bones believed to be those of a crash victim were found on Horn Island, Miss.

Horn Island is about 33 miles west of the spot off the Alabama coast where the National Airlines transport was believed to have crashed Feb. 14 and killed 46 persons.

Shaddick said the first search would be made on Big Petit Bois Island off the Alabama coast. Later they will move to Horn Island and Little Petit Bois Island.

He said a private plane from Miami would search Chandeleur Island, off the Mississippi coast.

Senate's Crime Panel Requests Perjury Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 27—UP—A Senate crime hunting committee suggested Friday that a Negro union leader be investigated for perjury and income tax evasion then wound up its hearing here by declaring that "wholesale corruption such as found in New York doesn't exist at this port."

The Senate subcommittee on interstate and foreign commerce, headed by Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R—N.H.), grilled some 20 persons, including longshoremen and New Orleans port officials, during its three-day hearing in federal court. Negro labor official Dave Dennis, who heads local 1419 of the International Longshore Association, drew the most attention from the group.

The committee promised to turn over to federal authorities files and records of its probe "so that they can determine whether Dennis should be indicted for perjury or for violating tax laws."

Sen. Charles E. Potter, (R—Mich), suggested also that the Orleans parish (county) district attorney's office look into the matter of how the funds of Dennis' union are handled.

Potter led today's sessions after Tobey, who had presided during the first two days, flew back to Washington.

In closing statements Potter said that the committee's probe had proved that New Orleans had one of the nation's best ports.

"There is no wholesale corruption here such as we found in our New York investigation," he said, "and there are no hoodlums on the docks here."

Earlier in Friday's sessions Porter had severely criticized Dennis' union for taking five per cent of member's wages for dues. He called the practice "outrageous."

Dennis, who investigators had pictured before the committee hearing as head of a "fabulously wealthy" union, was questioned for two days about a large discrepancy in his union's funds. Chief Counsel Downey Rice presented figures which he said showed Dennis' union had collected $287,000 that wasn't entered on union books.

The perjury question came up as Rice was questioning Dennis about $5,000 he got from International Longshore boss Joe Ryan. Ryan is under indictment in New York on charges of mis-using union funds.

Dennis said that none of the money Ryan gave him went to government employes. Rice then produced a transcript of Dennis' testimony before the New York group which quoted Dennis as saying: "We gave money to people in government service to help us."

"You've perjured yourself," Sen. Potter told Dennis, "either before us or before the grand jury."

The Michigan senator said Friday that the United States attorney here should take a look at Dennis' testimony.

He also said he would turn over to state authorities all information gathered during the hearing concerning union activities on the waterfront and assistant District Attorney Raoul Sere of Orleans parish promised to carry on the investigation "with interest."

"If there has been any misuse of union funds," Sere said, "it would constitute theft under Louisiana law."

Farm Key To Quest For Oil

TULSA, Okla., June 27 (UP)—Although many of them may not realize it, American farmers figuratively reap another crop when they buy petroleum products from service station or the tank wagon.

Just about oil's biggest buyer as an industry, the man on the farm also supplies some items vital to producing it.

To bring oil from deep in the earth, drillers use such things as starchg rice, beet pulps, beans — even chicken feathers.

And, according to the American Petroleum Institute's Oil Industry Information Committee (OIIC), they use them at times by the carloads daily.

In what it labeled "the care and feeding of oil wells," OICC explains their strange appetities and the farm diet that satisfies them.

Here's how:

Rotary drilling calls for mud, rivers of it. Not just plain, everyday mud but a specialized concoction to cool and lubricate the drill and the steel pipe encasing it.

Mud also cleans the hole of cuttings, washing them from the bottom and carrying them to the surface between the pipe and the hoe's wall. It also guards against cave-ins and escaping, dangerous gases.

Sometimes the drill finds porous geological formations that absorb too much of the fluids. Then the driller adds to his mud the starch that acts as a sealing agent and keeps the mud's circulation from clogging.

Senate's Crime Panel Requests Perjury Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 27 —UP—A Senate crime hunting committee suggested Friday that a Negro union leader be investigated for perjury and income tax evasion then wound up its hearing here by declaring that "wholesale corruption such as found in New York doesn't exist at this port."

The Senate subcommittee on interstate and foreign commerce, headed by Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R—N.H.), grilled some 20 persons, including longshoremen and New Orleans port officials, during its three-day hearing in federal court. Negro labor official Dave Dennis, who heads local 1419 of the International Longshore Association, drew the most attention from the group.

The committee promised to turn over to federal authorities files and records of its probe "so that they can determine whether Dennis should be indicted for perjury or for violating tax laws."

Sen. Charles E. Potter, (R—Mich), suggested also that the Orleans parish (county) district attorney's office look into the matter of how the funds of Dennis' union are handled.

Potter led today's sessions after Tobey, who had presided during the first two days, flew back to Washington.

In closing statements Potter said that the committee's probe had proved that New Orleans had one of the nation's best ports.

"There is no wholesale corruption here such as we found in our New York investigation," he said, "and there are no hoodlums on the docks here."

Earlier in Friday's sessions Porter had severely criticized Dennis' union for taking five per cent of member's wages for dues. He called the practice "outrageous."

Dennis, who investigators had pictured before the committee hearing as head of a "fabulously wealthy" union, was questioned for two days about a large discrepancy in his union's funds. Chief Counsel Downey Rice presented figures which he said showed Dennis' union had collected $287,000 that wasn't entered on union books.

The perjury question came up as Rice was questioning Dennis about $5,000 he got from International Longshore boss Joe Ryan. Ryan is under indictment in New York on charges of mis-using union funds.

Dennis said that none of the money Ryan gave him went to government employes. Rice then produced a transcript of Dennis' testimony before the New York group which quoted Dennis as saying: "We gave money to people in government service to help us."

"You've perjured yourself," Sen. Potter told Dennis, "either before us or before the grand jury."

The Michigan senator said Friday that the United States attorney here should take a look at Dennis' testimony.

He also said he would turn over to state authorities all information gathered during the hearing concerning union activities on the waterfront and assistant District Attorney Raoul Sere of Orleans parish promised to carry on the investigation "with interest."

"If there has been any misuse of union funds," Sere said, "it would constitute theft under Louisiana law."

Group Will Hunt For Bodies Of Crash Victims

MOBILE, Aa., June 26 (UP)—An expedition was being readied today to search islands off the Alabama and Mississippi coasts for bodies of DC-6 crash victims.

Richard Shaddick Sr. of Coral Gables, Fla., who organized the expedition, said the party of about 15 men would start early Monday aboard the chartered 47-foot boat Buckshot III. A barge and jeep will be picked up at Pascagoula, Miss.

Shaddick, who lost a son in the crash, began forming the search party after bones believed to be those of a crash victim were found on Horn Island, Miss.

Horn Island is about 33 miles west of the spot off the Alabama coast where the National Airlines transport was believed to have crashed Feb. 14 and killed 46 persons.

Shaddick said the first search would be made on Big Petit Bois Island off the Alabama coast. Later they will move to Horn Island and Little Petit Bois Island.

He said a private plane from Miami would search Chandeleur Island, off the Mississippi coast.

Flood Control Debate May Hit Power Policy

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—An attack on the administration power policy by a group of liberal senators today highlighted Senate debate on the $473,762,900 money bill for flood control and navigation projects.

The Senate passed the measure—the Civil Functions Appropriations Bill — on a voice vote and sent it to a House-Senate Conference Committee to work out a compromise version. As passed by the House last month the bill carries a total of $416,391,600.

The bulk of money is for waterway projects. The Senate version carries $455,140,000 for the program in the year starting July 1. This is 5.2 percent under President Eisenhower's budget recommendations but $55,856,000 over the amount voted by the House.

The bill includes $51,433,000 for flood control work on the Lower Mississippi River and its tributaries, as recommended last Tuesday by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) launched the attack on the administration power policy, charging that the new administration "has scuttled every proposal to go ahead with a comprehensive public power policy."

He was joined by senators Jackson (D-Wash) Morse (Ind-Ore) and Kefauver (D-Tenn).

In his speech Kefauver declared that the bill represented a "philosophy of crippling public power developments wherever they may occur."

He said legislation had crippled the Southwest Power Administration and the Southeastern Power Administration and that funds for planning on the Niagara are in jeopardy.

Then he referred to a fight over funds for a TVA steam plant near Memphis.

Private power interests, Kefauver said, had decided some time ago to attack the TVA as socialistic. Recently, he said, Eisenhower at a news conference had cited the TVA as an example of "creeping socialism."

Paper Company In West Monroe Sets Expansion

The Brown Container Company, whose general offices and plant are located in West Monroe, announced this week an expansion in their facilities which will step up production more than 50 percent.

This local firm, in the short span of less than five years, has shown such tremendous growth that today it ranks among the top five in business volume among the 131 single corrugator container companies in the nation. The officers and man[illegible]ent the company give much of the credit for its phenomenal growth to the splendid cooperation of its more than 400 employees and its acceptance by the community in which the plant is located.

The expansion program, plans for which have been in preparation for the past six months, is being effected because of the outstanding work and cooperation of the sales and production department of the company.

In the face of a decline in employment generally, Brown's personnel department solicits applications from prospective employees, with 20 men [illegible] been hired last week. In the weeks ahead 45 more will be hired and trained to handle the additional work load brought on by the expansion program.

With its large number of sales offices Brown Container is supplying packaging for companies in 36 states. To list the industries which are being served by Brown Container would mean making a virtual roll call of the nation's leading industries and manufacturers. They are proud that with the appearance of Brownie, their symbol, on containers they manufacture for these nationally known products, the name of West Monroe is being carried all over the world. They have sales offices located in St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Atlanta, New York City, Memphis, Mobile, Louisville, Fort Smith, Alexandria, La., Charlotte, Dallas, Tampa, Birmingham, and Tulsa.

Kerr Demands Treasury Aid's Income Report

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) tonight demanded to know if Randolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the Treasury, receives a pension from and holds stock in the National City Bank of New York.

Treasury officials in Washington cited a letter from Secretary Humphrey, printed in the June 22 Congressional Record, in which the Treasury chief said that Burgess "has qualified himself in every respect and has divested of his bank stock and complied with all provisions of the law."

Burgess was not reached immediately for comment, but Treasury officials said he receives a pension as the result of his work with the bank. They said it was a standard-type retirement pension, to which he had made contributions; that it was handled by an insurance company and was not revokable by the bank or insurance company.

Kerr, in a speech prepared for a Polk County Democratic dinner, said the National City Bank profits greatly "from the hard money policies and higher interest rates" he said Burgess had helped bring about.

Kerr said it is the "general impression" that Burgess, appointed to a post which does not require Senate confirmation, "draws a retirement pension from and is a stockholder in the National City Bank of New York."

"I challenge him to tell," Kerr said, "how much higher the prime interest rate collected by that bank is today than it was on Nov. 4 and the first of this year when he resigned as an official of that bank to take his present important policy - making job with the United States Treasury."

Kerr Demands Treasury Aid's Income Report

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP) — Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) tonight demanded to know if Randolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the Treasury, receives a pension from and holds stock in the National City Bank of New York.

Treasury officials in Washington cited a letter from Secretary Humphrey, printed in the June 22 Congressional Record, in which the Treasury chief said that Burgess "has qualified himself in every respect and has divested of his bank stock and complied with all provisions of the law."

Burgess was not reached immediately for comment, but Treasury officials said he receives a pension as the result of his work with the bank. They said it was a standard-type retirement pension, to which he had made contributions; that it was handled by an insurance company and was not revokable by the bank or insurance company.

Kerr, in a speech prepared for a Polk County Democratic dinner, said the National City Bank profits greatly "from the hard money policies and higher interest rates" he said Burgess had helped bring about.

Kerr said it is the "general impression" that Burgess, appointed to a post which does not require Senate confirmation, "draws a retirement pension from and is a stockholder in the National City Bank of New York."

"I challenge him to tell," Kerr said, "how much higher the prime interest rate collected by that bank is today than it was on Nov. 4 and the first of this year when he resigned as an official of that bank to take his present important policy - making job with the United States Treasury."

A Thousand Paul Reveres

On the world wide front in the battle against Communist slavery, the steady retreat from victory by American governments is beginning to cause serious concern among the American people. There have been numerous opportunities for effective counter attack presented to this nation and each time, the foreign policy fails to grasp the situation, or if it does, it falls short of the maximum effort which could be exerted.

The American people are shocked by the actual truce details coming from Korea despite the efforts of the internationalists to make the proposed settlements palatable and to make it appear that all the original aims have been reached by force of American arms when no such thing is the truth.

The details, or the leak in them are causing worry among those who would keep such information away from the American public and also, the great patriot who forced them out into the open for all to see, President Rhee who is being severely denounced by all segments of the left, the world over. The air is filled with the mouthings of these leftists in scorn and hate of this great Korean whose love of his country should stand out as a shining symbol to patriots everywhere.

The question is being asked by Americans, many of whom have lost loved ones in Korea, and all of whom are shouldering a fearful burden of taxation, that since the American people have furnished some 95% of the fighting men in Korea (excluding the ROKs) and have paid almost all the costs, why should the Americans not be the dominant force in the "truce" negotiations? It is not clearly understood why the British "allies" have such great power when their contribution has been so small and their treachery so great. It was these British you remember who were greatly responsible for the removal of Douglas MacArthur and his plans for an honorable American victory in Korea. The American command agreed to the foisting upon that command of a British "advisor" after the British House of Commons raised such a cry after the Americans, out of necessity, bombed the Yalu River power plants which were supplying power to the Communists.

It is now widely known that the basis of these "truce discussions" is the old Indian plan which was approved by Truman and Acheson and actually drafted by Mao himself. This plan was carried out in the first discussions at Panmunjom which were terminated until the Communists saw that they again needed peace to rebuild their armies. The question which will have to be answered is why was this old plan again continued when the second truce got under way after the assumption of President Eisenhower to the presidency.

The "U.N." could have started with an entirely new program, but it has continued with the old one. This plan, as is known, contains the preposterous idea that five "neutral" nations are to handle the prisoners who refuse to be repatriated. These nations are two Communist nations and one very procommunist one.

The old idea of considering Europe ahead of Asia is still in operation even though the Communists themselves are on record as saying the "road to Paris is through Peiking". Even with these words of advice, Europe is still paramount. All this even with the rising tide of anti-Americanism which now is coming over Europe and also with the knowledge that only in Asia are America's real friends.

There have already been "hints" in the major British and French papers that in the event of war, these two nations would "sit on the sidelines" to watch the war. Against the Communists, this would be sheer suicide. They do not respect neutrality. In the fight against the Communists, the United States has become involved in a most unusual combination of events. That is the "U.N." Some of these nations are ironically, Communist nations themselves. In fact, one of the members of this "world body" is the seat of Communism, "mother Russia". These Communist nations have the power to "veto" anything which the U. S. might desire.

The membership of this nation in the "U. N." has lost the U. S. the right to carry out its own desires in this "U. N." war which is really a war for U. S. freedom, and with the exception of the heroic contribution of little South Korea which is not a member of this "body" the war has been a complete U. S. proposition.

Now, the British are attempting to regain their lost power in the Orient. They hope to do this at the expense of the United States. They know that they can never regain this power if Chiang returns to the mainland and they have thrown in their lot with the Communists, a move which they will regret even as Mongolian troopers loot Fleet street and Coventry. All of this clearly explains the British position and why they have been able to force this nation into a terrible stalemated war which is killing Americans and Koreans and perhaps a few British. The British have been able to force this great nation into a retreat from victory.

If the United States as a great Republic is to stand, if your freedoms under the greatest constitution ever to be devised by mortals are to be protected, this time is now.

This country needs a thousand Paul Reveres who will arouse the countryside to the terrible and acute dangers facing the United States both from within and without. These modern Paul Reveres must arouse the citizenry to the people who are even now, at this late hour in high policy making positions, positions which will determine the future of Americans for years to come.

When the dark corners of this lack of knowledge are lighted up, the people, the real sovereigns, the real rulers of America will demand the replacement of these policy makers with Americans who place the welfare of their nation above all other ideas.

The hours are so short, the light in the old North Church is again lighted. When the familiar hoofbeats are heard, heed them, they are modern Paul Reveres come to save you, to warn you in time to save your nation.

Dangerous Shrubs

The City of Monroe is fortunate in having beautiful trees and shrubs all over town. At this time of year, they are all in glorious foliage. They unfortunately, sometimes can present a few hazards. When shrubs are placed directly on street corners and around bends in roads, they wipe out the vision of oncoming autos and can be the causes of terrible wrecks.

There are very many instances of this sort of vegetation and why no accidents have been caused already, is a matter of mystery. It is a terrible thing to have to slash beautiful shrubs as sometimes, it results in the total destruction of the shrub or the plant. However, the destruction of a tree is better than the destruction of human lives and that is what the entire situation amounts to.

Commissioner Huckaby has been most lenient with the owners, many who don't understandably want to trim these trees, but the time has come for some sort of action. Shrubs which grow on corners are a terrible safety hazard. In many cities and communities, they are arbitrarily removed withor without the consent of the owner as a safety measure.

Fortunately, this city in which you live, does not use that type action. The whole matter should be and is generally left up to the property owners involved.

The time to stave off serious consequences is before those consequences arise. That time is now. The city will still be beautiful and will be far safer than before with the removal of these traffic hazards. In many cases, the property owner can remove them himself, or call the city to do the job. You certainly don't want any accidents to be caused by shrubs on your property.

Also, the fast driving around corners must stop. There is absolutely no sense in attempting to see how fast a car can "make a corner." That results in tragic and terrible accidents. It has happened before and can easily happen again. If the drivers and the property owners all cooperate, this city will grow safer by the day.

Put safety before beauty in this case and help ward off serious and perhaps, fatal accidents.

The Puzzle Of French Politics

French premiers come and go as do the winds of March. There have been 19 since the close of the Second war and none of them have remained in office over a long period of time. Some months ago, the News-Star reviewed this entire situation which requires a little delving into French history, but now that six weeks have gone by and the French are just getting another premier into office, perhaps another review is necessary.

In the beginning of the Third French Republic, after the defeat by Germany of the last vestiges of French Imperial domination, the French people staged a revolution and wrote a constitution designed to prevent forever a powerful leader. They stripped the power of the president until there is no real need for such a figure and gave that power to a premier. However, his power is also extremely limited.

It all began in the years immediately after the American revolution. The Bourbon Monarchy had become more and more corrupt and the French financial position had become acute. French intervention in the revolution worsened matters and on May 5th, 1789, there was a meeting of the "Estates General" to see if a remedy could not be found. In July of that year, the King was rumored to have ordered the dissolvement of the National Assembly and this led directly to the storming of the Bastille and the end of the Monarchy. On September 21, 1792, France declared the Monarchy abolished and the establishment of the First Republic. This was preceded by terrible violence.

The years following saw more bloodshed with many heads rolling before the guillotine including the inventor of that machine.

On December 2nd, 1815, Napoleon 1st was consecrated in Paris as the Emperor of France. The history of Napoleon is well known. Then, followed his end and the establishment of the monarchy. The Restoration of the Bourbon monarchy came about for a few years and was termed the "July monarchy". It lasted until 1848. In 1848, came the Second Republic. It lasted but four years until the ascent of Napoleon III. Those years were known as the "years of Authoritarianism." They lasted until the defeat of the Empire by the Germans in the early 1870's and the establishment of the Second Republic.

All of these years saw war after war, internal conflict after conflict and revolution after revolution. A brief period of tranquility followed until the First War in which the French nation lost some four million men. From this disaster, she has never recovered. The antics of Marshal Foch to decimate his ranks succeeded and France was ruined as a nation in those terrible four years. The intervening years saw the rise of the Germans and then, the Second war and the complete and final degradation of the Third Republic and all France. This was the final end to France as a great power.

Now the present unstable situation is the direct result of a constitution which tried after the war to please every body, but pleased no one. It has less power than that of the Third Republic and gives neither the Premier nor the President any authority. Instead, the power is left to the Assembly composed of many divergent parties. The Communists hold more than 25% of the seats and of the voting population. The Center parties are split and the rightists are strong on the other side.

Actually, there is no real system of taxation. Nobody will pay their taxes. Any premier who attempts to enforce tax laws is immediately removed from office. Any premier who cannot please every faction is removed from office. Is it possible to please Communists, Socialists, DeGaulists, Centrists and all the other parties? Is it possible to maintain a stable government knowing that any "wrong" move you make will be your end? Is it possible to maintain a stable government with no possible way to balance the budget and to operate a war in the Orient? It is also impossible to maintain any sort of stability operating on the slim majority of one vote in the Chamber when that vote will suddenly swing the other way.

Until the French people agree to a constitution giving some power to the leaders of government and giving the three branches of French government equality as is seen in the American system, there can never be a stable France. These facts and these facts alone scare the American military men away from France as a "great base" in Europe. As far as France is concerned, there can be no Bermuda conference as any premier who goes to that conference will be voted out as soon as he returns if he has aroused the anger of the many deputies.

This is probably the unsolvable puzzle of French politics.

Critic Fires Blast At Monroe City Officials

Monroe, La.

Citizens of Monroe:

The topic of this letter is indeed a very serious and grave one that does concern every citizen and tax payer in the City of Monroe.

Most of us here in Monroe lead lives of quiet desperation. Much of that desperation can be blamed on the weakness of our city government, but more of it can be blamed on the failure of the average good citizen to meet his responsibilities toward government.

The situation that concerns us now is one that must be taken care of immediately. We cannot honestly expect Tom, Dick or Harry to do it. We must do it ourselves. Please, always remember this, we the Citizens are the government and our elected officials are employed by us to function for the good of the entire city.

During the past election opponents of the present city officials informed the voters of the true status of the City of Monroe's finances and administration. These truths were denied by the administration to the extent that the mayor and finance commissioner were reelected.

In order to refresh the memories of our duly elected city officials I would like to make a few "quotes" and comments.

There appeared an official statement issued by Mayor Coon and Commissioners Cline and Huckaby published in the News-Star Monday September 8, 1952. It was stated in this statement, paragraph 2, that the city authorized Ford, Bacon and Davis to make a survey of the requirements needed to improve the water and light systems. It was concluded that $7,000,000.00 was needed and so voted by the people in 1949. "This was all to be done without one cent additional tax on the people."

Remember this, prior to election, not one word was said about raising any utility rates — in fact the administration went to great pains and expense to impress and remind us that these plant improvements were being made without one cent additional cost to us. Also, bear this in mind, no mention was made before or during the election campaign, that the utility rates were entirely too low and would have to be raised.

Now, in this statement, paragraph 4, these city officials say that prior to the issuance of the bonds, which incidentally was also prior to the election, that, quote "The water rates were entirely too low to operate the plant without loss. Now listen to this, am still quoting from paragraph 4, "The council therefore had no alternative other than to increase the rates." Please bear this in mind— the rates were raised after election! If the council knew before election that the city was losing money then, why was that fact not made known to the voters then instead of waiting until after election? The ad announcing the rate increase was published on July 18th less than one month after the election and was signed by Coon, Cline and Simmons.

To further refresh the memory of our city council, I wish to quote from two ads which appeared in the local papers during the election campaign and were signed by Mr. Cline (and not denied by Mr. Coon). May 15th ad, quote "Monroe has the lowest water rate in the south. All the above improvements financed in a business-like manner through the profits of the light and water plants and without any additional tax." May 20th ad, after listing all of the accomplishments and all of the wonderful things to come after reelection this statement is made, quote "All the program was and is being financed in a business-like manner by revenue bonds to be paid from the profits of the utilities and without the necessity for any additional tax." Yet, less than one month after the election the above rates were increased!

Listen to this — Two months after the election and only a few days after the rates were raised this announcement was made (August 24, 1952 issue of News-Star page IIA):

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Section 1: A resolution authorizing an increase in salaries of the mayor and commissioners of the City of Monroe, etc, etc, each hereby increased in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) per year, etc, etc, effective August 1st. Approved and adopted this 12th day of August 1952.

A few days later on September 3, 1952, Page 13 of the News-Star there appeared this notice:

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Ordinance No. 2981. Be it ordained, etc, etc, in order to pay it's current expenses for the year 1952, etc, etc, they are empowered to borrow the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) etc, etc.

Now, please listen to this—this quote is taken from a full page ad in the News-Star on June 23rd (day before election): The City of Monroe is in sound financial condition. Our utility system increased in revenues each year and that there is an excess revenue over expense, and the same will be true for the current fiscal year when the audit is completed." (This statement was not denied or commented upon by Mayor Coon).

Isn't it logical to think that we are entitled to 'know what has happened to the money we were supposed to have been making with our utility system?

Was it business-like for our city officials to raise their salaries $1,000.00 per year and at the same time borrow $33,000.00 to pay current bills?

Was it business-like for the city officials to grant the bus - drivers a raise (which they and all city employees so deserve) and then "discover after the agreement was made, that the city did not have sufficient funds to meet the obligations, and since they had agreed to pay the workers with funds which did not exist they had acted illegally! Pray tell me, what sort of business men are these officials?

When are we going to wake up and demand to know exactly what is going on at the City Hall? After it is too late? After the City of Monroe is declared bankrupt? When?

Our City of Monroe does not deserve this. We have a city that should have been one of the greatest cities in the South! We should have been a great industrial city. We had the world's largest gas fields, excellent rail and water transportation, roads, centrally located, plenty of labor and what happens? Nothing! Whose fault is in that Monroe has become stagnated? The blame rests squarely upon our city officials, present and past, and the voters. If we had elected officials with vision, initiative, responsibility, business ability, etc, and had the interest of Monroe at heart, then Monroe would have been a real city. A city to be proud of. But instead, what have we got? A run down, heavily taxed, heavily indebted town with no future.

I am a native born citizen of Monroe. I was born here in 1911. I have my home here and I sincerely hope to die and be buried here in Monroe. In view of this, it breaks my heart to think what Monroe is and what a great city it could have been if only we, the citizens of Monroe, would only wake up and take an interest in the administration of our city. There is no need for a few so-called "big-shots" running the city. We, the "little-shots" far outnumber them and could certainly make our voices be heard and heeded if we only will take an interest.

Remember that old saying — "While the good people are busy taking care of themselves, the wrongdoers are busy taking care of everyone else."

Will Great Britain Cede Scotland To The Russians?

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have been reading your recent editorials in the Monroe Morning World with a great deal of interest and will add that I have agreed with them just about one hundred per cent. Apropos to this, I would like to make one or two comments of my own.

You have called my attention to the fact that Winston Churchill and Gen. Mark Clark have both denounced the stand taken by Pres. Syngman Rhee and have even advocated the use of armed force to make him sign the proposed peace treaty. I am just wondering what these two gentlemen would say in case the following proposition was made. The U.N. would say that in view of the objections to the proposed treaty, Russia had made a new suggestion to bring about a truce. Namely, that if Great Britain would cede Scotland to the Russians or if the United States would give up New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Russia would then agree to a peace treaty. These terms would be given to a committee of three neutral nations composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia and India and whatever these three nations decided to do would be binding on us and England. Do you think that for one moment Winston Churchill or President Eisenhower would agree to these terms? No, they would state in no uncertain terms, and rightly too, that we would die to the last man rather than give up a single foot of our country to a foreign nation. It seems to me that Syngman Rhee and South Korea are in this same position and that it should be respected.

All of this just goes to prove that it is a darned sight easier to give away the other fellows land and property than it is to give up our own.

McCarthy, The British And Syngman Rhee

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I read your editorial in the Monroe Morning World under date line of June 21. I fully agree with you, and the people I have heard discuss agree also.

It would appear that Joe McCarthy is on the right track although I did not think so at first. I heard McCarthy and Mr. Rankin on Sunday afternoon on the American Forum of the Air. McCarthy told Mr. Rankin to his face that ships under British control had shipped rubber from Ceylon and that rubber was essential. And may I add that a boy of ten years old knows that his motor scooter travels on tires made of rubber. Mr. McCarthy also gave Mr. Rankin figures to prove that since 1950 the tonnage of rubber shipped had steadily increased since that time.

Mr. Rankin said that the British navy had orders to stop such shipments. I have not heard of a single instance of the British navy doing anything about it.

Now I was for the U. N. I was for NATO and Foreign aid, until we and the Korean people were let down by the very two nations we had fought side by side in two world wars, and loaned money too, the tax payers money. If they ever paid back one red cent I have never heard of it. When someone decided that the tax payer was going to get sore about this, they came up with the Marshall Plan. Something must have gone wrong with this plan. The next thing they came up with the Four Point Program. Now, when we look back over history, we know what British Policy really is.

The thirteen colonies had a sample of that. India did also a few years back. Now Egypt, the Sudan, Africa, Iran and French Indo-China. Now I wonder with all the aid we have sent to Britian and France, they tell us Britain fell from a world power to about a third rate power and France had no government at all. We can only concede that we too have been exploited through sending lease and aid to these two countries.

I think the American people will be against any more aid to countries that do these things we fight against. Now they say we need allies, that I agree to. But past history proves that these same countries, Britain and France, need us even more than we need them. They are not the only allies we have, we would not have to go it alone in Korea. If, instead of the British trading with Red China, they had helped us to keep supplies out of Red China and had not let the Communists know that the British did not agree with us on policy, we might have had an honorable truce in Korea. And to prove how unfair the Reds are, they, instead of holding their force when they believed a truce was about to be signed, they started shooting up the U. N. forces.

And then to think that they demand that we gather up these POW's is all out of reason. I never heard anyone demand they stop fighting. And when we remember what happened after the secret meeting at Yalta, Potsdam and Teheran, I will never be in favor of anymore secret meetings. I believe this is what Syngman Rhee has in mind at this time. And too, he must have heard or read the speech of President Truman in which he said "To the best of my memory, the Communists have broken 92 treaties. We are told that the Communist policy ruling the world has not changed. Then, why is there any reason to believe that they would keep a truce at this time. Now it looks as if the Communists have about all they can handle and need a truce so as to shift their weight to some other places. We are to be sucked in again like we were on the truce talks.

I listened in to the truce meeting until it became repulsive.

I hope you will not become bored with this letter as you know more about world affairs than I do.

J. R. BLALOCK.

Paper Deletes Ike's Letter, But Never Deletes Critics

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorials have criticized the position of those who oppose the actions of President Rhee. Inasmuch as the paper has taken the position of openly criticizing those who oppose Mr. Rhee, it will be well for the paper to print President Eisenhower's letter to President Rhee. Since your readers have to indulge your pleasure in disagreeing with critics of Mr. Rhee, then the paper should feel obligated (if it is not a leftist paper) to print all of the facts in the matter and not just editorial opinions. Excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter are as follows:

"The enemy has proposed an armistice which involves a clear abandonment of the fruits of aggression. The Armistice would leave the Republic of Korea in undisputed possession of substantially the territory which the Republic administered prior to the aggression; indeed this territory will be somewhat enlarged."

"It is my profound conviction that acceptance of the armistice is required of the United Nations and the Republic of Korea. We would not be justified in prolonging the war with all the misery that it involves in the hope of achieving, by force, the unification of Korea.

"The unification of Korea is an end to which the United States is committed, not once, but many times, through its World War II declarations and through its acceptance of the principles enunciated in reference to Korea by the United Nations. Korea is unhappily not the only country which remains divided after World War II."

"It was indeed a crime that those who attacked from the north invoked violence to unite Korea under their rule. Not only as your official friend but as a personal friend I urge that your country not embark upon a similar course.

"The United States will not renounce its efforts by all peaceful means to effect the unification of Korea. Also as a member of the United Nations we shall seek to assure that the United Nations continues steadfast in its determination in this respect. In the political conference which will follow an armistice, that will be our central objective. The United States intends to consult with your government both before and during such a conference and expects the full participation of your government in that conference.

"You speak of a mutual defense pact. I am prepared promptly after the conclusion and acceptance of an armistice to negotiate with you a mutual defense treaty along the lines of treaties heretofore made between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines, and the United States and Australia and New Zealand.

"Of course you realize that under our constitutional system, any such treaty would be made only with the advice and consent of the Senate. However, the action which the United States has heretofore taken, and the great investment of blood and treasure which has already been made for the independence of Korea are certainly clear indications of American temper and intentions not to tolerate a repetition of unprovoked aggression."

The editorial in today's World certainly does not reflect any understanding of these vital points made by the President. The very constitutional right you insist upon enjoying, the right to criticize whom you please, you want to deny those who criticize the action of President Rhee in his unlawful act of freeing the prisoners. Among those who criticized President Rhee are those parents who lost sons in the continuing prolongation of the war which is the direct responsibility of President Rhee. Certainly these critics are not "leftists."

In this country we judge leaders as we do all men, by their actions alone. President Rhee certainly did not present any qualities of leadership in his action of freeing the prisoners.

I respectfully request that your paper, if it is an American publication, refrain from vehement criticism and adhere to a policy of printing all the facts.

I am sure that you will print this contesting of your implications and will print my remarks and the excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter in tomorrow's edition of the Monroe World. My best wishes to the entire staff.

P. S. I keep a file copy of every letter that I write for presentation to those who contend that we do not enjoy a free press. In this manner, I can prove to them that your paper never deletes any criticisms from letters it prints from readers.

A Thousand Paul Reveres

On the world wide front in the battle against Communist slavery, the steady retreat from victory by American governments is beginning to cause serious concern among the American people. There have been numerous opportunities for effective counter attack presented to this nation and each time, the foreign policy fails to grasp the situation, or if it does, it falls short of the maximum effort which could be exerted.

The American people are shocked by the actual truce details coming from Korea despite the efforts of the internationalists to make the proposed settlements palatable and to make it appear that all the original aims have been reached by force of American arms when no such thing is the truth.

The details, or the leak in them are causing worry among those who would keep such information away from the American public and also, the great patriot who forced them out into the open for all to see, President Rhee who is being severely denounced by all segments of the left, the world over. The air is filled with the mouthings of these leftists in scorn and hate of this great Korean whose love of his country should stand out as a shining symbol to patriots everywhere.

The question is being asked by Americans, many of whom have lost loved ones in Korea, and all of whom are shouldering a fearful burden of taxation, that since the American people have furnished some 95% of the fighting men in Korea (excluding the ROKs) and have paid almost all the costs, why should the Americans not be the dominant force in the "truce" negotiations? It is not clearly understood why the British "allies" have such great power when their contribution has been so small and their treachery so great. It was these British you remember who were greatly responsible for the removal of Douglas MacArthur and his plans for an honorable American victory in Korea. The American command agreed to the foisting upon that command of a British "advisor" after the British House of Commons raised such a cry after the Americans, out of necessity, bombed the Yalu River power plants which were supplying power to the Communists.

It is now widely known that the basis of these "truce discussions" is the old Indian plan which was approved by Truman and Acheson and actually drafted by Mao himself. This plan was carried out in the first discussions at Panmunjom which were terminated until the Communists saw that they again needed peace to rebuild their armies. The question which will have to be answered is why was this old plan again continued when the second truce got under way after the assumption of President Eisenhower to the presidency.

The "U.N." could have started with an entirely new program, but it has continued with the old one. This plan, as is known, contains the preposterous idea that five "neutral" nations are to handle the prisoners who refuse to be repatriated. These nations are two Communist nations and one very procommunist one.

The old idea of considering Europe ahead of Asia is still in operation even though the Communists themselves are on record as saying the "road to Paris is through Peiking". Even with these words of advice, Europe is still paramount. All this even with the rising tide of anti-Americanism which now is coming over Europe and also with the knowledge that only in Asia are America's real friends.

There have already been "hints" in the major British and French papers that in the event of war, these two nations would "sit on the sidelines" to watch the war. Against the Communists, this would be sheer suicide. They do not respect neutrality. In the fight against the Communists, the United States has become involved in a most unusual combination of events. That is the "U.N." Some of these nations are ironically, Communist nations themselves. In fact, one of the members of this "world body" is the seat of Communism, "mother Russia". These Communist nations have the power to "veto" anything which the U. S. might desire.

The membership of this nation in the "U. N." has lost the U. S. the right to carry out its own desires in this "U. N." war which is really a war for U. S. freedom, and with the exception of the heroic contribution of little South Korea which is not a member of this "body" the war has been a complete U. S. proposition.

Now, the British are attempting to regain their lost power in the Orient. They hope to do this at the expense of the United States. They know that they can never regain this power if Chiang returns to the mainland and they have thrown in their lot with the Communists, a move which they will regret even as Mongolian troopers loot Fleet street and Coventry. All of this clearly explains the British position and why they have been able to force this nation into a terrible stalemated war which is killing Americans and Koreans and perhaps a few British. The British have been able to force this great nation into a retreat from victory.

If the United States as a great Republic is to stand, if your freedoms under the greatest constitution ever to be devised by mortals are to be protected, this time is now.

This country needs a thousand Paul Reveres who will arouse the countryside to the terrible and acute dangers facing the United States both from within and without. These modern Paul Reveres must arouse the citizenry to the people who are even now, at this late hour in high policy making positions, positions which will determine the future of Americans for years to come.

When the dark corners of this lack of knowledge are lighted up, the people, the real sovereigns, the real rulers of America will demand the replacement of these policy makers with Americans who place the welfare of their nation above all other ideas.

The hours are so short, the light in the old North Church is again lighted. When the familiar hoofbeats are heard, heed them, they are modern Paul Reveres come to save you, to warn you in time to save your nation.

Dangerous Shrubs

The City of Monroe is fortunate in having beautiful trees and shrubs all over town. At this time of year, they are all in glorious foliage. They unfortunately, sometimes can present a few hazards. When shrubs are placed directly on street corners and around bends in roads, they wipe out the vision of oncoming autos and can be the causes of terrible wrecks.

There are very many instances of this sort of vegetation and why no accidents have been caused already, is a matter of mystery. It is a terrible thing to have to slash beautiful shrubs as sometimes, it results in the total destruction of the shrub or the plant. However, the destruction of a tree is better than the destruction of human lives and that is what the entire situation amounts to.

Commissioner Huckaby has been most lenient with the owners, many who don't understandably want to trim these trees, but the time has come for some sort of action. Shrubs which grow on corners are a terrible safety hazard. In many cities and communities, they are arbitrarily removed withor without the consent of the owner as a safety measure.

Fortunately, this city in which you live, does not use that type action. The whole matter should be and is generally left up to the property owners involved.

The time to stave off serious consequences is before those consequences arise. That time is now. The city will still be beautiful and will be far safer than before with the removal of these traffic hazards. In many cases, the property owner can remove them himself, or call the city to do the job. You certainly don't want any accidents to be caused by shrubs on your property.

Also, the fast driving around corners must stop. There is absolutely no sense in attempting to see how fast a car can "make a corner." That results in tragic and terrible accidents. It has happened before and can easily happen again. If the drivers and the property owners all cooperate, this city will grow safer by the day.

Put safety before beauty in this case and help ward off serious and perhaps, fatal accidents.

The Puzzle Of French Politics

French premiers come and go as do the winds of March. There have been 19 since the close of the Second war and none of them have remained in office over a long period of time. Some months ago, the News-Star reviewed this entire situation which requires a little delving into French history, but now that six weeks have gone by and the French are just getting another premier into office, perhaps another review is necessary.

In the beginning of the Third French Republic, after the defeat by Germany of the last vestiges of French Imperial domination, the French people staged a revolution and wrote a constitution designed to prevent forever a powerful leader. They stripped the power of the president until there is no real need for such a figure and gave that power to a premier. However, his power is also extremely limited.

It all began in the years immediately after the American revolution. The Bourbon Monarchy had become more and more corrupt and the French financial position had become acute. French intervention in the revolution worsened matters and on May 5th, 1789, there was a meeting of the "Estates General" to see if a remedy could not be found. In July of that year, the King was rumored to have ordered the dissolvement of the National Assembly and this led directly to the storming of the Bastille and the end of the Monarchy. On September 21, 1792, France declared the Monarchy abolished and the establishment of the First Republic. This was preceded by terrible violence.

The years following saw more bloodshed with many heads rolling before the guillotine including the inventor of that machine.

On December 2nd, 1815, Napoleon 1st was consecrated in Paris as the Emperor of France. The history of Napoleon is well known. Then, followed his end and the establishment of the monarchy. The Restoration of the Bourbon monarchy came about for a few years and was termed the "July monarchy". It lasted until 1848. In 1848, came the Second Republic. It lasted but four years until the ascent of Napoleon III. Those years were known as the "years of Authoritarianism." They lasted until the defeat of the Empire by the Germans in the early 1870's and the establishment of the Second Republic.

All of these years saw war after war, internal conflict after conflict and revolution after revolution. A brief period of tranquility followed until the First War in which the French nation lost some four million men. From this disaster, she has never recovered. The antics of Marshal Foch to decimate his ranks succeeded and France was ruined as a nation in those terrible four years. The intervening years saw the rise of the Germans and then, the Second war and the complete and final degradation of the Third Republic and all France. This was the final end to France as a great power.

Now the present unstable situation is the direct result of a constitution which tried after the war to please every body, but pleased no one. It has less power than that of the Third Republic and gives neither the Premier nor the President any authority. Instead, the power is left to the Assembly composed of many divergent parties. The Communists hold more than 25% of the seats and of the voting population. The Center parties are split and the rightists are strong on the other side.

Actually, there is no real system of taxation. Nobody will pay their taxes. Any premier who attempts to enforce tax laws is immediately removed from office. Any premier who cannot please every faction is removed from office. Is it possible to please Communists, Socialists, DeGaulists, Centrists and all the other parties? Is it possible to maintain a stable government knowing that any "wrong" move you make will be your end? Is it possible to maintain a stable government with no possible way to balance the budget and to operate a war in the Orient? It is also impossible to maintain any sort of stability operating on the slim majority of one vote in the Chamber when that vote will suddenly swing the other way.

Until the French people agree to a constitution giving some power to the leaders of government and giving the three branches of French government equality as is seen in the American system, there can never be a stable France. These facts and these facts alone scare the American military men away from France as a "great base" in Europe. As far as France is concerned, there can be no Bermuda conference as any premier who goes to that conference will be voted out as soon as he returns if he has aroused the anger of the many deputies.

This is probably the unsolvable puzzle of French politics.

Critic Fires Blast At Monroe City Officials

Monroe, La.

Citizens of Monroe:

The topic of this letter is indeed a very serious and grave one that does concern every citizen and tax payer in the City of Monroe.

Most of us here in Monroe lead lives of quiet desperation. Much of that desperation can be blamed on the weakness of our city government, but more of it can be blamed on the failure of the average good citizen to meet his responsibilities toward government.

The situation that concerns us now is one that must be taken care of immediately. We cannot honestly expect Tom, Dick or Harry to do it. We must do it ourselves. Please, always remember this, we the Citizens are the government and our elected officials are employed by us to function for the good of the entire city.

During the past election opponents of the present city officials informed the voters of the true status of the City of Monroe's finances and administration. These truths were denied by the administration to the extent that the mayor and finance commissioner were reelected.

In order to refresh the memories of our duly elected city officials I would like to make a few "quotes" and comments.

There appeared an official statement issued by Mayor Coon and Commissioners Cline and Huckaby published in the News-Star Monday September 8, 1952. It was stated in this statement, paragraph 2, that the city authorized Ford, Bacon and Davis to make a survey of the requirements needed to improve the water and light systems. It was concluded that $7,000,000.00 was needed and so voted by the people in 1949. "This was all to be done without one cent additional tax on the people."

Remember this, prior to election, not one word was said about raising any utility rates — in fact the administration went to great pains and expense to impress and remind us that these plant improvements were being made without one cent additional cost to us. Also, bear this in mind, no mention was made before or during the election campaign, that the utility rates were entirely too low and would have to be raised.

Now, in this statement, paragraph 4, these city officials say that prior to the issuance of the bonds, which incidentally was also prior to the election, that, quote "The water rates were entirely too low to operate the plant without loss. Now listen to this, am still quoting from paragraph 4, "The council therefore had no alternative other than to increase the rates." Please bear this in mind—the rates were raised after election! If the council knew before election that the city was losing money then, why was that fact not made known to the voters then instead of waiting until after election? The ad announcing the rate increase was published on July 18th less than one month after the election and was signed by Coon, Cline and Simmons.

To further refresh the memory of our city council, I wish to quote from two ads which appeared in the local papers during the election campaign and were signed by Mr. Cline (and not denied by Mr. Coon). May 15th ad, quote "Monroe has the lowest water rate in the south. All the above improvements financed in a business-like manner through the profits of the light and water plants and without any additional tax." May 20th ad, after listing all of the accomplishments and all of the wonderful things to come after reelection this statement is made, quote "All the program was and is being financed in a business-like manner by revenue bonds to be paid from the profits of the utilities and without the necessity for any additional tax." Yet, less than one month after the election the above rates were increased!

Listen to this — Two months after the election and only a few days after the rates were raised this announcement was made (August 24, 1952 issue of News-Star page IIA):

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Section 1: A resolution authorizing an increase in salaries of the mayor and commissioners of the City of Monroe, etc, etc, each hereby increased in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) per year, etc, etc, effective August 1st. Approved and adopted this 12th day of August 1952.

A few days later on September 3, 1952, Page 13 of the News-Star there appeared this notice:

Resolution by Mr. Cline: Ordinance No. 2981. Be it ordained, etc, etc, in order to pay it's current expenses for the year 1952, etc, etc, they are empowered to borrow the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) etc, etc.

Now, please listen to this—this quote is taken from a full page ad in the News-Star on June 23rd (day before election): The City of Monroe is in sound financial condition. Our utility system increased in revenues each year and that there is an excess revenue over expense, and the same will be true for the current fiscal year when the audit is completed." (This statement was not denied or commented upon by Mayor Coon).

Isn't it logical to think that we are [illegible] to know what has happened to the money we were supposed to have been making with our utility system?

Was it business-like for our city officials to raise their salaries $1,000.00 per year and at the same time borrow $33,000.00 to pay current bills?

Was it business-like for the city officials to grant the bus - drivers a raise (which they and all city employees so deserve) and then "discover after the agreement was made, that the city did not have sufficient funds to meet the obligations, and since they had agreed to pay the workers with funds which did not exist they had acted illegally! Pray tell me, what sort of business men are these officials?

When are we going to wake up and demand to know exactly what is going on at the City Hall? After it is too late? After the City of Monroe is declared bankrupt? When?

Our City of Monroe does not deserve this. We have a city that should have been one of the greatest cities in the South! We should have been a great industrial city. We had the world's largest gas fields, excellent rail and water transportation, roads, centrally located, plenty of labor and what happens? Nothing! Whose fault is in that Monroe has become stagnated? The blame rests squarely upon our city officials, present and past, and the voters. If we had elected officials with vision, initiative, responsibility, business ability, etc, and had the interest of Monroe at heart, then Monroe would have been a real city. A city to be proud of. But instead, what have we got? A run down, heavily taxed, heavily indebted town with no future.

I am a native born citizen of Monroe. I was born here in 1911. I have my home here and I sincerely hope to die and be buried here in Monroe. In view of this, it breaks my heart to think what Monroe is and what a great city it could have been if only we, the citizens of Monroe, would only wake up and take an interest in the administration of our city. There is no need for a few so-called "big-shots" running the city. We, the "little-shots" far outnumber them and could certainly make our voices be heard and heeded if we only will take an interest.

Remember that old saying — "While the good people are busy taking care of themselves, the wrongdoers are busy taking care of everyone else."

Will Great Britain Cede Scotland To The Russians?

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have been reading your recent editorials in the Monroe Morning World with a great deal of interest and will add that I have agreed with them just about one hundred per cent. Apropos to this, I would like to make one or two comments of my own.

You have called my attention to the fact that Winston Churchill and Gen. Mark Clark have both denounced the stand taken by Pres. Syngman Rhee and have even advocated the use of armed force to make him sign the proposed peace treaty. I am just wondering what these two gentlemen would say in case the following proposition was made. The U.N. would say that in view of the objections to the proposed treaty, Russia had made a new suggestion to bring about a truce. Namely, that if Great Britain would cede Scotland to the Russians or if the United States would give up New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Russia would then agree to a peace treaty. These terms would be given to a committee of three neutral nations composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia and India and whatever these three nations decided to do would be binding on us and England. Do you think that for one moment Winston Churchill or President Eisenhower would agree to these terms? No, they would state in no uncertain terms, and rightly too, that we would die to the last man rather than give up a single foot of our country to a foreign nation. It seems to me that Syngman Rhee and South Korea are in this same position and that it should be respected.

All of this just goes to prove that it is a darned sight easier to give away the other fellows land and property than it is to give up our own.

McCarthy, The British And Syngman Rhee

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I read your editorial in the Monroe Morning World under date line of June 21. I fully agree with you, and the people I have heard discuss agree also.

It would appear that Joe McCarthy is on the right track although I did not think so at first. I heard McCarthy and Mr. Rankin on Sunday afternoon on the American Forum of the Air. McCarthy told Mr. Rankin to his face that ships under British control had shipped rubber from Ceylon and that rubber was essential. And may I add that a boy of ten years old knows that his motor scooter travels on tires made of rubber. Mr. McCarthy also gave Mr. Rankin figures to prove that since 1950 the tonnage of rubber shipped had steadily increased since that time.

Mr. Rankin said that the British navy had orders to stop such shipments. I have not heard of a single instance of the British navy doing anything about it.

Now I was for the U. N. I was for NATO and Foreign aid, until we and the Korean people were let down by the very two nations we had fought side by side in two world wars, and loaned money too, the tax payers money. If they ever paid back one red cent I have never heard of it. When someone decided that the tax payer was going to get sore about this, they came up with the Marshall Plan. Something must have gone wrong with this plan. The next thing they came up with the Four Point Program. Now, when we look back over history, we know what British Policy really is.

The thirteen colonies had a sample of that. India did also a few years back. Now Egypt, the Sudan, Africa, Iran and French Indo-China. Now I wonder with all the aid we have sent to Britian and France, they tell us Britain fell from a world power to about a third rate power and France had no government at all. We can only concede that we too have been exploited through sending lease and aid to these two countries.

I think the American people will be against any more aid to countries that do these things we fight against. Now they say we need allies, that I agree to. But past history proves that these same countries, Britain and France, need us even more than we need them. They are not the only allies we have, we would not have to go it alone in Korea. If, instead of the British trading with Red China, they had helped us to keep supplies out of Red China and had not let the Communists know that the British did not agree with us on policy, we might have had an honorable truce in Korea. And to prove how unfair the Reds are, they, instead of holding their force when they believed a truce was about to be signed, they started shooting up the U. N. forces.

And then to think that they demand that we gather up these POW's is all out of reason. I never heard anyone demand they stop fighting. And when we remember what happened after the secret meeting at Yalta, Potsdam and Teheran, I will never be in favor of anymore secret meetings. I believe this is what Syngman Rhee has in mind at this time. And too, he must have heard or read the speech of President Truman in which he said "To the best of my memory, the Communists have broken 92 treaties. We are told that the Communist policy ruling the world has not changed. Then, why is there any reason to believe that they would keep a truce at this time. Now it looks as if the Communists have about all they can handle and need a truce so as to shift their weight to some other places. We are to be sucked in again like we were on the truce talks.

I listened in to the truce meeting until it became repulsive.

I hope you will not become bored with this letter as you know more about world affairs than I do.

J. R. BLALOCK.

Paper Deletes Ike's Letter, But Never Deletes Critics

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorials have criticized the position of those who oppose the actions of President Rhee. Inasmuch as the paper has taken the position of openly criticizing those who oppose Mr. Rhee, it will be well for the paper to print President Eisenhower's letter to President Rhee. Since your readers have to indulge your pleasure in disagreeing with critics of Mr. Rhee, then the paper should feel obligated (if it is not a leftist paper) to print all of the facts in the matter and not just editorial opinions. Excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter are as follows:

"The enemy has proposed an armistice which involves a clear abandonment of the fruits of aggression. The Armistice would leave the Republic of Korea in undisputed possession of substantially the territory which the Republic administered prior to the aggression; indeed this territory will be somewhat enlarged."

"It is my profound conviction that acceptance of the armistice is required of the United Nations and the Republic of Korea. We would not be justified in prolonging the war with all the misery that it involves in the hope of achieving, by force, the unification of Korea.

"The unification of Korea is an end to which the United States is committed, not once, but many times, through its World War II declarations and through its acceptance of the principles enunciated in reference to Korea by the United Nations. Korea is unhappily not the only country which remains divided after World War II."

"It was indeed a crime that those who attacked from the north invoked violence to unite Korea under their rule. Not only as your official friend but as a personal friend I urge that your country not embark upon a similar course.

"The United States will not renounce its efforts by all peaceful means to effect the unification of Korea. Also as a member of the United Nations we shall seek to assure that the United Nations continues steadfast in its determination in this respect. In the political conference which will follow an armistice, that will be our central objective. The United States intends to consult with your government both before and during such a conference and expects the full participation of your government in that conference.

"You speak of a mutual defense pact. I am prepared promptly after the conclusion and acceptance of an armistice to negotiate with you a mutual defense treaty along the lines of treaties heretofore made between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines, and the United States and Australia and New Zealand.

"Of course you realise that under our constitutional system, any such treaty would be made only with the advice and consent of the Senate. However, the action which the United States has heretofore taken, and the great investment of blood and treasure which has already been made for the independence of Korea are certainly clear indications of American temper and intentions not to tolerate a repetition of unprovoked aggression."

The editorial in today's World certainly does not reflect any understanding of these vital points made by the President. The very constitutional right you insist upon enjoying, the right to criticize whom you please, you want to deny those who criticize the action of President Rhee in his unlawful act of freeing the prisoners. Among those who criticized President Rhee are those parents who lost sons in the continuing prolongation of the war which is the direct responsibility of President Rhee. Certainly these critics are not "leftists."

In this country we judge leaders as we do all men, by their actions alone. President Rhee certainly did not present any qualities of leadership in his action of freeing the prisoners.

I respectfully request that your paper, if it is an American publication, refrain from vehement criticism and adhere to a policy of printing all the facts.

I am sure that you will print this contesting of your implications and will print my remarks and the excerpts from President Eisenhower's letter in tomorrow's edition of the Monroe World. My best wishes to the entire staff.

ARTHUR M. LE BLANC, JR.

P. S. I keep a file copy of every letter that I write for presentation to those who contend that we do not enjoy a free press. In this manner, I can prove to them that your paper never deletes any criticisms from letters it prints from readers.

Try This Poultry Dressing On Your July Fourth Menu

POULTRY STUFFING

One of the finest things that has come our way in many a moon is a simple stuffing for poultry. The quantities described here are for a two-pound chicken. (We used the same amount in roasting half a small turkey recently, with florious results).

Mrs. Blanche Crawford, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Chapter, to whom we are indebted for this, uses the following ingredients:

¼ cup shredded onion.
¼ cup carrots, diced.
¼ cup celery, chopped.
6 slices dry bread.
2 tablespoons chicken fat (rendered from the hen).
2 tablespoons butter, melted.
Salt and pepper.

Parboil the onion a few minutes, "tunking (that's local lingo) off the liquid it was cooked in." We hadn't been in Mrs. Crawford's part of Pennsylvania for some time, but we crossed our fingers and 'drained' off the water — and the results were good!

Cook carrots, celery, and parboiled onion in a little water until carrots are tender. Shred dry bread into this mixture, adding salt and pepper to taste. Mix in the chicken fat and melted butter.

In cooking a half-turkey, we massage the flesh side of the bird with butter, and roast flesh-side-up until slightly browned. Then remove fill the cavity with the stuffing, place a sheet of aluminum foil over to hold it, then return to the heat foil side down. Let the foil extend out around the bird, and turn the edges up slightly, so the stuffing will absorb all the juices. Very, very satisfactory!

Tomato Snowball Dumplings, from Mrs. Evangeline Kemp, Detroit Times Chapter, will bring the crowd to its feet. Use a deep pan or kettle with tight-fitting cover, and put in:

6 to 8 cups canned or stewed tomatoes.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ teaspoon salt.
3 dashes pepper.
1 dash cinnamon.
1 teaspoon grated onion and juice.
½ cup diced ham or other leftover meat.
½ teaspoon MSG powder.
1 dash maggi sauce.

Stir all together and bring to a gentle boil. Make the dumplings of the following:

1 cup sweet milk.
2 cups cake flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 teaspoons melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.

Mix the above well, and drop by spoonfulls on top of the tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook 15 to 20 minutes without removing cover. These two prizes can make the basis of a fine Fourth of July dinner, believe you us!

And for a nice hot weather refresher, James Patrick Delaney of the Chicago Daily News Chapter sends us "Orange Julius." Just mix 3 tablespoons malted milk powder, ¾ cup orange juice (2) oranges), and 1 teaspoon honey or sugar. Mix or shake thoroughly, divide among 3 tall glasses, add ice cubes and fill with chilled charged water. Dust on nutmeg if desired.

We added 2 oz. gin to each drink —and were we ever surprised!

Quota Is Reached In Palsy Drive, Chairman States

The United Cerebral Palsy Association of Northeast Louisiana has reached its quota in the first annual fund collections, Oliver E. Moore, fund chairman, has announced. The chairman stated Saturday that the amount collected during the month drive was comparatively small, considering other drives conducted in the Twin Cities, but that the drive netted was above the amount marked for this area.

Moore pointed out that Henry Plitt, state president of Cerebral Palsy, was well pleased with the first drive to be conducted in Monroe. This first drive shows that thousands of parents and children who fight against cerebral palsy realize the crucial stage of this battle has been reached. They know that recent progress in scientific research and the continuing increase year after year of cerebral palsy cases make their responsibilities greater than ever before.

"Through the generosity of the citizens of northeast Louisiana, the excellent efforts of our division chairman, and the fine cooperation of the local radio stations and Monroe and West Monroe newspapers, we were able to conduct this drive. The division chairman together with their workers did a splendid job and are entitled to the thanks of everyone interested in the Unitad Cerebral Palsy," Moore said.

There are more than 4,000 cerebral palsied children and adults in the state and some 100 or more in northeast Louisiana.

Mr. Moore paid tribute to Altrusa Business Women's Club, sponsors of the Northeast Louisiana Association, and to membres of Teflis Grotto who helped to conduct the fund - raising crusade; to Lambda Sorority, and to postmen for their work.

Without their unselfish efforts, the people of northeast Louisiana would not have been so acutely aware of the increasing responsibilities of the Cerebral Palsy Association," he declared.

The division chairmen in this year's drive were J. Y. Pipes, Mrs. B. V. Durbin, Miss Lillie Glenn Miss Bernice McCoy, Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Miss Mary Lee Frost, Dr. Katherine Foster, Miss Ann Mickel, Mr. M. S. Greenblatt, Mr. George A. Bennett, Mrs. Louis Gruber and Mrs. Smith.

Miss Lillie Glenn also served as publicity chairman.

Has Fingerprints And Name Of Man Hanged In 1919

KAMLOOPS, B. C., June 27 (AP)—Puzzled Royal Canadian mounted police Friday discovered a man they hold in jail here apparently has the same name and fingerprints as a man who was hanged 34 years ago.

Alex Ignace, an Indian from Deadman's Creek, was sentenced to six months in jail for common assault. In taking his fingerprints, the Mounted Police found they were identical to those of a man hanged in Kamloops for murder.

"But the strangest thing about this million-to-one coincidence is that the hanged man's name also was Alex Ignace," an officer said, "and if he had lived he would have been the same age as the man we now have behind bars."

Civil Service Day Hailed As Bright Day For Employes

Mrs. I. E. Lobrano, Baton Rouge, president of the Louisiana Organizations for State Legislation, Saturday hailed civil service day as a bright light in the lives of state employees of Louisiana and for the public in general. Mrs. Lobrano said:

"June, 30, the day on which the civil service law becomes effective in Louisiana, marks the beginning of an era when our public employes can work with peace of mind and satisfaction. They can now build a career in public employment of which they can be proud.

"There will be no fear of being fired at every change of administration — no having to vote for this or that candidate to hold their jobs — no fear of political reprisals . . . at every turn.

"The LOSL, consisting of 26 statewide organizations, had as its Number 1 project last year the restoration of civil service in Louisiana by constitutional amendment. This organization having such a broad scope of membership, wields great power in supporting legislative projects — back at the grass roots. The civil service constitutional amendment was the first project ever to be adopted unanimously by this organization.

"The Louisiana Organizations for State Legislation designed to expand the interest of the State of Louisiana in the process of securing enactment of laws to improve the conditions of the citizens or institutions — and to further the effective administration of laws contributing to the progress of our state — is proud to have had a part in this great movement for Constitutional Civil Service - for the betterment of the welfare of our state government and its people."

Her mother, Mrs. Claude W. Kurtz, said the child was halfway out of the window when she saw her and, "I screamed, and she just let go and fell."

Tensas Votes Mill Tax For Health Unit

ST. JOSEPH, June 27, (Special) —The voters of Tensas Parish recently voted overwhelmingly in favor of a one mill tax for support of the local health unit.

Funds from federal and state sources have been reduced, making it necessary for health units to find additional sources of revenue if services offered are to continue at the present level.

The millage tax was carried by a vote of $394,000 to $188,000 in assessment and 72 to 15 in popular vote.

Milk Plant Unit Is Considered For Public Fund

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The state Bond and Tax Board took under advisement today a proposal to construct a milk processing plant in Washington Parish, first request under Louisiana's new industry inducement program.

The board heard heated debate on the proposal from dairymen advocating the plant and a delegation of Bogalusa businessmen who opposed it.

The state Board of Commerce and Industry has already approved a contract for the Washington Parish Police jury to float $500,000 worth of bonds to construck and equip a milk plant at Franklington to be operated by the Louisiana-Mississippi Milk Producers Association, a dairy cooperative.

Under the state's new balance agriculture with industry bill, the contract must next be approved by the Bond and Tax Board before the bond issue is submitted to Washington Parish voters.

The BAWI law, approved in a constitutional amendment last November, permits political subdivisions to vote bonds to purchase plant sites and build and equip factories as an inducement for new industries.

Bogalusa businessmen, headed by former state Sen. H. H. Richardson, contended the contract as written would "make the taxpayers of Washington Parish the sole assets behind the plant...the proponnents are not putting up a darn cent."

"We think there is a need for this plant and it should be built," Richardson said, "but we object to the manner in which it is being done. The BAWI bill was meant to attract industries and not create them."

Richardson questioned the wisdom of using the bond money to purchase the land, construct and equip the plant and arrange other facilities.

"We're giving this association a going concern. It's not costing them a red cent," he said. "They can walk out tomorrow if they want, leaving the taxpayers holding the bag."

The former lawmaker argued that the city of Bogalusa was included in the bond district "as an eleventh hour proposition in order to cut the millage down from five to two mills. We weren't even consulted."

He also protested that the terms of the contract were vague and that the president of the Association lived in Mississippi.

W. W. Erwin of Franklington, attorney for the dairymen, charged that the "big taxpayers of Bogulasa are against this and it's not hard to see why."

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have been married for nine months during which time my husband has left me three times to go home to his "mama." We both are 28. He was a perfect husband for three months, working and bringing home his paycheck. Then his mother would phone him at work, tell him she had something she wanted him to do and encourage him to leave work. She would give him enough money for him to get by. From that time on he has not worked.

I finally packed up and moved back to my mother's home. He keeps calling and visiting but still won't get a job. His mother bought him a car so that he will not leave her to live with me. I have threatened, begged and pleaded to get him to straighten out and be a man but all I get is promises.

When I left, I took all of our unpaid bills and have been paying them myself. I always have worked. Please help me.—B. B.

You are almost as bad as your husband's mother! Everybody killing themselves to keep the bum happy. Your husband's big trouble is his lack of responsibility and instead of giving him some, you take it right away from him. Why didn't you send the debts to your husband in a registered letter, then send notes to the creditors as to where they could find him? Paying his debts was the worst thing you could do. You don't think for one minute that he appreciates your effort, do you? A parasite of his gender just takes such things for granted.

What can you do about him? Nothing. Either he loves you enough to break away from his mother's iron clutches (no 'apron strings' here!) and to assume the responsibility of a husband or he doesn't. Tell him you have done all you are going to do for him and that the rest is up to him. Under no circumstances lend him money or talk to or see him until he is ready to seek help and be weaned away from his mother. It is obvious that she will not cooperate!

Dear Mrs. Landers: When you receive an invitation to a wedding shower and you cannot attend, is it necessary to send a gift? Also, are "Currency Showers" proper? We have been arguing about this for a week and decided to put it into your lap.—Four Office Girls

No; you are not obligated to send the gift to a shower. If you mean by "Currency Showers" a bid for money instead of a gift, they are not proper. If the girls invited are very close to the bride-to-be and decided to pool their gift money to allow her to make her own selection or to apply it on something she wants, that is all right. But the giver of the shower must not dictate or suggest an amount of money to be given in lieu of a gift; that must be left to the guest.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I went out with one of your "Brave Soldiers," whom I had met at the USO. (There is no rule at the one I attend against hostesses going out with the servicemen.)

Though the date got started late, I saw no reason to object to the proposal that we three couples go up to one of the boy's apartments to eat and play cards as I realized they had little money for taking us out. After two minutes, I realized it was time to head for the door (if you know what I mean). Two hours of talk, resistance and frigidity finally convinced our hero that here was one girl whose answer was really no! These are the nice boys who grew up next door? Maybe next door to you, but not next door to me!—Ex-Hostess

Dear Mrs. Landers: Being Junior Hostesses at the USO, we really were amused by your recent article. Believe us, there are some boys who frequent the USO who never have and never will "fight for their country." Secondly, your statement about them being heartsick with loneliness and homesickness was quite funny.

Most of them have been stationed here for months and months and regard it as their second home. And, they would like the comforts of home including someone, namely a hostess, to perform the wifely duties! They reverse the roles and think they are there to boost the morale of the hostesses in return for which they want a hostess to give her all, and we do mean, all.

—3 Honorable Hostesses.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Try This Poultry Dressing On Your July Fourth Menu

POULTRY STUFFING

One of the finest things that has come our way in many a moon is a simple stuffing for poultry. The quantities described here are for a two-pound chicken. (We used the same amount in roasting half a small turkey recently, with florious results).

Mrs. Blanche Crawford, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Chapter, to whom we are indebted for this, uses the following ingredients:

¼ cup shredded onion.
¼ cup carrots, diced.
¼ cup celery, chopped.
6 slices dry bread.
2 tablespoons chicken fat (rendered from the hen).
2 tablespoons butter, melted.
Salt and pepper.

Parboil the onion a few minutes, "tunking (that's local lingo) off the liquid it was cooked in." We hadn't been in Mrs. Crawford's part of Pennsylvania for some time, but we crossed our fingers and 'drained' off the water — and the results were good!

Cook carrots, celery, and parboiled onion in a little water until carrots are tender. Shred dry bread into this mixture, adding salt and pepper to taste. Mix in the chicken fat and melted butter.

In cooking a half-turkey, we massage the flesh side of the bird with butter, and roast flesh-side-up until slightly browned. Then remove fill the cavity with the stuffing, place a sheet of aluminum foil over to hold it, then return to the heat foil side down. Let the foil extend out around the bird, and turn the edges up slightly, so the stuffing will absorb all the juices. Very, very satisfactory!

Tomato Snowball Dumplings, from Mrs. Evangeline Kemp, Detroit Times Chapter, will bring the crowd to its feet. Use a deep pan or kettle with tight-fitting cover, and put in:

6 to 8 cups canned or stewed tomatoes.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ teaspoon salt.
3 dashes pepper.
1 dash cinnamon.
1 teaspoon grated onion and juice.
½ cup diced ham or other left-over meat.
½ teaspoon MSG powder.
1 dash maggi sauce.

Stir all together and bring to a gentle boil. Make the dumplings of the following:

1 cup sweet milk.
2 cups cake flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 teaspoons melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.

Mix the above well, and drop by spoonfulls on top of the tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook 15 to 20 minutes without removing cover. These two prizes can make the basis of a fine Fourth of July dinner, believe you us!

And for a nice hot weather refresher, James Patrick Delaney of the Chicago Daily News Chapter sends us "Orange Julius." Just mix 3 tablespoons malted milk powder, ¾ cup orange juice (2 oranges), and 1 teaspoon honey or sugar. Mix or shake thoroughly, divide among 3 tall glasses, add ice cubes and fill with chilled charged water. Dust on nutmeg if desired.

We added 2 oz. gin to each drink —and were we ever surprised!

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have been married for nine months during which time my husband has left me three times to go home to his "mama." We both are 28. He was a perfect husband for three months, working and bringing home his paycheck. Then his mother would phone him at work, tell him she had something she wanted him to do and encourage him to leave work. She would give him enough money for him to get by. From that time on he has not worked.

I finally packed up and moved back to my mother's home. He keeps calling and visiting but still won't get a job. His mother bought him a car so that he will not leave her to live with me. I have threatened, begged and pleaded to get him to straighten out and be a man but all I get is promises.

When I left, I took all of our unpaid bills and have been paying them myself. I always have worked. Please help me.—B. B.

You are almost as bad as your husband's mother! Everybody killing themselves to keep the bum happy. Your husband's big trouble is his lack of responsibility and instead of giving him some, you take it right away from him. Why didn't you send the debts to your husband in a registered letter, then send notes to the creditors as to where they could find him? Paying his debts was the worst thing you could do. You don't think for one minute that he appreciates your effort, do you? A parasite of his gender just takes such things for granted.

What can you do about him? Nothing. Either he loves you enough to break away from his mother's iron clutches (no 'apron strings' here!) and to assume the responsibility of a husband or he doesn't. Tell him you have done all you are going to do for him and that the rest is up to him. Under no circumstances lend him money or talk to or see him until he is ready to seek help and be weaned away from his mother. It is obvious that she will not cooperate!

Dear Mrs. Landers: When you receive an invitation to a wedding shower and you cannot attend, is it necessary to send a gift? Also, are "Currency Showers" proper? We have been arguing about this for a week and decided to put it into your lap.—Four Office Girls

No; you are not obligated to send the gift to a shower. If you mean by "Currency Showers" a bid for money instead of a gift, they are not proper. If the girls invited are very close to the bride-to-be and decided to pool their gift money to allow her to make her own selection or to apply it on something she wants, that is all right. But the giver of the shower must not dictate or suggest an amount of money to be given in lieu of a gift; that must be left to the guest.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I went out with one of your "Brave Soldiers," whom I had met at the USO. (There is no rule at the one I attend against hostesses going out with the servicemen.)

Though the date got started late, I saw no reason to object to the proposal that we three couples go up to one of the boy's apartments to eat and play cards as I realized they had little money for taking us out. After two minutes, I realized it was time to head for the door (if you know what I mean). Two hours of talk, resistance and frigidity finally convinced our hero that here was one girl whose answer was really no! These are the nice boys who grew up next door? Maybe next door to you, but not next door to me!—Ex-Hostess

Dear Mrs. Landers: Being Junior Hostesses at the USO, we really were amused by your recent article. Believe us, there are some boys who frequent the USO who never have and never will "fight for their country." Secondly, your statement about them being heartsick with loneliness and homesickness was quite funny.

Most of them have been stationed here for months and months and regard it as their second home. And, they would like the comforts of home including someone, namely a hostess, to perform the wifely duties! They reverse the roles and think they are there to boost the morale of the hostesses in return for which they want a hostess to give her all, and we do mean, all. —3 Honorable Hostesses.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Ike May Use Pressure For Legislative Aims

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower is heading into the critical period of his congressional relations with indications that he is determined to crack the whip on major legislative proposals if compromises fail.

The President's support of a move to force a House vote on his proposal for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax apparently has convinced lawmakers he can get tough if persuasion fails.

But congressional leaders who know him best say Eisenhower doesn't like the whip cracking role and will continue to compromise where he can do so without losing prestige or conceding defeat on legislation classed as "must".

The tax fight is yet to be won in the House and Eisenhower's lieutenants face some other stiff battles before they can add up their legislative accomplishments and call them good.

In one of the few occasions in which they have departed from support of presidential proposals, Senate Democrats are lining up for a last-ditch fight against Eisenhower's cutback of five billion dollars in Air Force money requests.

Unless the signs are wrong, the President is going to win that and some other budget-cutting tests. He apparently will get somewhat less than the $5,318,000,000 in foreign aid funds he requested.

Unless there is an upset, Congress also will approve a year's extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program. It already has voted submerged lands bills he asked for and has continued his government reorganization powers.

But some of the "must" legislation listed by GOP leaders after a conference with the President early in February already is being put on the shelf until next year.

The House-approved Hawaiian statehood bill, proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act and social security expansion are in this category.

The White House and State Department had to admit defeat on one presidential request—a resolution to condemn Russia for enslaving other people. It was put in cold storage as a result of an intra-party fight over whether also to condemn the Yalta and Potsdam agreements made with the Soviet by Democratic presidents.

A bill to simplify customs procedures—promised by Eisenhower in his State of the Union Message—thus far has been stuck in the House Ways and Means Committee. Its fate is doubtful because of the resentment created among members by the House Rules Committee's action in taking the excess profit tax measure out of the ways and means files and bringing it before the House.

This whip cracking operation, carried out at Eisenhower's behest, may backfire on the customs bill and some other measures.

More of the same kind of White House pressure may be needed, however, to get out of a Senate judiciary subcommittee a bill to admit 240,000 European refugees to this country in two years.

Graduation Rule Voided By Order Of High Court

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The superior court has told a chiropody school it cannot refuse to graduate a woman student who has completed three years' study althought she lacked proper entrance requirements.

John Rudolph Desort issued an injunction against the Chicago College of Chiropody and Pedic Surgery in favor of Millicent Dashwood, 27, of Jackson, Miss., who will complete a four-year course next year.

Miss Dashwood sued the school and G. E. Gunezler of Freeport, Ill., a member of the council of education of the National Association of Chiropodists. She alleged they told her she could not be graduated because she failed to meet certain preliminary entrance requirements.

She said she has finished three years of study and would have been graduated at the end of the fourth. Her previous academic training includes graduation from high school in England and two years of study at the London Foot Hospital School of Chiropody, London, England.

The suit named the chiropodists association on the ground that it threatens to remove the Chicago school from its accredited list if it lets her be graduated.

Miss Dashwood said school officials wrote her April 22, 1953, that although her academic record was "excellent" she should not be permitted to graduate.

She said she was born in the United States, went with her parents to England and lived there until after the war. She married an American soldier there and came to Chicago with him. They since have been divorced.

The woman said she planned to practice Chiropody in Mississippi. She said she has had to work part time to pay her living and school expenses.

GOING TO FORMOSA—Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., was in Monroe for the Chiang Kai-shek day, which was held Friday. Mrs. Strong is a candidate for President of the National Altrusa Club. She will leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

Woman At Chiang Meeting Here To Go To Formosa

Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., a candidate for international president of Altrusa Clubs, said yesterday that the "people of the Twin Cities have put their right foot forward in the betterment of government in declaring and celebrating Chiang Kai-shek day."

The Memphis business woman, who came to Monroe to participate in Chiang Kai-shek day is the past vice - president of her hometown Altrusa Club and is now seeking the top international post.

Mrs. Strong is the owner of a fabricated steel mill in Memphis, in conjunction with her family.

Mrs. Strong stated that she had become interested in the Chinese people when she was a young girl and that she had studied very hard to increase her knowledge about these people, and that some day she would like very much to go to China.

"The people of Monroe," she stated, "are very unaware of the great thing they have done for the Chinese people and their government by declaring a Chiang Kai-shek day. To me, it was a wonderful event and will long be remembered by everyone of the Twin Cities, China, and the people throughout the states."

Mrs. Strong will leave for Formosa the latter part of July, where she will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. M. T. Tung. She stated that she has always wanted to go to China but because of the conditions at the present she will be unable to go into China.

A group of the Altrusa members attended this celebration from all over the states. The Altrusa club is for business women and is an international organization and has a membership in Korea.

She stated, "Being in contact with the Chinese people, I know that they love the American country and their people. China was the first to offer her services in the Korean war, even though they were not accepted."

Mrs. Strong will leave Monroe and return to Memphis and from there will go to Los Angeles to attend the Altrusa convention. She plans to leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

City Treasurer Of New Orleans Gets Dismissal

NEW ORLEANS, June 27 (AP)—Thomas J. Heier, appointed New Orleans city treasurer only two months ago, was fired by Finance Commissioner Lionel Ott, effective Monday.

Ott dismissed Heier yesterday and gave no reason for the firing.

Heier finished first in a city civil service examination given for the post. Former City Treasure C. Jones finished fifth and the selection had to be made from the top three.

Under the civil service law, appointees cannot be dismissed during the first 60 days of their probationary period. But at the end of 60 days and prior to six months, they may be dismissed at any time, if found to be "unsatisfactory in the opinion of the appointing authority."

Jones, close political friend of Ott, lost an appeal to the Civil Service Commission for the review of his examination for the job as treasurer.

Two Young Girls Die In Drug Co. Fireworks Fire

KANSAS CITY, June 27—UP—A stock of "safe" fireworks burst into flames in an eastside Kansas City drugstore Friday and the fire gutted the store and killed two teen-aged soda fountain girls.

The girls, Nancy Darlene Braden, 16, and Donna Hernrich, 17, were trapped behind the fountain. Their bodies were burned badly.

A store employe, Mrs. Gloria Beard, said the fireworks were of the so-called "safe" variety, the only kind permitted by law in Kansas City. She said the stock consisted mainly of sparklers, pinwheels and other non-explosive types.

"I was standing at the fountain drinking a glass of water when I heard a kind of gentle whoosh behind me," Mrs. Beard said. "I set the glass down and looked around to see a ball of flame and sparks. Then I beat it out the door."

George Foxton, manager of the chain store unit, said from 20 to 25 customers and employes were in the building when the display caught fire. He fought the flames and shouted for everyone to leave by the front door. All except the fountain clerks made it.

The entire stock and fixtures of the store were destroyed. An assistant manager, Vitale Swan, said he believed damage, exclusive of the building, would amount to $40,000.

New Presbyterian Church Organized Outside Of Bast.

BASTROP ,June 27 (Special) — The Woodlawn Presbyterian Church, just outside of Bastrop, was organized recently and has recorded on its church rolls 41 members.

Until two years ago the Sunday School class continued to meet in the Woodhouse home when a chapel building was constructed.

Recently the Presbytery of Red River sent a commission of ministers and elders to organize a church. The actual and basic work was done on June 5. Three elders and four deacons were elected to carry on the work of the church and there is reported much enthusiasm in the new organization.

Wilson Strips Civil Service From Top Men

WASHINGTON, June 27 —UP—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson Friday stripped civil service protection from 52 "high evel" positions in his department.

One of the jobs is that of chauffeur to Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

The action was in line with President Eisenhower's new order removing merit system protection from certain jobs blanketed into civil service by the Truman administration.

Wilson told the Defense Department these "relatively few high level positions are being paced outside the competitive service because they involve either the determination of executive policies or a close personal and confidential relationship with the top officials of the department."

Anderson's chauffeur was the only driver on the list. It was not explained what classification he comes under.

Wealthy Farmer Wins On Bathroom, Loses On Heater

LINCOLN, Neb., June 27—UP—The Nebraska supreme court Friday ruled in favor of a wealthy farmer accused by his wife of failing to provide such "necessaries of life" as a bathroom and an auto heater that worked.

The court held that Charles McGuire, 79, was legally supporting his wife despite her claims that she was given no money for furniture or modern plumbing.

McGuire owns 398 acres of land in rural Wayne county, has bank deposits of $12,786, government bonds worth $104,300 and a yearly income of $8,000 to $9,000.

But Mrs. McGuire charged in a lower court suit that her home had no bathroom, bathing facilities or inside toilet and the kitchen was not modern.

She said she did not want a divorce, only enough money for life's necessities.

The lower court upheld Mrs. Mc among other things to make repairs to the house and get a new car with an "effective heater."

But the high bench reversed the lower court. It said that "as long as the home is maintained and the parties are living as husband and wife, it may be said that theh usband is legally supporting his wife and the purpose of the marriage relation is being carried out."

Ike May Use Pressure For Legislative Aims

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower is heading into the critical period of his congressional relations with indications that he is determined to crack the whip on major legislative proposals if compromises fail.

The President's support of a move to force a House vote on his proposal for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax apparently has convinced lawmakers he can get tough if persuasion fails.

But congressional leaders who know him best say Eisenhower doesn't like the whip cracking role and will continue to compromise where he can do so without losing prestige or conceding defeat on legislation classed as "must".

The tax fight is yet to be won in the House and Eisenhower's lieutenants face some other stiff battles before they can add up their legislative accomplishments and call them good.

In one of the few occasions in which they have departed from support of presidential proposals, Senate Democrats are lining up for a last-ditch fight against Eisenhower's cutback of five billion dollars in Air Force money requests.

Unless the signs are wrong, the President is going to win that and some other budget-cutting tests. He apparently will get somewhat less than the $5,318,000,000 in foreign aid funds he requested.

Unless there is an upset, Congress also will approve a year's extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program. It already has voted submerged lands bills he asked for and has continued his government reorganization powers.

But some of the "must" legislation listed by GOP leaders after a conference with the President early in February already is being put on the shelf until next year.

The House-approved Hawaiian statehood bill, proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act and social security expansion are in this category.

The White House and State Department had to admit defeat on one presidential request—a resolution to condemn Russia for enslaving other people. It was put in cold storage as a result of an intra-party fight over whether also to condemn the Yalta and Potsdam agreements made with the Soviet by Democratic presidents.

A bill to simplify customs procedures—promised by Eisenhower in his State of the Union Message—thus far has been stuck in the House Ways and Means Committee. Its fate is doubtful because of the resentment created among members by the House Rules Committee's action in taking the excess profit tax measure out of the ways and means files and bringing it before the House.

This whip cracking operation, carried out at Eisenhower's behest, may backfire on the customs bill and some other measures.

More of the same kind of White House pressure may be needed, however, to get out of a Senate judiciary subcommittee a bill to admit 240,000 European refugees to this country in two years.

Graduation Rule Voided By Order Of High Court

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The superior court has told a chiropody school it cannot refuse to graduate a woman student who has completed three years' study althought she lacked proper entrance requirements.

John Rudolph Desort issued an injunction against the Chicago College of Chiropody and Pedic Surgery in favor of Millicent Dashwood, 27, of Jackson, Miss., who will complete a four-year course next year.

Miss Dashwood sued the school and G. E. Gunezler of Freeport, Ill., a member of the council of education of the National Association of Chiropodists. She alleged they told her she could not be graduated because she failed to meet certain preliminary entrance requirements.

She said she has finished three years of study and would have been graduated at the end of the fourth. Her previous academic training includes graduation from high school in England and two years of study at the London Foot Hospital School of Chiropody, London, England.

The suit named the chiropodists association on the ground that it threatens to remove the Chicago school from its accredited list if it lets her be graduated.

Miss Dashwood said school officials wrote her April 22, 1953, that although her academic record was "excellent" she should not be permitted to graduate.

She said she was born in the United States, went with her parents to England and lived there until after the war. She married an American soldier there and came to Chicago with him. They since have been divorced.

The woman said she planned to practice Chiropody in Mississippi. She said she has had to work part time to pay her living and school expenses.

GOING TO FORMOSA—Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., was in Monroe for the Chiang Kai-shek day, which was held Friday. Mrs. Strong is a candidate for President of the National Altrusa Club. She will leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

Woman At Chiang Meeting Here To Go To Formosa

Mrs. Joan Strong, of Memphis, Tenn., a candidate for international president of Altrusa Clubs, said yesterday that the "people of the Twin Cities have put their right foot forward in the betterment of government in declaring and celebrating Chiang Kai-shek day."

The Memphis business woman, who came to Monroe to participate in Chiang Kai-shek day is the past vice - president of her hometown Altrusa Club and is now seeking the top international post.

Mrs. Strong is the owner of a fabricated steel mill in Memphis, in conjunction with her family.

Mrs. Strong stated that she had become interested in the Chinese people when she was a young girl and that she had studied very hard to increase her knowledge about these people, and that some day she would like very much to go to China.

"The people of Monroe," she stated, "are very unaware of the great thing they have done for the Chinese people and their government by declaring a Chiang Kai-shek day. To me, it was a wonderful event and will long be remembered by everyone of the Twin Cities, China, and the people throughout the states."

Mrs. Strong will leave for Formosa the latter part of July, where she will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. M. T. Tung. She stated that she has always wanted to go to China but because of the conditions at the present she will be unable to go into China.

A group of the Altrusa members attended this celebration from all over the states. The Altrusa club is for business women and is an international organization and has a membership in Korea.

She stated, "Being in contact with the Chinese people, I know that they love the American country and their people. China was the first to offer her services in the Korean war, even though they were not accepted."

Mrs. Strong will leave Monroe and return to Memphis and from there will go to Los Angeles to attend the Altrusa convention. She plans to leave for Formosa in the latter part of July.

City Treasurer Of New Orleans Gets Dismissal

NEW ORLEANS, June 27 (AP)—Thomas J. Heier, appointed New Orleans city treasurer only two months ago, was fired by Finance Commissioner Lionel Ott, effective Monday.

Ott dismissed Heier yesterday and gave no reason for the firing.

Heier finished first in a city civil service examination given for the post. Former City Treasure C. Jones finished fifth and the selection had to be made from the top three.

Under the civil service law, appointees cannot be dismissed during the first 60 days of their probationary period. But at the end of 60 days and prior to six months, they may be dismissed at any time, if found to be "unsatisfactory in the opinion of the appointing authority."

Jones, close political friend of Ott, lost an appeal to the Civil Service Commission for the review of his examination for the job as treasurer.

Two Young Girls Die In Drug Co. Fireworks Fire

KANSAS CITY, June 27—UP—A stock of "safe" fireworks burst into flames in an eastside Kansas City drugstore Friday and the fire gutted the store and killed two teen-aged soda fountain girls.

The girls, Nancy Darlene Braden, 16, and Donna Hernrich, 17, were trapped behind the fountain. Their bodies were burned badly.

A store employe, Mrs. Gloria Beard, said the fireworks were of the so-called "safe" variety, the only kind permitted by law in Kansas City. She said the stock consisted mainly of sparklers, pinwheels and other non-explosive types.

"I was standing at the fountain drinking a glass of water when I heard a kind of gentle whoosh behind me," Mrs. Beard said. "I set the glass down and looked around to see a ball of flame and sparks. Then I beat it out the door."

George Foxton, manager of the chain store unit, said from 20 to 25 customers and employes were in the building when the display caught fire. He fought the flames and shouted for everyone to leave by the front door. All except the fountain clerks made it.

The entire stock and fixtures of the store were destroyed. An assistant manager, Vitale Swan, said he believed damage, exclusive of the building, would amount to $40,000.

New Presbyterian Church Organized Outside Of Bast.

BASTROP ,June 27 (Special) — The Woodlawn Presbyterian Church, just outside of Bastrop, was organized recently and has recorded on its church rolls 41 members.

The new church had its beginning some 15 years ago when a Sunday School was started in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodhouse, members of the First Presbyterian church of Bastrop. Until two years ago the Sunday School class continued to meet in the Woodhouse home when a chapel building was constructed.

Recently the Presbytery of Red River sent a commission of ministers and elders to organize a church. The actual and basic work was done on June 5. Three elders and four deacons were elected to carry on the work of the church and there is reported much enthusiasm in the new organization.

Wilson Strips Civil Service From Top Men

WASHINGTON, June 27 —UP—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson Friday stripped civil service protection from 52 "high evel" positions in his department.

One of the jobs is that of chauffeur to Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

The action was in line with President Eisenhower's new order removing merit system protection from certain jobs blanketed into civil service by the Truman administration.

Wilson told the Defense Department these "relatively few high level positions are being paced outside the competitive service because they involve either the determination of executive policies or a close personal and confidential relationship with the top officials of the department."

Anderson's chauffeur was the only driver on the list. It was not explained what classification he comes under.

Miller had suffered a fractured hip in a fall last month after returning from a vacation in Arizona.

He was regarded as one of the country's leading lawyers and jurists, and was sometimes referred to as a "Lawyer's Lawyer."

Miller was governor of the Empire State from 1920 to 1922. He handed the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith his first political defeat. but in 1922 Smith reversed the vote and Miller retired from active politics.

Wealthy Farmer Wins On Bathroom, Loses On Heater

LINCOLN, Neb., June 27—UP—The Nebraska supreme court Friday ruled in favor of a wealthy farmer accused by his wife of failing to provide such "necessaries of life" as a bathroom and an auto heater that worked.

The court held that Charles McGuire, 79, was legally supporting his wife despite her claims that she was given no money for furniture or modern plumbing.

McGuire owns 398 acres of land in rural Wayne county, has bank deposits of $12,786, government bonds worth $104,300 and a yearly income of $8,000 to $9,000.

But Mrs. McGuire charged in a lower court suit that her home had no bathroom, bathing facilities or inside toilet and the kitchen was not modern.

She said she did not want a divorce, only enough money for life's necessities.

The lower court upheld Mrs. Mc among other things to make repairs to the house and get a new car with an "effective heater."

But the high bench reversed the lower court. It said that "as long as the home is maintained and the parties are living as husband and wife, it may be said that the husband is legally supporting his wife and the purpose of the marriage relation is being carried out."

Average altitude of West Virginia is 1500 feet, highest of any state east of the Mississippi River.

Ike May Resolve Row Over T-H Change Bids

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower may have to resolve differences between two Cabinet members over proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Taft said in an interview that Secretary of Labor Durkin and representatives of Secretary of Commerce Weeks still are at odds on some points after a series of meetings by a committee named to suggest changes in the law.

Besides Durkin and Weeks, other members of the group are Taft, and the chairmen of the congressional labor committees, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Rep. McConnel (R-Pa.) The White House is represented by Bernard M. Shanley, the President's special counsel.

"I think we can get through in about three more meetings," Taft said. "But I am not at all sure that Durkin and Secretary Weeks, representatives can agree on all of the proposals.

"In that case, we will have to have the assistance of the President in working out an agreement. He has taken a very great personal interest in the mater."

The target is agreement on a dozen or more amendments which Smith and McConnell would immediately introduce in Congress and for which they would seek the support of their labor committees. Congressional leaders plan to seek action by Senate and House in 1954.

The committee trying to draft the changes is believed to have reached substantial agreement in the following areas of labor-management relations:

Increasing the National Labor Relations Board from five to seven members; allowing the AFL building trades unions to write special union shop contracts compelling workers to join the union after the seventh day on the job; permitting strikers to vote in representation elections even if they have been permancutly replaced; and either extending the Taft-Hartley law's non-Communist oath provision to employers or dropping it altogether as ineffective.

Serious disagreement is reported in the highly critical area of secondary boycotts — union activity which involves pressure on a neutral employer to gain concessions from another employer.

Durkin was said to have taken a [illegible]-retreat position on a proposal by Weeks to tighten up the law further against picketing of a neutral employe.

Weeks was reported to have insisted that neutral employers be afforded complete legal protection against being caught in the middle of a labor dispute involving others. Durkin argued that no employe should be forced to cross a picket line, even though his employer was not directly involved in a dispute.

Freedom Urge Is Pitfall

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP)—The two pleasure-bent AWOL sailors, who were being held here for court martial proceedings, succumbed to their urge for freedom Wednesday and walked away from the base, the Navy said today.

The two Korean veterans, Charles H. Robinson, 21, Knoxville and Roy Lee Austin, 19, Wilson, Okla., slipped away from the sprawling Millington Naval Air Station where they were under "technical arrest."

Robinson and Austin went over the hill from the San Diego Navy Base and 13 days later surrendered to police in Rockwood, Tenn. Rockwood turned out to be a "paradise" for the two wandering gobs. Policeman Avert Billings befriended the pair and allowed them to leave jail and go out and enjoy themselves. All they had to do was return to their cell at night.

The Navy revealed today that Robinson and Austin slipped away late Wednesday. Neither had liberty cards as they were confined to the base. They were not brig prisoners, although they had to stand a muster every two hours and were available for various duties.

Their eventful spree started when they walked away from the San Diego Base June 1. Robinson and Austin hitch-hiked 3,000 miles to Knoxville, Tenn. After a visit in Knoxville, Robinson said, "we decided to give up and let the Navy take us back."

They gave up to police in Rockwood. Billings said he questioned Robinson and Austin and found "they were just typical American boys who had decided to take a trip home."

"So I unlocked the jail door at 9 a.m. and they reported back at nine each night to be locked up again," Billings added.

Robinson and Austin were quoted in Memphis as saying "we love Rockwood. It's the best town we've ever been in."

The Navy sent orders for the pair to take a bus to Memphis, where they showed up June 19. They were then put under "technical-arrest" and restricted to the base.

Nothing has been heard from the two boys since they left Wednesday.

Another Billion

the committee said.

After reviewing secret testimony on the "controversy" over a 143-wing or 120-wing Air Force goal by mid-1955, the committee said President Eisenhower is following a "sound and reasonable" policy in setting the lower level, subject to top-level review. A wing contains from 30 to 75 aircraft.

Then the committee made a further $240,000,000 cut in the new Air Force funds, already slashed five billion dollars by the new President.

It cut Eisenhower's Army requests by $689,000,000, and Navy figures by $398,280,000.

The action threatened to create bitter debate before the House reached a showdown vote late next week. Truman last night joined Air Force and congressional critics in labeling the cuts as short-sighted.

Here is the breakdown of the recommendations made by Truman, Eisenhower and the committee:

TRUMAN

Army	$12,109,591,000
Navy	11,499,850,000
Air Force	16,078,000000
Sec. Defense	1,030,975,000
Misc	1,515,00

EISENHOWER

Army	$13,671,000,000
Navy	9,782,663,000
Air Force	11,288,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,029,625,000
Misc.	275,000

COMMITTEE

Army	$12,982,000,000
Navy	9,384,383,00
Air Force	11,048,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,019,500,000
Misc.	257,500

The Army sum is actually $90,000,000 more than recommended by Truman. But the committee said it includes about two billion dollars to cover Korean War expenses, which were put in the regular defense budget for the first time this year.

The total is $12,750,863,642 below last year's defense appropriations. Of this reduction over 10 billion was from the Air Force.

The committee said these new funds, plus holdover appropriations, would give the department $91,903,000,000 to spend, and said this is more than it could use in three years, for some items. The department actually plans to spend $43,200,000,000 next year, a 20 million dollar boost over 1953, the committee said.

Angry Charges

sound dollar."

A top GOP leader said tentative plans called for this message to take the form of a letter to Martin or to Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind), to be read to the House Monday morning.

Administration leaders said final strategy in the tense situation would not be decided until early Monday, however.

Eisenhower has staked his prestige on an almost unprecedented situation in the House. The tax is now due to expire Tuesday, but can be extended retroactively.

Weeks ago, the President proposed that the levy be extended for six months.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee fiercely opposing the extension, bottled it up in his committee and thwarted every effort by the administration to force action.

House leaders then prevailed upon the rules committee to snatch the bill from the ways and means committee and force it to the House floor.

The bill reported out by the rules committee is a proposal by Rep. Sadlak (R-Conn) exempting firms making less than $100,000 a year from the excess profits tax, and extending it for six more months.

Federal Cotton Acreage Details Still Unsettled

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—A member of the American Farm Bureau Federation's cotton committee today said members still were far from agreement concerning federal cotton planting acreage allotments.

The committeeman, who declined use of his name, said still at issue were recommendations concerning allotments for the South and West.

The committee, representing 13 states, met to make recommendations relative to cotton acreage allotment. Secretary of Agriculture Benson recently announced 1954 would be an allotment year due to a surplus of cotton in the past five years.

Under the allotment plan a farmer must reduce the number of acres he plants in cotton to qualify for a federal subsidy. The proposed cuts would amount to as much as 50 per cent in some sections of the West.

The spokesman said the committee is acting in an industry advisory capacity and will present its conclusions to Congress.

States represented at the meeting were Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

City, State Tax Powers On Same Level, Suggested

BILOXI, Miss., June 27 (AP) — Mayor Clyde Fant of Shreveport, La., president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, said today that cities and towns should have the same taxing powers as the state Legislature.

Fant told the closing session of the Mississippi Municipal Association that the cities and towns should not have to "go hat in hand" to seek financial aid. Municipalities, he said, are "close enough to the people that if we did not use the taxing powers properly, then we would not be in office long."

Mayor Harvey Lee Morrison of Okolona was elected president of the organization, succeeding Mayor Harvey Lee Campbell of Brookhaven who was made a lifetime honorary member.

Mayor Allen Thompson of Jackson was elected vice president and George L. Sugg of Jackson was renamed manager.

Other speakers included state Attorney General J. P. Coleman, Mayor H. H. Dees of Atmore, Ala., president of the Alabama League of Municipalities and Mayor John Robinson of Winder, Ga., president of the Georgia Municipal Association.

Coleman said that "getting into public office is not a way of avoiding trouble." Municipal officers, as well as other officials, must be prepared to undergo criticism "whether you deserve it or not," he said.

Fant told delegates that he had helped fight for municipal aid in Louisiana through a division of state taxes "but basically I am against the states handing out revenues to the municipalities."

He described the pledge made to the Mississippi Municipal Association last night by Gov. Hugh White as "a courageous stand."

"Your battle has just started," Fant told the delegates. "The best way to lose it is to go home and say, 'The governor is on our side,' and do nothing yourselves."

The Mississippi governor last night outlined ways through which the state could share revenues with hard-pressed municipalities.

White said the cities and towns could share in the 34 million dollar biennial tax increases proposed for the school equalization program, or allocated general fund revenues now being diverted to the state-aid rural road program, or given a share of the state gasoline tax.

Rhee Reported

received Rhee's reaction at Saturday's brief meeting.

Both Robertson and Rhee believed awaiting Washington reaction to Rhee's reply.

A United Nations source close to Robertson told newsmen that "if things go as well as they have so far" the special envoy may leave soon for Washington.

To the public, both sides have presented a picture of cordial relations. Rhee was host Saturday night to a dinner for Robertson and military and diplomatic officials. Friday night U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs gave a dinner for the President and Mrs. Rhee and other dignitaries.

The happy social scenes were in sharp contrast to the stern United Nations and U. S. reactions to Rhee's order last week which turned loose 27,000 anti-Red North Korean war prisoners from camps in South Korea.

The prisoner release by South Korean guards shattered immediate chances for the quick signing of an armistice.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 27 (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today called on the U. N. to forego total military victory in Korea as a prelude to a peace without vengeance.

Hammarskjold broadcast (CBS) his ideas in his first major address on world affairs since taking over as U. N. secretary general from Trygve Lie. It was made to mark the signing of the U. N. Charter in San Francisco eight years ago yesterday.

The U. N. chief spoke against a background of demands from President Syngman Rhee for continued war to unite divided North and South Korea.

Without referring specifically to these demands, Hammarskjold warned that the U. N. Charter does not allow use of force to secure "victory in terms of land or power" but only for self-defense or to repel aggression.

Once this has been done, he declared, there is no provision for further punishment of the aggressor.

The Swedish diplomat said he was outlining a new approach to world affairs which would be opposed by those who believed "in the unconditional surrender of old wars."

Nevertheless, he said, it "is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives."

Hammarskjold admitted that, in order to put his new formula to work, "we will have to revise many of our inherited notions."

"The U. N. action in Korea," he declared, "marks the first attempt in history to meet aggression with unified force under an international standard. Parallel activity designed to seek a settlement was carried on within the council chambers with perseverance and a firm resolution to uphold the concepts of the charter.

"This approach is a new formula in the history of political conflicts, and its importance may well be underlined by the historians of the future.

"In exploring these new avenues of collective security we must adapt ourselves to accept such unfamiliar developments as a war which ends without total victory for any party, but only for a principle.

"Such a victory, although it may not be considered as satisfactory by those who still believe in the unconditional surrenders of old wars, is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives for this principle."

Bill Would Name Unit For Study Of Government

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Senate passage sent to President Eisenhower today a bill to create a new commission to study government reorganization.

Legislative action on the measure was completed with Senate acceptance of a House amendment eliminating a requirement that the two major political parties have equal representation on the 16-member body.

The new commission is patterned after one set up in 1947 under former President Herbert Hoover. It functioned for about two years and submitted recommendations, many since put into effect, for reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

A broader field of study is provided for the new commission, however. For one thing, it would be directed to look into federal activities in competition with private enterprise.

It also would be empowered to make recommendations for changes in basic laws relating to federal activities, whereas the Hoover commission was concerned only with promoting efficiency and economy through reorganization of the existing federal set-up.

posed of a 112 members, four each appointed by President Eisenhower, the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate. It is to report by Dec. 31, 1954.

1,000 Are Lost In Japan's Most Disastrous Flood

TOKYO, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—The rising toll of modern Japan's worst flood seemed certain to pass 1,000 today with more than 600,000 homeless and damage well in excess of 33 million dollars. More rain was forecast for the stricken southern island of Kyushu.

No U. S. casualties were reported and three big U. S. bases, all on high ground, escaped damage.

The latest national police count showed 252 dead, 703 missing and 725 injured. But many remote areas were cut off by the murky floodwaters and no word came from them.

Hundreds of American soldiers and airmen worked side by side with 1,000 Japanese police in around-the-clock mercy missions.

U. S. helicopters directed rescuers in rubber boats to persons marooned on housetops. U. S. authorities promised full use of ships, planes, engineers and other American resources.

Whole villages were engulfed and in one instance the entire populace of 488 was reported to have perished.

The entire northern half of Kyushu was threatened. The island is about half the size of South Carolina.

Police officials said the flood was "unprecedented" in modern history and was a heartbreaking disaster even in a land lashed by typhoons and repeated earthquakes.

Since Thursday, heavy rains have pounded the island. Black clouds hung overhead and Japanese weather officials ominously predicted more downpours.

The U. S. southwest command, the defense force for the area, declared Kyushu a disaster area. Quick aid was rushed in.

Army water purification units were sent to avert epidemics.

The drenching rainstorms and floods struck the island three weeks after a driving typhoon battered river dikes. The dikes still were being repaired in many places when the rains struck.

Railroad transportation was halted in spots. Roads crumbled beneath the floodwaters.

Confused ROKs

Reds would threaten to flank Allied-held Heartbreak Ridge. Heartbreak is a mile east of Mundung and about 30 miles northeast of Kumhwa.

U. S. advisors with the hard-pressed South Koreans on the East-Central Front said the Chinese Red push there had three possible explanations:

1. The Reds simply are out to teach a lesson to the South Koreans for saying they might try to drive north alone in event a truce was signed soon on terms leaving Korea divided.

2. The drive might have started out that way and the Reds then decided to exploit it when it made such startling progress. (They ripped more than five miles into Allied lines in the first phase two weeks ago and gained up to a mile and a quarter in the new attack Saturday.

3. The Reds are driving seriously for the Hwachon Reservoir in efforts either to seize it or gain a share of its power in any cease-fire settlement.

American officers told AP Correspondent Milo Farneti that the Red drive involved forward elements of six divisions.

The battle was being fought in two halves, on either side of the Pukhan. The gravest situation was on the east where South Korean withdrawals let the Reds swing forward, starting Friday night.

On the west bank, the South Koreans capped a wild battle raging since Friday by storming back up 1,500-foot Lookout Mountain Saturday afternoon and staying there. They had been pushed off three times in 18 hours but got it back the third time after a hand grenade action on the crest.

LEGAL FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, June 27 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today declared it is "ready to bring the legal fight against segregation down to the local level."

The declaration came in resolution form during the group's 44th annual convention and is part of the NAACP's fight to end racial segregation and discrimination by 1963, the centennial of the emancipation proclamation.

Famed Surgeon Is Dead

BOSTON, June 27 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, 73, a surgeon whose fame was worldwide, died today of a heart ailment he suffered six days after assisting in an operation on British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Death came to the thin, 5 foot 6 surgeon at New England Baptist HOSPITAL WHILE Hrsh hr tist Hospital while his wife and three doctors were at his bedside.

He was the founder and director of surgery of the Lahey Clinic, established in 1922, where hundreds of operations are performed yearly on persons ranging from the penniless to the world famous.

Dr. Lahey operated twice on President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua and last year was awarded the Nicaraguan Presidential Medal of Honor.

One of his more recent operations was performed May 23 on a 41-year-old Siamese twin from Holyoke, Mass. He successfully removed an abdominal tumor from Margaret Gibb after anesthetizing the other twin, Mary, as well.

In the June 10 bile duct operation on Eden Lahey served as assistant to Dr. Richard B. Cattell of the Lahey Clinic staff.

It was an unusual role for Dr. Lahey, who also was surgeon in chief of both the Deaconness Hospital and the New England Baptist Hospital.

He was the second noted Boston surgeon to die this month. Dr. Marius Smith-Petersen, world-famous orthopedic surgeon, died on June 16.

Federal Deficit

ceipts fall under expectations. That means a June 30 deficit of about 8½ billion dollars, give or take a hundred million or so depending on how things go in the last few days of the fiscal year.

About the coming 1954 fiscal year beginning July 1, the administration official said:

1. If President Eisenhower's tax program is approved by Congress, the government will go in the red by an estimated $5,600,000,000.

2. The Treasury plans to announce its first borrowing plan for fiscal 1954 about the middle of next week.

3. Because tax receipts are light in the first half of the fiscal year July through December and heavy in the last half, the Treasury will need to borrow in the next six months somewhere between six and nine billion dollars to tide it over until the heavy spring tax receipt time.

Callender Field Appropriation Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Rep. Hebert (D-La) said today an appropriation of $16,027,000 for Alvin Callender Field at New Orleans is included in a bill approved by the House Appropriations Committee.

Callender Field, he said, is to become a training base for reserves of all services.

"This is the biggest project to come to New Orleans since the Algiers Naval Base was located there 50 years ago," he told a reporter.

The bill is to be up for debate in the House Tuesday.

Hebert said the funds are included in a 30 million dollar marine construction item. The eventual cost of the base, he said, will be above 50 million dollars.

Of the total in the bill, he said, $3,400,000 would be for lengthening present runways to 8,000 feet; $3,078,900 for hangers; $1,726,600 for utilities; $178,500 for fuel storage facilities; $346,000 for supply buildings; and $286,000 for public works facilities.

Treasury Chief Heads British

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Treasury Chief Richard A. Butler, a shy, brilliant ex-professer called Rab, took charge of the British government today.

He normally is the No. 3 man as chancellor of the Exchequer in Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill's Cabinet.

But now both Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Nos. 1 and 2, are incapacitated—under rest and medical care.

Fifty-year-old Rab, touted as Churchill's heir-apparent ever since illness felled Eden, took over the reins from the Prime Minister this morning with typical machine-like efficiency.

Butler, who for a long time has been considered the theoretician of the Churchill government, simply took charge of the papers streaming into his neighbor's house.

Buter lives at No. 11 Downing Street, Churchill at No. 10.

Butler will preside over Cabinet meetings, referring only top foreign policy matters to Churchill for final decision. The Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel will await Churchill's recovery.

Rab will share responsibility for major policy statements in Parliament with Capt. Harry Crookshank, leader of the House of Commons.

Butler lives at No. 11 Downing before. Last September, he was given charge while Churchill and Eden were out of the country.

Butler's day-by-day job in the Cabinet is the same post Churchill held a long time back. As chancellor Butler is economic and financial boss of this hard-pressed nation.

ment came to power in November, 1951. Butler introduced a stern economic regime that won him respect but not much popularity.

He cut government expenditures, restricted credit to block inflation and painstakingly built up the country's dollar-gold reserves.

The Conservatives claim Butler rescued Britain from bankruptcy and strengthened Britain's economic position in the world.

Butler become the "golden boy" of the government last April when he introduced a budget that won him wide popular acclaim. His budget gave Britons their first reduction in income tax since the war, slashed the purchase tax on things like cars and refrigerators, and cut the unpopular levy on some sports events.

Butler gambled that by putting more consumer goods within John Bull's reach, he could make him work harder and thus boost national production.

Butler's popular budget catapulted him into the limelight and established him as a likely successor to Churchill. His position was reinforced shortly afterward when Eden, who is seven years his senior, became seriously ill and underwent a series of operations. Eden is in Boston recuperating from a bile duct operation and may be out of public life for several more months.

Butler has been the leader of the progressives within the Conservative party. After the Conservatives crushing defeat in .45, he set out to "wrest the initiative in the realm of political ideas" from the Socialists. The changes he introduced in social policy are credited with giving Churchill the margin of votes he needed for victory in 1951.

Ike May Resolve Row Over T-H Change Bids

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower may have to resolve differences between two Cabinet members over proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Taft said in an interview that Secretary of Labor Durkin and representatives of Secretary of Commerce Weeks still are at odds on some points after a series of meetings by a committee named to suggest changes in the law.

Besides Durkin and Weeks, other members of the group are Taft, and the chairmen of the congressional labor committees, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Rep. McConnel (R-Pa.) The White House is represented by Bernard M. Shanley, the President's special counsel.

"I think we can get through in about three more meetings," Taft said. "But I am not at all sure that Durkin and Secretary Weeks, representatives can agree on all of the proposals.

"In that case, we will have to have the assistance of the President in working out an agreement. He has taken a very great personal interest in the mater."

The target is agreement on a dozen or more amendments which Smith and McConnell would immediately introduce in Congress and for which they would seek the support of their labor committees. Congressional leaders plan to seek action by Senate and House in 1954.

The committee trying to draft the changes is believed to have reached substantial agreement in the following areas of labor-management relations.

Increasing the National Labor Relations Board from five to seven members; allowing the AFL building trades unions to write special union shop contracts compelling workers to join the union after the seventh day on the job; permitting strikers to vote in representation elections even if they have been permanently replaced; and either extending the Taft-Hartley law's non-Communist oath provision to employers or dropping it altogether as ineffective.

Serious disagreement is reported in the highly critical area of secondary boycotts — union activity which involves pressure on a neutral employer to gain concessions from another employer.

Durkin was said to have taken a no-retreat position on a proposal by Weeks to tighten up the law further against picketing of a neutral employe.

Weeks was reported to have insisted that neutral employers be afforded complete legal protection against being caught in the middle of a labor dispute involving others. Durkin argued that no employe should be forced to cross a picket line, even though his employer was not directly involved in a dispute.

Freedom Urge Is Pitfall

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP)—The two pleasure-bent AWOL sailors, who were being held here for court martial proceedings, succumbed to their urge for freedom Wednesday and walked away from the base, the Navy said today.

The two Korean veterans, Charles H. Robinson, 21, Knoxville and Roy Lee Austin, 19, Wilson, Okla., slipped away from the sprawling Millington Naval Air Station where they were under "technical arrest."

Robinson and Austin went over the hill from the San Diego Navy Base and 13 days later surrendered to police in Rockwood, Tenn. Rockwood turned out to be a "paradise" for the two wandering gobs. Policeman Avert Billings befriended the pair and allowed them to leave jail and go out and enjoy themselves. All they had to do was return to their cell at night.

The Navy revealed today that Robinson and Austin slipped away late Wednesday. Neither had liberty cards as they were confined to the base. They were not brig prisoners, although they had to stand a muster every two hours and were available for various duties.

Their eventful spree started when they walked away from the San Diego Base June 1. Robinson and Austin hitch-hiked 3,000 miles to Knoxville, Tenn. After a visit in Knoxville, Robinson said, "we decided to give up and let the Navy take us back."

They gave up to police in Rockwood. Billings said he questioned Robinson and Austin and found "they were just typical American boys who had decided to take a trip home."

"So I unlocked the jail door at 9 a.m. and they reported back at nine each night to be locked up again." Billings added.

Robinson and Austin were quoted in Memphis as saying "we love Rockwood. It's the best town we've ever been in."

The Navy sent orders for the pair to take a bus to Memphis, where they showed up June 19. They were then put under "technical-arrest" and restricted to the base.

Nothing has been heard from the two boys since they left Wednesday.

sound dollar."

A top GOP leader said tentative plans called for this message to take the form of a letter to Martin or to Majority Leader Halleck (R-Ind), to be read to the House Monday morning.

Administration leaders said final strategy in the tense situation would not be decided until early Monday, however.

Eisenhower has staked his prestige on an almost unprecedented situation in the House. The tax is now due to expire Tuesday, but can be extended retroactively.

Weeks ago, the President proposed that the levy be extended for six months.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee fiercely opposing the extension, bottled it up in his committee and thwarted every effort by the administration to force action.

House leaders then prevailed upon the rules committee to snatch the bill from the ways and means committee and force it to the House floor.

The bill reported out by the rules committee is a proposal by Rep. Sadlak (R-Conn) exempting firms making less than $100,000 a year from the excess profits tax, and extending it for six more months.

Another Billion

the committee said.

After reviewing secret testimony on the "controversy" over a 143-wing or 120-wing Air Force goal by mid-1955, the committee said President Eisenhower is following a "sound and reasonable" policy in setting the lower level, subject to top-level review. A wing contains from 30 to 75 aircraft.

Then the committee made a further $210,000,000 cut in the new Air Force funds, already slashed five billion dollars by the new President.

It cut Eisenhower's Army requests by $689,000,000, and Navy figures by $398,280,000.

The action threatened to create bitter debate before the House reached a showdown vote late next week. Truman last night joined Air Force and congressional critics in labeling the cuts as short-sighted.

Here is the breakdown of the recommendations made by Truman, Eisenhower and the committee

TRUMAN
Army	$12,109,591,000
Navy	11,499,850,000
Air Force	16,078,000000
Sec. Defense	1,030,975,000
Misc	1,515,00
EISENHOWER
Army	$13,671,000,000
Navy	9,782,663,000
Air Force	11,288,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,029,625,000
Misc.	275,000
COMMITTEE
Army	$12,982,000,000
Navy	9,384,383,00
Air Force	11,048,000,000
Sec. Defense	1,019,500,000
Misc.	257,500

The Army sum is actually $90,000,000 more than recommended by Truman. But the committee said it includes about two billion dollars to cover Korean War expenses, which were put in the regular defense budget for the first time this year.

The total is $12,750,863,642 below last year's defense appropriations. Of this reduction over 10 billion was from the Air Force.

The committee said these new funds, plus holdover appropriations, would give the department $91,903,000,000 to spend, and said this is more than it could use in three years, for some items. The department actually plans to spend $43,200,000,000 next year, a 20 million dollar boost over 1953, the committee said.

City, State Tax Powers On Same Level, Suggested

BILOXI, Miss., June 27 (AP) — Mayor Clyde Fant of Shreveport, La., president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, said today that cities and towns should have the same taxing powers as the state Legislature.

Fant told the closing session of the Mississippi Municipal Association that the cities and towns should not have to "go hat in hand" to seek financial aid. Municipalities, he said, are "close enough to the people that if we did not use the taxing powers properly, then we would not be in office long."

Mayor Harvey Lee Morrison of Okolona was elected president of the organization, succeeding Mayor Harvey Lee Campbell of Brookhaven who was made a lifetime honorary member.

Mayor Allen Thompson of Jackson was elected vice president and George L. Sugg of Jackson was renamed manager.

Other speakers included state Attorney General J. P. Coleman, Mayor H. H. Dees of Atmore, Ala., president of the Alabama League of Municipalities and Mayor John Robinson of Winder, Ga., president of the Georgia Municipal Association.

Coleman said that "getting into public office is not a way of avoiding trouble." Municipal officers, as well as other officials, must be prepared to undergo criticism "whether you deserve it or not," he said.

Fant told delegates that he had helped fight for municipal aid in Louisiana through a division of state taxes "but basically I am against the states handing out revenues to the municipalities."

He described the pledge made to the Mississippi Municipal Association last night by Gov. Hugh White as "a courageous stand."

"Your battle has just started." Fant told the delegates. "The best way to lose it is to go home and say, 'The governor is on our side,' and do nothing yourselves."

The Mississippi governor last night outlined ways through which the state could share revenues with hard-pressed municipalities.

White said the cities and towns could share in the 34 million dollar biennial tax increases proposed for the school equalization program, or allocated general fund revenues now being diverted to the state-aid rural road program, or given a share of the state gasoline tax.

Lester Baskin Hearne of 904 McGuire, a resident of Monroe for 27 years, died in St. Francis Sanitarium after a 10 days illness.

Hearne, born in Jackson parish, was a member of the Stone Avenue Methodist church. He was also affiliated with two fraternal orders, Masonic of Sterlington and Knight Temple, here.

Federal Cotton Acreage Details Still Unsettled

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—A member of the American Farm Bureau Federation's cotton committee today said members still were far from agreement concerning federal cotton planting acreage allotments.

The committeeman, who declined use of his name, said still at issue were recommendations concerning allotments for the South and West.

The committee, representing 13 states, met to make recommendations relative to cotton acreage allotment. Secretary of Agriculture Benson recently announced 1954 would be an allotment year due to a surplus of cotton in the past five years.

Under the allotment plan a farmer must reduce the number of acres he plants in cotton to qualify for a federal subsidy. The proposed cuts would amount to as much as 50 per cent in some sections of the West.

The spokesman said the committee is acting in an industry advisory capacity and will present its conclusions to Congress.

States represented at the meeting were Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

received Rhee's reaction at Saturday's brief meeting.

Both Robertson and Rhee believed awaiting Washington reaction to Rhee's reply.

A United Nations source close to Robertson told newsmen that "if things go as well as they have so far" the special envoy may leave soon for Washington.

To the public, both sides have presented a picture of cordial relations. Rhee was host Saturday night to a dinner for Robertson and military and diplomatic officials. Friday night U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs gave a dinner for the President and Mrs. Rhee and other dignitaries.

The happy social scenes were in sharp contrast to the stern United Nations and U. S. reactions to Rhee's order last week which turned loose 27,000 anti-Red North Korean war prisoners from camps in South Korea.

The prisoner release by South Korean guards shattered immediate chances for the quick signing of an armistice.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today called on the U. N. to forego total military victory in Korea as a prelude to a peace without vengeance.

Hammarskjold broadcast (CBS) his ideas in his first major address on world affairs since taking over as U. N. secretary general from Trygve Lie. It was made to mark the signing of the U. N. Charter in San Francisco eight years ago yesterday.

The U. N. chief spoke against a background of demands from President Syngman Rhee for continued war to unite divided North and South Korea.

Without referring specifically to these demands, Hammarskjold warned that the U. N. Charter does not allow use of force to secure "victory in terms of land or power" but only for self-defense or to repel aggression.

Once this has been done, he declared, there is no provision for further punishment of the aggressor.

The Swedish diplomat said he was outlining a new approach to world affairs which would be opposed by those who believed "in the unconditional surrender of old wars."

Nevertheless, he said, it "is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives."

Hammarskjold admitted that, in order to put his new formula to work, "we will have to revise many of our inherited notions."

"The U. N. action in Korea," he declared, "marks the first attempt in history to meet aggression with unified force under an international standard. Parallel activity designed to seek a settlement was carried on within the council chambers with perseverance and a firm resolution to uphold the concepts of the charter.

"This approach is a new formula in the history of political conflicts, and its importance may well be underlined by the historians of the future.

"In exploring these new avenues of collective security we must adapt ourselves to accept such unfamiliar developments as a war which ends without total victory for any party, but only for a principle.

"Such a victory, although it may not be considered as satisfactory by those who still believe in the unconditional surrenders of old wars, is a full vindication of those brave men who have sacrificed their lives for this principle."

Bill Would Name Unit For Study Of Government

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Senate passage sent to President Eisenhower today a bill to create a new commission to study government reorganization.

Legislative action on the measure was completed with Senate acceptance of a House amendment eliminating a requirement that the two major political parties have equal representation on the 16-member body.

The new commission is patterned after one set up in 1947 under former President Herbert Hoover. It functioned for about two years and submitted recommendations, many since put into effect, for reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

A broader field of study is provided for the new commission, however. For one thing, it would be directed to look into federal activitie in competition with private enterprise.

It also would be empowered to make recommendations for changes in basic laws relating to federal activities, whereas the Hoover commission was concerned only with promoting efficiency and economy through reorganization of the existing federal set-up.

posed of a 112 members four each appointed by President Eisenhower, the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate. It is to report by Dec. 31, 1954.

1,000 Are Lost In Japan's Most Disastrous Flood

TOKYO, Sunday, June 28 (AP)—The rising toll of modern Japan's worst flood seemed certain to pass 1,000 today with more than 600,000 homeless and damage well in excess of 33 million dollars. More rain was forecast for the stricken southern island of Kyushu.

No U. S. casualties were reported and three big U. S. bases, all on high ground, escaped damage.

The latest national police count showed 252 dead, 703 missing and 725 injured. But many remote areas were cut off by the murky floodwaters and no word came from them.

Hundreds of American soldiers and airmen worked side by side with 1,000 Japanese police in around-the-clock mercy missions.

U. S. helicopters directed rescuers in rubber boats to persons marooned on housetops. U. S. authorities promised full use of ships, planes, engineers and other American resources.

Whole villages were engulfed and in one instance the entire populace of 488 was reported to have perished.

The entire northern half of Kyushu was threatened. The island is about half the size of South Carolina.

Police officials said the flood was "unprecedented" in modern history and was a heartbreaking disaster even in a land lashed by typhoons and repeated earthquakes.

Since Thursday, heavy rains have pounded the island. Black clouds hung overhead and Japanese weather officials ominously predicted more downpours.

The U. S. southwest command, the defense force for the area, declared Kyushu a disaster area. Quick aid was rushed in.

Army water purification units were sent to avert epidemics.

The drenching rainstorms and floods struck the island three weeks after a driving typhoon battered river dikes. The dikes still were being repaired in many places when the rains struck.

Railroad transportation was halted in spots. Roads crumbled beneath the floodwaters.

Confused ROKs

Reds would threaten to flank Allied-held Heartbreak Ridge. Heartbreak is a mile east of Mundung and about 30 miles northeast of Kumhwa.

U. S. advisors with the hard-pressed South Koreans on the East-Central Front said the Chinese Red push there had three possible explanations.

1. The Reds simply are out to teach a lesson to the South Koreans for saying they might try to drive north alone in event a truce was signed soon on terms leaving Korea divided.

2. The drive might have started out that way and the Reds then decided to exploit it when it made such startling progress. (They ripped more than five miles into Allied lines in the first phase two weeks ago and gained up to a mile and a quarter in the new attack Saturday.

3. The Reds are driving seriously for the Hwachon Reservoir in efforts either to seize it or gain a share of its power in any cease-fire settlement.

American officers told AP Correspondent Milo Farneti that the Red drive involved forward elements of six divisions.

The battle was being fought in two halves, on either side of the Pukhan. The gravest situation was on the east where South Korean withdrawals let the Reds swing forward, starting Friday night.

On the west bank, the South Koreans capped a wild battle raging since Friday by storming back up 1,500-foot Lookout Mountain Saturday afternoon and staying there. They had been pushed off three times in 18 hours but got it back the third time after a hand grenade action on the crest.

LEGAL FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, June 27 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today declared it is "ready to bring the legal fight against segregation down to the local level."

The declaration came in resolution form during the group's 44th annual convention and is part of the NAACP's fight to end racial segregation and discrimination by 1963, the centennial of the emancipation proclamation.

Famed Surgeon Is Dead

BOSTON, June 27 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, 73, a surgeon whose fame was worldwide, died today of a heart ailment he suffered six days after assisting in an operation on British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Death came to the thin, 5 foot 6 surgeon at New England Baptist HOSPITAL WHILE Hrsh hr tist Hospital while his wife and three doctors were at his bedside.

He was the founder and director of surgery of the Lahey Clinic, established in 1922, where hundreds of operations are performed yearly on persons ranging from the penniless to the world famous.

Dr. Lahey operated twice on President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua and last year was awarded the Nicaraguan Presidential Medal of Honor.

One of his more recent operations was performed May 23 on a 41-year-old Siamese twin from Holyoke, Mass. He successfully removed an abdominal tumor from Margaret Gibb after anesthetizing the other twin, Mary, as well.

In the June 10 bile duct operation on Eden Lahey served as assistant to Dr. Richard B. Cattell of the Lahey Clinic staff.

It was an unusual role for Dr. Lahey, who also was surgeon in chief of both the Deaconness Hospital and the New England Baptist Hospital.

He was the second noted Boston surgeon to die this month. Dr. M[illegible] Smith-Pete[illegible], world-famous orthopedic surgeon, died on June 16.

Federal Deficit

ceipts fall under expectations. That means a June 30 deficit of about 8½ billion dollars, give or take a hundred million or so depending on how things go in the last few days of the fiscal year.

About the coming 1954 fiscal year beginning July 1, the administration official said:

1. If President Eisenhower's tax program is approved by Congress the government will go in the red by an estimated $5,600,000,000.

2. The Treasury plans to announce its first borrowing plan for fiscal 1954 about the middle of next week.

3. Because tax receipts are light in the first half of the fiscal year July through December and heavy in the last half, the Treasury will need to borrow in the next six months somewhere between six and nine billion dollars to tide it over until the heavy spring tax receipt time.

Along with the blood derivative 30,000 hypodermic needles and 15,000 glass syringes are being shipped here from Atlanta. Inoculations get underway next Tuesday at 18 schools in the county.

More than 100 Montgomery doctors, along with the medical staff at nearby Maxwell Air Force Base have volunteered their services in the first such attempt ever made to stop a polio outbreak.

Groups in Sioux City, Ia., and Houston, Tex., were given gamma globulin and gelatin in test shots last year, but this will be the first time the precious serum has been used as a control measure, State Health Officer D. G. Gill said.

Two more infantile paralysis cases were reported today, bringing the county score to 75 with the polio "season" just reaching the halfway mark. Three Montgomery County children have died from the disease.

Callender Field Appropriation Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Rep. Hebert (D-La) said today an appropriation of $16,027,000 for Alvin Callender Field at New Orleans is included in a bill approved by the House Appropriations Committee.

Callender Field, he said, is to become a training base for reserves of all services.

"This is the biggest project to come to New Orleans since the Algiers Naval Base was located there 50 years ago," he told a reporter.

The bill is to be up for debate in the House Tuesday.

Hebert said the funds are included in a 30 million dollar marine construction item. The eventual cost of the base, he said, will be above 50 million dollars.

Of the total in the bill, he said, $3,400,000 would be for lengthening present runways to 8,000 feet, $3,078,900 for hangers, $1,726,600 for utilities, $178,500 for fuel storage facilities, $346,000 for supply buildings and $286,000 for public works facilities.

ATHENS, June 27 (AP)—Greece soon may add 10,000 men to her present army of 143,000 men in order to take full advantage of U. S. aid. The defense minister, Panayoti Canellopoulos, said the move is being considered "because of the importance and extent of military equipment and supplies that are being given Greece by America" which otherwise might be lost.

Treasury Chief Heads British

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Treasury Chief Richard A. Butler, a shy, brilliant ex-professer called Rab, took charge of the British government today.

He normally is the No. 3 man as chancellor of the Exchequer in Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill's Cabinet.

But now both Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Nos. 1 and 2, are incapacitated—under rest and medical care.

Fifty-year-old Rab, touted as Churchill's heir-apparent ever since illness felled Eden, took over the reins from the Prime Minister this morning with typical machine-like efficiency.

Butler, who for a long time has been considered the theoretician of the Churchill government, simply took charge of the papers streaming into his neighbor's house.

Buter lives at No. 11 Downing Street, Churchill at No. 10.

Butler will preside over Cabinet meetings, referring only top foreign policy matters to Churchill for final decision. The Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel will await Churchill's recovery.

Rab will share responsibility for major policy statements in Parliament with Capt. Harry Crookshank, leader of the House of Commons.

Butler lives at No. 11 Downing before. Last September, he was given charge while Churchill and Eden were out of the country.

Butler's day-by-day job in the Cabinet is the same post Churchill held a long time back. As chancellor Butler is economic and financial boss of this hard-pressed nation.

Soon after the Churchill government came to power in November, 1951, Butler introduced a stern economic regime that won him respect but not much popularity.

He cut government expenditures, restricted credit to block inflation and painstakingly built up the country's dollar-gold reserves.

The Conservatives claim Butler rescued Britain from bankruptcy and strengthened Britain's economic position in the world.

Butler become the "golden boy" of the government last April when he introduced a budget that won him wide popular acclaim. His budget gave Britons their first reduction in income tax since the war, slashed the purchase tax on things like cars and refrigerators, and cut the unpopular levy on some sports events.

Butler gambled that by putting more consumer goods within John Bull's reach, he could make him work harder and thus boost national production.

Butler's popular budget catapulted him into the limelight and established him as a likely successor to Churchill. His position was reinforced shortly afterward when Eden, who is seven years his senior, became seriously ill and underwent a series of operations. Eden is in Boston recuperating from a bile duct operation and may be out of public life for several more months.

Butler has been the leader of the progressives within the Conservative party. After the Conservatives crushing defeat in 45, he set out to "wrest the initiative in the realm of political ideas" from the Socialists. The changes he introduced in social policy are credited with giving Churchill the margin of votes he needed for victory in 1951.

Moscow To Free More Than 600 Austrian POWs

VIENNA, Austria, June 27 (AP) — Eight years after the war Moscow has decided to release more than 600 Austrian prisoners of war and civilians held in the Soviet Union, the Austrian government announced today.

The government said it had been informed of the release by Dr. Norbert Bischof, Austrian ambassador in the Soviet Union, who was handed a note by the Soviet Foreign Ministry last night.

The first group will be freed at the Austrian town of Wiener Neustadt in the Soviet zone on July 1, the announcement said.

Though the United States, France, and Great Britain released all their prisoners of war years ago, about 1,000 Austrians have been held in Soviet Russia.

County Judge Resigns Post

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 27 —UP—Crittenden County Judge W. K. Ingram announced he is resigning July 1 in order to devote more time to his "private affairs."

Gov. Francis Cherry immediately announced the appointment of A. E. Miller of Terrell to fill out Ingram's unexpired term. Ingram, 41, is serving his third term as county judge.

He operates the W. K. Ingram Construction Co. in West Memphis and is president of the politically-powerful Arkansas County Judges Association which has been feuding with the State Highway Commission over the question of counties and local governments providing rights-of-way to obtain new state road commission.

Ingram was asked if his dispute with the commission had anything to do with his resignation.

"Maybe it did," he replied.

Merchants To Give Customer New Automobile

"The retail merchants division of the Monroe - West Monroe Chamber of Commerce will initiate a special automobile-award promotion on July 15," according to David C. Silverstein, chairman of the group, "with a 1953 Chevrolet being given to some person on August 22nd."

Chamber officials revealed that the registration promotion would require "nothing to be bought, no obligation to the customer," with only registration in person being the only pre-requisite.

Shoppers may register once on each Wednesday and Saturday beginning on July 15, and continuing until Saturday, August 22.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Jim Williams revealed that a group of 30 business firms were sponsoring the promotion.

Participating firms where shoppers may register include: Sear's, Howard Brothers Jewelers, Palace, Brice's Super Market, Finks, Woman's Shop, Gays, Montgomery-Ward, Style Shop, Piggly-Wiggly, York, Ruth Shop, Keene Shoe Store, R & A Jewelers, D. Masur & Sons, J. C. Penney, Peacocks, Fields, Lee - Rogers Chevrolet; Holloway & Thompson, Silverstein's, Roxyanna, Dixie Shop, Ferd Levi, Renfro & Son, Dew Music Co., Sherwin-Williams Paint Company, P. N. Edwards Esso - Station, Louisville Pharmacy, Kelso's, Grayson's and D & E Furniture Company.

The automobile will be displayed on various thoroughfares of Monroe, through the courtesy of Lee-Rogers Chevrolet company.

Shoppers may conveniently register in the above listed firms, where registration tables will be set up with adjacent depository boxes.

This marks the initial "grand-award" type promotion entered into by the retail merchants division this year, Chamber officials stated.

"Signs will be placed in the show-windows and inside of these participating firms," Chairman Silverstein said, "to act as reminders to shoppers on each Wednesday and Saturday, so that they may register regularly."

"The automobile will be awarded at a special drawing on Saturday, August 22, at the American Legion Stadium," according to Jim Williams, "and, the lucky winner will not have to be present to win."

Total enrollment for the summer session at Northeast State has reached 445, an increase of 106 over last summer's enrollment, according to B. S. Hamner, registrar. Of the 445 students enrolled at Northeast this summer, 285 of them are women and 160 men. The almost - double comparison of women students to men is accounted for in that many of the distaff side are in - service teachers, quite a number of whom are receiving teacher certification for Louisiana during the nine - week session.

Veterans enrolled at the college this summer include 21 from the Korean war and 26 who served during World War II.

Three foreign students matriculated at Northeast, representing Venezuela, Honduras and China.

Examiner Okays Radio Stock Sale To State Group

WASHINGTON, (AP)— A communications commissioner examiner ruled today it was no violation of commission rules for owners and employes of the International Broadcasting Corp., Shreveport, La., to purchase stock in a Lufkin, Texas, Radio station.

The question arose at a hearing conference before Examiner Basil P. Cooper on conflicting applications by international and by KTBS, Inc., for authority to operate a television station on channel 3 at Shreveport.

Russell Rowell, attorney for KTBS, contended, in presenting points on which he will rely during the hearing, that International had violated rules of the commission.

Pressed by William Dempsey, attorney for International, for details Rowell said commission records showed that owners of station KTRE, Lufkin, had sold sufficient stock to lose control and that some of the stock had been purchased by four persons connected with International.

Dempsey protested that while sale might have been a violation of rules it was no violation to purchase stock and that furthermore the four persons in question had not acquired control of KTRE.

Cooper upheld Dempsey, ruling that the purchase did not violate commission rules.

Rowell said he objected to the ruling and later during the hearing would "offer proof."

Rowell said he also would offer evidence that International had violated the National Labor Relations Act. He said he would offer a decision by the NLRB in support of his contention.

Rowell also contended that a monopoly exists in the Shreveport-Monroe area since International, operator of radio station KWKH, is affiliated with The Shreveport Times and The Monroe Morning World and The News-Star.

Asked by Dempsey if he was specifically charging violation of anti-trust laws, Rowell said he was not but wanted to indicate it would not be in the public interest "to add further to the concentration of control now in the hands of International and its affiliated corporations" by granting International's TV application.

Today's conference was one of a series involving attorneys for both sides, attorneys for the commission staff and Cooper in an effort to hold testimony and presentation of evidence to a minimum. The parties have agreed to exchange programming exhibits on July 24 and will have another conference Aug. 3. Presentation of witnesses will start early in August under present plans.

Under commission rules the parties are to submit evidence on background and experience which would qualify them to operate a TV station, information on management and operation plans and information on programming.

Hollywood Clan Is Treated To Glamor Wedding

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 27 (AP)—A doll-like movie star bride and a handsome obstetrician today gave Hollywood a wedding that would be hard to duplicate on film.

Ann Blyth, looking radiantly beautiful, became the bride of Dr. James V. McNulty at St. Charles Borromeo Church in the San Fernando Valley. It was the film capital's most glamorous wedding in years.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles, wearing red and gold vestments of his high church office, read the ancient marriage liturgy of the Roman Catholic church.

Both the 24-year-old actress and her 35-year-old husband voiced the traditional "I do" in firm tones.

After the cardinal finished the marriage ceremony, he read a personal message of congratulation from Pope Pius XII.

The Rev. Harry Mead, pastor of St. Charles, celebrated the nuptial mass. A male choir sang throughout the hour-long ceremony, mixing its selections among sixth century Gregorian chants and more recent English hymns.

An orderly crowd of 2,000 fans lined the street outside the church. Early arrivals were waiting an hour before the ceremony began.

The crowd cheered as Dr. McNulty arrived with his brother and best man, singer Dennis Day. Then a shout went up when the bride arrived.

Inside 500 guests nearly filled the church. Among them were Irene Dunne, Piper Laurie, who came with producer Leonard Goldstein; Terry Moore, who came with Dick Clayton, an old boy friend of the bride; Edmund Gwenn, Jerry Colonna and Jeanne Crain.

But the setworkers and crew members, all friends of the bride, far outnumbered the celebrities.

More than a score of priests and monsignori were in the sanctuary.

The McNulty clan, 28 strong, filled many front pews. Three of the doctor's brothers were ushers. Other ushers were doctor friends.

The bride wore a long-sleeved gown of white mousseline with heirloom lace forming a deep yoke. Her veil billowed from under a Mary Queen of Scots cap of seed pearls. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley, also the floral decor of the church.

She entered on the arm of her uncle, Patrick Francis Tobin. Her maid of honor was her cousin, Betty Lynch. Bridesmaids were actresses Joan Leslie, Jane Withers and Betty Lynn. Alice Krasiva, Ann's movie stand-in, was also a bridesmaid.

After the nuptial mass Ann arose from her kneeling bench and walked over and knelt for a moment before a statue of the Blessed Virgin. She then returned and took her husband's arm for the procession out of the church.

Connelly said today that Truman would take no part in New York City's mayoralty election in November.

Balch said he and Truman talked "mainly about my job of political organization"

Truman had said earlier he would be available for service to the Democratic party in future general elections.

Truman came here today for a short visit during which he plans to do some sightseeing with his daughter, Margaret, as his guide.

Oil Leaders May Appear In Hearing On Price Increases

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Representatives of oil producers, refiners and marketers are expected to be among witnesses appearing before the House Commerce Committee in its investigation, opening July 1, of recent boosts in gasoline and oil prices.

Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) says the committee wants to develop "facts or conditions with reference to such price increases," explaining that the committee has received many protests about increases in gasoline prices, particularly on the Eastern Seaboard.

Most major oil companies recently raised crude oil prices about 25 cents a barrel.

Budapest Night Clubs Spy Dens

(Editor's Note: This is another story by Richard O'Regan, the Associated Press Bureau Chief in Vienna., just back from a visit behind the Iron Curtain in Budapest.)

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—In Budapest Pipacs night club, crowded with girls who are police spies and waiters who are informers, an agent of the secret police recently was found dead in a washroom.

He had been stabbed eight times. The newspapers of the Communist regime did not mention it. They never report crimes of passion because nobody can die in the "happy Hungarian peoples democracy." The management claimed it was suicide, without explaining how that was possible.

Western diplomats in Budapest say there is little doubt that 90 per cent of Hungary's nine million people would wreak similar vengeance if they had a good chance of action against their Communist rulers and the police who keep them in power.

But there is no organized resistance. There is only a smouldering resentment that finds its expression in negligence, inefficiency, minor corruption, swindling and theft, and in criticism when it is safe to express it.

In a busy market, a woman owning one of the few remaining private stalls, asked this correspondent:

"An American, yes? When are you coming to liberate us". A woman trying to peddle a pair of shoes sent by a relative in America, asked the same.

On Budapest's Vaci Utca, once its most fashionable street, the Russians have a big information center and book store. Few people stopped to look.

But from morning until night outside the American legation on a quiet square, crowds of men and women gathered before the windows to read President Eisenhower's April 16 speech calling for general world peace and evidence of Soviet intentions.

Within hours of the recent Berlin riots, word had spread throughout the city. Visibly concerned, Communist officials were overheard asking each other anxiously: "Any news from Berlin?"

Fear of similar outbursts causes the regime to seal off all streets approaching Communist party headquarters on Akademia Utca. This is why police guard the approaches to the villas of the top Communist aristocracy.

And this is why the Russians maintain armed patrols along their telephone lines from Vienna to Moscow and keep their 25,000 troops out of sight lest their appearance should spark the latent hate against them.

Even the Communist party newspaper Szabad Nep has armed guards outside.

Diplomats say the hardships of communism have not gone so far in Hungary as they have in some other satellite states.

For the time being, it appears the Hungarians express their resentment in subtle forms.

Farmers ignore warnings to weed their crops. Workers produce shoddy goods.

A few cigarettes to a clerk in a state grocery store will insure you get butter and meat when there is insufficient to go around. Newspapers complain that milk is watered.

Petty thievery from state undertakings is reported almost daily, and wage swindling brought heavy sentences to the leaders of a cooperative while correspondents were in Hungary.

The newspaper Szab Ad Ifjusag complained that functionaries of the Disz youth organization "take sums of money and 'forget' to refund them."

The same newspaper said the "infiltration of hostile elements in the Disz leadership is furthered by the frequent change and unhealthy fluctuation of secretaries and leadership members." This indicates that even youths who may get major benefits from communism grow fed up and quit.

Not even the secret police is free from purges and the regime of terror. It is said here that its former chief, Lt. Gen. Gabor Peter, had no knowledge of his impending arrest when he was summoned from his home to a recent early morning interview with Premier Matyas Rakosi. Reportedly, he has been shot.

Three Persons Killed In Train-Car Crash

WICHITA, Kan., June 27—UP—A Rock Island Rocket passenger train and a gasoline transport truck collided at a grade crossing Saturday, killing the truck driver and the engineer and fireman of the train.

The dead were not identified immediately.

First reports said the train ran for a mile and a half before it was stopped. Fire spread to adjoining wheat fields.

The collision occurred at the north city limits of Wichita.

DEATH REPORT

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 27 — UP—Rapides parish coroner Dr. W. L. Murrell said Saturday that a heart attack caused the death of a 52-year-old Alexandria man who collapsed after his truck crashed into the railing of a bridge near Glenmora.

State police said that Charles Clark Delaney got out of the truck after the collision, walked a few steps and then fell dead. Police said Delaney did not appear to be injured from the wreck.

Parking Meters Fall Before Woman Driver

NEW ORLEANS, June 26—UP—Four sturdy parking meters succumbed here Friday to the prowess of a 21-year-old woman driver.

Officers Arnold Risey and Charles Trapani — who witnessed the event—said a rented car driven by Carol Christman of New Orleans veered around a corner in a left turn with tires screeching, jumped the sidewalk, dodged in between a car and building, uprooted two parking meters, tore the tops off two others, and came to rest after a collision with a tree.

The woman told the officers, "The brakes gave out."

Officer Risey said, however, "I tried the brakes and they appeared all right to me."

The woman was booked with reckless driving, causing damage to city property and driving without an operator's permit.

Bank Shortage Case Filing Date Extended

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 27—UP—The government was given 20 extra days Friday in which to file briefs in a case involving a shortage of $150,000 at the Bank of Dierks.

Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley granted the extra time because of the illness of a United States district attorney.

Two former employes of the small bank, Opal Simmington and Thomas F. Westbrook, are charged with embezzlement and conspiracy. The defense claims indictments against the two are insufficient. The government a few weeks ago dismissed seven counts of a nine-count indictment.

The defense has filed a motion to quash the two other counts.

BIG BURYING JOB

NEW YORK, June 27—UP—Ten men using a reinforced stretcher Saturday removed the body of a 720-pound woman who died of a heart attack from her second-floor apartment. Mrs. Florence Shine, 43, died Friday night but an ambulance crew and a police emergency squad were unable to carry her from the building.

Northeast State Summer Enrollment Record 106

Total enrollment for the summer session at Northeast State has reached 445, an increase of 106 over last summer's enrollment, according to B. S. Hamner, registrar. Of the 445 students enrolled at Northeast this summer, 285 of them are women and 160 men. The almost - double comparison of women students to men is accounted for in that many of the distaff side are in - service teachers, quite a number of whom are receiving teacher certification for Louisiana during the nine - week session.

Veterans enrolled at the college this summer include 21 from the Korean war and 26 who served during World War II.

Three foreign students matriculated at Northeast, representing Venezuela, Honduras and China.

In a breakdown report on enrollment distributed this week the following parishes are represented at Northeast this summer:

Caddo, Caldwell, Catahoula, Concordia, East Carroll, Evangeline, Franklin, Jackson, La Salle, Lincoln, Madison, Morehouse, Ouachita Rapides, Richland, Sabine, Union, Webster, West Carroll and Winn.

Examiner Okays Radio Stock Sale To State Group

WASHINGTON, (UP)— A communications commissioner examiner ruled today it was no violation of commission rules for owners and employes of the International Broadcasting Corp., Shreveport, La., to purchase stock in a Lufkin, Texas, Radio station.

The question arose at a hearing conference before Examiner Basil P. Cooper on conflicting applications by international and by KTBS, Inc., for authority to operate a television station on channel 3 at Shreveport.

Russell Rowell, attorney for KTBS, contended, in presenting points on which he will rely during the hearing, that International had violated rules of the commission.

Pressed by William Dempsey, attorney for International, for details Rowell said commission records showed that owners of station KTRE, Lufkin, had sold sufficient stock to lose control and that some of the stock had been purchased by four persons connected with International.

Dempsey protested that while sale might have been a violation of rules it was no violation to purchase stock and that furthermore the four persons in question had not acquired control of KTRE.

Cooper upheld Dempsey, ruling that the purchase did not violate commission rules.

Rowell said he objected to the ruling and later during the hearing would "offer proof."

Rowell said he also would offer evidence that International had violated the National Labor Relations Act. He said he would offer a decision by the NLRB in support of his contention.

Rowell also contended that a monopoly exists in the Shreveport-Monroe area since International, operator of radio station KWKH, is affiliated with The Shreveport Times and The Monroe Morning World and The News-Star.

Asked by Dempsey if he was specifically charging violation of anti-trust laws, Rowell said he was not but wanted to indicate it would not be in the public interest "to add further to the concentration of control now in the hands of International and its affiliated corporations" by granting International's TV application.

Today's conference was one of a series involving attorneys for both sides, attorneys for the commission staff and Cooper in an effort to hold testimony and presentation of evidence to a minimum. The parties have agreed to exchange programming exhibits on July 24 and will have another conference Aug. 3. Presentation of witnesses will start early in August under present plans.

Under commission rules the parties are to submit evidence on background and experience which would qualify them to operate a TV station, information on management and operation plans and information on programming.

Hollywood Clan Is Treated To Glamor Wedding

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 27 (UP)—A doll-like movie star bride and a handsome obstetrician today gave Hollywood a wedding that would be hard to duplicate on film.

Ann Blyth, looking radiantly beautiful, became the bride of Dr. James V. McNulty at St. Charles Borromeo Church in the San Fernando Valley. It was the film capital's most glamorous wedding in years.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles, wearing red and gold vestments of his high church office, read the ancient marriage liturgy of the Roman Catholic church.

Both the 24-year-old actress and her 35-year-old husband voiced the traditional "I do" in firm tones.

After the cardinal finished the marriage ceremony, he read a personal message of congratulation from Pope Pius XII.

The Rev. Harry Mead, pastor of St. Charles, celebrated the nuptial mass. A male choir sang throughout the hour-long ceremony, mixing its selections among sixth century Gregorian chants and more recent English hymns.

An orderly crowd of 2,000 fans lined the street outside the church. Early arrivals were waiting an hour before the ceremony began.

The crowd cheered as Dr. McNulty arrived with his brother and best man, singer Dennis Day. Then a shout went up when the bride arrived.

Inside 500 guests nearly filled the church. Among them were Irene Dunne, Piper Laurie, who came with producer Leonard Goldstein; Terry Moore, who came with Dick Clayton, an old boy friend of the bride; Edmund Gwenn, Jerry Colonna and Jeanne Crain.

But the setworkers and crew members, all friends of the bride, far outnumbered the celebrities.

More than a score of priests and monsignori were in the sanctuary.

The McNulty clan, 28 strong, filled many front pews. Three of the doctor's brothers were ushers. Other ushers were doctor friends.

The bride wore a long-sleeved gown of white mousseline with heirloom lace forming a deep yoke. Her veil billowed from under a Mary Queen of Scots cap of seed pearls. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley, also the floral decor of the church.

She entered on the arm of her uncle, Patrick Francis Tobin. Her maid of honor was her cousin, Betty Lynch. Bridesmaids were actresses Joan Leslie, Jane Withers and Betty Lynn. Alice Krasiva, Ann's movie stand-in, was also a bridesmaid.

After the nuptial mass Ann arose from her kneeling bench and walked over and knelt for a moment before a statue of the Blessed Virgin. She then returned and took her husband's arm for the procession out of the church.

Moscow To Free More Than 600 Austrian POWs

VIENNA, Austria, June 27 (UP) — Eight years after the war Moscow has decided to release more than 600 Austrian prisoners of war and civilians held in the Soviet Union, the Austrian government announced today.

The government said it had been informed of the release by Dr. Norbert Bischof, Austrian ambassador in the Soviet Union, who was handed a note by the Soviet Foreign Ministry last night.

The first group will be freed at the Austrian town of Wiener Neustadt in the Soviet zone on July 1, the announcement said.

Though the United States, France, and Great Britain released all their prisoners of war years ago, about 1,000 Austrians have been held in Soviet Russia.

County Judge Resigns Post

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 27 —UP—Crittenden County Judge W. K. Ingram announced he is resigning July 1 in order to devote more time to his "private affairs."

Gov. Francis Cherry immediately announced the appointment of A. E. Miller of Terrell to fill out Ingram's unexpired term. Ingram, 41, is serving his third term as county judge.

He operates the W. K. Ingram Construction Co. in West Memphis and is president of the politically-powerful Arkansas County Judges Association which has been feuding with the State Highway Commission over the question of counties and local governments providing rights-of-way to obtain new state road commission.

Ingram was asked if his dispute with the commission had anything to do with his resignation.

"Maybe it did," he replied.

Merchants To Give Customer New Automobile

"The retail merchants division of the Monroe - West Monroe Chamber of Commerce will initiate a special automobile-award promotion on July 15," according to David C. Silverstein, chairman of the group, "with a 1953 Chevrolet being given to some person on August 22nd."

Chamber officials revealed that the registration promotion would require "nothing to be bought, no obligation to the customer," with only registration in person being the only pre-requisite.

Shoppers may register once on each Wednesday and Saturday beginning on July 15, and continuing until Saturday, August 22.

Chamber of Commerce secretary Jim Williams revealed that a group of 30 business firms were sponsoring the promotion.

Participating firms where shoppers may register include: Sear's, Howard Brothers Jewelers, Palace, Brice's Super Market, Finks, Woman's Shop, Gays, Montgomery-Ward, Style Shop, Piggly-Wiggly, York, Ruth Shop, Keene Shoe Store, R & A Jewelers, D. Masur & Sons, J. C. Penney, Peacocks, Fields, Lee - Rogers Chevrolet; Holloway & Thompson, Silverstein's, Roxyanna, Dixie Shop, Ferd Levi, Renfro & Son, Dew Music Co., Sherwin-Williams Paint Company, P. N. Edwards Esso - Station, Louisville Pharmacy, Kelso's, Grayson's and D & E Furniture Company.

The automobile will be displayed on various thoroughfares of Monroe, through the courtesy of Lee-Rogers Chevrolet company.

Shoppers may conveniently register in the above listed firms, where registration tables will be set up with adjacent depository boxes.

This marks the initial "grand-award" type promotion entered into by the retail merchants division this year, Chamber officials stated.

"Signs will be placed in the show-windows and inside of these participating firms," Chairman Silverstein said, "to act as reminders to shoppers on each Wednesday and Saturday, so that they may register regularly."

"The automobile will be awarded at a special drawing on Saturday, August 22, at the American Legion Stadium," according to Jim Williams, "and, the lucky winner will not have to be present to win."

Budapest Night Clubs Spy Dens

(Editor's Note: This is another story by Richard O'Regan, the Associated Press Bureau Chief in Vienna., just back from a visit behind the Iron Curtain in Budapest.)

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—In Budapest Pipacs night club, crowded with girls who are police spies and waiters who are informers, an agent of the secret police recently was found dead in a washroom.

He had been stabbed eight times. The newspapers of the Communist regime did not mention it. They never report crimes of passion because nobody can die in the "happy Hungarian peoples democracy." The management claimed it was suicide, without explaining how that was possible.

Western diplomats in Budapest say there is little doubt that 90 per cent of Hungary's nine million people would wreak similar vengeance if they had a good chance of action against their Communist rulers and the police who keep them in power.

But there is no organized resistance. There is only a smouldering resentment that finds its expression in negligence, inefficiency, minor corruption, swindling and theft, and in criticism when it is safe to express it.

In a busy market, a woman owning one of the few remaining private stalls, asked this correspondent:

"An American, yes? When are you coming to liberate us". A woman trying to peddle a pair of shoes sent by a relative in America, asked the same.

On Budapest's Vaci Utca, once its most fashionable street, the Russians have a big information center and book store. Few people stopped to look.

But from morning until night outside the American legation on a quiet square, crowds of men and women gathered before the windows to read President Eisenhower's April 16 speech calling for general world peace and evidence of Soviet intentions.

Within hours of the recent Berlin riots, word had spread throughout the city. Visibly concerned, Communist officials were overheard asking each other anxiously: "Any news from Berlin?"

Fear of similar outbursts causes the regime to seal off all streets approaching Communist party headquarters on Akademia Utca. This is why police guard the approaches to the villas of the top Communist aristocracy.

And this is why the Russians maintain armed patrols along their telephone lines from Vienna to Moscow and keep their 25,000 troops out of sight lest their appearance should spark the latent hate against them.

Even the Communist party newspaper Szabad Nep has armed guards outside.

Diplomats say the hardships of communism have not gone so far in Hungary as they have in some other satellite states.

For the time being, it appears the Hungarians express their resentment in subtle forms.

Farmers ignore warnings to weed their crops. Workers produce shoddy goods.

A few cigarettes to a clerk in a state grocery store will insure you get butter and meat when there is insufficient to go around. Newspapers complain that milk is watered.

Petty thievery from state undertakings is reported almost daily, and wage swindling brought heavy sentences to the leaders of a co-operative while correspondents were in Hungary.

The newspaper Szab Ad Ifjusag complained that functionaries of the Disz youth organization "take sums of money and 'forget' to refund them."

The same newspaper said the "infiltration of hostile elements in the Disz leadership is furthered by the frequent change and unhealthy fluctuation of secretaries and leadership members." This indicates that even youths who may get major benefits from communism grow fed up and quit.

Not even the secret police is free from purges and the regime of terror. It is said here that its former chief, Lt. Gen. Gabor Peter, had no knowledge of his impending arrest when he was summoned from his home to a recent early morning interview with Premier Matyas Rakosi. Reportedly, he has been shot.

Parking Meters Fall Before Woman Driver

NEW ORLEANS, June 26—UP—Four sturdy parking meters succumbed here Friday to the prowess of a 21-year-old woman driver.

Officers Arnold Risey and Charles Trapani — who witnessed the event—said a rented car driven by Carol Christman of New Orleans veered around a corner in a left turn with tires screeching, jumped the sidewalk, dodged in between a car and building, uprooted two parking meters, tore the tops off two others, and came to rest after a collision with a tree.

The woman told the officers, "The brakes gave out."

Officer Risey said, however, "I tried the brakes and they appeared all right to me."

The woman was booked with reckless driving, causing damage to city property and driving without an operator's permit.

Three Persons Killed In Train-Car Crash

WICHITA, Kan., June 27—UP—A Rock Island Rocket passenger train and a gasoline transport truck collided at a grade crossing Saturday, killing the truck driver and the engineer and fireman of the train.

The dead were not identified immediately.

First reports said the train ran for a mile and a half before it was stopped. Fire spread to adjoining wheat fields.

The collision occurred at the north city limits of Wichita.

DEATH REPORT

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 27 — UP—Rapides parish coroner Dr. W. L. Murrell said Saturday that a heart attack caused the death of a 52-year-old Alexandria man who collapsed after his truck crashed into the railing of a bridge near [illegible].

State police said that Charles Clark Delaney got out of the truck after the collision, walked a few steps and then fell dead. Police said Delaney did not appear to be injured from the wreck.

Bank Shortage Case Filing Date Extended

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 27—UP—The government was given 20 extra days Friday in which to file briefs in a case involving a shortage of $150,000 at the Bank of Dierks.

Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley granted the extra time because of the illness of a United States district attorney.

Two former employes of the small bank, Opal Simmington and Thomas F. Westbrook, are charged with embezzlement and conspiracy. The defense claims indictments against the two are insufficient. The government a few weeks ago dismissed seven counts of a nine-count indictment.

The defense has filed a motion to quash the two other counts.

BIG BURYING JOB

NEW YORK, June 27—UP—Ten men using a reinforced stretcher Saturday removed the body of a 720-pound woman who died of a heart attack from her second-floor apartment. Mrs. Florence Shine, 43, died Friday night but an ambulance crew and a police emergency squad were unable to carry her from the building.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Great Days To Be Over 40 If You'll Eat As You Should

Good protein consumption is important to you. Maybe you'll need some concentrated vitamin capsules. Ask your doctor.

It's good news today for the "after forty" girls and boys in many ways. In the first place they are not classified as old but thought of as mere kids when compared to estimates of the past.

There was also a theory not long ago that from middle age on much less food should be eaten and that meat should be cut low in the diet. This was a sort of tea and toast era which left most men and women of sixty deficient in iron and protein and calcium, with premature aging and an increased susceptibility to chronic diseases.

Thanks to the studies of nutritionists and biochemists, it is now recognized that food is just as important in the last forty years of life as it was earlier. While it is true that the calorie requirements are less because of decreased activity, and that fats should be cut low, the high grade maintenance foods such as proteins and foods which are rich in vitamins and minerals are even more essential.

Protein is the chief building material of the body. Eighteen per cent of total body weight is pure protein. Laboratory experiments have indicated that the aging process is speeded up unless there is an adequate amount of protein in the diet, not below the minimum of one gram per kilogram of body weight. Calories should be balanced to energy needs and the intake of vitamins and minerals should be high.

Nutritionists feel that we should get as many vitamins and minerals as possible through the food we eat. However many of them advise reinforcement with vitamin pills. Some persons have chronic disorders which make it difficult to obtain a sufficient vitamin and mineral intake while some do not seem to utilize these as well as others. Some people have a tendency to chronic diseases which respond to larger vitamin intake than it is possible to get through food. Then too there are the losses which occur in storage and shipping and cooking.

Many men and women have missing teeth at middle age or later and fail to replace them with dentures. This is a mistake not only because of facial contour and appearance but because of the demands of good nutrition. Without teeth it is impossible to eat many of the foods which are essential to your best health. If for some reason it is impossible to have dentures, then the older person should have meat ground and vegetables sieved.

These are the fine days for the after forty individual!

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 61 "Watchwords of Science for Youth After Forty," send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pastor Arrested In Church, Tells Of Difficulties

GRETNA, La., June 27—UP—A Negro disciple of a Baptist preacher charged with disturbing the peace said, "We were down on our knees praying, and then we sang awhile—and then the law came and said, 'Boys, you gotta' go.' "

The testimony came out at a court hearing in New Orleans involving a squabble over the pastorship of the Sunrise Baptist church here by two Negro ministers.

The Rev. Samuel Williams and three of his disciples were charged with disturbing the peace when they tried to hold services at the church on the same night another faction, led by the Rev. Samuel Bennett, was holding services.

Bennett founded the church but, after an illness in 1952, the congregation elected Williams and re-elected him this year. Williams said that the election by-laws make him the legal shepherd of the flock.

Williams complained in court that he had difficulty getting in the church on numerous occasions because Bennett kept changing the lock on the front door.

He said he "didn't understand the election" and that, as the church founder, he is still its legal pastor.

Bennett countered that on the night in question Williams entered the church with three persons, and another "drunk man who later left" and broke up his services. He said the majortiy of the flock was on his side.

Judge L. Julian Samuel, who listened to the testimony for an hour, ruled that Williams was legally guilty, but acquitted him and his disciples because they were trying to be peaceful. He warned them against any further disturbance.

The opposing parties then departed—by separate isles.

Truman Challenges Eisenhower's Defense Cuts

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman challenged the Eisenhower administration's defense budget cuts tonight and said "those who talk about our defense program being too big may be letting their pocketbooks obscure their judgment."

Asserting it is only natural to wish for lower taxes, the former President said:

"But I warn you soberly and plainly: do not be misled by the desire for lower taxes into cutting corners on our national security.

"Increasing the risk of World War III means increasing the risk of atom bombs on our own homes."

In a speech prepared for the national convention of the Reserve Officers' Association—his first formal address since leaving the White House on Jan. 20 — Truman declared a "balanced program" of military goals was worked out by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1951.

"And they urged that we try to achieve those targets just as soon as possible after 1954," he said, "Because it was about that time that they expected the Soviets to have amassed a stockpile of atomic bombs that would put this country in the gravest kind of danger."

It is "of the highest signifiance," he said, that Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, testified recently that "nothing has happened to change the strategic estimate" on which that program was based.

"I am sorry to read, however," he added, "that a great deal has happened to cut that program down."

The Eisenhower administration sliced the Truman defense budget from about 41 billion dollars to about 36 billion.

Truman's words brought a quick retort from Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"Mr. Truman is back at the old stand—soft on economy, soft on money and soft on communism," Hall said in a statement issued in Washington.

"He professes to see no improvement. The American people know that until President Eisenhower put some muscle into American defense and foreign policies we had no exchange of prisoners in Korea, there was no possibility of a truce, the peoples of Pilsen, Leipzig and East Berlin had no inspiration to resist, and even William Oatis continued to languish in a Communist jail in Czechoslovakia.

"Mr. Truman was given a well deserved rest by the American people, and he should take it."

In mellowed tones that contrasted with some of the bare knuckled speeches he made as President, Truman went on:

"All of us are hopeful that there will be a real transformation—of Soviet policy and its threat to our survival. There have already been some signs of change. But we cannot tell yet what these signs mean.

"As the President has said, our government sees no reliable evidence of any modification in the fundamental Soviet aim of world dominion.

"We can be sure of one thing, in any case. We must be strongly armed, now and as far ahead as we can see. If the Soviets are genuinely interested in real settlements we must be able to negotiate from strength.

"If they are tempted to make war, we must be able to deter them by our strength.

"And if they should attack, we must be able to beat them back, by strength.

"We cannot, we simply cannot, lead the free world and secure a condition of peace if our defenses are weak," he said.

Declaring the Soviet leaders "watch our national defense appropriations" and plan accordingly, Truman said:

"We must spend whatever we have to spend to protect ourselves against a menace that threatens to wipe out our civilization.

There can be no doctrine more dangerous than the notion that we cannot afford to defend ourselves. And no doctrine quite so foolish either."

The military goals worked out in 1951, which "represented the composite judgment of our military and civilian leadership," Truman said, called for an Army of 21 divisions, a Navy of more than 400 active ships, and an Air Force of 143 wings.

The Eisenhower administration, in cutting Truman's proposed defense budget for the 12 months starting July 1 by five billion dollars, applied most of the reductions to the Air Force. The present goal is for 120 wings by mid-1955. A wing varies in size from 30 bombers to 75 fighters.

The Army goal is for 20 divisions, 18 regimental combat teams, and 117 anti-aircraft battalions. The Navy remains virtually unchanged, with a little more than 400 warships.

France Faces Trouble From Her Restive Allies

SAIGON, Indochina, June 27 (AP)—Hard pressed by her seven-year war with Communist-led rebels, France faced new troubles today among her own restive Indochinese allies.

French and North African troop reinforcements were sent into the little Indochinese kingdom of Cambodia as a precaution against King Norodom Sihanouk's threat of open war against France for full independence.

In the sister state of Viet Nam, 500 soldiers of a local politico-military sect deserted posts southwest of Saigon which they had been assigned to guard against red-led Vietminh rebels.

The French reinforcements, including both land and sea forces, were rushed to the Cambodian capital at Phnom Penh, where reside the majority of the French civilians operating more than 100 large plantations in the kingdom. A French command spokesman said the troops were sent to "protect the lives and property" of the French.

Another battalion of tough paratroopers stationed in North Indochina have been alerted, semi-official sources reported, for possible movement into Cambodia.

King Norodom made his threat of open war—backed by some 10,000 Cambodian troops under his undisputed command, another 10,000 irregulars and 80,000 influential Buddhist priests scattered throughout the kingdom—unless France gives up its control over the country's domestic and foreign affairs.

The 30-year-old monarch dramatized this demand last week by fleeing with an entourage into neighboring Thailand, where he remained in self-imposed exile for a week. He returned because the Siamese would not permit him to carry on political activities.

Although the French express confidence the Cambodia people will not turn against them, observers here consider the situation grave and fear the once peaceful little kingdom — least harassed by the Reds — may become another battleground for rebellion like Viet Nam.

The desertion from Vietnamese posts last night by members of the Hoa Hao sect — led by Chief Hoa Hao Le Quang Vinh, otherwise known as Bacut (Chopped Finger) — signalled the threat of more desertions by the sect's estimated 5,000 followers and might be joined by other independent bands enlisted by the French in 1946 to fight the Reds.

The Hoa Hao deserters took their arms with them, and burned down a number of outpost fortresses they were assigned to guard in the sectors of Cainua and Tot Not, 55 and 85 miles respectively southwest of Saigon.

This was the second desertion in less than a week by native troops allied to the French. On Tuesday, about 100 Vietnamese partisans killed their commander and 14 non-coms and deserted their post 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

Neither group is believed to have gone over to the Vietminh rebels.

Hot Weather Is Potent Tonic For Cotton Futures

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Cotton futures prices were bolstered this week by continued hot, dry weather in the central cotton belt which forced a downward revision of crop prospects for the current season.

The one soft spot in the list was the nearby July contract which came under heavy selling pressure and wound up the week at a substantial loss.

Net price changes of active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange during the week ranged from $1.30 a bale lower for nearby July to $1.05 higher for the distant July delivery. Nearby July was the only contract to finish lower.

The balance of the list ended up in the plus column, despite such bearish influences as softness in nearby July and a slackening of demand for cotton goods in the worth street textile market.

Reports from the belt indicated that if rain doesn't come soon, the 1953 crop may be seriously affected. Estimates of acreage planted are already being revised downward because of the hot, arid weather. Early in March, trade sources looked for 1953 plantings of 27,400,000 acres. This week the estimate was reduced to 26,400,000. This trend, it was pointed out, suggests the possibility that the 1953 crop may be no larger than the 15,136,000 500-pound gross-weight bales harvested last season.

Current estimates of plantings, however, are still well above the official government forecast of 22,800,000 acres.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Great Days To Be Over 40 If You'll Eat As You Should

Good protein consumption is important to you. Maybe you'll need some concentrated vitamin capsules. Ask your doctor.

It's good news today for the "after forty" girls and boys in many ways. In the first place they are not classified as old but thought of as mere kids when compared to estimates of the past.

There was also a theory not long ago that from middle age on much less food should be eaten and that meat should be cut low in the diet. This was a sort of tea and toast era which left most men and women of sixty deficient in iron and protein and calcium, with premature aging and an increased susceptibility to chronic diseases.

Thanks to the studies of nutritionists and biochemists, it is now recognized that food is just as important in the last forty years of life as it was earlier. While it is true that the calorie requirements are less because of decreased activity, and that fats should be cut low, the high grade maintenance foods such as proteins and foods which are rich in vitamins and minerals are even more essential.

Protein is the chief building material of the body. Eighteen per cent of total body weight is pure protein. Laboratory experiments have indicated that the aging process is speeded up unless there is an adequate amount of protein in the diet, not below the minimum of one gram per kilogram of body weight. Calories should be balanced to energy needs and the intake of vitamins and minerals should be high.

Nutritionists feel that we should get as many vitamins and minerals as possible through the food we eat. However many of them advise reinforcement with vitamin pills. Some persons have chronic disorders which make it difficult to obtain a sufficient vitamin and mineral intake while some do not seem to utilize these as well as others. Some people have a tendency to chronic diseases which respond to larger vitamin intake than it is possible to get through food. Then too there are the losses which occur in storage and shipping and cooking.

Many men and women have missing teeth at middle age or later and fail to replace them with dentures. This is a mistake not only because of facial contour and appearance but because of the demands of good nutrition. Without teeth it is impossible to eat many of the foods which are essential to your best health. If for some reason it is impossible to have dentures, then the older person should have meat ground and vegetables sieved.

These are the fine days for the after forty individual!

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 61 "Watchwords of Science for Youth After Forty," send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pastor Arrested In Church, Tells Of Difficulties

GRETNA, La., June 27—UP—A Negro disciple of a Baptist preacher charged with disturbing the peace said, "We were down on our knees praying, and then we sang awhile—and then the law came and said, 'Boys, you gotta' go.'"

The testimony came out at a court hearing in New Orleans involving a squabble over the pastorship of the Sunrise Baptist church here by two Negro ministers.

The Rev. Samuel Williams and three of his disciples were charged with disturbing the peace when they tried to hold services at the church on the same night another faction, led by the Rev. Samuel Bennett, was holding services.

Bennett founded the church but, after an illness in 1952, the congregation elected Williams and re-elected him this year. Williams said that the election by-laws make him the legal shepherd of the flock.

Williams complained in court that he had difficulty getting in the church on numerous occasions because Bennett kept changing the lock on the front door.

He said he "didn't understand the election" and that, as the church founder, he is still its legal pastor.

Bennett countered that on the night in question Williams entered the church with three persons, and another "drunk man who later left" and broke up his services. He said the majority of the flock was on his side.

Judge L. Julian Samuel, who listened to the testimony for an hour, ruled that Williams was legally guilty, but acquitted him and his disciples because they were trying to be peaceful. He warned them against any further disturbance.

The opposing parties then departed—by separate isles.

Truman Challenges Eisenhower's Defense Cuts

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman challenged the Eisenhower administration's defense budget cuts tonight and said "those who talk about our defense program being too big may be letting their pocketbooks obscure their judgment."

Asserting it is only natural to wish for lower taxes, the former President said:

"But I warn you soberly and plainly: do not be misled by the desire for lower taxes into cutting corners on our national security.

"Increasing the risk of World War III means increasing the risk of atom bombs on our own homes."

In a speech prepared for the national convention of the Reserve Officers' Association—his first formal address since leaving the White House on Jan. 20 — Truman declared a "balanced program" of military goals was worked out by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1951.

"And they urged that we try to achieve those targets just as soon as possible after 1954," he said, "Because it was about that time that they expected the Soviets to have amassed a stockpile of atomic bombs that would put this country in the gravest kind of danger."

It is "of the highest signifiance," he said, that Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, testified recently that "nothing has happened to change the strategic estimate" on which that program was based.

"I am sorry to read, however," he added, "that a great deal has happened to cut that program down."

The Eisenhower administration sliced the Truman defense budget from about 41 billion dollars to about 36 billion.

Truman's words brought a quick retort from Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"Mr. Truman is back at the old stand—soft on economy, soft on money and soft on communism," Hall said in a statement issued in Washington.

"He professes to see no improvement. The American people know that until President Eisenhower put some muscle into American defense and foreign policies we had no exchange of prisoners in Korea, there was no possibility of a truce, the peoples of Pilsen, Leipzig and East Berlin had no inspiration to resist, and even William Oatis continued to languish in a Communist jail in Czechoslovakia.

"Mr. Truman was given a well deserved rest by the American people, and he should take it."

In mellowed tones that contrasted with some of the bare knuckled speeches he made as President, Truman went on:

"All of us are hopeful that there will be a real transformation—of Soviet policy and its threat to our survival. There have already been some signs of change. But we cannot tell yet what these signs mean.

"As the President has said, our government sees no reliable evidence of any modification in the fundamental Soviet aim of world dominion.

"We can be sure of one thing, in any case. We must be strongly armed, now and as far ahead as we can see. If the Soviets are genuinely interested in real settlements we must be able to negotiate from strength.

"If they are tempted to make war, we must be able to deter them by our strength.

"And if they should attack, we must be able to beat them back, by strength.

"We cannot, we simply cannot, lead the free world and secure a condition of peace if our defenses are weak," he said.

Declaring the Soviet leaders "watch our national defense appropriations" and plan accordingly, Truman said:

"We must spend whatever we have to spend to protect ourselves against a menace that threatens to wipe out our civilization.

There can be no doctrine more dangerous than the notion that we cannot afford to defend ourselves. And no doctrine quite so foolish either."

The military goals worked out in 1951, which "represented the composite judgment of our military and civilian leadership," Truman said, called for an Army of 21 divisions, a Navy of more than 400 active ships, and an Air Force of 143 wings.

The Eisenhower administration, in cutting Truman's proposed defense budget for the 12 months starting July 1 by five billion dollars, applied most of the reductions to the Air Force. The present goal is for 120 wings by mid-1955. A wing varies in size from 30 bombers to 75 fighters.

SPEARS ANNOUNCES RESEARCH RESULTS IN TREATMENT OF MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Unit No. 2, Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital

CHIROPRACTIC METHODS DEVELOPED THROUGH YEARS OF RESEARCH BRING NEW HOPE TO SUFFERERS OF MANY DISEASES.

Intensive research into the causes and correction of the crippling and killing diseases has been quietly going on at Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital, Denver, Colorado, for several years. During that time, many discoveries and developments have been made which are proving of immense value in the relief of numbers of heretofore unyielding diseases. One of these is the crippler commonly known as multiple sclerosis.

Pennie Greathouse, as she appears today

Nurse Grateful for Relief from Paralyzing Multiple Sclerosis

Pennie Greathouse was completely paralyzed below the waist when she was wheeled into Spears Hospital on a litter August 13, 1951. She even required the aid of a nurse to change positions in bed. Her case was diagnosed: "multiple sclerosis."

She had been an army nurse with the rank of major. Taken prisoner when Corregidor surrendered, she resumed her professional career after the war ended and she was repatriated. Later she contracted multiple sclerosis.

Five days after Mrs. Greathouse was admitted to Spears, she felt pain when the masseur took hold of her right foot—the first time there had been any sensation in that region for nearly a year. This hopeful symptom was followed by a discouraging period of numbness; then came a revival of sensation which continued until nerve and muscular energy moved upward from the toes until it joined that of the upper body.

Her apparent complete recovery was attested when she walked into the hospital to greet staff doctors May 18, 1952, after a period of recuperation at her home in Texas. There was no hint of a limp in the confident stride with which she moved about the familiar corridors that had known her as a cripple. Having also seen many other multiple sclerosis cases regain their footing at Spears, Pennie is anxious that the world know of the encouraging work available to all at Spears Hospital.

Multiple Sclerosis Relieved, Railroader Resumes His Job

Less than two years ago, James M. Ball, former Great Northern railroad telegraph operator at Stanley, North Dakota, was completely paralyzed by multiple sclerosis. Ball could move his head. That was all. His speech was blurred. He saw nurses move his flabby legs and wasted arms. Otherwise he had no sense of possessing his own limbs.

In July, 1950, Jim Ball was brought to Spears. For the first three months progress seemed to be slow, he recalls. Then, one October day, two interns helped him out of bed, and he stood for the first time in two years. A month later he walked—with human help—to the door of his room. He promised himself he'd be ambulatory by Christmas, 1950. He made it, aided by a cane. April 1, 1951, he discarded the cane and now walks almost as well as anyone, barring a slight stiffness in the ankles which will correct itself with normal usage, according to hospital authorities.

Jim Ball's muscular legs walked him up the loading ramp of a United Airlines passenger plane on May 14, 1951—less than ten months from the time he arrived at Spears. He resumed his old job at the telegraph key in Stanley on June 4th, 1951. This surprised the railway system which carried him as "totally and permanently disabled." Jim Ball figures that he will work another fourteen years.

WHAT IS MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS?

It is a form of paralysis which usually starts as a weakness in the legs and a loss of balance, and slowly grows and spreads until its victim is unable to walk, feed himself, turn over in bed, or even talk understandably. In the advanced stage, the limbs jerk and shake, the kidneys and bowels get out of control, vision fails and the muscles waste away. With a good heart, patients may live in this unfortunate state for many years.

WHAT IS THE CAUSE OF MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS?

It has long been believed that the crippling effects of this disease and its several cousins known by such names as amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, annular sclerosis, lateral sclerosis, cerebral spinal sclerosis, disseminated sclerosis, etc., were the immediate result of a progressive hardening of multiple (many) cells in the brain and spinal cord.

WHAT CAUSES NERVE CELLS TO HARDEN OR DEGENERATE?

But the question that has puzzled thousands of therapeutic scientists these many years is: What causes the hardening of these cells? While there is much research and development yet to be done, our experience at Spears with hundreds of multiple sclerosis patients indicates that the cause of hardening may be an injury to the spine and spinal cord which results in cord and nerve pressures.

WHAT IS THE RESULT OF SUCH PRESSURES?

The effect of such pressures is two-fold (1) They deprive the brain, spinal cord, nerves and muscles of their required amount of nerve energy and (2) of nutrition. Without both of these, no part of the body can function normally. Nerve energy can be measured like electricity and flows over the nerve as electricity flows over wires. Nutritional energy comes from the food one eats and reaches the cells by osmosis through the spaces between the cells as water seeps through sand.

HOW DOES THE SPINE AND ITS CORD SUSTAIN INJURY?

The next question naturally is: What causes the injury to the spine and spinal cord? Such injuries result from falls, blows, automobile or other accidents; or strains from running, jumping, tussling, lifting, etc., which often cause no distress at the time and are, therefore, soon forgotten. Sometimes they arise from sitting or working in one position for years, from pelvic injuries at childbirth, or other factors which appear to be too slight to cause trouble.

PATIENTS SELDOM SUSPECT INJURIES AS CAUSE OF DISEASE

Histories, X-rays and other tests have almost invariably revealed some type of spinal injury to the many multiple sclerosis cases treated at Spears. These are typical: One fell from a horse; one was hurt playing leap frog; one was injured while wrestling; one fell while skating; one hurt his neck diving into a shallow pool; and one became paralyzed after giving birth to a child.

NERVES CARRY LIFE ENERGY TO ALL ORGANS AND TISSUES

One reason why multiple sclerosis has successfully resisted treatment in the past is that hardening is one of the worst types of nerve degeneration. Even when the primary strangulating nerve pressures have been completely removed, nature finds it extremely difficult to change the hardened cells back into normal nerve tissue capable of transmitting nerve impulses as before. Though discoveries at Spears have aided our progress, we are still not happy with our results on extremely advanced cases of multiple sclerosis, but a goodly portion of those patients are. We are happy that we have proved that multiple sclerosis is not completely unconquerable.

FINDINGS ASSURE PROGRESS AND RELIEF OF OTHER CONDITIONS

Fortunately our findings in this disease aid our progress with our research and treatment of practically all other types of paralysis, including polio, cerebral palsy and strokes, and many other crippling and killing diseases, including cancer, arthritis, rheumatic fever and heart diseases. Since we get absolutely none of the hundreds of millions of dollars constantly being contributed by the public for health research, our discoveries and developments have been modest in comparison with what they might have been with ample funds. We started building Spears Hospital ten years ago with less than $1,000. By our own efforts, we claim it is now one of the finest and largest private hospitals in the country. Plans for a new 2,150-bed cancer unit are now under way. We ask the prayers of everyone that God will bless our efforts to make our discoveries available to all people as rapidly as possible and to continue our research for the benefit of mankind.

Mable Davis demonstrates her new strength and coordination

MUSIC TEACHER RESUMES JOB AFTER RELIEF FROM MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Strange things began happening to this young and talented school teacher almost before her career was well launched.

They started in 1941 when petite Mable Davis, whose home is Mountainair, New Mexico, was teaching music, baton twirling and the calisthenics that go with it, to public school pupils of her native state.

When she reached for an object, it wasn't there. The proper piano keys eluded her. The bow of her violin wouldn't balance and the strings didn't respond to her ordinarily delicate touch. She required almost constant support of a wall or piece of furniture to stand or walk.

For years, Miss Davis was under the care of doctors. Grimly, she resisted the aid of a cane, crutch or other device that would betray her infirmity. She disciplined herself to sit or lean, quite casually, when prolonged conversations took place — especially with members of the school board!

When the 1947 fall term opened, Miss Davis resigned because other symptoms appeared that couldn't be concealed. Momentary blackouts, sometimes five or six in an hour, attacked her and the perfect pitch with which Nature had endowed her, was gone.

Thus, in December, 1947, she came to Spears. Spears laboratory examinations and X-rays clearly indicated Miss Davis' ailment to be multiple sclerosis. After three months, she was so improved that she began casting about for a new school. In March, 1948, she returned to Mountainair, astounding her family as she stepped from the train and strode off with confidence.

Miss Davis returned again to Spears in July, 1951, for another month's treatment "just to give me added strength for the coming school year."

Once more the Mountainair schoolmarm is capable of teaching active little girls to twirl the baton and step high in approved drum majorette style. She can instantly detect a musical instrument out of tune and can tune her violin without the aid of a pitch-pipe. She approaches her new and greater responsibilities with the confidence born of health, poise and splendid vitality.

Pennie Greathouse, as she appears today

Nurse Grateful for Relief from Paralyzing Multiple Sclerosis

Pennie Greathouse was completely paralyzed below the waist when she was wheeled into Spears Hospital on a litter August 13, 1951. She even required the aid of a nurse to change positions in bed. Her case was diagnosed: "multiple sclerosis."

She had been an army nurse with the rank of major. Taken prisoner when Corregidor surrendered, she resumed her professional career after the war ended and she was repatriated. Later she contracted multiple sclerosis.

Five days after Mrs. Greathouse was admitted to Spears, she felt pain when the masseur took hold of her right foot—the first time there had been any sensation in that region for nearly a year. This hopeful symptom was followed by a discouraging period of numbness; then came a revival of sensation which continued until nerve and muscular energy moved upward from the toes until it joined that of the upper body.

Her apparent complete recovery was attested when she walked into the hospital to greet staff doctors May 18, 1952, after a period of recuperation at her home in Texas. There was no hint of a limp in the confident stride with which she moved about the familiar corridors that had known her as a cripple. Having also seen many other multiple sclerosis cases regain their footing at Spears, Pennie is anxious that the world know of the encouraging work available to all at Spears Hospital.

Multiple Sclerosis Relieved, Railroader Resumes His Job

Less than two years ago, James M. Bell, former Great Northern railroad telegraph operator at Stanley, North Dakota, was completely paralyzed by multiple sclerosis. Bell could move his head. That was all. His speech was blurred. He saw nurses move his flabby legs and wasted arms. Otherwise he had no sense of possessing his own limbs.

In July, 1950, Jim Bell was brought to Spears. For the first three months progress seemed to be slow, he recalls. Then, one October day, two interns helped him out of bed, and he stood for the first time in two years. A month later he walked—with human help—to the door of his room. He promised himself he'd be ambulatory by Christmas, 1950. He made it, aided by a cane. April 1, 1951, he discarded the cane and now walks almost as well as anyone, barring a slight stiffness in the ankles which will correct itself with normal usage, according to hospital authorities.

Jim Bell's muscular legs walked him up the loading ramp of a United Airlines passenger plane on May 14, 1951—less than ten months from the time he arrived at Spears. CHIROPRACTIC METHODS DEVELOPED THROUGH YEARS OF RESEARCH BRING NEW HOPE TO SUFFERERS OF MANY DISEASES.

Intensive research into the causes and correction of the crippling and killing diseases has been quietly going on at Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital, Denver, Colorado, for several years. During that time, many discoveries and developments have been made which are proving of immense value in the relief of numbers of heretofore unyielding diseases. One of these is the crippler commonly known as multiple sclerosis.

WHAT IS MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS?

It is a form of paralysis which usually starts as a weakness in the legs and a loss of balance, and slowly grows and spreads until its victim is unable to walk, feed himself, turn over in bed, or even talk understandably. Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

"Just Rough" -- Ann Sheridan

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywords on the Record: PAULETTE GODDARD on her reputation as the world's foremost collector of diamonds, mink, old masters and other negotiable gifts:

"I've stopped that kind of collecting. I found out that I'm not really a collector. Once I collect something, I don't really know what to do with it."

STEVE COCHRAN, about movie plots:

"The screen has been making moviegoers mentally lazy. You don't have to tell an audience what's going to happen, show it happening and then tell them what happened. Audiences should be given a chance to use their minds."

ANN SHERIDAN, after tussling with Glenn Ford in "Rage in the Jungle":

"They warned me he was realistic in his clinches with his leading ladies. Realistic nothing. He's just rough."

EDMOND O'BRIEN, about his roller-coastering in "Man in the Dark":

"I've had it. Once is enough. They ran us around 18 times just for one scene on that blankety-blank roller coaster. I kept my nerve up but I couldn't keep my food down."

EVA LE GALLIENE, indicating stage retirement in her autobiography, "With a Quiet Heart":

"I cannot tell whether there is any longer a place for me in the American theater."

DALE ROBERTSON, not worried about scenery stealing all the honors in big-screen movies:

"There's always been too much emphasis on actors, anyhow."

MONA FREEMAN, being philosophical about her career:

"The challenging adult roles haven't come along as I hoped, but being off the screen for a while gives people the chance to forget the juvenile things I did. There has to be an interval when you grow into something else. I think it will happen for me. No actress hits a stride until she's 30. She can't start to understand acting until then."

SAM GOLDWYN, spiking retirement rumors:

"The only time I'll retire is when they take me away in a casket."

KEENAN WYNN, electing to remain at MGM for another year rather than turn free-lance to accept television offers:

"I don't see any point in deserting a studio that's been gold to me for 11 years. There's plenty of time for television."

ELAINE STEWART, new MGM glamor doll:

"People are unfair when they say that big screens and 3-D are making Hollywood forget all about building stars. A few months ago I was an unknown. Now I'm getting all the breaks — in roles and in pictures."

ALLERGIC TO POVERTY

JOSE FERRER, on nixing membership in the 18-month, tax-exempt overseas club:

"I toyed with the idea. I'm not allergic to money. I'm just allergic to poverty. But when they started explaining to me what I could and couldn't do if I wanted to take advantage of the tax exemption, I began to feel like an exile from my own country. For no other reason than that I gave up the idea."

JOAN CAULFIELD, after starring in a live TV drama:

"I had so many wardrobe changes I had to wear three costumes, one on top of the other, in one scene. Later people asked me, 'Joan, haven't you gained a lot of weight?'

"I'm surprised I didn't lose 50 pounds. I had to run so fast from the wardrobe room to the stage and back that I was panting. I felt like I had run two miles in Olympic record time."

RAY BRADBURY, dean of science-fiction writers:

"I boiled when 'It Came From Outer Space' was called a fantasy. Science-fiction writing is sociological studies of the future—things that the writer believes are going to happen by putting two and two together. Fantasy is dream-world stuff you can't believe has a chance of happening."

DIANA LYNN, after working on TV with Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca:

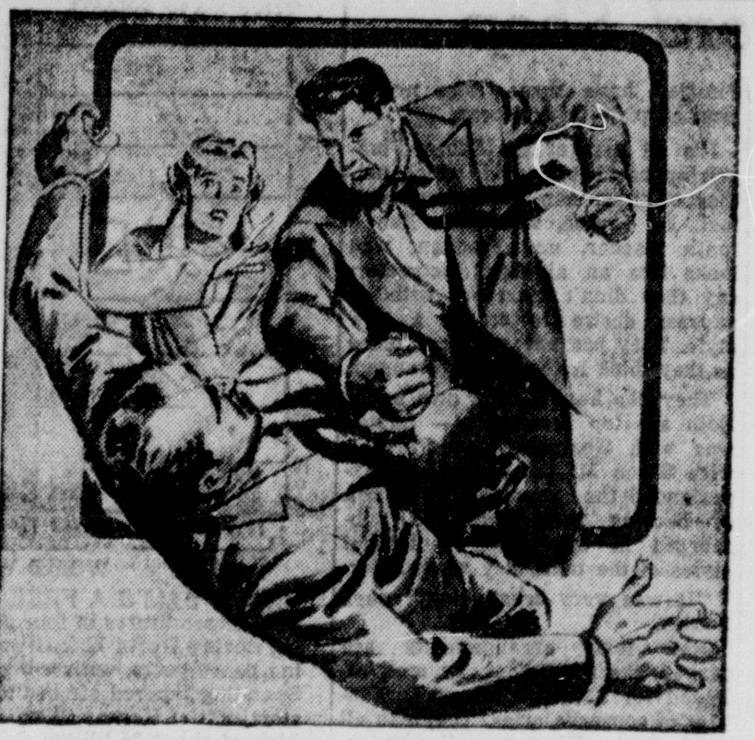
"I liked Sid because he isn't a full-time comedian. He doesn't try to get laughs every time he opens his mouth. Imogene is shy and retiring off-stage. But when the camera catches her she's an entirely different person."

GENE EVANS, wiring his agent that he'd be available for "flat" as well as 3-D movies:

"When 2-D calls I'll be there. Not dimension the money."

LADY CHURCHILL WEDS

OXFORD, England, June 27—UP—Lady Rosemary Spencer Churchill, 23, cousin of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, was married Friday to Robin Muir, a 28-year-old London stockbroker. The bride, who was a maid of honor at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, is the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough.



"MAN IN THE DARK," Columbia Pictures' new 3-D crime thriller, stars Edmond O'Brien and Audrey Totter at the Paramount Theatre. Shown is an artist's conception of the 3-dimensional realism of the film.

Susan Hayward, Bob Mitchum Co-Starred In Witch Doctor'

Susan Hayward, who co-stars with Robert Mitchum in Twentieth Century-Fox's Technicolor production, "White Witch Doctor" which comes to the Paramount Theater on Friday is a firm believer in anti-swellhead insurance for movie stars. she gets this unusual type of insurance by surrounding her self with persons who seldom say "yes." That little word, she belives, has been the undoing of many a potentially great star. Accordingly she picked out her wardrobe woman, hairdress attendant and make-up expert who are properly argumentative.

"There is so much gratuitous adulation heaped upon the average film personality," she explained, "that there is a serious occupational hazard invclved in coming to believe it all. I can't think of anything duller than meeting with constant approval in everything you might say or do. It could only make for a very stuffy character."

As an example of her position in this matter she cited the kind of hairdress she had decided upon for her role of the intrepid nurse in "White Witch Doctor," who is guided into the trackless jungles of the Belgian Congo by Robert Mitchum, seen as a white hunter bent on findin ggold in the country occupied by the Bakuba tribe.

"I had my mind pretty well made up," she said, "but my hairdresser wasn't of the same opinion. She stood her ground so firmly I felt I had better reconsider, and I was glad that I did because I liked her suggestion much better."

Miss Hayward admitted that she can see the over-all value of having the ego deflated fairly regularly. And if there is any actress in Hollwyood these days who is entitled to a swelled head it is Miss Hayward for, during 1952, she emerged as Twentieth Century Fox's box-office champion among the studio's feminine personalities with such pictures as "With A Song In My Heart" and "Snows Of Kilimanjaro." Miss Hayward, who long has had a reputation of being a most forthright persons, says that her system of anti-swellhead insurance "just keeps a person more livable."

'Fair Wind To Java' Is Epic Drama Of Piracy

A robus and roaring drama of piracy and aventure on the Java Sea, lavish in spectacle and rich in the atmosphere of the Far East, Republic's magnificent Trucolor production, "Fair Wind to Java," opening today at the Tem Theatre.

Starring Fred MacMurray and Vera Ralston, with a strong supporting cast which includes Robert Douglas, Victor McLaglen, John Russell, Buddy Baer, Claude Jarman, Jr. and Grant Withers, this outstanding production is an able successor to Republic's top box office winner, "Wake of the Red Witch," and is by the same author, Garland Roark.

High Adventure

Noted for his novels of suspenseful intrigue and action on the high adventure in this story which revolves around MacMurray's trading operations as skipper of a new ship out of Boston. His activities not only bring him into association with the beautiful half-caste girl, Kim Kim, portrayed by Miss Ralston, but also put him on the trail of a fabulous cache of diamonds which is also being sought by the scourge of the Java Sea, Robert Douglas.

In the spirited race for the hidden wealth, a mutiny aboard MacMurray's ship is spearheaded by John Russell, the first mate, who fits in with Douglas' plans. Capture by the pirates, a sensational escape and a fast run for the diamonds figures in the furious climax with the eruption of the South Seas' volcano, Krakatau, adding to the high tension.

Brilliant Performances

Fred MacMurray scores in the colorful and romantic role of the hard-boiled skipper while Miss Ralston is superb as the lovely and impetuous Kim Kim. Robert Douglas gives a brilliant performance in a role that calls for a dual personality, that of St. Ebenezer, respected merchant, and Pulo Besar, treacherous pirate.

Important acting contributions are also made by Victor McLaglen, who ultimately becomes first mate, Buddy Baer, in the role of the giant Chinese bodyguard of Douglas, John Russell and such screen stalwarts as Claude Jarman, Jr., Grant Withers, Howard Petrie, Paul Fix, William Murphy and the balance of the large and expertly-chosen cast.

Filmed in Trucolor by Consolidated, "Fair Wind to Java" bolsters its terrific thrill action with eye-filling spectacle. All the tropical hues of the islands, the fierce tones of the Java typhoon belt have been magnificently transferred to the screen while amazing results have been achieved in recreating the world-shaking eruption of the volcano, Krakatau, a catastrophe which resulted in the disappearance of entire islands, gigantic tidal waves and the scattering of volcanic ash to every corner of the world. Lavish are the oriental palaces with their Balinese dancing girls and the huge Indonesian village with its flow of oriental traffic.

Producer-director Joseph Kane, master of action and thrilling spectacle, builds this colorful and swashbuckling affair to a furious climax. Jack Marta rates special credit for the excellent Trucolor photography, as does Victor Young for his unusual musical score. In fact, all those concerned with the production deserve the highest praise.

"Fair Wind to Java" is smash entertainment and will rank with the biggest films of the year.

Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

"Just Rough" -- Ann Sheridan

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywords on the Record: PAULETTE GODDARD on her reputation as the world's foremost collector of diamonds, mink, old masters and other negotiable gifts:

"I've stopped that kind of collecting. I found out that I'm not really a collector. Once I collect something, I don't really know what to do with it."

STEVE COCHRAN, about movie plots:

"The screen has been making moviegoers mentally lazy. You don't have to tell an audience what's going to happen, show it happening and then tell them what happened. Audiences should be given a chance to use their minds."

ANN SHERIDAN, after tussling with Glenn Ford in "Rage in the Jungle":

"They warned me he was realistic in his clinches with his leading ladies. Realistic nothing. He's just rough."

EDMOND O'BRIEN, about his roller-coastering in "Man in the Dark":

"I've had it. Once is enough. They ran us around 18 times just for one scene on that blankety-blank roller coaster. I kept my nerve up but I couldn't keep my food down."

EVA LE GALLIENE, indicating stage retirement in her autobiography, "With a Quiet Heart":

"I cannot tell whether there is any longer a place for me in the American theater."

DALE ROBERTSON, not worried about scenery stealing all the honors in big-screen movies:

"There's always been too much emphasis on actors, anyhow."

MONA FREEMAN, being philosophical about her career:

"The challenging adult roles haven't come along as I hoped, but being off the screen for a while gives people the chance to forget the juvenile things I did. There has to be an interval when you grow into something else. I think it will happen for me. No actress hits a stride until she's 30. She can't start to understand acting until then."

SAM GOLDWYN, spiking retirement rumors:

"The only time I'll retire is when they take me away in a casket."

KEENAN WYNN, electing to remain at MGM for another year rather than turn free-lance to accept television offers:

"I don't see any point in deserting a studio that's been gold to me for 11 years. There's plenty of time for television."

ELAINE STEWART, new MGM glamor doll:

"People are unfair when they say that big screens and 3-D are making Hollywood forget all about building stars. A few months ago I was an unknown. Now I'm getting all the breaks — in roles and in pictures."

ALLERGIC TO POVERTY

JOSE FERRER, on nixing membership in the 18-month, tax-exempt overseas club:

"I toyed with the idea. I'm not allergic to money. I'm just allergic to poverty. But when they started explaining to me what I could and couldn't do if I wanted to take advantage of the tax exemption, I began to feel like an exile from my own country. For no other reason than that I gave up the idea."

JOAN CAULFIELD, after starring in a live TV drama:

"I had so many wardrobe changes I had to wear three costumes, one on top of the other, in one scene. Later people asked me, 'Joan, haven't you gained a lot of weight?'

"I'm surprised I didn't lose 50 pounds. I had to run so fast from the wardrobe room to the stage and back that I was panting. I felt like I had run two miles in Olympic record time."

RAY BRADBURY, dean of science-fiction writers:

"I boiled when 'It Came From Outer Space' was called a fantasy. Science-fiction writing is sociological studies of the future—things that the writer believes are going to happen by putting two and two together. Fantasy is dream-world stuff you can't believe has a chance of happening."

DIANA LYNN, after working on TV with Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca:

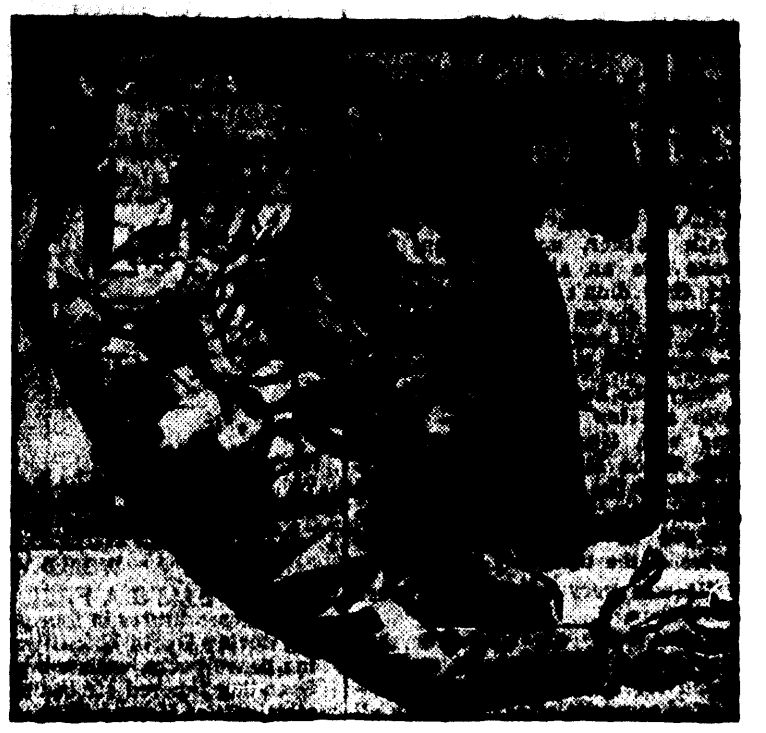
"I liked Sid because he isn't a full-time comedian. He doesn't try to get laughs every time he opens his mouth. Imogene is shy and retiring off-stage. But when the camera catches her she's an entirely different person."

GENE EVANS, wiring his agent that he'd be available for "flat" as well as 3-D movies:

"When 2-D calls I'll be there. Not dimension the money."

LADY CHURCHILL WEDS

OXFORD, England, June 27—UP—Lady Rosemary Spencer Churchill, 23, cousin of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, was married Friday to Robin Muir, a 28-year-old London stockbroker. The bride, who was a maid of honor at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, is the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough.



"MAN IN THE DARK," Columbia Pictures' new 3-D crime thriller, stars Edmond O'Brien and Audrey Totter at the Paramount Theatre. Shown is an artist's conception of the 3-dimensional realism of the film.

Susan Hayward, Bob Mitchum Co-Starred In Witch Doctor'

Susan Hayward, who co-stars with Robert Mitchum in Twentieth Century - Fox's Technicolor production, "White Witch Doctor" which comes to the Paramount Theater on Friday is a firm believer in anti - swellhead insurance for movie stars. she gets this unusual type of insurance by surrounding her self with persons who seldom say "yes." That little word, she belives, has been the undoing of many a potentially great star. Accordingly she picked out her wardrobe woman, hairdress attendant and make - up expert who are properly argumentative.

"There is so much gratuitous adulation heaped upon the average film personality," she explained, "that there is a serious occupational hazard invclved in coming to believe it all. I can't think of anything duller than meeting with constant approval in everything you might say or do. It could only make for a very stuffy character."

As an example of her position in this matter she cited the kind of hairdress she had decided upon for her role of the intrepid nurse in "White Witch Doctor," who is guided into the trackless jungles of the Belgian Congo by Robert Mitchum, seen as a white hunter bent on findin ggold in the country occupied by the Bakuba tribe.

"I had my mind pretty well made up," she said, "but my hairdresser wasn't of the same opinion. She stood her ground so firmly I felt I had better reconsider, and I was glad that I did because I liked her suggestion much better."

Miss Hayward admitted that she can see the over - all value of having the ego deflated fairly regularly. And if there is any actress in Hollywood these days who is entitled to a swelled head it is Miss Hayward for, during 1952, she emerged as Twentieth Century Fox's box - office champion among the studio's feminine personalities with such pictures as "With A Song In My Heart" and "Snows Of Kilimanjaro." Miss Hayward, who long has had a reputation of being a most forthright persons, says that her system of anti-swellhead insurance "just keeps a person more livable."

ISLE OF CAPRI, Italy, June 27—UP— Irwin Netcher, Chicago merchant, whose wife, Rosie, is one of the famed Dolly sisters, died here Friday.

q Doctors attributed death to a heart attack.

'Fair Wind To Java' Is Epic Drama Of Piracy

A robus and roaring drama of piracy and aventure on the Java Sea, lavish in spectacle and rich in the atmosphere of the Far East, Republic's magnificent Trucolor production, "Fair Wind to Java," opening today at the Tem Theatre.

Starring Fred MacMurray and Vera Ralston, with a strong supporting cast which includes Robert Douglas, Victor McLaglen, John Russell, Buddy Baer, Claude Jarman, Jr. and Grant Withers, this outstanding production is an able successor to Republic's top box office winner, "Wake of the Red Witch," and is by the same author, Garland Roark.

High Adventure

Noted for his novels of suspenseful intrigue and action on the high adventure in this story which revolves around MacMurray's trading operations as skipper of a new ship out of Boston. His activities not only bring him into association with the beautiful half-caste girl, Kim Kim, portrayed by Miss Ralston, but also put him on the trail of a fabulous cache of diamonds which is also being sought by the scourge of the Java Sea, Robert Douglas.

In the spirited race for the hidden wealth, a mutiny aboard MacMurray's ship is spearheaded by John Russell, the first mate, who fits in with Douglas' plans. Capture by the pirates, a sensational escape and a fast run for the diamonds figures in the furious climax with the eruption of the South Seas' volcano, Krakatau, adding to the high tension.

Brilliant Performances

Fred MacMurray scores in the colorful and romantic role of the hard-boiled skipper while Miss Ralston is superb as the lovely and impetuous Kim Kim. Robert Douglas gives a brilliant performance in a role that calls for a dual personality, that of St. Ebenezer, respected merchant, and Pulo Besar, treacherous pirate.

Important acting contributions are also made by Victor McLaglen, who ultimately becomes first mate, Buddy Baer, in the role of the giant Chinese bodyguard of Douglas, John Russell and such screen stalwarts as Claude Jarman, Jr., Grant Withers, Howard Petrie, Paul Fix, William Murphy and the balance of the large and expertly-chosen cast.

Filmed in Trucolor by Consolidated, "Fair Wind to Java" bolsters its terrific thrill action with eye-filling spectacle. All the tropical hues of the islands, the fierce tones of the Java typhoon belt have been magnificently transferred to the screen while amazing results have been achieved in recreating the world-shaking eruption of the volcano, Krakatau, a catastrophe which resulted in the disappearance of entire islands, gigantic tidal waves and the scattering of volcanic ash to every corner of the world. Lavish are the oriental palaces with their Balinese dancing girls and the huge Indonesian village with its flow of oriental traffic.

Producer-director Joseph Kane, master of action and thrilling spectacle, builds this colorful and swashbuckling affair to a furious climax. Jack Marta rates special credit for the excellent Trucolor photography, as does Victor Young for his unusual musical score. In fact, all those concerned with the production deserve the highest praise.

DOPE RECOVERED

HOUSTON, June 27—UP—Harlingen Police Chief John Guseman was credited Friday with tipping off Houston and U.S. custom officials to the $125,000 worth of manicured marijuana, believed to be the largest seizure of its kind ever made.

Customs agent Al Scharff said he got a tip Sunday from Guseman and sent Agent Boykin Baker to Brownsville to board a train on which the marijuana was shipped.

The marijuana was seized in New York Thursday when three persons attempted to claim it. The marijuana, 108 pounds of it, was believed to have been smuggled from Mexico and was put on the train at McAllen, Tex.

"The Robe" To Be Filmed In CinemaScope

HOLLYWOOD, June 27. - I can't believe it myself.

After 10 years of postponements which assumed nightmare proportions — not to mention threatened law suits — my dream of producing a film based on Lloyd C. Douglas' magnificently moving best - seller, "The Robe," has been fulfilled.

What's more, it has been realized in a new medium of both sight and sound — CinemaScope and Stereophonic sound. This, added to the remarkable performances of Richard Burton, Victor Mature, Jean Simmons, Michael Rennie, Jay Robinson, Betta St. John and Jeff Morrow and Dean Jagger, and the fine production values, make me thankful that we were able to do justice to Douglas' great story.

It was late in August of 1942 when literary agent Richard Halliday and I were mowing our adjoining lawns that I first heard about "The Robe."

I begged Halliday to let me read the manuscript of the book, although he told me it was only half finished. He did. Reading half a story, I still knew it was one of the greatest of all time. I paid $100,000 for the screen rights to it, and was in consultation with Douglas while he wrote the rest of the book, which was published in 1943. I had no idea, at that time, that it would become the fiction best seller of this and many another decade. I only knew that this story had everything — fabulous adventure, cunning intrigue, moving romance, and a faith that is timeless.

Once the book was published, I tried to leave nothing to chance. Questionnaire bookmakers were inserted in 100,000 copies of the book. Public opinion polls were sounded, so that before the script was started, we knew enough to point up the scenes which most impressed the readers of the book, and thanks to Philip Dunne's final script, based on the treatment by Gina Kaus, we had a script that gave me the best essence of the book.

The real sage of the delay in bringing "The Robe" to the screen lay in the fact that everytime I was ready to start production at RKO, where it was originally to be made, something would happen to force a postponement.

My friends kept saying I was crazy not to sell the rights for a big profit and leave the headaches to others. There were times when I privately agreed with them. But I knew I could never find a greater story. I wanted to make it myself. I wanted to do it justice. I wanted to keep faith with Lloyd C. Douglas, who, originally, vowed he would never sell the story of "The Robe" for a motion picture, but relented because he knew how I loved and admired the story and knew I shared his view that it should be made into a personal picture, not merely a spectacle.

At one time, we had Victor Fleming engaged as director and Gregory Peck set to star. At another time, Mervyn LeRoy was set as director. As a matter of fact, at various times, Peck, Tyrone Power, Lawrence Olivier, Gary Cooper, Robert Taylor were considered for the "Marcellus" role. All of them wanted to do it. Ingrid Bergman, 10 years ago, was interested in portraying "Diana." But just as RKO was finally ready to go into production, Howard Hughes bought the studio, and Hughes absolutely didn't want to make the picture. After six months of negotiations produced no results, I sued RKO and they sued me. I spent $40,000 in legal fees before the suit even came into court.

Why I never acquired the proverbial Hollywood ulcers, I'll never know. Darryl F. Zanuck, praise be, came to the rescue by purchasing RKO's interest for 20th Century - Fox in May of 1952. That's when plans for "The Robe" began humming.

Now, thanks to Zanuck, I feel the delays have been all to the good. Oh, yes, the picture was postponed twice here on the Zanuck lot. But the postponements were caused only by the delay in the arrival of necessary equipment to make the picture in CinemaScope and Stereophonic sound. When you see the picture, I think you'll agree with my feeling that any trials and tribulations were worth the superb result.

The day the picture started shooting, we had a press luncheon at which I was asked to introduce our cast and the director, Henry Koster, of whom I said, "he is my most precious possession." Perhaps 'possession' was not an apt word, but Koster is precious to me as a director and as a human being. I'd like to tell you one story about him, which will also answer the many questions about how Richard Burton, a comparatively unknown actor, won the role of "Marcellus" in "the Robe" — a part which every actor coveted.

At a party at Philip Dunne's house one night, I met Koster, who promptly began raving about Burton, who had just arrived in Hollywood. Koster waxed so eloquent about Richard, was so sure he was the only actor for the part, that I found his enthusiasm infectious. Koster kept saying: "Let me talk to whoever will direct 'The Robe' for you — I'll tell him what a remarkable actor Burton is." That's when I said: "How would you like to direct 'The Robe'?"

What I am most grateful for in the production of "The Robe" — and I think audiences will feel it when they see the picture — is the dedicated way in which everyone cooperated to make it the great picture we believe it to be. Not just the superb cast, but the extras and the crew all made memorable contributions to a memorable film.

The Record Shop

They Play What They Feel

NEW YORK — (NEA) — When a dance band loses one of its players to a shymphony, th is ordinarily large news. But the situation confronts the Sauter - Finegan band and nobody is particularly startled.

"We'll have to find somebody else," Bill Finegan says, without batting a baton. They're losing a percussionist, who will be rejoining the Philadelphia Symphony in the fall. But the band is well-peopled with ex-classicists.

Most bands have only one percussionist, incidentally. He's usually a drummer with a fine supply of unruly hair and a great talent for grimaces. But Satuer-Finegan have three, who prefer glockenspiels to grimaces.

It's all part of the Sauter-Finegan approach to music, which neither of them can define but both feel. Ed Sauter, who looks like a math teacher, and Finegan, who looks like an algebra instructor, say they didn't start out with an express desire to create a new style. They just arrange each piece as they think it should be arranged.

They like having their own band. Both are top arrangers — Sauter was with Goodman and Finegan with Glenn Miller — but both experienced the annoying sensation of hearing their creations submerged in the highly individual styles of the men they worked for.

"It was very frustrating," says Sauter.

Now their arrangements are played like they want, by men selected for ability Most are graduates of conservatories. They can all read music. They are all respectable citizens, There's not a needle taker in the crew.

"We wanted to restore dignity to the dance band," Sauter said.

The Popular Side: RCA-Victor's new album of "Me and Juliet," the latest Rodgers - Hammerstein success, set a record. The show opened on a Thursday and the album was recorded in a 15-hour session on Sunday. By the next Wednesday, it was in the hands of dealers . . . Eddie Fisher says the G. I.'s in Korea are more hep to the latest hit records than the teen-agers at home.

On The Classics: A good comparison between masculine and feminine piano techniques can be had with Liszt's Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major. Iturbi, on RCA-Victor, and Claudia Arrau, on a new Columbia disc, demonstrate clearly the difference between the strong masculine touch and feminine dexterity . . . Lovers of Spanish guitar music will enjoy "Flamenco," featuring Carlos Montova and Spanish gyptsy dances, just issued by Remington.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seesaw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.*

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

"The Robe" To Be Filmed In CinemaScope

Ingrid Bergman, 10 years ago, was interested in portraying "Diana." But just as RKO was finally ready to go into production, Howard Hughes bought the studio, and Hughes absolutely didn't want to make the picture. After six months of negotiations produced no results, I sued RKO and they sued me. I spent $40,000 in legal fees before the suit even came into court.

Why I never acquired the proverbial Hollywood ulcers, I'll never know. Darryl F. Zanuck, praise be, came to the rescue by purchasing RKO's interest for 20th Century - Fox in May of 1952. That's when plans for "The Robe" began humming.

Now, thanks to Zanuck, I feel the delays have been all to the good. Oh, yes, the picture was postponed twice here on the Zanuck lot. But the postponements were caused only by the delay in the arrival of necessary equipment to make the picture in CinemaScope and Stereophonic sound. When you see the picture, I think you'll agree with my feeling that any trials and tribulations were worth the superb result.

The day the picture started shooting, we had a press luncheon at which I was asked to introduce our cast and the director, Henry Koster, of whom I said, "he is my most precious possession." Perhaps 'possession' was not an apt word, but Koster is precious to me as a director and as a human being. I'd like to tell you one story about him, which will also answer the many questions about how Richard Burton, a comparatively unknown actor, won the role of "Marcellus" in "the Robe" — a part which every actor coveted.

At a party at Philip Dunne's house one night, I met Koster, who promptly began raving about Burton, who had just arrived in Hollywood. Koster waxed so eloquent about Richard, was so sure he was the only actor for the part, that I found his enthusiasm infectious. Koster kept saying: "Let me talk to whoever will direct 'The Robe' for you — I'll tell him what a remarkable actor Burton is." That's when I said: "How would you like to direct 'The Robe'?"

What I am most grateful for in the production of "The Robe" — and I think audiences will feel it when they see the picture — is the dedicated way in which everyone cooperated to make it the great picture we believe it to be. Not just the superb cast, but the extras and the crew all made memorable contributions to a memorable film.

They Play What They Feel

NEW YORK — (NEA) — When a dance band loses one of its players to a shymphony, th is ordinarily large news. But the situation confronts the Sauter - Finegan band and nobody is particularly startled.

"We'll have to find somebody else," Bill Finegan says, without batting a baton. They're losing a percussionist, who will be rejoining the Philadelphia Symphony in the fall. But the band is well-peopled with ex-classicists.

Most bands have only one percussionist, incidentally. He's usually a drummer with a fine supply of unruly hair and a great talent for grimaces. But Satuer-Finegan have three, who prefer glockenspiels to grimaces.

It's all part of the Sauter-Finegan approach to music, which neither of them can define but both feel. Ed Sauter, who looks like a math teacher, and Finegan, who looks like an algebra instructor, say they didn't start out with an express desire to create a new style. They just arrange each piece as they think it should be arranged.

They like having their own band. Both are top arrangers — Sauter was with Goodman and Finegan with Glenn Miller — but both experienced the annoying sensation of hearing their creations submerged in the highly individual styles of the men they worked for.

"It was very frustrating," says Sauter.

Now their arrangements are played like they want, by men selected for ability Most are graduates of conservatories. They can all read music. They are all respectable citizens, There's not a needle taker in the crew.

"We wanted to restore dignity to the dance band," Sauter said.

The Popular Side: RCA-Victor's new album of "Me and Juliet," the latest Rodgers - Hammerstein success, set a record. The show opened on a Thursday and the album was recorded in a 15-hour session on Sunday. By the next Wednesday, it was in the hands of dealers . . . Eddie Fisher says the G. I.'s in Korea are more hep to the latest hit records than the teen-agers at home.

On The Classics: A good comparison between masculine and feminine piano techniques can be had with Liszt's Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major. Iturbi, on RCA-Victor, and Claudia Arrau, on a new Columbia disc, demonstrate clearly the difference between the strong masculine touch and feminine dexterity . . . Lovers of Spanish guitar music will enjoy "Flamenco," featuring Carlos Montova and Spanish gyptsy dances, just issued by Remington.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seesaw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.*

El Dorado Wins, 5-4, For Series Sweep

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Atheletic activity on the Northeast State campus may be at a virtual standstill this summer, but that doesn't mean that college officials and coaches aren't talking about sports and making plans for an expanded athletic program beginning here this fall.

Northeast's entrance into the Gulf States Conference in September will put the college in its first organized senior college loop since the school was advanced to four-year status. This and the fact that greater interest in local college athletics has arisen have prompted college leaders to begin a series of improvements on the campus. Painting of the stadium and installing new seats has begun the operation "spruce up." Other improvements to the athletic plant will be announced as they occur.

Northeast's coaching staff is keeping busy this summer, also.

Head Football Mentor James L. Malone has been busy making plans for the forthcoming football season, mapping out strategy with his assistant coach, Henry (Woody) Boyles. Many details have to be ironed out before the season begins, and when Northeast takes on one of the roughest schedules of its career gridiron warfare. In addition to working closely with Coach Malone making plans for the 1953 football season, Coach Boyles is coaching the state champion American Legion baseball team in Monroe. His team has lost only one game this year and is considered a possibility to win the state crown again this summer.

Northeast's athletic director, Arnold Kilpatrick, has plenty to do this summer, also. He is deep "in the books" at Louisiana State University, working on his master's degree, which he will receive at the end of this summer term.

All in all, the athletic activity itself is down to a bare minimum, but the college officials and coaches are planning for the months ahead, therefore creating plenty of activity, although none of it is on the field at the present time.

Bums Win In 10th; Tie Braves For Loop Lead

MILWAUKEE, June 27 (AP)—Pee Wee Reese smacked a 350 - foot home run in the tenth inning here tonight to break a 3-3 tie, and give the Dodgers a 4-3 victory and tie for first place in the National League standings.

The defeat, sixth straight for the Braves, left the two clubs with 41-25 records, one full game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals who took two from Philadelphia in a lay-night doubleheader.

Billy Loes, third Brooklyn pitcher, won his 10th game against four defeats and his second straight from the Braves. Jim Wilson, going the distance for Milwaukee, absorbed his sixth defeat against two victories. Both teams collected seven hits.

Penn Line Coach To Retire After 1953

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP)—Rae Crowther said today he will retire as line coach of the University of Pennsylvania's football team after the 1953 season.

Moeller Downs Williamson For Collegiate Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 27. (AP)—Stroking his putter and irons with smooth precision, rugged Earl Moeller of Oklahoma A&M won the finals of the 56th NCAA golf tournament Saturday 3 and 2 in 34 holes from William Williamson of North Carolina University.

The 19-year-old St. Louis boy never fell behind after squaring the match on the second hole this morning over the 6,622-yard, par 70 Broadmoor course. He ran his margin to five up on the 30th hole but dropped the next two holes to give Williamson his last chance.

The North Carolinan could have come through on the 34th. He lost when his 12-foot putt for a birdie on the par three hole failed to drop. Moeller got a halve and the match.

Moeller, a 6-foot-7 190-pounder, took control of the match on the 24th and 25th holes which he won with long putts. Williamson, a 22-year old Charlotte, N. C., graduate of North Carolina this year, said he felt that was the turning point in the match.

"I've been playing way over my head," said Williamson. "I'm not really this good."

The Oklahoma Aggie takes over the title won last year by Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kas., playing for the University of Oklahoma.

NCA Sticks By Its Orders On Subsidization

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—The executive committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools today declined to suspend its ruling forbidding the subsidzation of college athetes.

In announcing its decision the NCA said an athlete can obtain a scholarship but he must meet the same academic standards as a non-athlete and must show a financial need.

This was the recommendation of the NCA's commission on colleges and universities which, in turn, was put forth by the American Council on Education in its recent report.

The announcement was as follows:

"At its meeting in Chicago on June 26-27 the executive committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools declined to suspend criterion F (the name of the rule) of its athletic standards forbidding improper subsidies to college athletes.

"After careful consideration it came to the conclusion that criterion F has been subject to various interpretations. The executive committee therefore approved the recommendation of the commission of colleges and universities that recommendation 5 of the report of the American Council on Education upon intercollegiate athletics should be used as the basis for the interpretation of criterion F until the annual meeting of the NCA in March 1954."

Howard's Triple In Seventh Saves Game For Oilers

Those two healthy Cotton States League "streaks" remained intact last night. The El Dorado Oilers won their thirteenth straight, and the Monroe Sports lost their eleventh in a row.

Manager Bill Adair's Oilers made it a clean sweep for a five-game stand here when they nosed out the Sports, 5 to 4, last night in a game that—by all standards—was a mighty good one. But it came as a bitter pill for the Sports to take at a time when they are starving for a win and with the cellar door yawning in their faces.

The rival pitchers, loser Hugh Blanton and winner Chuck Slaber, hurled matching seven-hitters, both clubs committed two errors, and both had only five runners left stranded.

But Neil Howard, the Oilers' cavorting center fielder, was the big individual difference. Howard poled out three hits in four trips to the platter, one of them a two-run triple that saved the game for the Oilers in the seventh inning.

Singles by Charlie Harrington and Ray Rogers, plus an El Dorado error, set up a run for Monroe in the second inning as Adrian Burk drove Harrington home with a fly to center field. The Oilers tied up the game in the third when Bill Brightwell singled, advanced on a sacrifice by Slaber and scored as Neil Howard singled into center field.

The Oilers went ahead with two runs in the fourth. Pat O'Keefe walked. Bill Adair doubled, and a single by Jay Jeffries scored both runners.

The Sports pulled into a 3-3 tie with two in the fifth. Burk was safe on a Jimmy Morgan error, and Blanton drove him home with a double. Billy Parsons singled Blanton across.

El Dorado broke the tie with two runs in the seventh when an error put Slaber aboard, Bill Carr walked, and Howard drove both home with a triple.

Monroe scored its fourth run in the seventh when Burk singled, advanced as Blanton grounded out, and scored on a single by Reed Stephens.

The El Dorado victory shot the Oilers into the league lead when the Meridian Millers dropped a double header to the Pine Bluff Judges, 2 to 1 and 4 to 2, and Monroe fell to seventh place.

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 27 (AP)—The King Ranch's Rejected, the favorite, closed with a rush and won the $100,000 Westerner at Hollywood Park today.

The time for the mile and one quarter feature, staged before 45,000 fans, was 2.01 2-5.

Rejected paid $5.40, $3.60 and $2.90; Fleet Khal paid $9.10 and $5.40, and Imbros $3.70.

Rejected won the 13th running of the event by a length.

'Babe' Zaharias Starts Building For Golf Return

NEWTON, Tex., June 27. (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias starts the stretch drive in her fight to return to golf next week, conqueror of cancer "through the help of God."

The greatest woman athlete of them all, declaring "I've got to find out if I can play," left by automobile for Tampa, Fla., today and will begin getting the feel of a golf course again as soon as possible.

Almost a miracle is the recovery of the mighty Babe from the ravages of the dread disease. Just two months and ten days ago she was operated upon in a hospital at Beaumont and the sports world sorrowed that the Olympics star of 20 years ago—the woman who attained the pinnacle of sports in everything she tried—might never appear in competition again.

"When I found I had cancer I thought the world had fallen in," said the indomitable Babe today as she prepared to leave for Florida and the golf course she and her husband, wrestler George Zaharias, own. "But I had to pull myself together. I said, 'Come on Babe, you got to get a birdie.'

"Everybody can do the same thing if they'll just take the proper care of themselves. I was fortunate to find I had the disease when I did, before it had spread over my body. Everybody should have periodic examinations. We can all whip cancer if we'll do that and if we'll just not be afraid."

Dr. Robert M. Moore, who performed the operation, and Dr. W E. Tatum, the family physician, both gave her clearance today to return to golf where she was the greatest woman player of them all. Dr. Moore left it up to her as to when she might start. That was enough for the Babe.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Atheletic activity on the Northeast State campus may be at a virtual standstill this summer, but that doesn't mean that college officials and coaches aren't talking about sports and making plans for an expanded athletic program beginning here this fall.

Northeast's entrance into the Gulf States Conference in September will put the college in its first organized senior college loop since the school was advanced to four-year status. This and the fact that greater interest in local college athletics has arisen have prompted college leaders to begin a series of improvements on the campus. Painting of the stadium and installing new seats has begun the operation "spruce up." Other improvements to the athletic plant will be announced as they occur.

Northeast's coaching staff is keeping busy this summer, also.

Head Football Mentor James L. Malone has been busy making plans for the forthcoming football season, mapping out strategy with his assistant coach, Henry (Woody) Boyles. Many details have to be ironed out before the season begins, and when Northeast takes on one of the roughest schedules of its career gridiron warfare. In addition to working closely with Coach Malone making plans for the 1953 football season, Coach Boyles is coaching the state champion American Legion baseball team in Monroe. His team has lost only one game this year and is considered a possibility to win the state crown again this summer.

Northeast's athletic director, Arnold Kilpatrick, has plenty to do this summer, also. He is deep "in the books" at Louisiana State University, working on his master's degree, which he will receive at the end of this summer term.

All in all, the athletic activity itself is down to a bare minimum, but the college officials and coaches are planning for the months ahead, therefore creating plenty of activity, although none of it is on the field at the present time.

Billy Loes, third Brooklyn pitcher, won his 10th game against four defeats and his second straight from the Braves. Jim Wilson, going the distance for Milwaukee, absorbed his sixth defeat against two victories. Both teams collected seven hits.

Moeller Downs Williamson For Collegiate Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 27. (AP)—Stroking his putter and irons with smooth precision, rugged Earl Moeller of Oklahoma A&M won the finals of the 56th NCAA golf tournament Saturday 3 and 2 in 34 holes from William Williamson of North Carolina University.

The 19-year-old St Louis boy never fell behind after squaring the match on the second hole this morning over the 6,622-yard, par 70 Broadmoor course. He ran his margin to five up on the 30th hole but dropped the next two holes to give Williamson his last chance.

The North Carolinan could have come through on the 34th. He lost when his 12-foot putt for a birdie on the par three hole failed to drop. Moeller got a halve and the match.

Moeller, a 6-foot-7 190-pounder, took control of the match on the 24th and 25th holes which he won with long putts. Williamson, a 22-year old Charlotte, N. C., graduate of North Carolina this year, said he felt that was the turning point in the match.

"I've been playing way over my head," said Williamson. "I'm not really this good."

The Oklahoma Aggie takes over the title won last year by Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kas., playing for the University of Oklahoma.

NCA Sticks By Its Orders On Subsidization

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—The executive committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools today declined to suspend its ruling forbidding the subsidzation of college athetes.

In announcing its decision the NCA said an athlete can obtain a scholarship but he must meet the same academic standards as a nonathlete and must show a financial need.

This was the recommendation of the NCA's commission on colleges and universities which, in turn, was put forth by the American Council on Education in its recent report.

The announcement was as follows:

"At its meeting in Chicago on June 26-27 the executive committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools declined to suspend criterion F (the name of the rule) of its athletic standards forbidding improper subsidies to college athletes.

"After careful consideration it came to the conclusion that criterion F has been subject to various interpretations. The executive committee therefore approved the recommendation of the commission of colleges and universities that recommendation 5 of the report of the American Council on Education upon intercollegiate athletics should be used as the basis for the interpretation of criterion F until the annual meeting of the NCA in March 1954."

El Dorado Wins, 5-4, For Series Sweep

Howard's Triple In Seventh Saves Game For Oilers

Those two healthy Cotton States League "streaks" remained intact last night. The El Dorado Oilers won their thirteenth straight, and the Monroe Sports lost their eleventh in a row.

Manager Bill Adair's Oilers made it a clean sweep for a five-game stand here when they nosed out the Sports, 5 to 4, last night in a game that—by all standards—was a mighty good one. But it came as a bitter pill for the Sports to take at a time when they are starving for a win and with the cellar door yawning in their faces.

BUCKS MOVE IN

The Buckshot Indians of Greenville, fresh from sweeping a three game series from Monroe early the past week, move into Legion Memorial Stadium here today to open a four-game series with the Sports. Today's program calls for a double header, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Single games are on tap for tomorrow and Tuesday nights here.

The rival pitchers, loser Hugh Blanton and winner Chuck Slaber, hurled matching seven-hitters, both clubs committed two errors, and both had only five runners left stranded.

But Neil Howard, the Oilers' cavorting center fielder, was the big individual difference. Howard poled out three hits in four trips to the platter, one of them a two-run triple that saved the game for the Oilers in the seventh inning.

Singles by Charlie Harrington and Ray Rogers, plus an El Dorado error, set up a run for Monroe in the second inning as Adrian Burk drove Harrington home with a fly to center field. The Oilers tied up the game in the third when Bill Brightwell singled, advanced on a sacrifice by Slaber and scored as Neil Howard singled into center field.

The Oilers went ahead with two runs in the fourth. Pat O'Keefe walked. Bill Adair doubled, and a single by Jay Jeffries scored both runners.

The Sports pulled into a 3-3 tie with two in the fifth. Burk was safe on a Jimmy Morgan error, and Blanton drove him home with a double. Billy Parsons singled Blanton across.

El Dorado broke the tie with two runs in the seventh when an error put Slaber aboard. Bill Carr walked, and Howard drove both home with a triple.

Monroe scored its fourth run in the seventh when Burk singled, advanced as Blanton grounded out, and scored on a single by Reed Stephens.

The El Dorado victory shot the Oilers into the league lead when the Meridian Millers dropped a double header to the Pine Bluff Judges, 2 to 1 and 4 to 2, and Monroe fell to seventh place.

'Babe' Zaharias Starts Building For Golf Return

NEWTON, Tex., June 27. (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias starts the stretch drive in her fight to return to golf next week, conqueror of cancer "through the help of God."

The greatest woman athlete of them all, declaring "I've got to find out if I can play," left by automobile for Tampa, Fla., today and will begin getting the feel of a golf course again as soon as possible.

Almost a miracle is the recovery of the mighty Babe from the ravages of the dread disease. Just two months and ten days ago she was operated upon in a hospital at Beaumont and the sports world sorrowed that the Olympics star of 20 years ago—the woman who attained the pinnacle of sports in everything she tried—might never appear in competition again.

"When I found I had cancer I thought the world had fallen in," said the indomitable Babe today as she prepared to leave for Florida and the golf course she and her husband, wrestler George Zaharias, own. "But I had to pull myself together. I said, 'Come on Babe, you got to get a birdie.'

"Everybody can do the same thing if they'll just take the proper care of themselves. I was fortunate to find I had the disease when I did, before it had spread over my body. Everybody should have periodic examinations. We can all whip cancer if we'll do that and if we'll just not be afraid."

Dr. Robert M. Moore, who performed the operation, and Dr. W E. Tatum, the family physician, both gave her clearance today to return to golf where she was the greatest woman player of them all. Dr. Moore left it up to her as to when she might start. That was enough for the Babe.

ST. LOUIS, June 27 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals withstood Philadelphia's challenge for third place, driving the Phillies three games behind by winning tonight's game, 4-3, after handing Robin Roberts his hardest hammering of the season in a 7-4 afternoon contest.

Giving the Redbirds their 15th triumph in the last 19 games, young southpaw Harvey Haddix scored his 10th victory against only three defeats by hurling an eight-hitter in the dramatic night contest. Gerry Staley gained his 11th win against only two setbacks in the afternoon.

First prize is $200, second prize will be $125, the third place winner will collect $50 and $25 will go to the fourth place pro.

Teeing off time for the pro-am match and for players qualifying for the championship flight will be 1:00 p.m. Friday, July 3.

The qualifying rounds for amateurs will be 18 holes, medal play, and flights will consist of sixteen players each in the championship and first flights. These flights will play 18-hole matches and all other flights will consist of eight men and will play only 9-hole matches.

Prizes will be awarded to the medalist, the winner, runner-up and consolation winner in each flight.

The pro-amateur meet will consist of one professional and two amateurs, one amateur to be picked by the professional and the other will be drawn.

The Morehouse Parish golf course is a 9-hole layout, with 18 tees making each round playable from more difficult tees and different.

Past Kraft champions consist of Tommy Bolt and Fred Haas, professionals now who are high among the cash winners in the professional open tournaments. Other Kraft winners were Edwin McClure, former six-time state amateur champ, who won the second Kraft tourney in 1932; Jimmy McGonagill, another past state titleholder, who was the winner in 1936; Dickie Touchstone, Monroe club swinger, who was the winner in 1941; Bill Jones, Monroe toughie, who won in 1950; Lawrence Larcade, Opelousas, La., flash who is the only three-time winner of the meet—Larcade won in 1948, repeated in 1949, and again was the winner in 1951.

Richardson Easy Winner Of NCAA Net Championship

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—Hamilton Richardson, the Tulane Davis Cupper, did the expected today and won without difficulty the singles championship in the 69th annual NCAA Tennis Tournament.

But the unexpected came in the doubles when Bob Perry and Larry Huebner of UCLA upset the defending champions and top-seeded team of Cliff Mayne and Hugh Ditzler of California, 2-6, 2-6, 7-5, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Richardson, a six-footer sophomore, did it the easy way, defeating Ron Livingston of UCLA, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1, and thus kept alive his record of never having lost a singles set in college competition.

UCLA won the team title with 11 points, California finished second with six, followed by Tulane with five.

The consolation singles title went to Allan Call of Southern California who downed Tom Springer of Texas, 6-2, 6-3.

Richardson, ranked seventh by the United States Lawn Tennis Association and a Davis Cup team member for two years, encountered little trouble from Livingston, the surprise of the week-long tournament.

Richardson was top-rated in the singles field of 72 from 31 colleges and Livingston was unseeded, but the UCLA junior sent three seeded stars spinning in his rise to the finals.

Dempsey's Punch Made Clown Out Of Schacht

Baseball's inimitable clown prince, Al Schacht, will be adding to his 60,000,000 viewers when he appears at American Legion Stadium prior to Monday night's tussle between the Monroe Sports and the Greenville Bucks. That's the estimated number of onlookers who have witnessed the former baseball coach's diamond antics since he started the comic routine on a full-time basis in 1936.

Even Al's break-in on the business embodied comic aspects. It happened in '36 when he was a coach for the Boston Red Sox. Jack Dempsey was on hand during a Yankee-Bosox series in the Big Town and on this occasion, they decided to engage in a boxing exhibition, all in fun, of course.

Schacht, every inch a hero, made a jolly pass at the former heavyweight champion. Throwing a punch at Dempsey, even in jest, is like splitting the atom, you may cause a chain reaction. The reaction hit Schacht, pride of the Bronx, directly in the face.

Al fell on his left shoulder, breaking a blade and the crowd roared at the incident, thinking it only that.

As he was being carried off the diamond, he thought ruefully to himself,

"I can't eat all this applause ... but maybe I have something here. They may like this kind of humor throughout the nation."

So the recumbent Pagliacci of the diamond resolved then and there that he would resign coaching, concentrate on clowning. This he did. His earnings leaped from $6,000 annually to $45,000, a healthy boost.

Not only that, but the ex-Washington Nat, turned comedian, saved enough to buy himself a large restaurant on New York's 52nd Street, one of the showplaces of Manhattan.

The moral of the story is as plain as the nose on Schacht's face: Just let Jack Dempsey hit you once and your future worries will be over.

Ask Al Schacht.

Northeast State's 1953 football schedule was completed this week with the scheduling of a game here with the Southwestern Louisiana Institute Bulldogs of Lafayette on November 28, it was announced here yesterday by Athletic Director Arnold Kilpatrick of Northeast State. This gives the Indians a total of six games at home and four in other localities.

Kilpatrick completed arrangements with Southwestern athletic officials this past week in a trip to Lafayette, where he conferred with the coaches there regarding the contest.

With Southwestern on its opponent list, this gives the Northeast Staters one of the roughest schedules of the school's history. Northeast will become a member of the Gulf States Conference this fall and will play some of the most powerful gridiron aggregations in that loop, in addition to some of the foremost small-college teams in the nation.

Northeast will open its slate at home on September 19 against the Southeastern Lions of Hammond. Following a contest with Louisiana Tech in Ruston on September 26, the Indians will return to Monroe to play three games in a row before local football fans. October 3 remains an open date on the Indians' slate.

On October 10, Northeast will tangle with the fast McNeese State Cowboys of Lake Charles. Then Western Kentucky, considered one of the top teams in the country in small colleges, will come to Monroe on October 17. The Indians play Arkansas A. and M. of Monticello here on October 24.

Northeast will play Alabama State at Livingston, Ala. on October 31 and Northwestern State College's Demons on November 7 at Natchitoches. They return home again to play Louisiana College on November 14. Tennessee Tech, a formidable foe in anybody's league, is next on the list, with the game being played on November 21 at Cookeville, Tenn.

The game with Southwestern on November 28 in Monroe will complete the schedule.

Bannister Runs Third Fastest Mile On Record

LONDON, June 27. (AP)—Making a surprise assault on the legendary four-minute mile, lanky Roger Bannister of England today ran it today in 4:02—the third fastest of all time and only six-tenths of a second off Gunder Haegg's world record of 4:01.4.

A third quarter of 62.1 seconds dashed the hopes of the shy, 24—year old medical student of becoming the first man ever to achieve the "dream" mile of four minutes flat.

Although he was slightly bothered by a pulled thigh muscle suffered June 6 and the hot, muggy weather, the Briton ran the fastest mile since the Swedish great loped to his world record at Malmo, Sweden, July 17, 1945. Haegg's time was two-tenths of a second better than the world standard set by his countryman, Arne Anderson, a year before. Andersson, incidentally, was clocked in 4:02.2 when Haegg created his record.

Bannister, fifth in the Olympic 1,500 meter run, made his unheralded attempt in a paced race at a Surrey schoolboys' meet at Motspur Park. He wanted to achieve the "impossible" before America's Wes Santee went after the same goal later in the day in the AAU championships at Dayton, Ohio.

Roger had had turned in a 4:03.6 in London on May 3. Santee broke the American record with a 4:02.4 performance in California June 5.

Rawls And Pung Play For Title As Berg Fades

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—Betsy Rawls, a trim-figured Texan who represents Spartanburg, S. C., in professional golf, and Mrs. Jackie Pung, a 210-pound Hawaiian housewife who registers from Glasgow, Ky., will clash tomorrow in an 18-hole playoff for the United States Women's Open Golf Championship.

In a tension-packed finish, they tied at the end of the regulation 72 holes with scores of 302, beating out Chicago's Patty Berg, the veteran pro to whom almost everyone had conceded the title after only 36 holes.

While Miss Berg, frittered away an eight stroke lead, the long-driving Mrs. Pung and steady Miss Rawls played their best golf on the steaming-hot last day.

Betsy had an even par 74 in the morning and a 75 in the afternoon, playing under extreme pressure as the other two contenders finished well ahead of her. Rotund Jackie, showing the way, had 76 and 74.

But for an 80 on her first round, Mrs. Pung, winner of the Women's Amateur title last fall, could have taken the first women's United States Golf Association Open. Her four rounds over the 6,417-yard, par 37-37—74 Country Club of Rochester course were 80-72-76-74.

Miss Berg, who set a course record of 71 on the first round and followed it with a 73, collapsed completely today. She played badly for an 80 in the morning, rallied briefly at the start of the afternoon round, then skidded again for a 79 and a 303 total.

The winner of tomorrow's playoff will take down $2,000 prize money and the loser $1,250. Miss Rawls, leading money winner on the circuit last season, has $8,734 in tournament winnings this season and Mrs. Pung $4,562. Miss Berg, second in cash collections this year, took $1,000 third money.

These three virtually outclassed the rest of the small field. Fourth place and $750 went to veteran pro Betty Jameson, San Antonio Tex., with 312. Atlanta's Louise Suggs, winner of the Women's Open last year when it was conducted by the ladies' PGA, finished in tenth place with 317 after an 82 on her final round.

Kraft Golf Tournament Opens Friday At Bastrop

Morrow Defends His Title In 19th Annual Golf Meet

The Nineteenth Annual Kraft Paper Golf Tournament gets under way at Morehouse Golf and Country Club at Bastrop Friday at 1 p.m.

Little Tommy Morrow, of Shreveport, La., and a member of the L. S. U. golfing team, is the defending champion and will be on hand to defend his title in what is shaping up to be the fastest field in the history of the tournament.

Qualifying for all flights except the championship started Saturday, June 20, for the $1,500 in amateur prizes, and players desiring to try for medalist honors and the championship flight must qualify Friday, July 3, only.

Also on the agenda for Friday is the largest pro-amateur tournament ever held in this neck of the woods. Cash totaling $400 will be divided among the four professionals finishing with the low scores for 18 holes. First prize is $200, second prize will be $125, the third place winner will collect $50 and $25 will go to the fourth place pro.

Teeing off time for the pro-am match and for players qualifying for the championship flight will be 1:00 p.m. Friday, July 3.

The qualifying rounds for amateurs will be 18 holes, medal play, and flights will consist of sixteen players each in the championship and first flights. These flights will play 18-hole matches and all other flights will consist of eight men and will play only 9-hole matches.

Prizes will be awarded to the medalist, the winner, runner-up and consolation winner in each flight.

The pro-amateur meet will consist of one professional and two amateurs, one amateur to be picked by the professional and the other will be drawn.

The Morehouse Parish golf course is a 9-hole layout, with 18 tees making each round playable from more difficult tees and different.

Past Kraft champions consist of Tommy Bolt and Fred Haas, professionals now who are high among the cash winners in the professional open tournaments. Other Kraft winners were Edwin McClure, former six-time state amateur champ, who won the second Kraft tourney in 1932; Jimmy McGonagill, another past state titleholder, who was the winner in 1936; Dickie Touchstone, Monroe club swinger, who was the winner in 1941; Bill Jones, Monroe toughie, who won in 1950; Lawrence Larcade, Opelousas, La., flash who is the only three-time winner of the meet—Larcade won in 1948, repeated in 1949, and again was the winner in 1951.

Relay Scramble To Top Tuesday Wrestling Card

Richardson Easy Winner Of NCAA Net Championship

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 27 (AP) —Hamilton Richardson, the Tulane Davis Cupper, did the expected today and won without difficulty the singles championship in the 69th annual NCAA Tennis Tournament.

But the unexpected came in the doubles when Bob Perry and Larry Huebner of UCLA upset the defending champions and top-seeded team of Cliff Mayne and Hugh Ditzler of California, 2-6, 2-6, 7-5, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Richardson, a six-footer sophomore, did it the easy way, defeating Ron Livingston of UCLA, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1, and thus kept alive his record of never having lost a singles set in college competition.

UCLA won the team title with 11 points, California finished second with six, followed by Tulane with five.

The consolation singles title went to Allan Call of Southern California who downed Tom Springer of Texas, 6-2, 6-3.

Richardson, ranked seventh by the United States Lawn Tennis Association and a Davis Cup team member for two years, encountered little trouble from Livingston, the surprise of the week-long tournament.

Richardson was top-rated in the singles field of 72 from 31 colleges and Livingston was unseeded, but the UCLA junior sent three seeded stars spinning in his rise to the finals.

Reds Score Ten Runs In Seventh To Rout Pirates

CINCINNATI, June 27. (AP)—A ten-run seventh inning sparked the Cincinnati Reds to an easy 15-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today. Ted Kluszewski hit a single, double and home run to pace the Reds' 16-hit attack. His homer boosted his National League lead to 22.

Northeast State's 1953 football schedule was completed this week with the scheduling of a game here with the Southwestern Louisiana Institute Bulldogs of Lafayette on November 28, it was announced here yesterday by Athletic Director Arnold Kilpatrick of Northeast State. This gives the Indians a total of six games at home and four in other localities.

Kilpatrick completed arrangements with Southwestern athletic officials this past week in a trip to Lafayette, where he conferred with the coaches there regarding the contest.

With Southwestern on its opponent list, this gives the Northeast Staters one of the roughest schedules of the school's history. Northeast will become a member of the Gulf States Conference this fall and will play some of the most powerful gridiron aggregations in that loop, in addition to some of the foremost small-college teams in the nation.

Northeast will open its slate at home on September 19 against the Southeastern Lions of Hammond. Following a contest with Louisiana Tech in Ruston on September 26, the Indians will return to Monroe to play three games in a row before local football fans. October 3 remains an open date on the Indians' slate.

On October 10, Northeast will tangle with the fast McNeese State Cowboys of Lake Charles. Then Western Kentucky, considered one of the top teams in the country in small colleges, will come to Monroe on October 17. The Indians play Arkansas A. and M. of Monticello here on October 24.

Northeast will play Alabama State at Livingston, Ala. on October 31 and Northwestern State College's Demons on November 7 at Natchitoches. They return home again to play Louisiana College on November 14. Tennessee Tech, a formidable foe in anybody's league, is next on the list, with the game being played on November 21 at Cookeville, Tenn.

The game with Southwestern on November 28 in Monroe will complete the schedule.

Dempsey's Punch Made Clown Out Of Schacht

Baseball's inimitable clown prince, Al Schacht, will be adding to his 60,000,000 viewers when he appears at American Legion Stadium prior to Monday night's tussle between the Monroe Sports and the Greenville Bucks. That's the estimated number of onlookers who have witnessed the former baseball coach's diamond antics since he started the comic routine on a full-time basis in 1936.

Even Al's break-in on the business embodied comic aspects. It happened in '36 when he was a coach for the Boston Red Sox. Jack Dempsey was on hand during a Yankee-Bosox series in the Big Town and on this occasion, they decided to engage in a boxing exhibition, all in fun, of course.

Schacht, every inch a hero, made a jolly pass at the former heavyweight champion. Throwing a punch at Dempsey, even in jest, is like splitting the atom, you may cause a chain reaction. The reaction hit Schacht, pride of the Bronx, directly in the face.

Al fell on his left shoulder, breaking a blade and the crowd roared at the incident, thinking it only that.

As he was being carried off the diamond, he thought ruefully to himself,

"I can't eat all this applause ... but maybe I have something here. They may like this kind of humor throughout the nation."

So the recumbent Pagliacci of the diamond resolved then and there that he would resign coaching, concentrate on clowning. This he did. His earnings leaped from $6,000 annually to $45,000, a healthy boost.

Not only that, but the ex-Washington Nat, turned comedian, saved enough to buy himself a large restaurant on New York's 52nd Street, one of the showplaces of Manhattan.

The moral of the story is as plain as the nose on Schacht's face: Just let Jack Dempsey hit you once and your future worries will be over.

Ask Al Schacht.

Bannister Runs Third Fastest Mile On Record

LONDON, June 27. (AP)—Making a surprise assault on the legendary four-minute mile, lanky Roger Bannister of England today ran it today in 4:02—the third fastest of all time and only six-tenths of a second off Gunder Haegg's world record of 4:01.4.

A third quarter of 62.1 seconds dashed the hopes of the shy, 24-year old medical student of becoming the first man ever to achieve the "dream" mile of four minutes flat.

Although he was slightly bothered by a pulled thigh muscle suffered June 6 and the hot, muggy weather, the Briton ran the fastest mile since the Swedish great loped to his world record at Malmo, Sweden, July 17, 1945. Haegg's time was two-tenths of a second better than the world standard set by his countryman, Arne Anderson, a year before. Andersson, incidentally, was clocked in 4:02.2 when Haegg created his record.

Bannister, fifth in the Olympic 1,500 meter run, made his unheralded attempt in a paced race at a Surrey schoolboys' meet at Motspur Park. He wanted to achieve the "impossible" before America's Wes Santee went after the same goal later in the day in the AAU championships at Dayton, Ohio.

Roger had had turned in a 4:03.6 in London on May 3. Santee broke the American record with a 4:02.4 performance in California June 5.

Rawls And Pung Play For Title As Berg Fades

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 27 (AP) —Betsy Rawls, a trim-figured Texan who represents Spartanburg, S. C., in professional golf, and Mrs. Jackie Pung, a 210-pound Hawaiian housewife who registers from Glasgow, Ky., will clash tomorrow in an 18-hole playoff for the United States Women's Open Golf Championship.

In a tension-packed finish, they tied at the end of the regulation 72 holes with scores of 302, beating out Chicago's Patty Berg, the veteran pro to whom almost everyone had conceded the title after only 36 holes.

While Miss Berg, frittered away an eight stroke lead, the long-driving Mrs. Pung and steady Miss Rawls played their best golf on the steaming-hot last day.

Betsy had an even par 74 in the morning and a 75 in the afternoon, playing under extreme pressure as the other two contenders finished well ahead of her. Rotund Jackie, showing the way, had 76 and 74.

But for an 80 on her first round, Mrs. Pung, winner of the Women's Amateur title last fall, could have taken the first women's United States Golf Association Open. Her four rounds over the 6,417-yard, par 37-37—74 Country Club of Rochester course were 80-72-76-74.

Miss Berg, who set a course record of 71 on the first round and followed it with a 73, collapsed completely today. She played badly for an 80 in the morning, rallied briefly at the start of the afternoon round, then skidded again for a 79 and a 303 total.

The winner of tomorrow's playoff will take down $2,000 prize money and the loser $1,250. Miss Rawls, leading money winner on the circuit last season, has $8,734 in tournament winnings this season and Mrs. Pung $4,562. Miss Berg, second in cash collections this year, took $1,000 third money.

These three virtually outclassed the rest of the small field. Fourth place and $750 went to veteran pro Betty Jameson, San Antonio Tex., with 312. Atlanta's Louise Suggs, winner of the Women's Open last year when it was conducted by the ladies' PGA, finished in tenth place with 317 after an 82 on her final round.

Natchez Indians May Relinquish Loop Franchise

Must Have 12,000 Tickets Sold For Balance Of Year

NATCHEZ, Miss., June 27 (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Natchez baseball club said today it would fold on July 15 unless fans assured an attendance of 12,000 for the rest of the Cotton States League season.

The statement was issued as the Greenville Bucks beat the Indians 10-5 before a paid attendance of [illegible]1 fans in the first game of a day-night doubleheader. The average paid attendance at home through last Thursday was 362.

Tom Glennon, the club's general manager, said the Cass C club has repeatedly lost money during its last four years of operation, despite the fact that it has been in the post-season playoffs four times and has won the playoff twice in those four years. The club shows a deficit of $9,000 already this season, Glennon said.

Glennon said the only way the club can continue its operation in Natchez is if 12,000 paid attendance can be guaranteed for the rest of the season which closes Aug. 26.

He said a committee would be formed to contact people throughout the city, offering a coupon book for $10 which will be good for 12 admissions to any games this season.

Glennon said the 12,000 admission would cover the already-existing $9,000 deficit for the season.

"We put it up to you, not threatingly or belligerently, but as a simple, direct question. Do you, the public of Natchez, want professional baseball to continue here?" the statement asked.

If the books are not slod, Glennon said, "it will be necessary for the club to terminate its operation and forfeit its Cotton States League franchise."

Gennon said once the franchise was forfeited, it may take years to regain it, if ever.

Glennon said it is an accepted fact throughout minor league baseball that a seasonal attendance of 70,000 is required to break even in a Class C operation.

Glennon cited figures for the past three seasons. In 1951, he said, the club, which finished third in league play, drew 35,108 fans and had a losing deficit of $5,264.11. In 1950, when the club finished fourth in the standings, the attendance was 44,310, and although the figure represented a gain of more than 9,000 admissions, the club still had a deficit of $5,223.04, Glennon said.

Attendance in 1951 jumped to 57,814, Glennon said, but the club still showed a deficit of $2,685.41, finishing fourth in the standings.

Last season, Glennon said, the club suffered its greatest deficit although drawing 50,345 paid admissions. The deficit was $5,266.02 although the club finished fourth in league play.

CLEVELAND, June 27. (AP)—Ted Kroll, 33-year-old New Hartford, N. Y., professional, stormed out of the pack with a par-busting 68 today to take a one-stroke lead at the end of 54 holes in the 72-hole, $15,000 Manakiki Open Golf Tournament.

Kroll, with three sub-par rounds, hit the three-quarter mark a dozen under par as he passed Jackie Burke, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., leader the first two days. The Hartford hot-shot, wounded four times in the late war, goes into tomorrow's final with 204 to Burke's 205.

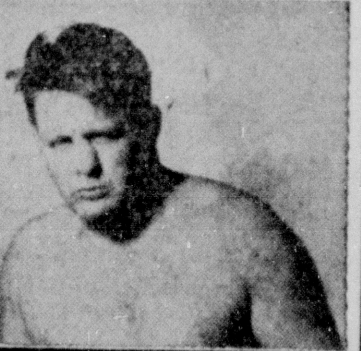
Joe Corbett of San Francisco, Cal. Said-I like wrestling-I like to watch others and I like to do it myself. I like to hear the loosers complain and when I get beat, I am just like most of them, I like to find some excuses too. A few weeks ago Al Massey and I, met Babe Zaharias and his partner Irish Jack Kelly in the tag team match and I just have to admit that they defeated us. Instead of offering a long string of excuses-I just like to challenge Zaharias and Kelly for return match: I already have talked to Al Massey about it and he is ready for it.

Babe Zaharias of Colorado. Was notified about a challenge for return match, Babe said, If I can get Kelly for my partner, I just be glad to come back for return tag team match.



Irish Jack Kelly-Pride of the Yankees. In one part of his statement-He said-It is my great pleasure to come back to Monroe and accommodate those two cry babies in the tag team match-With a partner like Babe Zaharias-Also the Yankee, Massey and Corbett team don't have no chance to win.

Johnson Leaves Ouachita, Takes Newellton Post

Johnny Johnson, backfield coach at Ouachita Parish High School here, yesterday resigned his position with the Monroe school to accept a job as head football coach at Newellton Hgh School.

Johnson, a graduate of O. P. H. S., attended Northeast Louisiana State and Centenary College. He coached two years at Neville High School here and had been on Coach Jim Hodgins' staff at Ouachita for the past three years.

"The Newellton offer was too good to pass up," Johnson said last night. "I had to take it."

Johnson replaces Coach Bolton who left Newellton to enter grocery business with his father-in-law at Hammond.

Yanks Drop 6th Straight

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Cleveland's Mike Garcia humbled the dazed New York Yankees today, 5-0, for the world champs' sixth straight defeat, longest in the five-year regime of Manager Casey Stengel.

As a result of Cleveland's rough handling of Eddie Lopat, the Yanks' American league lead was cut to seven full games by the onrushing Tribe. It was Lopat's first defeat since July 2, 1952, when Boston did the trick. Since then he had won 13 in a row, including eight this season.

Not since 1945 when the Yanks dropped nine in a row has the club lost as many as six. The previous high under Stengel was five, set last July and tied last night.

Ripe Bronx boos greeted Mickey Mantle when he came up in the eighth to break his string of hitless trips at 14 with a single to right. A good portion of the crowd of 33,030, that brought the two-day attendance to 88,502, seemed to enjoy watching the Yanks squirm in defeat. Maybe the panic isn't on yet, but it won't take too much more, despite the still-comfortable lead.

Joe Frazier Going Strong In Bat Race

DALLAS, June 27 (AP)—Taken all the way around, Joe Frazier, Oklahoma iCty outfielder, is having quite a season in the Texas League. If the Indians had another one like him they might be knocking at the door instead of wallowing around in the vicinity of the cellar.

Big Joe continues a long lead in batting, tops in doubles and may be on the way to a new league record for the two-baggers, has pounded 57 runs across the plate and clouted for 159 total bases at the halfway mark.

Frazier's .376 in batting gives him a 21-point bulge over Howard E. Phillips of Houston, who, however, has played in less than half as many games as Frazier, and 32 points over Earle Brucker of Beaumont, the nearest "regular." Jolting Joe has 31 doubles.

Wildlife Group Registers Beef On Cooperation

The board of directors of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Unit, evidently displeased with the discharge of two thirds of the game ranger staff in this parish, has registered a protest with the seven-man state conservation commission.

Floyd Martin, unit president, following a board meeting attended by I. W. Rogers, vice president, A. S. "Bud" Tidwell, Jr., secre-J. M. Johnson, Jr., "Red" Entrician, Charles Womack, and Mose Bayles, said the unit "expects better cooperation between the state department and wildlife units. We have only one game ranger at present in a parish (Ouachita) that we feel deserves at least four."

There have been rumors of some unit members wanting to withdraw from the state organization, it was reported, and prominent Ouachita sportsmen promising financial backing to help the unit along an independent way.

The board went into no personalities on complaining about the commission's operations, but apparently is indignant over the recent disposal of Jewel McKeller and "Chili" Baur as game rangers.

Bayles, chairman of the Ouachita police jury's conservation committee as well as a member of the unit, expressed the opinion "there has been a lack of cooperation" of the commission with the wildlife unit.

The Ouachita unit has scheduled a luncheon for its members here July 15 when Jerry Besson, member of the seven-man state commission, witll be present along with Charles Bosch, executive secretary of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, and Harry Hickman, state wildlife president.

All Ouachita unit members planning to attend the luncheon should contact Martin, Tidwell or Thoman, the latter chairman of the luncheon committee, for reservations since it must be known well in advance how many plan to attend.

Winnsboro Gives Quick Support To Little Loop

By OTIS B. HASSELL

WINNSBORO, La., June 27—(Special)—This season is Winnsboro's first in the nationwide Little League baseball program and judged by any standard, the project here is a rousing success.

Fifty-nine youngsters comprising the four-squad league up to Friday had produced no less than 201 runs—some 25 per game—in four double headers since the campaign opened June 12. That the fans like the free-scoring battles is evidenced by the capacity crowds that watch the games at the field on the high school campus.

Teams making up the loop are the Triple-M, sponsored by James Mays, Frank Massoney and Demarcus McDuff; Jitney-Jungle, by J. W. McLemore, Sr., J. W. McLemore, Jr., and Quinten McLemore; V. F. W., by the Hanna-Richardson Post No. 3155, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Independents, by a group of Winnsboro businessmen.

Up to Friday night's twin bill, Triple-M led the league with three wins and one loss. In second place was Jitney-Jungle with two wins, a tie and a loss; the V. F. W. rested in third place with a win, a tie and two losses and the Independents were in the cellar with one win and three defeats.

The Little League organization here is headed by Joe Pankey, with Quinten McLemore serving as vice-president and Charles Varnado, Jr., as secretary-treasurer.

Teams are composed as follows:

Chicago Bears Land California's Beal

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The Chicago Bears announced today the signing of Bob Beal, speedy University of California end, for the (1953) National Football League season.

Beal, who stands six feet three inches and weighs 205 pounds, can run 100 yards in 10 seconds, the club said.

The Bears also announced signing of Billy Stone, veteran halfback.

Martin Holds Own; Coss, Harrington Show Gains

By J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., June 27. (Special)—Hal Martin, slugging Hot Springs outfielder, picked up a point last week in his drive to get back into the .400 realm as betting leader of the Cotton States League.

In 30 times at bat the Spa star cracked out 12 hits and wound up the June 23 period with .393, as released Saturday by the Friend News Service.

Martin's biggest gain was in the slugging department, where he hopes to erase a 22-year-old home run record. Hal blasted five more four masters to run his season total to 16, and just 14 shy of the total of 40 set by Ralph Winegarner for El Dorado in 1930.

Banks McDowell, Meridian outfielder, back regularly again, has the second highest plate average at .366, a drop from .400 last week on the strength of 3 for 17. Roger Rada, new Greenville first baseman, is banging away at .362 in 31 games. One of his dozen safeties was a grand slam homer, his first circuit clout of the year. Pat O'Keefe, El Dorado first baseman, is pressing him at .361, a gain of 23 points with 26-12.

Monroe's manager, Charley Harrington, is not letting the sad plight of his Sports affect his batting average. He fired 25-13 for the week, getting at least one bingle in all seven contests, and skied his mace mark to a healthy .351. He took over the lead in triples, seven, with a pair. One of his hirelings, Ray Coss, continued his terrific pace, with 29-14 and piled on 35 decimals to .350 in 38 outings. Pel Austin, El Dorado's bruising outfielder, is rapidly regaining his batting eye. He posted 30-13 and landed him in the No. 8 spot with .348. He is followed by Bob Adcock, Hot Springs pasture guardian, with .336. Hugh Gaze, Meridian second baseman, completed the upper 10 with .335, down eight points.

Mike Garone, Greenville outfielder, is progressing merrily towards Jimmy Morgan's consecutive batting streak of 42 games. Through Tuesday night the Buck star had racked up 31, starting back on May 25. He is currently hitting .318.

Two losses by the leading pitcher, Bobby Harrison, claimed the biggest pitching item last week. The Meridian ace dropped a decision to Bob Pickens, Pine Bluff, Sunday, then failed in a fireman role against Hot Springs the following night. He now has 12-4. Pickens has a 7-1 record. Beverly (Chuck) Gross, Meridian, has won his four decisions. Bill Brightwell, El Dorado's converted catcher, has copped three in relief. Two pitchers joined the 10-game winning circle: Tom Pollet, Greenville, 10-3; and Hugh Blanton, Monroe, 10-6. John Pau Jones, Jackson, has 8-3. Herninio Cortes, Greenville, has 5-1; Clyde Baldwin, El Dorado, 6-2; Jimmy Dupuy, Meridian, 7-3. Harrison has fanned 105 in 133 innings. Closest to him in the whiff race is Roy Jayne with 78. Jackson is the club batting leader with .278. Meridian is tops defensively with .964.

Washington State's Ace Joins Cardinals

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Hal Lokovsek, versatile Washington State lineman, has signed a 1953 pro football contract with the Chicago Cardinals, the club announced today.

Williams Coming Home, May Be Out Of Service Soon

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIR WING, Korea, June 27. (AP)—Capt. Ted Williams, a veteran of 38 missions in Korea, has been ordered back to the Unites States by marine flight surgeons for treatment of an ear and nose ailment, a marine corps spokesman said today.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, who has been piloting marine panther jets in Korea for 5½ months, was grounded June 10. The spokesman siad the 35-year old pilot would leave for the U. S. within a few days. Just this week, the rangy athlete, who served three years as a marine pilot instructor at Pensacola, Fla., in World War II, was awarded three air medals for his missions.

(In Boston, the American quoted Maj. Beldon Lidyard, head of the marine corps personnel department in Washington, as saying Williams would not be held in service after Sept. 1 unless he requests it. Lidyard described such a request as "improbable."

(Thus the $100,000 a year outfielder might be available to play with the Red Sox in the last month of the season.

(In Boston, Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau said if Williams is discharged in time to play in September, "It would not take him long to get in shape."

(The American said marine officers are required to serve a minimum of 17 months but this sometimes can be reduced by using accumulated leave. Williams went on active duty in May, 1952).

Natchez Indians May Relinquish Loop Franchise

Must Have 12,000 Tickets Sold For Balance Of Year

NATCHEZ, Miss., June 27 (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Natchez baseball club said today it would fold on July 15 unless fans assured an attendance of 12,000 for the rest of the Cotton States League season.

The statement was issued as the Greenville Bucks beat the Indians 10-5 before a paid attendance of 91 fans in the first game of a day-night doubleheader. The average paid attendance at home through last Thursday was 362.

Tom Glennon, the club's general manager, said the Cass C club has repeatedly lost money during its last four years of operation, despite the fact that it has been in the post-season playoffs four times and has won the playoff twice in those four years. The club shows a deficit of $9,000 already this season, Glennon said.

Glennon said the only way the club can continue its opération in Natchez is if 12,000 paid attendance can be guaranteed for the rest of the season which closes Aug. 26.

He said a committee would be formed to contact people throughout the city, offering a coupon book for $10 which will be good for 12 admissions to any games this season.

Glennon said the 12,000 admission would cover the already-existing $9,000 deficit for the season.

"We put it up to you, not threatingly or belligerently, but as a simple, direct question. Do you, the public of Natchez, want professional baseball to continue here?" the statement asked.

If the books are not slod, Glennon said, "it will be necessary for the club to terminate its operation and forfeit its Cotton States League franchise."

Gennon said once the franchise was forfeited, it may take years to regain it, if ever.

Glennon said it is an accepted fact throughout minor league baseball that a seasonal attendance of 70,000 is required to break even in a Class C operation.

Glennon cited figures for the past three seasons. In 1951, he said, the club, which finished third in league play, drew 35,198 fans and had a losing deficit of $5,264.11. In 1950, when the club finished fourth in the standings, the attendance was 44,310, and although the figure represented a gain of more than 9,000 admissions, the club still had a deficit of $5,223.04, Glennon said.

Attendance in 1951 jumped to 57,814, Glennon said, but the club still showed a deficit of $2,685.41, finishing fourth in the standings.

Last season, Glennon said, the club suffered its greatest deficit although drawing 50,345 paid admissions. The deficit was $5,266.02 although the club finished fourth in league play.

I like to hear the loosers complain and when I get beat, I am just like most of them, I like to find some excuses too. Instead of offering a long string of excuses-I just like to challenge Zaharias and Kelly for return match: I already have talked to Al Massey about it and he is ready for it.

Yanks Drop 6th Straight

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Cleveland's Mike Garcia humbled the dazed New York Yankees today, 5-0, for the world champs' sixth straight defeat, longest in the five-year regime of Manager Casey Stengel.

As a result of Cleveland's rough handling of Eddie Lopat, the Yanks' American league lead was cut to seven full games by the onrushing Tribe. It was Lopat's first defeat since July 2, 1952, when Boston did the trick. Since then he had won 13 in a row, including eight this season.

Not since 1945 when the Yanks dropped nine in a row has the club lost as many as six. The previous high under Stengel was five, set last July and tied last night.

Ripe Bronx boos greeted Mickey Mantle when he came up in the eighth to break his string of hitless trips at 14 with a single to right. A good portion of the crowd of 33,030, that brought the two-day attendance to 88,502, seemed to enjoy watching the Yanks squirm in defeat. Maybe the panic isn't on yet, but it won't take too much more, despite the still-comfortable lead.

Joe Frazier Going Strong In Bat Race

DALLAS, June 27 (AP)—Taken all the way around, Joe Frazier, Oklahoma lCty outfielder, is having quite a season in the Texas League. If the Indians had another one like him they might be knocking at the door instead of wallowing around in the vicinity of the cellar.

Big Joe continues a long lead in batting, tops in doubles and may be on the way to a new league record for the two-baggers, has pounded 57 runs across the plate and clouted for 159 total bases at the halfway mark.

Frazier's .376 in batting gives him a 21-point bulge over Howard E. Phillips of Houston, who, however, has played in less than half as many games as Frazier, and 32 points over Earle Brucker of Beaumont, the nearest "regular." Jolting Joe has 31 doubles.

Johnson Leaves Ouachita, Takes Newellton Post

Johnny Johnson, backfield coach at Ouachita Parish High School here, yesterday resigned his position with the Monroe school to accept a job as head football coach at Newellton High School.

Johnson, a graduate of O. P. H. S., attended Northeast Louisiana State and Centenary College. He coached two years at Neville High School here and had been on Coach Jim Hodgins' staff at Ouachita for the past three years.

"The Newellton offer was too good to pass up," Johnson said last night. "I had to take it."

Johnson replaces Coach Bolton who left Newellton to enter grocery business with his father-in-law at Hammond.

Wildlife Group Registers Beef On Cooperation

The board of directors of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Unit, evidently displeased with the discharge of two thirds of the game ranger staff in this parish, has registered a protest with the seven-man state conservation commission.

Floyd Martin, unit president, following a board meeting attended by I. W. Rogers, vice president, A. S. "Bud" Tidwell, Jr., secre- J. M. Johnson, Jr., "Red" Entrician, Charles Womack, and Mose Bayles, said the unit "expects better cooperation between the state department and wildlife units. We have only one game ranger at present in a parish (Ouachita) that we feel deserves at least four."

There have been rumors of some unit members wanting to withdraw from the state organization, it was reported, and prominent Ouachita sportsmen promising financial backing to help the unit along an independent way.

The board went into no personalities on complaining about the commission's operations, but apparently is indignant over the recent disposal of Jewel McKeller and "Chili" Baur as game rangers.

Bayles, chairman of the Ouachita police jury's conservation committee as well as a member of the unit, expressed the opinion "there has been a lack of cooperation" of the commission with the wildlife unit.

The Ouachita unit has scheduled a luncheon for its members here July 15 when Jerry Besson, member of the seven-man state commission, will be present along with Charles Bosch, executive secretary of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, and Harry Hickman, state wildlife president.

All Ouachita unit members planning to attend the luncheon should contact Martin, Tidwell or Thoman, the latter chairman of the luncheon committee, for reservations since it must be known well in advance how many plan to attend.

Winnsboro Gives Quick Support To Little Loop

By OTIS B. HASSELL

WINNSBORO, La., June 27—(Special)—This season is Winnsboro's first in the nationwide Little League baseball program and judged by any standard, the project here is a rousing success.

Fifty-nine youngsters comprising the four-squad league up to Friday had produced no less than 201 runs—some 25 per game—in four double headers since the campaign opened June 12. That the fans like the free-scoring battles is evidenced by the capacity crowds that watch the games at the field on the high school campus.

Teams making up the loop are the Triple-M, sponsored by James Mays, Frank Massoney and Demarcus McDuff; Jitney-Jungle, by J. W. McLemore, Sr., J. W. McLemore, Jr., and Quinten McLemore; V. F. W., by the Hanna-Richardson Post No. 3155, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Independents, by a group of Winnsboro businessmen.

Up to Friday night's twin bill, Triple-M led the league with three wins and one loss. In second place was Jitney-Jungle with two wins, a tie and a loss; the V. F. W. rested in third place with a win, a tie and two losses and the Independents were in the cellar with one win and three defeats.

The Little League organization here is headed by Joe Pankey, with Quinten McLemore serving as vice-president and Charles Varnado, Jr., as secretary-treasurer.

Teams are composed as follows:

Triple-M—Johnny Nelson, Jimmy Cupp, Jerry Johnston, Steve Kemp, Jerry Jones, Leon Brown, Pete Moore, Wayne Leforge, George Lebrannon, Bill Lofton, Cleveland Wiggins, Jr., Frank Massoney, Jr., Danny Magee and Jim Jones.

Independents — Roger Boyle, Dickie Singer, Billy Ray Wilson, Devayd Boutwell, Charles Kendall, Roy Peoples, Burton Boyle, Ralph Buflin, Glenn Milburn, Charles Mock, Clifton Smith, Jr., Joe Byron Henry, Thurman Dickey, Tom Hatfield and Frank Peoples.

Jitney-Jungle — Robert Alpe, John Singer, Sammy Calhoun, Jimmie Durr, Jr., Ronal Hammett, Henry Lowentritt, Michael Tucker, James McDuff, Roger McLemore, Richard Robertson, Jimmie Stringer, Julian Kendall, James McLemore, Randy Shirley and Buddy Livingston.

Chicago Bears Land California's Beal

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The Chicago Bears announced today the signing of Bob Beal, speedy University of California end, for the (1953) National Football League season.

Beal, who stands six feet three inches and weighs 205 pounds, can run 100 yards in 10 seconds, the club said.

The Bears also announced signing of Billy Stone, veteran halfback.

Martin Holds Own; Coss, Harrington Show Gains

By J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., June 27. (Special)—Hal Martin, slugging Hot Springs outfielder, picked up a point last week in his drive to get back into the .400 realm as betting leader of the Cotton States League.

In 30 times at bat the Spa star cracked out 12 hits and wound up the June 23 period with .393, as released Saturday by the Friend News Service.

Martin's biggest gain was in the slugging department, where he hopes to erase a 22-year-old home run record. Hal blasted five more four masters to run his season total to 16, and just 14 shy of the total of 40 set by Ralph Winegarner for El Dorado in 1930.

Banks McDowell, Meridian outfielder, back regularly again, has the second highest plate average at .366, a drop from .400 last week on the strength of 3 for 17. Roger Rada, new Greenville first baseman, is banging away at .362 in 31 games. One of his dozen safeties was a grand slam homer, his first circuit clout of the year. Pat O'Keefe, El Dorado first baseman, is pressing him at .361, a gain of 28 points with 26-12.

Monroe's manager, Charley Harrington, is not letting the sad plight of his Sports affect his batting average. He fired 25-13 for the week, getting at least one bingle in all seven contests, and skied his mace mark to a healthy .351. He took over the lead in triples, seven, with a pair. One of his hirelings, Ray Coss, continued his terrific pace, with 29-14 and piled on 35 decimals to .350 in 33 outings. Pel Austin, El Dorado's bruising outfielder, is rapidly regaining his batting eye. He posted 30-13 and landed him in the No. 8 spot with .348. He is followed by Bob Adcock, Hot Springs pasture guardian, with .336. Hugh Gaze, Meridian second baseman, completed the upper 10 with .335, down eight points.

Mike Garone, Greenville outfielder, is progressing merrily towards Jimmy Morgan's consecutive batting streak of 42 games. Through Tuesday night the Buck star had racked up 31, starting back on May 25. He is currently hitting .318.

Two losses by the leading pitcher, Bobby Harrison, claimed the biggest pitching item last week. The Meridian ace dropped a decision to Bob Pickens, Pine Bluff, Sunday, then failed in a fireman role against Hot Springs the following night. He now has 12-4. Pickens has a 7-1 record. Beverly (Chuck) Gross, Meridian, has won his four decisions. Bill Brightwell, El Dorado's converted catcher, has copped three in relief. Two pitchers joined the 10-game winning circle: Tom Pollet, Greenville, 10-3; and Hugh Blanton, Monroe, 10-6. John Pau Jones, Jackson, has 8-3. Herninio Cortes, Greenville, has 5-1; Clyde Baldwin, El Dorado, 6-2; Jimmy Dupuy, Meridian, 7-3. Harrison has fanned 105 in 133 innings. Closest to him in the whiff race is Roy Jayne with 78. Jackson is the club batting leader with .278. Meridian is tops defensively with .964.

Williams Coming Home, May Be Out Of Service Soon

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIR WING, Korea, June 27. (AP)—Capt. Ted Williams, a veteran of 38 missions in Korea, has been ordered back to the Unites States by marine flight surgeons for treatment of an ear and nose ailment, a marine corps spokesman said today.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, who has been piloting marine panther jets in Korea for 5½ months, was grounded June 10. The spokesman siad the 35-year old pilot would leave for the U. S. within a few days. Just this week, the rangy athlete, who served three years as a marine pilot instructor at Pensacola, Fla., in World War II, was awarded three air medals for his missions.

(In Boston, the American quoted Maj. Beldon Lidyard, head of the marine corps personnel department in Washington, as saying Williams would not be held in service after Sept. 1 unless he requests it. Lidyard described such a request as "improbable."

(Thus the $100,000 a year outfielder might be available to play with the Red Sox in the last month of the season.

(In Boston, Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau said if Williams is discharged in time to play in September, "It would not take him long to get in shape."

(The American said marine officers are required to serve a minimum of 17 months but this sometimes can be reduced by using accumulated leave. Williams went on active duty in May, 1952).

First Conviction In Architecture Case Is Obtained

The first conviction in Louisiana under state laws governing the practice of architecture has been recorded, Marshall H. Walker, of Shreveport, president of the north Louisiana chapter of the American Institute of Architects, said Saturday.

Dalton B. Shourds, a partner in the architectural and engineering firm of Shourds - Mogabgab in New Orleans, was convicted in Orleans criminal district court on two counts of violating the laws governing the parctice of architecture.

Judge William J. O'Hara found him guilty of twice having "advertised" himself and his partner, Eugene Mogabgab, as architects and using the term architect to describe himself without being duly licensed as an architect in Louisiana.

He was sentenced to pay fines totaling $750 or serve 30 days in the parish prison.

His counsel, Girard Fernandez, announced that the conviction and sentence would be appealed.

Shourds was acquitted by Judge O'Hara on eight similar counts alleged in the state's charge against him and Mogabgab which was filed Nov. 13, 1950, at the request of the New Orleans chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

The trial of Mogabgab has been repeatedly posptoned because of the serious illness of the defendant and is still pending, according to first assistant district attorney, Edward A. Haggerty. Shourds was prosecuted by Haggerty and attorney Edward J. Boyle, assisting the state as special counsel.

Friday afternoon about 5:30 a small child ran into a local dime store on DeSiard screaming to her mother that her dog, the one she loved so very much, had just been run over by an automobile right in front of the dime store.

Apparently the dog was going across the street when the car struck him. He crawled painfully to the sidewalk and there he stopped. He could go no farther, and died directly under the big clock on the corner. Minutes, then hours, ticked away, and still he lay there. No one came to remove him.

At 12 o'clock Friday night the dog was still there. He had not been removed from the corner where he had met his fate.

Girl Scout News

Did you see the picture of the grown up Girl Scouts in the picture story "The Lowly Penny" in last week's Life magazine? It was the committee to choose Scouts to go to Our Chalet in Switzerland, which is supported by the pennies of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Under the direction of Eunice Forman, Juliette Low chairman on our council, the Scouts of our community brought pennies for this fund, $105.50 worth of them, to the birthday program in March. The Juliette Low Fund helps to spread Scouting over the world. The Chalet is just one small item that the pennies help.

Swimming classes ended yesterday with a make-up lesson to take the place of the one missed Wednesday when the pool was drained. A total of 175 girls have taken swimming lessons during the month of June. Some of them qualified for Red Cross cards showing their proficiency. As we find out the names we'll give them to you.

However, we do know the names of those who passed junior lifesaving: Ruth Ann Boggs, Sandy Dean, Jennie Lou Ervin, Cheryl Fink, Betty Rose Haddad, Amy Hood, Yvonne Huckabee, Janis Joyce, Mildred Levi, Lynne Lewis, Linda McCormick, Carolyn McWilliams, Peggy Pierce, Susanne Smith, Joyce Turpin, and Kay Worley. Anna Mary Johnson and Julie Wooley have done the teaching for the past two weeks.

Sewing got off to a good start Tuesday morning with a beginner group and one that is advanced enough to be making a blouse. Mrs. Melvin Riser, Mrs. George Harrell, and Mrs. N. L. Huckabee have volunteered to teach the groups. Those girls are going to be mighty proud to say, "I made this myself."

And Tuesday morning at 9:00 the long-awaited cooking class, sponsored by Baber's and the Louisiana Power Company starts. Mrs. Dorothy Jones and Mrs. Billie June Holt, who taught the classes last year, will be in charge. Checking with the Scout office, we find that there are only two vacancies. They'll probably be taken tomorrow, first come, first served. It's a big opportunity for 16 West Monroe girls. We know several girls who'd like to move across the river so they can take the cooking lessons.

The little spot at the entrance to Pine Wood that was under water is perfectly dry now. What isn't, after all these weeks? Troop 27 wasn't bothered by the water. For their recent boy and girl party they simply followed the road to the river, parked cars in the field, and went over the stile into camp.

Day camp is just around the corner now—ten days this year. Registrations should be in the office by July 3. That's this week, remember.

Training for program aides will start Tuesday morning at 9:30, committee chairman Camille Yeldell says, with staff training scheduled for July 7th and 9th.

Register this week. Don't get left out of the fun! If any girl has lost her folder or if any non-scout would like to have one, call the Scout office, 2-1270, and they'll mail you one.

SAILING FOR EUROPE—Miss Beverly Hatchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hatchell of 1416 Milton, is leaving today to join a group of friends in New York. They will sail from Quebec on July 4. The group consists of thirty three college students who have enrolled in a European Seminar to study the economic and social systems of the countries on their itinerary. They will return early in September.

First Chinese Fashion Show Presented Here Friday

Local residents and out-of-town guests received their first glimpse of a Chinese bride's trousseau at the Chinese style show presented at 4 o'clock Friday in the ballroom of the Virginia Hotel in observance of "Chiang Kai-Shek" Day.

More than sixty Chinese costumes, from the wardrobe of Mrs. Claire Chennault were modeled by members and pledges of Delta Beta Sigma sorority.

Mrs. Kay Crandell Causey introduced the models and described each's costume. Along with the description she gave interesting facts concerning Chinese women's wardrobes and customs.

June, the bride's month in China as in the United States, was the season in which the unusual array of fashions were previewed..

In preparation for a Chinese wedding, it was explained a bride-elect would first be given or buy a very formal red satin skirt with black satin jacket which Jennie Lou Ervin modeled. This elaborate outfit would be only for the most special occasions. The embroidery was of gold and silver thread with the forms of a dragon and peacock on the front and back of the skirt, long traditional Chinese symbols of good fortune, good luck and happiness.

In this model the bride-to-be would be stunningly dressed for the wedding of a friend, a New Year's party or other such special events.

Miss Lela Bess Kite was wearing a white crepe skirt with a white satin jacket dating from the China dynasty, which ruled China some fifty years ago. The costume was embroidered in the very minute Peking stitch which was so tiny and such a strain on the eyes, that it has since been outlawed.

Miss Gloria Dowdy modeled a spring dress which a Chinese bride might select to wear for tea. It was black with pink embroidery and a high collar.

For daytime, the purple satin-black crepe worn by Cheryl Fink, was a highly stylish addition. It was one of the popular shades of last season. The cashmere sweater she wore with it made a typical ensemble for spring.

A black brocade for semi-formal affairs was modeled by Gayle Roark. The embroidery at the sleeves and neck was at least fifty years old and typical of the embroidery formerly worn only by the royal family.

A tea dress of gold crepe covered with an overall black embroidery was modeled by Jennie Lou Ervin. The color was very popular with Chinese women last spring and the material follows the American trend to crush-proof materials.

Another tea or cocktail dress of blue silk was modeled by Lela Bess Kite. She also wore a white satin jacket lined in yellow.

For a cool spring morning or afternoon, Camille Smith modeled a grey wool with a braid trim of white, green and coral.

Mary Pat Welch wore a lavender wool for spring, figured with small checks in black. For a chilly evening she carried a grey wool cape, hand-knit in China in an airy, lacy pattern.

The grey puckered crepe modeled by Dawson Ann Forman was made of a very old, beautiful material with gold trim embroidered in the Peking stitch.

Turning to lighter weight clothes for summer, June Johnson modeled a blue light-weight silk with a black and white figured stripe.

Flora Kitchingham showed a pink silk with a black floral print. Although the summer silks are washable, the Chinese bride finds that many of the materials which she uses during the rest of the year cannot even be dry-cleaned. With this in mind, she is likely to select a larger wardrobe than would an American girl.

A lovely summer cocktail dress with a white brocade and a lace top was modeled by Gay Olcott. The design in the brocade was the traditional Chinese bamboo motif. Each of the dresses was planned and specially made for the bride, since ready-made dresses to which Americans are accustomed do not exist in China.

An aqua linen dress was modeled by Gloria Dowdy and was described as cool enough for the hottest summer day.

Jean Doncer modeled a print in a popular color known as summer gold.

A grey sheer in a flowered design modeled by Cheryl King is a very popular summer number for the Chinese bride's trousseau.

Gayle Roark previewed a gold dress printed with a black line design and sprinkled with squares of color, which would be a daytime dress.

The blue linen modeled by Camille Smith was another attractive daytime dress. The linen is woven in China of Chinese flax.

Girl Scout News

Did you see the picture of the grown up Girl Scouts in the picture story "The Lowly Penny" in last week's Life magazine? It was the committee to choose Scouts to go to Our Chalet in Switzerland, which is supported by the pennies of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Under the direction of Eunice Forman, Juliette Low chairman on our council, the Scouts of our community brought pennies for this fund, $105.50 worth of them, to the birthday program in March. The Juliette Low Fund helps to spread Scouting over the world. The Chalet is just one small item that the pennies help.

Swimming classes ended yesterday with a make-up lesson to take the place of the one missed Wednesday when the pool was drained. A total of 175 girls have taken swimming lessons during the month of June. Some of them qualified for Red Cross cards showing their proficiency. As we find out the names we'll give them to you.

However, we do know the names of those who passed junior lifesaving: Ruth Ann Boggs, Sandy Dean, Jennie Lou Ervin, Cheryl Fink, Betty Rose Haddad, Amy Hood, Yvonne Huckabee, Janis Joyce, Mildred Levi, Lynne Lewis, Linda McCormick, Carolyn McWilliams, Peggy Pierce, Susanne Smith, Joyce Turpin, and Kay Worley. Anna Mary Johnson and Julie Wooley have done the teaching for the past two weeks.

Sewing got off to a good start Tuesday morning with a beginner group and one that is advanced enough to be making a blouse. Mrs. Melvin Riser, Mrs. George Harrell, and Mrs. N. L. Huckabee have volunteered to teach the groups. Those girls are going to be mighty proud to say, "I made this myself."

And Tuesday morning at 9:00 the long-awaited cooking class, sponsored by Baber's and the Louisiana Power Company starts. Mrs. Dorothy Jones and Mrs. Billie June Holt, who taught the classes last year, will be in charge. Checking with the Scout office, we find that there are only two vacancies. They'll probably be taken tomorrow, first come, first served. It's a big opportunity for 16 West Monroe girls. We know several girls who'd like to move across the river so they can take the cooking lessons.

The little spot at the entrance to Pine Wood that was under water is perfectly dry now. What isn't, after all these weeks? Troop 27 wasn't bothered by the water. For their recent boy and girl party they simply followed the road to the river, parked cars in the field, and went over the stile into camp.

Day camp is just around the corner now—ten days this year. Registrations should be in the office by July 3. That's this week, remember.

Training for program aides will start Tuesday morning at 9:30, committee chairman Camille Yeldell says, with staff training scheduled for July 7th and 9th.

Register this week. Don't get left out of the fun! If any girl has lost her folder or if any non-scout would like to have one, call the Scout office, 2-1270, and they'll mail you one.

SAILING FOR EUROPE—Miss Beverly Hatchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hatchell of 1416 Milton, is leaving today to join a group of friends in New York. They will sail from Quebec on July 4. The group consists of thirty three college students who have enrolled in a European Seminar to study the economic and social systems of the countries on their itinerary. They will return early in September.

First Chinese Fashion Show Presented Here Friday

Local residents and out-of-town guests received their first glimpse of a Chinese bride's trousseau at the Chinese style show presented at 4 o'clock Friday in the ballroom of the Virginia Hotel in observance of "Chiang Kai-Shek" Day.

More than sixty Chinese costumes, from the wardrobe of Mrs. Claire Chennault were modeled by members and pledges of Delta Beta Sigma sorority.

Mrs. Kay Crandell Causey introduced the models and described each's costume. Along with the description she gave interesting facts concerning Chinese women's wardrobes and customs.

June, the bride's month in China as in the United States, was the season in which the unusual array of fashions were previewed..

In preparation for a Chinese wedding, it was explained a bride-elect would first be given or buy a very formal red satin skirt with black satin jacket which Jennie Lou Ervin modeled. This elaborate outfit would be only for the most special occasions. The embroidery was of gold and silver thread with the forms of a dragon and peacock on the front and back of the skirt, long traditional Chinese symbols of good fortune, good luck and happiness.

In this model the bride-to-be would be stunningly dressed for the wedding of a friend, a New Year's party or other such special events.

Miss Lela Bess Kite was wearing a white crepe skirt with a white satin jacket dating from the China dynasty, which ruled China some fifty years ago. The costume was embroidered in the very minute Peking stitch which was so tiny and such a strain on the eyes, that it has since been outlawed.

Miss Gloria Dowdy modeled a spring dress which a Chinese bride might select to wear for tea. It was black with pink embroidery and a high collar.

For daytime, the purple satin-black crepe worn by Cheryl Fink, was a highly stylish addition. It was one of the popular shades of last season. The cashmere sweater she wore with it made a typical ensemble for spring.

A black brocade for semi-formal affairs was modeled by Gayle Roark. The embroidery at the sleeves and neck was at least fifty years old and typical of the embroidery formerly worn only by the royal family.

A tea dress of gold crepe covered with an overall black embroidery was modeled by Jennie Lou Ervin. The color was very popular with Chinese women last spring and the material follows the American trend to crush-proof materials.

Another tea or cocktail dress of blue silk was modeled by Lela Bess Kite. She also wore a white satin jacket lined in yellow.

For a cool spring morning or afternoon, Camille Smith modeled a grey wool with a braid trim of white, green and coral.

Mary Pat Welch wore a lavender wool for spring, figured with small checks in black. For a chilly evening she carried a grey wool cape, hand-knit in China in an airy, lacy pattern.

The grey puckered crepe modeled by Dawson Ann Forman was made of a very old, beautiful material with gold trim embroidered in the Peking stitch.

Turning to lighter weight clothes for summer, June Johnson modeled a blue light-weight silk with a black and white figured stripe.

Flora Kitchingham showed a pink silk with a black floral print. Although the summer silks are washable, the Chinese bride finds that many of the materials which she uses during the rest of the year cannot even be dry-cleaned. With this in mind, she is likely to select a larger wardrobe than would an American girl.

A lovely summer cocktail dress with a white brocade and a lace top was modeled by Gay Olcott. The design in the brocade was the traditional Chinese bamboo motif. Each of the dresses was planned and specially made for the bride, since ready-made dresses to which Americans are accustomed do not exist in China.

An aqua linen dress was modeled by Gloria Dowdy and was described as cool enough for the hottest summer day.

Jean Doncer modeled a print in a popular color known as summer gold.

A grey sheer in a flowered design modeled by Cheryl King is a very popular summer number for the Chinese bride's trousseau.

Gayle Roark previewed a gold dress printed with a black line design and sprinkled with squares of color, which would be a daytime dress.

The blue linen modeled by Camille Smith was another attractive daytime dress. The linen is woven in China of Chinese flax.

For a darker summer dress, Gay Olcott wore a maroon silk with a white geometric print.

To add to summer afternoon dresses, the bride-elect would choose a white puckered silk in waffle weave and lace top which was worn by Jennie Lou Ervin.

Seasonal style changes come even within the basic Chinese fashion. The height of the collar, the depth of split in the skirt, the length of the shirt—all vary to link a dress to a particular year, it was asserted.

Dawson Ann Forman brought a bright note to the wardrobe with a yellow cotton printed with a flower design.

The white silk modeled by Jean Doncer was what the bride needs if she lives in South China. A versatile costume, it could be dressed up or down by the addition of jewelry or a scarf and worn either in the daytime or evening.

Gloria Dowdy featured a washable cotton in pink with white print in a flower and branch design. Both patterns are delicately edged in black.

The pink linen previewed by Lynn Merriman was made by Mrs. Chennault. It had white flowers lined in black.

For an occasional cool summer evening, the bride plans to be prepared with a lavender silk printed in green and black with which she would wear a black wool stole. This dress was modeled by Sally Oliver.

The bride's fall wardrobe included a blue wool with white pin stripe with a hand knitted white wool cape. Both were made from wool raised and woven in China. The outfit was modeled by Camille Smith.

June Johnson wore a silk print in two shades of grey with red dots in lines. For a stunning tea outfit or cocktail dress, Jean Doncer showed a black crepe worn with a hand-woven red and white checked taffeta stole, forming a brilliant contrast.

Mr. Ed Foreman Addresses Local Quotarian Club

Mr. Ed Foreman, state director of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, presented a most informative and interesting address to local Quotarians at their luncheon meeting Thursday.

Mr. Foreman stressed that not only does the national foundation of infantile paralysis include the March of Dimes in their program but has also, a research program which affords refresher courses for doctors and other qualified people, as well as scholarships in this category. The public education program it affords, is primarily used to alienate public fear of polio and to provide literature on the disease. It was noted that two-thirds of our nations physical therapists have been educated by the foundation.

The speaker pointed out that, on a national average, 50 per cent of the polio victims have no after effects of the disease; 25 per cent have very slight effects; 17 per cent are seriously crippled; and eight per cent are fatal, however, only 2 per cent of the state of Louisiana's cases are fatal due to the fine treatment centers available in Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Shreveport and New Orleans.

At no time is a victim of polio turned away from a center in the event the parish chapter has a lack of finances. The national foundation comes to their aid and in such event, it too, lacks funds, it has an excellent credit rating and thus is extended credit until the next March of Dimes fund provides the necessary amount.

Mr. Foreman said that the national foundation has a fine philosphy in that it gives financial assistance to patients whenever assistance is needed. That need is decided by the local chapter, therefore everyone can have access to proper and necessary treatment for polio.

In discussing the gamma globulin innoculation, he stated that it will in many cases, prevent paralysis, but will not prevent polio. An innoculation of this type lasts a maximum of five weeks and requires one pint of blood to each shot of gamma globulin.

To date, no vaccine has been found 100 per cent sure, but the University of Pittsburg has a vaccine in an experimental stage which makes the future very bright.

Quota members present for the address were: Mrs. D. R. Sartor, Miss Mamie McNeil, Mrs. Helen Blanchard, Mrs. O. S. Tomlinson, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. John Collins, Mrs. Allen Ritter, Mrs. W. D McGee, Jr., Mrs. Pascal Norris Mrs. Joe T. Murray, Miss Leota Martin, Mrs. Daisy Thompson, Mrs George B. Holt.

Guests were: Mrs. W. L. Vanderford and Mr. Foreman.

Mr. Ed Foreman Addresses Local Quotarian Club

Mr. Ed Foreman, state director of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, presented a most informative and interesting address to local Quotarians at their luncheon meeting Thursday.

Mr. Foreman stressed that not only does the national foundation of infantile paralysis include the March of Dimes in their program but has also, a research program which affords refresher courses for doctors and other qualified people, as well as scholarships in this category. The public education program it affords, is primarily used to alienate public fear of polio and to provide literature on the disease. It was noted that two-thirds of our nations physical therapists have been educated by the foundation.

The speaker pointed out that, on a national average, 50 per cent of the polio victims have no after effects of the disease: 25 per cent have very slight effects; 17 per cent are seriously crippled; and eight per cent are fatal, however, only 2 per cent of the state of Louisiana's cases are fatal due to the fine treatment centers available in Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Shreveport and New Orleans.

At no time is a victim of polio turned away from a center in the event the parish chapter has a lack of finances. The national foundation comes to their aid and in such event, it too, lacks funds, it has an excellent credit rating and thus is extended credit until the next March of Dimes fund provides the necessary amount.

Mr. Foreman said that the national foundation has a fine philosophy in that it gives financial assistance to patients whenever assistance is needed. That need is decided by the local chapter, therefore everyone can have access to proper and necessary treatment for polio.

In discussing the gamma globulin innoculation, he stated that it will in many cases, prevent paralysis, but will not prevent polio. An innoculation of this type lasts a maximum of five weeks and requires one pint of blood to each shot of gamma globulin.

To date, no vaccine has been found 100 per cent sure, but the University of Pittsburg has a vaccine in an experimental stage which makes the future very bright.

A humorous note was introduced by the appearance of Mrs. Edna Vaughan, effectively attired as a red cap, calling all stations to Jacksonville, Fla., and bearing a gaily colored box containing a "going away" gift from each member which she presented to Miss Mildred Smith who is leaving soon to make her home in Jacksonville.

Bastrop Couple Wed In Catholic Church

The St. Joseph Catholic Church in Bastrop was the scene of a double ring ceremony uniting Miss Velma Jane Kyle and Mr. Hugh Edward Oliver on June 6 at 6:30 in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Kyle of Bastrop and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Oliver, also of Bastrop.

Father Tom Cashman performed the ceremony before an altar banked with white magnolia blossoms and leaves and lighted by white tapers. Burbank daisies and fern completed the arrangement.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Mary Ann Walton rendered a program of nuptial music. James Inzina lit the candles while Miss Jimmie Ann Wall sang "The Lord's Prayer."

At the first strains of the wedding march the wedding party entered the church and the bride ascended the aisle on the arm of her father. She was beautifully attired in a white organdy floor length dress. The bodice was of white eyelet embroidery organdy with a yoke of plain organdy. The skirt consisted of a full overskirt o' the white eyelet organdy meeting a point at the waist and flowing open revealing a full skirt of plain organdy. Her gloves were also of eyelet organdy. Her finger tip veil was made of French illusion attached to a crown of eyelet organdy edged with tiny seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a broach of pearls (a family heirloom) which she wore in the deep point of the bodice yoke. The brides' bouquet was of white roses encircled with lilies of the valley and carnations. The roses made a detachable corsage for her going away dress which was a lavender sheath dress with a fitted jacket for which she chose a white hat and gloves and black patent shoes and purse.

The bride was preceded by the maid of honor. Miss Peggy Mallette, who wore a floor length dress of lavender organdy over a full skirt of tiered ruffles of lavder net with a bolero of net. Her halo was fashioned after the brides' with a shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow asters and gladiolus and wore short white nylon gloves.

The bridesmaids were Miss Martha Jane Moore and Miss Jeanne Oliver, sister of the groom. They were identically dressed in yellow organdy and net and wore wide brimmed hats of net. Their bouquets were lavender asters and gladiolas and they, too, wore white nylon gloves.

For the occasion, the bride's mother chose a street length model of black sheer crepe with an apron of plaid black and white organza. She wore a corsage of a lovely single orchid. The groom's mother wore a beautiful street length dress of violet print voile with a white carnation corsage.

Attending the groom as best man was Mr. Leroy Harp. The ushers were Mr. Byron Kyle, Jr. and Mr. Neal Louis Loiver, brothers of the bride and groom respectively. Other ushers were Mr. Byron Rogers and Mr. Don McGuire.

Reception

Following the ceremony, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Tom Guthrie, was hostess to a reception in the church parish hall.

Receiving guests were the parents, the bride and groom, the bride's attendants. Mrs. Jerry Guthrie presided at the guests' book. The brides' table was covered with a hand drawn and embroidered linen cloth. On one end of the table a crystal epergne held sweet peas and daisies in a midst of burning white tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom completed the arrangement. After the cutting of the first piece of cake by the bride and groom, Miss Lizette Gaudin served the guests. The serving table was centered with a bowl of daisies and fern, flanked on either side with crystal candelabra holding tall white tapers. Punch was served from either end of the table from crystal punch services by Miss Jackie Worten and Miss Carolyn Alexander.

After a honeymoon in Biloxi, Miss., the bride and groom are making their home on Parkhurst Street in Bastrop. Out - of - town guests for the occasion were Mr. L. W. Gaudin, Miss Lizette Gaudin and Melanie Cruwley, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lyle and daughter, Yvonne of Haynesville, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kyle and Nancy and Curtis, Jr. of Crossett, Ark., Mrs. T. H. Goodnight of Sterlington and Pete Pennington of Warren, Ark.

Couple Says Marriage Vows In Lake Providence Sunday

Celebrated in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Lake Providence, where the bride's family has worshipped for half a century, was the wedding Sunday, June 14, at 5 o'clock of Mrs. Narcisse Brown Silverman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Denis Brown of Gossyppia Plantation, to Mr. Charles Triplett Martin, son of Mrs. Betty Farrar Martin and the late Mr. Smith C. Martin of Pine Bluff, Ark.

Father William Hopp officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Decorating the altar and chancel were vases and floor baskets of white gladioli and fern, interspering cathedral candles and brass branched candelabra.

A concert of prenuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Herman Schwartz, who accompanied Ted Forte, Lake Village, Ark., who sang Panis Angelicus and Mother, At Your Feet Is Kneeling, during the ceremony and Ave Maria during the signing of the register.

Miss Jane Martin, Memphis, niece of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Her decollete model of white polished cotton was designed in aqua floral pattern and worn with a stole. She wore a white crocheted cloche and shoulder corsage of white carnations tied with aqua ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Patten Brown, wore a waltz length model of champagne silk organza. The tight fitted bodice was fronted with V shaped narrow folds of the material, over which was worn a bolero. The wide, bouffant skirt rippled with fulness. Belting the slip was a deep inset of aqua extending in points into the skirt. A wide band of aqua covered the waistline and fell skirt length into deep bows. Her matching crownless hat was aqua trimmed. She carried a shower bouquet of champagne cymbibium orchids mingled with narrow aqua ribbon bows.

The bridegroom had Mr. June Hobson, Memphis, as his best man.

Reception

After the ceremony a reception was held at "Gailliard," home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown on Tensas Bayou. The bride's table was overlaid with an heirloom white lace cloth and sprayed with nosegays of pink rosebuds and maidenhair fern. Decor was the two tiered wedding cake beautifully embossed with pink roses and green leaves. Three branched silver candelabra with tall slim white tapers gave a mellowed glow to the setting of pink and silver, with floral decorations, silver trays and nappies of individual cakes and pink and white mints. Mrs. Max F. Stockner presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. William M. Knobles served the cake.

Lamp shades should measure not more than three times the base of the lamp in diameter.

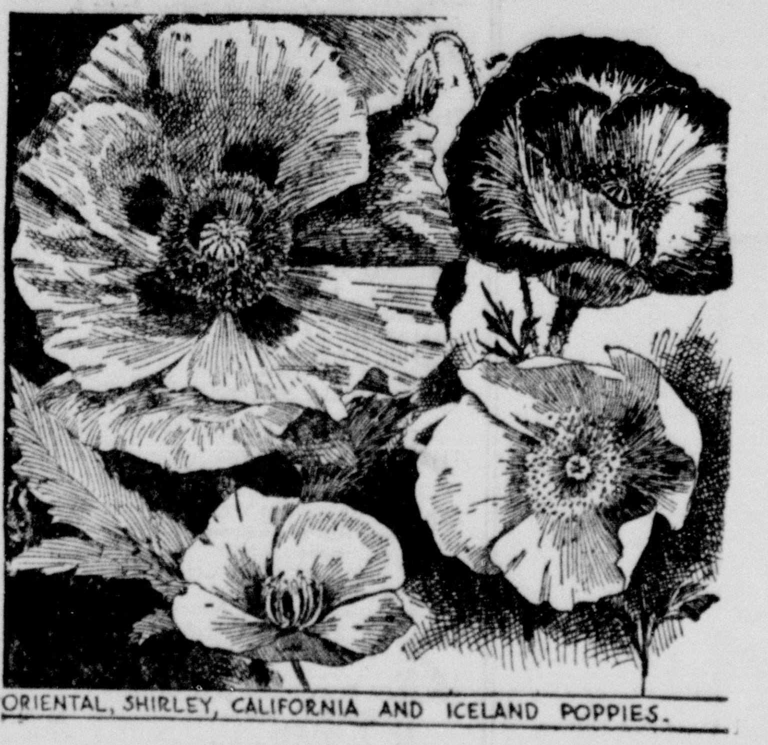
Oriental Poppies—Dream Of Beginners Come True



ORIENTAL, SHIRLEY, CALIFORNIA AND ICELAND POPPIES.

Oriental poppies are perennial flowers such as gardening beginners dream about, the kind that once planted, bloom every year without any further attention.

They bloom at the same time as the tall, bearded irises, which they rival in spectacular beauty. They are long-lived, hardy as oaks, with few insect enemies, and altogether make so pleasing a contribution no home garden should be without them.

Poets have given poppies high praise for their beauty, coupled with a reputation for fragility. This is based upon the fact that they will not last long as cut flowers, so are never seen in florist's shops, and rarely used in bouquets. But in the garden border they provide dazzling color for several weeks.

Oriental poppies do not produce opium. Quite a list of annual poppies, double and single, which used to be popular garden flowers in this country, are now forbidden by federal law, because they can be used to produce it. Shirley poppies are the only annual type that may still be grown, and they are much smaller in size than the perennial poppies, though lovely in coloring.

Deep soil with good drainage are necessary for perennial poppies. New plants are propagated at this time of year, when the roots are dormant. The long tap roots are lifted and cut into sections two to six inches long, making a slanting cut at the top, and a striaght cut at the bottom, to make sure of planting it right side up.

These root sections may be set out in your garden, or started in a flat or flower pot. Set them with the top an inch or two below the surface of the soil. Plants which have developed roots and top growth are usually in the market during August, and dormant roots may be obtained and planted during the fall.

Amateurs who lift oriental poppy roots seldom succeed in getting up the whole root and from any piece that may be left in the ground a new plant will grow. If you intend to lift a root later in the season be sure to mark the plant's location before the top growth has all died, or it may be difficult to find it.

Plants must be obtained, rather than seed, if you with to be sure of the color of the flowers. These are limited to white and various tones of red and pink. Divisions of named varieties will duplicate the parent, but seed will produce a mixture of colors, some desirable, some less so. Seed are best sown in the fall and will germinate in the spring.

When established plants make new growth in the fall, hill up soil around the plants to make a low mound, so that water will drain away from the crown during the winter. A mulch may be placed around the plant, but do not cover the leaves, except with material which will shade them, and protect them from rabbits. Baskets or chicken wire will give this protection.

The Home Shift With

Mildred Swift

The love of dirt must be common to all of us. It's earliest evidence was the fun we had making mud pies. We must love the dirt and gardening or we'd give up when the thermometer reachs 106. Yet everywhere I go you're moving the hose around, soaking, trying to save those plants.

"Gardening in New Orleans" is good reading that you gardeners will enjoy. MISS JULIA, HELEN and I were comparing this volume with "A Garden Book for Houston." They are something alike but we'll let you make that comparison when you read the New Orleans book. You'll find this in your book stores.

I was especially interested in their article on violets because the information was different from anything in my knowledge of this lovely border plant. They advise working soot in the soil where violets are to be planted. If soot is not available, they say, put small bits of charred wood in several spots in the bed. Have you ever heard of that?

And . . . by the way. Mrs. Works is having trouble with red spider in her violets and so am I. Dust with sulphur when the foliage is dry. Be sure to get the dust all down in the foliage and under the leaves. Remember violets like lots of leaf mold and moisture. Later I'll tell you when to cut the foliage back.

Hibicus

Trim off the tips of hibiscus branches promptly after flowering to promote the growth of new wood and more flower buds. If you hibiscus plants are inclined to shed their buds before they open, they need feeding. Appy a mixture of half cotton seed meal and half 5-10-5. Mix this well and use one cupful for a six - foot plant, one half cup for smaller plants. Sprinkle on top of the mulch out at the edge of the spread of the branches and soak well. Repeat every five or six weeks during blooming season.

Other Plants

If you'll prune your oleanders and hydrangeas immediately after they bloom, your plants will have time to put out new growth that will harden and produce flowers again next summer. Usually, all that is necessary with hydrangeas is to cut off the faded flowers back to a pair of strong leaves. Dead blossoms left on the plant are breeding places for insects. They also hold moisture against the back of the cones causing rot.

Prune your oleander plants by cutting the oldest, largest cones back to the ground. New cones will come out in their place.

West Monroe, Congratulations!

There will be a blue ribbon street selected each week in the residential area and the business area of West Monroe. The judges will make their inspection tours each Friday, so "primp" up your place. If you're having trouble getting help call 3-4442, the West Monroe Business Men's Association. They're only open on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. You'll pay for the labor, they only help you find somebody to work in the garden, mow, cut weeds and trim trees.

Soon fifteen trash cans will be placed in the downtown area to help keep the streets neat. The West Monroe Kiwanis, West Monroe Lions and West Monroe Business Men's Association will each furnish five of these containers. The city plans to keep the streets swept.

Remember the inspection includes alleys, too. And — this reminder is from Mildred Swift — be sure to keep the tops on your garbage cans. Believe it or not, I made a tour of the Twin Cities Tuesday and counted 21 uncovered garbage cans at places of business. Needless to say, they were swarming with flies and I'm sure roaches. Some of these cans were on the property line of residences where children were playing.

I read that the women in a town in Florida had a citizens meeting and resolved to boycott every place of business that kept dirty or uncovered garbage cans on their premises. They got the town cleaned up, too. That would never be necessary in the Twin Cities. We have too much pride.

Left-Overs

Carrie McKenzie says the plant we're calling pink Arkansas daisy is Rudbeckia. They are really beautiful. They defy the heat and bloom right on until frost. Such a lovely shade of pinkish - rose, too. They're listed in some of the seed catalogues.

Mrs. Jo Evans says write her at Haphazard Plantation, Ferriday, La., if you're interested in joining a bulb society. Research work on bulbs is to be carried on at Louisiana Tech in Ruston. The Louisiana Bulb Society will meet once a year with a flower show of bulbs and probably tours to gardens specializing in bulbs throughout the area. This is good news to gardeners. We've long experimented with bulbs in our own yards, trying to find those that will come back year after year.

With daily temperatures around 100 and no showers, it's hard to decide who is suffering the most —gardener or garden. I'll bet that north Louisiana gardeners will come through without losing too many shrubs, though.

See you next Sunday in this same column.

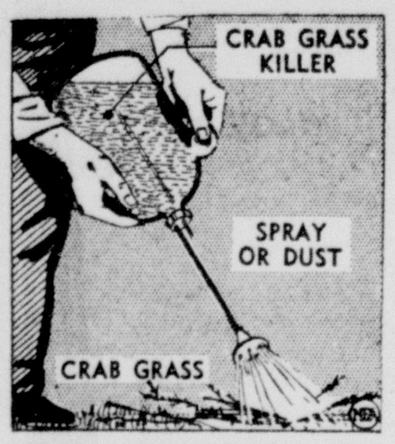
Kill Crab Grass Before It Spreads

With "this week" and "that week" being pushed by various and sundry industries, why not make this Crab Grass Week and thus benefit the home gardener as well as the sellers of crab grass killers.

Crab grass is making its annual appearance and wise is the home gardener who begins now to rid his lawn of this pest.

Crab grass is an annual grass, much branched and spreading, turning up at the end to bear several slender stalks at whose tops are borne three to 10 slender spikes each bearing a hundred or more seeds. And — unfortunately — the seeds live several years in the soil waiting for a favorable moment to germinate.

Despite the belief of many folks —crab grass does not live over winter and come to life each spring. The plants die each autumn and the seeds survive to come to life in late May.



Start spraying or dusting early to get the crab grass before it can mature.

The young crab grass plants are slender furled seedlings about an inch tall. Each seedling emerges as a complete broad, slightly curved blade about a quarter of an inch in length.

A second leaf develops before the pant is a half - inch tall — and from then on real growth appears. seedings may be easily distinguished by their light yellowish green coloring. The spreading crab grass-like plants now observed in lawns is probably quack grass or twitch grass.

The best advice I can give is to begin spraying or dusting now to get the crab grass before it can mature. If you catch crab grass in the small seedling stage, a single treatment will usually kill it completely.

If you wait till the crab grass is well established, you will not only have to use two or three treatments, but also your lawn will have a yellow appearance due to dying crab grass.

So act early — don't give crab grass a chance to crowd out your turf grasses!

Types of turf grasses, soil and weather conditions, different waters, may vary the effect on turf. Normally your turf grasses will show a temporary browning of the lower leaves and a lightening in color of the blades during treatment. They will soon recover and will eventually take on a darker, healthier color than ever before.

Clover shows more marked discoloration, but will recover quickly.

Set mower to 2½ inches height during treatment, then reset to recommended 1½ inches high. Do not fertilize during treatment. Feeding should be either two weeks before or at least two weeks after treatments. However fertilizing during hot summer temperatures is not suggested.

Do not treat turf when temperature exceeds 90 degrees unless previous tests show that local conditions permit treatment at such temperatures.

There are a number of crab grass killers which will do the trick if one follows the method recommended by the manufacturer. They can be bought at the better garden supply and hardware shops. Most of them are based on the chemical compound, potassium cyanate, which is not poisonous to humans, pets or birds.

They are easy to use, clean and harmless to the soil, and will not kill shrubs, trees or flowers unless sprayed on them directly.

Properly applied they will not kill bluegrass, fescue, clover or other deep - rooted perennial grasses. Trade names confuse the novice in search of a crab grass killer. I mention the following which have come to my attention and which I am sure will prove satisfactory — DuPont Crab Grass Killer, Crab - Not, Double - O Scutl, Puri-Turf, Seltox Tat-C-Lect, Zotox and Dramcliff Crab Grass Killer.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q—When and how should one take rose cuttings for propagation?

A—Cuttings are made in late July and early August from the wood of this year's growth. Take them from healthy flowering shoots of about pencil thickness, cut into pieces about five inches long and include three to five leaves. Make the bottom cut ⅛ inch below the point where a lower leaf joins the stem. Remove the lower leaf but retain the upper ones. Dip bottom end in rootone and insert in sand. made to reduce evaporation and keep moist to hasten rooting. A cold frame is best for this purpose, although inverted glass jars may be used. Allow no flowers or buds to remain.

Southern Gardener

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Some of the seeds produced by the plants in your garden will be valuable to you if you will take the trouble to harvest them and plant them this season. This applies, mostly, to seeds of perennial plants like Shasta daisies, veronica, daylilies, oriental poppies, hollyhocks and other perennials that have flowered already. August is the best time to plant these seeds, so collect them and dry them and hold on to them till then. In the meantime, you can plan a bed for perennials near a spigot from which the seedlings can be watered. The bed will definitely need to be shaded, too, from the August and September sun. Between now and August, dig into the soil for the bed six inches or more of humus of some kind and a liberal sprinkling of bone meal. You can leave off the other fertilizer till after you plant and the seedlings are up. Weeds will come up on the area in the hot summer sun and can be chopped up. Then put a deep mulch over it and wait till seeding time between the first and fifteenth of August. Of course, you can plant seeds earlier, but, if you plan a vacation between now and then, two weeks of weed growth and possible drouth may smother or kill the seedlings before you return. Most southern gardeners have learned that perennials planted in August and raised under lath coverings or one thickness of sacks for a sun shade will grow off into plants which will flower next spring. In our long open fall months and mild winters, they grow into clumps in a hurry. Extra watering will pay off, too, in hastening the plants to flowering size. They should be dug up and set out in rows or right into the garden some time in October.

Before we go any further, let us remind you that not all seeds will be worth sowing. The seeds of summer phlox, for instance, will produce mostly plants with magenta colored flowers. Seeds of annuals are hardly worth saving to plant next spring, either, because they will tend to produce purplish zinnias or petunias, portulacca and so on. It is best to buy the best seeds available in separate colors each year for this reason.

If you are going to plant your own seeds, you might as well get down the seed catalogues and order some seeds of the really choice perennials and raise a batch of seedlings all together. Once you have done this, you are apt to develop a sort of smug air and to brag a bit to other gardeners about the fact that you raise your very own plants. There is nothing that gives a gardener quite the self respect that propagating or raising his own plants does. Actually, it is not difficult, and you can save yourself a lot of money.

When you get into that seed catalogue, don't restrict yourself to the same old plants you have always known and grown. Try some new kinds. Here is a list of the very best perennials you can raise for southern gardens. Achillea filipendulina, Amsonia, Anchusa italica, Anemone japonica, Anthemis tinctoria, Antirrhinum, Aquilegia chrysantha, Arabis alpina, Asclepias tuberosa, Baptisia australis, Campanula Poscharskyana, Ceratostigma, Cimicifuga, Clematis integrifolia, Delphinium chinense, Dianthus, Dicentra eximia, Digitalis, Doronicum, Echinops, Funkia (Hosta) Gaillardia, Gerbera, Geum, Helenium, Helianthus, Hesperis matronalis, Hibiscus Moscheutos, Iberis sempervirens, Kniphofia, Lavandula, Limonium, Linum perenne, Lithospermum prostratum (lime the soil), Lunaria biennis, Lychnis Coronaria, Lythrum, Monarda, Nepeta Mussinii, Oenothera, Papaver orientale, Platycodon, Pulmonaria angustifolia, P. saccharata, Pyrethrum roseum, Rudbeckia Newmanii, R. purpurea, Salvia azurea, S. farinacea, S. Leucanthâ, S. Pitcheri, S. virgata nemorosa. Scabiosa japonica, Scutellaria baicalensis, Sedum spectabile, Stokesia, Thermopsis caroliniana, Veronica. Where we have listed only one word for the name of a plant, we mean that all the seeds offered under that name will be worth planting for a southern garden. We give scientific names because common names are confusing. Study your catalogues to determine the plants you most wish to grow in this list. Since seeds cost so little, you can afford to go a little wild in ordering small packets of kinds you have never heard of. Many a gardener has grown from seeds a plant he could "never be without" after it grew in his garden by his own hand.

We have been asked again to comment upon the effects of last winter's warm weather. (We did comment upon it back in the Spring). People are reporting all sorts of unheard-of early dates for the blooming of the summer flowers. Your columnist notes that almost all the early summer and mid-summer perennials have been about two weeks early this year. The most surprising thing, however, has bene the sight of berries on our native deciduous (non-evergreen) holly turning red two weeks ago. The earliest we have ever known this to happen was September. It remains to be seen whether or not the fall blooming bulbs will be early this year. Red spider-lilies, sternbergias and scillas matured their foliage a month or six weeks early. They were found to be rooting two weeks ago, but this was probably where the moisture had encouraged them to do so. If you plan to move any, you had better dig into them and see if they have beaten you to it. If there are not new roots on them already, get them dug at once. It is always a good thing to dig a few of these fall flowering bulbs and keep them to plant in September so they will flower late, after the others have gone. Incidentally, seed of centipede-grass is now available.

Some Mistakes To Avoid In Watering Garden

Plants which have everything else required for vigorous growth, will die for lack of water. And in the water which is carried by the hose, it has become possible to mix with a minimum of trouble, plant food, and pesticides for easy application to the garden.

One inch of rain is needed on average every week. You can test it by setting out a coffee can, and measuring the water that falls into it. If an inch of rain fails to come, make up the difference with the hose. But do not apply it in small doses; put the whole week's ration on at once.

If you use a sprinkler, calculate as nearly as practical the area it covers; and let the hose run in a 10 quart pail, to learn how long it takes to fill the pail. One inch of water on a square yard takes just over 5 gallons of water. Apply this to area your sprinkler covers and you can tell approximately how long to let it stand in one position to give the soil the soaking required.

The best sprinkler throws a fine spray in a quantity which the soil can absorb without run-off. Never try to water lawn or garden with a nozzle held in the hand, for you will never get enough on. The success of artificial watering is entirely dependent on the quantity applied; it does not depend on the temperature of the water. Cold water is just as good as warm; it will all be the same by the time it reaches the plant roots.

The idea that gardens should not be watered in the sunshine is obsolete. That is really the best time to water, if a sprinkler is used; because the leaves dry quickly, and do not go into the night wet. Dampness and darkness encourage the spread of fungus disease, and leaves should never be wet so late in the day that they cannot dry before nightfall. This is especially important in the vegetable garden, and with the edible leaves, such as lettuce, chard, and cabbages.

While plant leaves enjoy an occasional shower, that washes off accumulated dust, neither leaves or flowers are benefitted by prolonged sprinkling; so it is better to let most of the water you apply run directly on the ground. This can be done by using a convas hose, which leaks along its [illegible] through every pore, and thus plays the part of an irrigation ditch. The water may also be allowed to run from the hose on a piece of board which will prevent washing the soil.

With the discovery that plant leaves absorb plant food which is sprayed on them, even more quickly than the roots, impetus has been given to the practice of applying plant food through the hose water. This practice is not new, and safe methods have been worked out for it. A siphon can be fastened between two sections of hose. If plant food is dissolved in a bucket or tub, and the small rubber tube leading from the siphon dropped into it, the fertilizer solution will be lifted up and mixed with the hose water.

Sorority Hears An Interesting Talk On Alaska

The Sigma Chapter of Delta Rho Delta Sorority recently brought its 1952-53 lecture season to a close with a lecture by Mr. H. V. Brady.

Mr. Brady is vice president and general manager of Negley Bag & Paper Company. He came to Monroe in 1948 and since that time has become as a civic leader in the Twin Cities. He is actively interested in many civic projects including the Red Cross, of which he was recently elected chairman of the Ouachita Parish division.

Mr. Brady's topic, "Two Cents An Acre," pertained to Alaska and, he asserted, this was approximately what the United States government paid for the territory. After giving numerous interesting highlights of Alaskan history he told the chapter members of its vast resources and the many possibilities of its industrial development.

Mr. Brady stated that he became interested in this northern country while at Columbia University where he received his M. S. degree. His extensive study of the pulpwood industry while there brought his attention to Alaska, which, Mr. Brady stated, has enough timber, if properly cut and reseeded, to furnish more than one-half of the perpetual newsprint requirements of the United States.

In recent years Mr. Brady has visited in Alaska, and the narration of his experiences, especially those of salmon fishing.

Sorority members present were: Mary Louise Farr, Clara Parmer, Lena Wallace, Mamie Fields, Marie Wilhite, Drucilla Motley, Cascille Golson, Barbara Hancock, Mary Russell, Marna Hyman, Billie Blazier, Elizabeth Goff, Bertha Patterson and Inez Roberson.

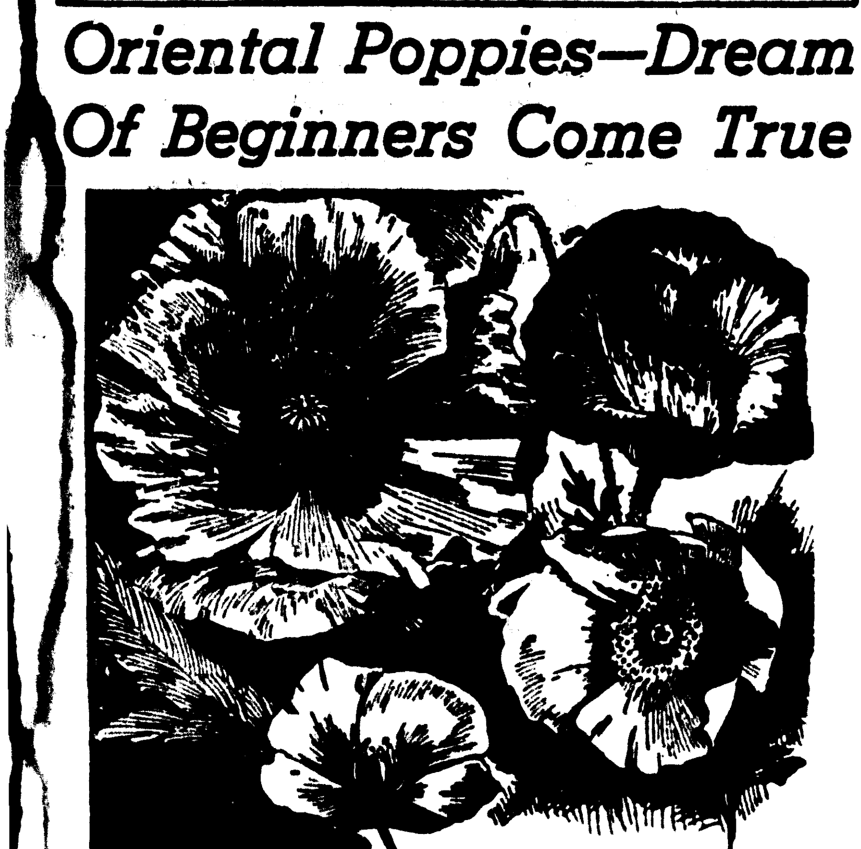
Oriental Poppies—Dream Of Beginners Come True



ORIENTAL, SHIRLEY, CALIFORNIA AND ICELAND POPPIES.

Oriental poppies are perennial flowers such as gardening beginners dream about, the kind that once planted, bloom every year without any further attention.

They bloom at the same time as the tall, bearded irises, which they rival in spectacular beauty. They are long-lived, hardy as oaks, with few insect enemies, and altogether make so pleasing a contribution no home garden should be without them.

Poets have given poppies high praise for their beauty, coupled with a reputation for fragility. This is based upon the fact that they will not last long as cut flowers, so are never seen in florist's shops, and rarely used in bouquets. But in the garden border they provide dazzling color for several weeks.

Oriental poppies do not produce opium. Quite a list of annual poppies, double and single, which used to be popular garden flowers in this country, are now forbidden by federal law, because they can be used to produce it. Shirley poppies are the only annual type that may still be grown, and they are much smaller in size than the perennial poppies, though lovely in coloring.

Deep soil with good drainage are necessary for perennial poppies. New plants are propagated at this time of year, when the roots are dormant. The long tap roots are lifted and cut into sections two to six inches long, making a slanting cut at the top, and a striaght cut at the bottom, to make sure of planting it right side up.

These root sections may be set out in your garden, or started in a flat or flower pot. Set them with the top an inch or two below the surface of the soil. Plants which have developed roots and top growth are usually in the market during August, and dormant roots may be obtained and planted during the fall.

Amateurs who lift oriental poppy roots seldom succeed in getting up the whole root and from any piece that may be left in the ground a new plant will grow. If you intend to lift a root later in the season be sure to mark the plant's location before the top growth has all died, or it may be difficult to find it.

Plants must be obtained, rather than seed, if you with to be sure of the color of the flowers. These are limited to white and various tones of red and pink. Divisions of named varieties will duplicate the parent, but seed will produce a mixture of colors, some desirable, some less so. Seed are best sown in the fall and will germinate in the spring.

When established plants make new growth in the fall, hill up soil around the plants to make a low mound, so that water will drain away from the crown during the winter. A mulch may be placed around the plant, but do not cover the leaves, except with material which will shade them, and protect them from rabbits. Baskets or chicken wire will give this protection.

The Home Shift With

Mildred Swift

The love of dirt must be common to all of us. It's earliest evidence was the fun we had making mud pies. We must love the dirt and gardening or we'd give up when the thermometer reachs 106. Yet everywhere I go you're moving the hose around, soaking, trying to save those plants.

"Gardening in New Orleans" is good reading that you gardeners will enjoy. MISS JULIA, HELEN and I were comparing this volume with "A Garden Book for Houston." They are something alike but we'll let you make that comparison when you read the New Orleans book. You'll find this in your book stores.

I was especially interested in their article on violets because the information was different from anything in my knowledge of this lovely border plant. They advise working soot in the soil where violets are to be planted. If soot is not available, they say, put small bits of charred wood in several spots in the bed. Have you ever heard of that?

And . . . by the way. Mrs. Works is having trouble with red spider in her violets and so am I. Dust with sulphur when the foliage is dry. Be sure to get the dust all down in the foliage and under the leaves. Remember violets like lots of leaf mold and moisture. Later I'll tell you when to cut the foliage back.

Hibicus

Trim off the tips of hibiscus branches promptly after flowering to promote the growth of new wood and more flower buds. If you hibiscus plants are inclined to shed their buds before they open, they need feeding. Appy a mixture of half cotton seed meal and half 5-10-5. Mix this well and use one cupful for a six - foot plant, one half cup for smaller plants. Sprinkle on top of the mulch out at the edge of the spread of the branches and soak well. Repeat every five or six weeks during blooming season.

Other Plants

If you'll prune your oleanders and hydrangeas immediately after they bloom, your plants will have time to put out new growth that will harden and produce flowers again next summer. Usually, all that is necessary with hydrangeas is to cut off the faded flowers back to a pair of strong leaves. Dead blossoms left on the plant are breeding places for insects. They also hold moisture against the back of the cones causing rot.

Prune your oleander plants by cutting the oldest, largest cones back to the ground. New cones will come out in their place.

West Monroe, Congratulations!

There will be a blue ribbon street selected each week in the residential area and the business area of West Monroe. The judges will make their inspection tours each Friday, so "primp" up your place. If you're having trouble getting help call 3-4442, the West Monroe Business Men's Association. They're only open on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. You'll pay for the labor, they only help you find somebody to work in the garden, mow, cut weeds and trim trees.

Soon fifteen trash cans will be placed in the downtown area to help keep the streets neat. The West Monroe Kiwanis, West Monroe Lions and West Monroe Business Men's Association will each furnish five of these containers. The city plans to keep the streets swept.

Remember the inspection includes alleys, too. And — this reminder is from Mildred Swift — be sure to keep the tops on your garbage cans. Believe it or not, I made a tour of the Twin Cities Tuesday and counted 21 uncovered garbage cans at places of business. Needless to say, they were swarming with flies and I'm sure roaches. Some Mistakes To Avoid In Watering Garden

Plants which have everything else required for vigorous growth, will die for lack of water. And in the water which is carried by the hose, it has become possible to mix with a minimum of trouble, plant food, and pesticides for easy application to the garden.

One inch of rain is needed on average every week. You can test it by setting out a coffee can, and measuring the water that falls into it. If an inch of rain fails to come, make up the difference with the hose. But do not apply it in small doses; put the whole week's ration on at once.

If you use a sprinkler, calculate as nearly as practical the area it covers; and let the hose run in a 10 quart pail, to learn how long it takes to fill the pail. One inch of water on a square yard takes just over 5 gallons of water. Apply this to area your sprinkler covers and you can tell approximately how long to let it stand in one position to give the soil the soaking required.

The best sprinkler throws a fine spray in a quantity which the soil can absorb without run-off. Never try to water lawn or garden with a nozzle held in the hand, for you will never get enough on. The success of artificial watering is entirely dependent on the quantity applied; it does not depend on the temperature of the water. Cold water is just as good as warm; it will all be the same by the time it reaches the plant roots.

The idea that gardens should not be watered in the sunshine is obsolete. That is really the best time to water, if a sprinkler is used; because the leaves dry quickly, and do not go into the night wet. Dampness and darkness encourage the spread of fungus disease, and leaves should never be wet so late in the day that they cannot dry before nightfall. This is especially important in the vegetable garden, and with the edible leaves, such as lettuce, chard, and cabbages.

While plant leaves enjoy an occasional shower, that washes off accumulated dust, neither leaves or flowers are benefitted by prolonged sprinkling; so it is better to let most of the water you apply run directly on the ground. This can be done by using a convas hose, which leaks along its length through every pore, and thus plays the part of an irrigation ditch. The water may also be allowed to run from the hose on a piece of board which will prevent washing the soil.

With the discovery that plant leaves absorb plant food which is sprayed on them, even more quickly than the roots, impetus has been given to the practice of applying plant food through the hose water. This practice is not new, and safe methods have been worked out for it. A siphon can be fastened between two sections of hose. If plant food is dissolved in a bucket or tub, and the small rubber tube leading from the siphon dropped into it, the fertilizer solution will be lifted up and mixed with the hose water.

Sorority Hears An Interesting Talk On Alaska

The Sigma Chapter of Delta Rho Delta Sorority recently brought its 1952-53 lecture season to a close with a lecture by Mr. H. V. Brady.

Mr. Brady is vice president and general manager of Negley Bag & Paper Company. He came to Monroe in 1948 and since that time has become as a civic leader in the Twin Cities. He is actively interested in many civic projects including the Red Cross, of which he was recently elected chairman of the Ouachita Parish division.

Mr. Brady's topic, "Two Cents An Acre," pertained to Alaska and, he asserted, this was approximately what the United States government paid for the territory. After giving numerous interesting highlights of Alaskan history he told the chapter members of its vast resources and the many possibilities of its industrial development.

Mr. Brady stated that he became interested in this northern country while at Columbia University where he received his M. S. degree. His extensive study of the pulpwood industry while there brought his attention to Alaska, which, Mr. Brady stated, has enough timber, if properly cut and reseeded, to furnish more than one-half of the perpetual newsprint requirements of the United States.

In recent years Mr. Brady has visited in Alaska, and the narration of his experiences, especially those of salmon fishing.

Sorority members present were: Mary Louise Farr, Clara Parmer, Lena Wallace, Mamie Fields, Marie Wilhite, Drucilla Motley, Cascille Golson, Barbara Hancock, Mary Russell, Marna Hyman, Billie Blazier, Elizabeth Goff, Bertha Patterson and Inez Roberson.

Before you use your carpet sweeper, pick up all hairpins and other sharp objects which could damage the mechanism. Empty the sweeper on a damp newspaper to help hold flying dust in check.

The architects who designed the beautiful cathedrals were mighty preachers. They may never have stood in pulpits and spoken from sacred texts . . . but in their own way they revealed truth to generations.

They spoke not with words, but with columns and arches and domes and spires . . . they gave the world arrows of granite and marble . . . mighty, massive, lasting arrows pointing always toward God.

LOOK UP! REACH UP! RISE UP!

This is the theme of traditional church architecture. This sermon in stone is preached to the human eye in the millions of houses of Christian worship all over the world. And the towering spires of the cathedrals proclaim it no more effectively than the humble steeples of our churches, the arched roofs of our village chapels.

Our religion is more than belief in God. It is the Power that lifts our eyes, our thoughts, our lives above the drab levels of mere human existence. In the worship and work of our Churches we look up . . . reach up . . . rise up to heights of character and achievement for which we were born.

Bible Comment

Spiritual Songs In The Night

In Tennyson's long poem, "Geraint and Enid," he tells of a certain Earl Limours, whose talk,

"When wine and free companions
kindled him,
Was wont to glance and sparkle
like a gem
Of 50 facets."

That figure in a holier and better connection might well be applied to the life experiences of the Apostle Paul. The Book of the Acts and the Epistles reveal the versatility of that amazing man in ways that have seldom been appreciated.

Paul the theologian and the intricate expounder of his newfound Christian faith in relation to his former and intense Judaism has had his due. We are well aware also of his travels, his persistent persecutions, his shipwrecks, imprisonments and hardships.

But perhaps the most remarkable thing of all is that a man of such intense seriousness who had been twice left for dead by his persecutors should have so much to say about joy and should have assured us that he had so much joy in his own life.

Yet it is so. I find 24 references to joy by Paul in the Acts and the Epistles. This joy is the inner experience of joy in the Holy Spirit (Romans 14:17; Galatians 5:22). It is the joy of Paul in his friends and converts (II Corinthians 2:3, "My joy is the joy of you all"). It is the joy of satisfaction in the consciousness that he is fulfilling the mission to which God has called him and in his determination to be faithful to the end (Philippians 4:1; Acts 20:24).

Of the fact that Paul's joy was no pretense by a man who has suffered deeply and is making a bold effort to keep up his spirits, we have ample verification in the vivid account of the prison experience in Acts 16.

In the jail at Philippi the outward condition of Paul and his companion Silas was in direct contrast with the irrepressible joy in their souls. Cast into the darkness of the inner prison with their feet fast in the stocks, at midnight after hours of distress these amazing Christians could none the less pray and sing praises, not in any inner silence, but so the other prisoners heard them.

That was the joy of which Paul wrote. Manifest under the most trying circumstances, it was evidence of the joy and triumph of Christian faith. Nor has the example and experience of Paul been unique or isolated in Christian history and experience.

Many are the evidences of the joy of the martyrs. Nothing is nobler in the annals of the British history or more significant of Pauline joy than the words of Hugh Latimer to his fellow-martyr Ridley, as they perished in the flames: "Be of good comfort, Master Ridley! Play the man! We shall this day light by God's grace such a candle, in England, as I trust shall never be put out."

Missionary On Visit Home First Time In 5 Years

Rev. E. L. Freeman, missionary superintendent for the United Pentecostal Church, Inc., has arrived in his home town, West Monroe, after five years in South Africa.

Rev. Freeman plans to be in the States visiting different conventions and camp meetings until November and then will return to Pretoria, South Africa, where his wife and five children are residing.

Bare Shoulders Not For Street

There's a summer look for the city which makes everyone within range feel more cool and comfortable. It includes neat cotton or linen dresses in dark colors — black, forest green, brown and gray, for examples—with enough cover - up to hide prickly heat or other unsightly summertime manifestations.

Backs and shoulders are always covered, even if only with bolero jackets, in the daytime. Gloves and stockings aren't left at home. Toes don't protrude from shoes in the early hours.

Does so much cover-up sound warm to you? If you've tried and compared the difference, you may realize that fabric protects the body from excessive heat as well as from the cold.

The important thing is to choose a porous, soft, lightweight fabric in a garment with a non-constricting fit. Cover - up shoes, likewise, protect the feet from hot pavements. Linen, shantung, kid or other summertime shoes will permit flexibility without becoming hot-boxes.

Many girls take the road of least resistance, beauty-wise, in summer and wear country clothes in the city — peasant skirts, bare-shouldered blouses, and backless dresses on the street.

Smartness depends so much on looking in place, or in harmony with surroundings. One wishes more girls were aware of the cool-looking and cool-feeling possibilities of more cover-up for town in summer in the daytime. They'd certainly look prettier.

It's Easy To Waterproof Your Raincoat

It's a smart girl who learns how to clean or launder her own raincoat and re-waterproof it at home.

Many of the gay raincoats currently on the market can be tossed into the family washing machine, but unless the water repellant is renewed after laundering, they may not be very effective in shedding rain.

Others can be cleaned at home, but here again it is necessary to renew the waterproofing substance after the garment is dunked in cleaning fluid.

The business of renewing the water-repellant surface of a coat usually is fairly expensive, if done by a professional cleaner, and in time the upkeep of the coat may amount to more than its original cost.

Whether or not you clean your own coat, you can keep down the the upkeep cost by taking care of it. After it has been out in the rain it should be pressed, to keep it from looking rumpled. A steam iron is recommended for this purpose, to achieve a smooth finish and avoid damaging the water-repellant surface.

Remove soil spots as soon as you see them, using a damp cloth or cleaning fluid, as required by the fabric. Work quickly and, if you use, soap, rinse at once, as soap damages the waterproofing.

Most coats nowadays can take two or three cleanings before they need to be re-waterproofed. You can apply the water repellant easily at home, using a widely available waterproofing substance which comes in a flexible bottle and can be sprayed on the garment.

Other water repellant compounds still in the experimental stage, may simplify the process even more. Chemists are at present working on one product which can be mixed with cleaning fluid, so that a coat may be waterproofed as it is cleaned. Another may make it possible to put the water repellant directly into a steam iron, and waterproof the coat as it is pressed.

eliminate some of the bulk that goes with frizziness.

Have him contrive for you a simple style that you can take care of yourself. Don't have a fancy hair - do, which, generally bad on anyone, is particularly bad for you. It should conform to the contour of the head as much as possible.

You might inquire at a reliable and trustworthy beauty salon about the availability of hair - straightening treatments.

New Help For Speech Defects

Why has five-year-old John never talked? Can anything be done for Susie, born with a cleft of the palate? What should be done about Buddy and Joe and Mary, who stutter?

These are typical problems facing parents of more than three million children in our country, says Ruth M. Clark, executive member of the James Sonnett Greene Club and re-educational director of the National Hospital for Speech Disorders in New York City. It is the only institution of its kind in the United States and, through the club, composed of former patients of the hospital, it provides a specialist for underprivileged children suffering from speech defects.

If Junior is not talking by the age of four, says Miss Clark, parents push him to speak. Their very overanxiety may lead the child to studder. She adds:

"Children can outgrow stuttering if they are given proper guidance. Parents can do more than anyone else for the child, since in the early stages of stuttering, treatment is largely a matter of eliminating environmental tensions, particularly in the home, and developing in the child a sense of confidence and security."

Parents of children who stutter should keep the following points in mind, says Miss Clark:

1. Avoid fussing over his eating habits or otherwise creating tension at mealtime.

2. Never send him to bed in a state of high excitement. Begin to taper off his activities at least a half hour before bedtime by reading or relating a quieting story to him.

3. Slow down the tempo in the home and encourage the child to do everything slowly and easily.

4. Avoid undue excitement and remove all sources of tension in the home — particularly parental bickering and quarreling. Curb your own excitable tendencies and those of other adults who come in contact with the child.

5. Avoid making the child "speech conscious" by continually correcting his speech. Don't make him stop and repeat any particular word with which he has had difficulty. If you feel that some speech guidance is necessary, simply suggest: "Let's try to talk more slowly; Mother doesn't hear so well today."

6. Don't continually "police" the child and direct all his activities.

7. Never punish or ridicule the child when he stutters. Never make him feel he is different or the object of pity.

8. Give the child frequent evidence of your affection. The child who stutters, like every boy and girl, needs the feeling of security that can come only from the knowledge that he is loved and wanted.

Children with a cleft of the palate need surgery, otherwise they will have a serious speech defect, she says. And speech training should be begun soon after the palate has been repaired.

Here, too, it is important to give the child sympathetic understanding and frequent encouragement. Correction for the most part should be confined to the speech lesson itself and to one or two brief "good speech" periods during the day when the child is expected to make a special effort to put into practice the speech patterns he is learning.

There are several possible reasons why little five-year-old John doesn't talk, points out Miss Clark. He may be retarded mentally, his hearing may be impaired, or he may have some other handicap she suggests, a child may be perfectly normal in all respects except his ability to use the muscles necessary for speech.

The James Sonnett Greene Club has a series of leaflets on helping the child who doesn't talk, on lisping, on cleft-palate speech, on stuttering and on poor articulation, which they will send to parents who write for them. Address your letters to The James Sonnett Greene Club, 61-63 Irving Place, New York 3, N. Y.

Bible Words to Live by

MATTHEW 5:16 – "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven." (A.S.V.)

* * *

One of the gadgets in my photography outfit is a light meter. By using it one is able to measure the intensity of light being reflected from an object to be photographed.

We are reminded by Jesus that we are "the light of the world." If this be true, someone should be able to detect the rays of light being emitted from us.

How can we measure the brilliance given off by those who are the "light of the world?" Simply by observing their actions. If there is love for others the light is on. If there is concern for the unfortunate, zeal for redeeming the lost, training the young, nurturing the old and converting the wayward, the light is present. If these things abound in one's life, the light is shining and the Father in heaven is glorified by these good works.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Spiritual Songs In The Night

In Tennyson's long poem, "Geraint and Enid," he tells of a certain Earl Limours, whose talk,

"When wine and free companions
kindled him,
Was wont to glance and sparkle
like a gem
Of 50 facets."

That figure in a holier and better connection might well be applied to the life experiences of the Apostle Paul. The Book of the Acts and the Epistles reveal the versatility of that amazing man in ways that have seldom been appreciated.

Paul the theologian and the intricate expounder of his new-found Christian faith in relation to his former and intense Judaism has had his due. We are well aware also of his travels, his persistent persecutions, his shipwrecks, imprisonments and hardships.

But perhaps the most remarable thing of all is that a man of such intense seriousness who had been twice left for dead by his persecutors should have so much to say about joy and should have assured us that he had so much joy in his own life.

Yet it is so. I find 24 references to joy by Paul in the Acts and the Epistles. This joy is the inner experience of joy in the Holy Spirit (Romans 14:17; Galatians 5:22). It is the joy of Paul in his friends and converts (II Corinthians 2:3, "My joy is the joy of you all"). It is the joy of satisfaction in the consciousness that he is fulfilling the mission to which God has called him and in his determination to be faithful to the end (Philippians 4:1; Acts 20:24).

Of the fact that Paul's joy was no pretense by a man who has suffered deeply and is making a bold effort to keep up his spirits, we have ample verification in the vivid account of the prison experience in Acts 16.

In the jail at Philippi the outward condition of Paul and his companion Silas was in direct contrast with the irrepressible joy in their souls. Cast into the darkness of the inner prison with their feet fast in the stocks, at midnight after hours of distress these amazing Christians could none the less pray and sing praises, not in any inner silence, but so the other prisoners heard them.

That was the joy of which Paul wrote. Manifest under the most trying circumstances, it was evidence of the joy and triumph of Christian faith. Nor has the example and experience of Paul been unique or isolated in Christian history and experience.

Many are the evidences of the joy of the martyrs. Nothing is nobler in the annals of the British history or more significant of Pauline joy than the words of Hugh Latimer to his fellow-martyr Ridley, as they perished in the flames: "Be of good comfort, Master Ridley! Play the man! We shall this day light by God's grace such a candle, in England, as I trust shall never be put out."

Bare Shoulders Not For Street

There's a summer look for the city which makes everyone within range feel more cool and comfortable. It includes neat cotton or linen dresses in dark colors — black, forest green, brown and gray, for examples—with enough cover - up to hide prickly heat or other unsightly summertime manifestations.

Backs and shoulders are always covered, even if only with bolero jackets, in the daytime. Gloves and stockings aren't left at home. Toes don't protrude from shoes in the early hours.

Does so much cover-up sound warm to you? If you've tried and compared the difference, you may realize that fabric protects the body from excessive heat as well as from the cold.

The important thing is to choose a porous, soft, lightweight fabric in a garment with a non-constricting fit. Cover - up shoes, likewise, protect the feet from hot pavements. Linen, shantung, kid or other summertime shoes will permit flexibility without becoming hotboxes.

Many girls take the road of least resistance, beauty-wise, in summer and wear country clothes in the city — peasant skirts, bare-shouldered blouses, and backless dresses on the street.

Smartness depends so much on looking in place, or in harmony with surroundings. One wishes more girls were aware of the cool-looking and cool-feeling possibilities of more cover-up for town in summer in the daytime. They'd certainly look prettier.

It's Easy To Waterproof Your Raincoat

It's a smart girl who learns how to clean or launder her own raincoat and re-waterproof it at home.

Many of the gay raincoats currently on the market can be tossed into the family washing machine, but unless the water repellant is renewed after laundering, they may not be very effective in shedding rain.

Others can be cleaned at home, but here again it is necessary to renew the waterproofing substance after the garment is dunked in cleaning fluid.

The business of renewing the water-repellant surface of a coat usually is fairly expensive, if done by a professional cleaner, and in time the upkeep of the coat may amount to more than its original cost.

Whether or not you clean your own coat, you can keep down the the upkeep cost by taking care of it. After it has been out in the rain it should be pressed, to keep it from looking rumpled. A steam iron is recommended for this purpose, to achieve a smooth finish and avoid damaging the water-repellant surface.

Remove soil spots as soon as you see them, using a damp cloth or cleaning fluid, as required by the fabric. Work quickly and, if you use, soap, rinse at once, as soap damages the waterproofing.

Most coats nowadays can take two or three cleanings before they need to be re-waterproofed. You can apply the water repellant easily at home, using a widely available waterproofing substance which comes in a flexible bottle and can be sprayed on the garment.

Other water repellant compounds still in the experimental stage, may simplify the process even more. Chemists are at present working on one product which can be mixed with cleaning fluid, so that a coat may be waterproofed as it is cleaned. Another may make it possible to put the water repellant directly into a steam iron, and waterproof the coat as it is pressed.

New Help For Speech Defects

Why has five-year-old John never talked? Can anything be done for Susie, born with a cleft of the palate? What should be done about Buddy and Joe and Mary, who stutter?

These are typical problems facing parents of more than three million children in our country, says Ruth M. Clark, executive member of the James Sonnett Greene Club and re-educational director of the National Hospital for Speech Disorders in New York City. It is the only institution of its kind in the United States and, through the club, composed of former patients of the hospital, it provides a specialist for underprivileged children suffering from speech defects.

If Junior is not talking by the age of four, says Miss Clark, parents push him to speak. Their very overanxiety may lead the child to studder. She adds:

"Children can outgrow stuttering if they are given proper guidance. Parents can do more than anyone else for the child, since in the early stages of stuttering, treatment is largely a matter of eliminating environmental tensions, particularly in the home, and developing in the child a sense of confidence and security."

Parents of children who stutter should keep the following points in mind, says Miss Clark:

1. Avoid fussing over his eating habits or otherwise creating tension at mealtime.

2. Never send him to bed in a state of high excitement. Begin to taper off his activities at least a half hour before bedtime by reading or relating a quieting story to him.

3. Slow down the tempo in the home and encourage the child to do everything slowly and easily.

4. Avoid undue excitement and remove all sources of tension in the home — particularly parental bickering and quarreling. Curb your own excitable tendencies and those of other adults who come in contact with the child.

5. Avoid making the child "speech conscious" by continually correcting his speech. Don't make him stop and repeat any particular word with which he has had difficulty. If you feel that some speech guidance is necessary, simply suggest: "Let's try to talk more slowly; Mother doesn't hear so well today."

6. Don't continually "police" the child and direct all his activities.

7. Never punish or ridicule the child when he stutters. Never make him feel he is different or the object of pity.

8. Give the child frequent evidence of your affection. The child who stutters, like every boy and girl, needs the feeling of security that can come only from the knowledge that he is loved and wanted.

Children with a cleft of the palate need surgery, otherwise they will have a serious speech defect, she says. And speech training should be begun soon after the palate has been repaired.

Here, too, it is important to give the child sympathetic understanding and frequent encouragement. Correction for the most part should be confined to the speech lesson itself and to one or two brief "good speech" periods during the day when the child is expected to make a special effort to put into practice the speech patterns he is learning.

There are several possible reasons why little five-year-old John doesn't talk, points out Miss Clark. He may be retarded mentally, his hearing may be impaired, or he may have some other handicap she suggests, a child may be perfectly normal in all respects except his ability to use the muscles necessary for speech.

The James Sonnett Greene Club has a series of leaflets on helping the child who doesn't talk, on lisping, on cleft-palate speech, on stuttering and on poor articulation, which they will send to parents who write for them. Address your letters to The James Sonnett Greene Club, 61-63 Irving Place, New York 3, N. Y.

Bible Words to Live by

MATTHEW 5:16 – "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven." (A.S.V.)

* * *

One of the gadgets in my photography outfit is a light meter. By using it one is able to measure the intensity of light being reflected from an object to be photographed.

We are reminded by Jesus that we are "the light of the world." If this be true, someone should be able to detect the rays of light being emitted from us.

How can we measure the brilliance given off by those who are the "light of the world?" Simply by observing their actions. If there is love for others the light is on. If there is concern for the unfortunate, zeal for redeeming the lost, training the young, nurturing the old and converting the wayward, the light is present. If these things abound in one's life, the light is shining and the Father in heaven is glorified by these good works.

Miss Dixie Sills Becomes Bride Of Murry C. Smith

The wedding of Miss Dixie Sills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sills, of Crowville, to Murray C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, of Tioga, was held on June 5 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in the Crowville Baptist Church with the Rev. George C. Herndon, member of Louisiana College faculty performing the ceremony.

Magnolia leaves were used as a background for the seven branched candelabra, that was flanked on each side by tall standards of white gladioli.

Miss Betty Jackson of Vivian, La., played a program of soft music from the piano preceding the ceremony. Mr. Dewey Fugler, of Tioga, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony. After the vows, he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The candles were lighted by Loren Enete of St. Joseph and Wilbur Taylor of West Monroe.

Maid of honor was Miss Elaine Sills, sister of the bride. Her dress was of yellow organdy, with tight-fitting bodice, full ballerina-length skirt. Her slippers were the color of her dress. Her bouquet was of orchid color carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Sills, sister of the bride, of Crowville, Mrs. Eldred Smith, Corpus Christi, Tex., sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Lora Lynn Ivey, of Mansfield. They wore ballerina length dresses of organdy in pastel pink, blue, and green, with slippers to match. Their bouquets were of split carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Walter Enete, of St. Joseph, was radiantly lovely in brocaded organdy, with tight fitting bodice and V neckline worn over a hand-made slip that was taken from her mother's trousseau. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a satin headdress. She wore a single strand of pearls, and carried a bouquet of white split carnations.

The best man was Mr. Loyd Smith, of Crane, Tex., brother of the groom. The ushers were Messrs. Eldred Smith, Corpus Christi, Tex., brother of the groom, Wilbur Taylor, West Monroe, and Jimmie Eppinette, of West Monroe.

A reception was held in the recreation room of the church. Arrangements of beautiful summer flowers were used throughout the room. The bride's table was covered with a hand crocheted tablecloth centered with the wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom. The cake was surrounded by shasta daisies and fern, flanked on each side by candles in silver holders. The crystal punch bowl was placed on one end of the table.

Mrs. Walter Enete of St. Joseph, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Lyle Brown, Austin, Tex., sister of the bride, served the cake. Assisting in the serving courtesies were Misses Betty Jo Thornhill and Dora Parker of Crowville. Miss Katie Ruth Sowell, of Crowville presided at the bride's book.

The couple left on a short honeymoon, after which they will work with the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention in New Mexico for the summer. For traveling, the bride wore a blue shantung model with black accessories. She wore the split carnation from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Crowville High School and Louisiana College.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Tioga High School, Louisiana College, and is attending New Orleans Seminary in the fall.

Freedom Is Analyzed By AAUW President

An examination of freedom and education as fordes in a democracy keynoted the opening general meeting last night of the 17th national biennial convention of the American Association of University Women in Minneapolis, Minn. The AAUW president, Dr. Susan B. Riley, of Nashville, Tenn., presented this analysis in a speech titled, "The Raft with the Twin Sails."

Delegates, representing over 1,230 AAUW branches throughout the country, have assembled in Minneapolis for a five-day meeting to consider The Education of a Free People. They heard their president, who is professor of English at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, set the tone for the business and general sessions on education, international relations, social studies, the status of women, fellowships, the arts, and legislation. These sessions will be addressed by speakers who have made notable contributions in education, government, art and literature, and civic and social service.

Dr. Riley, in her opening remarks, summarized the values of the system of education enjoyed in the United States. She then went on to say that honest criticism of education is not only inevitable but essential since the aims of education must be constantly re-evaluated as the nature of society itself changes.

"The school," said Dr. Riley, "is one manifestation of the community and will be no better nor worse than the community decrees it shall be." She told her audience that in current fault-finding, decreased support, and organized attacks of doubtful origin there was a triple threat—to education; to freedom, which is nurtured by education; and to democracy.

Four factors that keep the schools from being as effective as the challenge of the times demands were cited by Dr. Riley. They are, she said:

(1) A teacher shortage coupled with a phenomenal increase in school population, overcrowded and antiquated buildings, and insufficient support;

(2) Lack of understanding of what our schools are doing as a necessary means of providing quality of education for all;

(3) Suspicion of the loyalty of teachers and investigation of schools; and

(4) Attempted control by self-appointed groups.

Recognition of the significance of these threats to education, Dr. Riley said, has brought from the friends of education a literature of defense remarkable for its extent, variety of origin, courage, and literary quality. She then went on to outline some of the false impressions with which this literature was concerned

Speaking of unauthorized investigations and attempted control by outside groups, Dr. Riley pointed out that the principle of academic freedom is at stake. "This academic freedom which educational institutions are so zealous to preserve is not an esoteric luxury, not an evasion of civic responsibilities, not a refuge from criticism. It is the means," she said, "by which their opportunity to make certain contributions to society shall be guaranteed. These contributions are the enlargement of pure knowledge, the methods of arriving at that knowledge, and the application of both that knowledge and the method to the practical affairs of men."

The best defense against communism, she emphasized, is to be found in the fearless thinking which good teachers provoke. "To seek and weigh all available evidence, to determine the truth and to be able to defend it, are the safeguards against any government which would seek to impose conformity from above," said Dr. Riley.

Dr. Riley pointed out that that academic freedom has made an equally tangible contribution to our economic system, adding "our advances in natural sciences and in certain applied sciences, as medicine, have stemmed from the same unhampered search for new knowledge."

"To deny the freedom of the classroom to discover, search, and publish the truth is gradually to close the doors of the laboratory," she stated. "A society that attempts to put education and science and scholarship in straitjackets will find that in straitjackets there can be no movement, and that the result will be intellectual stagnation. . . . A society that encourages state intervention in the realm of ideas will find itself an easy prey to state intervention in other realms as well," she warned.

In summarizing, Dr. Riley listed the following freedoms of education:

1. Freedom to guarantee to all the nation's children the best possible education within our knowledge and resources.

2. Freedom to offer to superior people adequate compensation and spiritual satisfaction in the teaching profession.

3. Freedom to search for truth so that man's great potentialities may never be bound by the narrow confines of conformity.

4. Freedom to communicate fearlessly individual concepts of truth so that from the totality of these concepts the community — local and world — may profit.

5. Freedom to adventure, to set forth fearlessly into new intellectual and physical fields so that man may be saved from the sterility of passivity, from his false belief that a riskless security is the most desirable kind of life.

6. Freedom to believe in man's power and right to choose from alternatives, in his moral responsibility to stand courageously for his beliefs.

7. Freedom to live happily rather than fearfully, bravely rather than cautiously, under the sun of good will rather than a lurking fog of suspicion.

Screening Sun Tan Lotion Is Now Available

Some 23,000,000 persons in this country are so susceptible to the burning rays of the sun that they can't endure even the shortest of exposures without painful results.

They need an ultraviolet-ray screening preparation. Fortunately, one is available. The makers claim that it will provide total blockage of these rays.

Every sun preparation, with the exception of certain oils for natural tanners, provides some degree of protection from the burning rays. You choose the one which gives a percentage of protection in accordance with your skin.

Thin-skinned die-hards who'll never be able to endure ultra-violet rays at all aren't the only ones who may benefit from this total-blockage preparation.

Anyone who has shoulders inclined to burn on the top, the end of a nose inclined to get red and peel, or any super-sensitive part, may well use this product. Children, whose daily dosage of sun is difficult to control, may benefit by it.

Footnotes To Summer Charm

Your footprints can leave sparkling imprints on summer sands.

Feet lead a sole-tickling existence in summertime, what with warm sands and dewy grasses underfoot by day and cool patios by night. The goal should be to keep your feet twinkling during this barefoot period.

A weekly pedicure should take only 15 minutes, and your reward may be little toes that give the appearance of bright seashells. Here's how:

1. Remove old nail polish with oily remover. Moisten cotton with it, pressing it against the nail for a few seconds, then wipe down with a single stroke toward the nail tip.

2. File toe nails straight across with an emery board. If nails are long use scissors to cut them, taking care not to cut them too close. Never file or cut your nails away at corners. This can cause ingrown toenails. Shape them slightly at the tip in an oval shape.

3. Soak your feet in warm soapy water, scrubbing them with a soft brush, then dry thoroughly.

4. Apply oily cuticle remover with an orangewood stick wrapped with cotton. This should be worked gently around the cuticle, pushing it back from the nail. Wipe loosened cuticle with towel or tissue.

5. After using cuticle oil go over the nails again with polish remover to remove all traces of oil.

6. Apply a polish foundation to your nails. Then choose your favorite polish, applying it sparingly with a not - too - full brush so that it does not run back on the cuticle or around the sides of the nail.

7. After the polish is dry, take cuticle oil and apply it around the cuticle. Massage cream around feet and ankles.

Pearly polishes are popular now because these give a jewel - like sparkle to the nails. You'll find them available in pink, rose, flame and even white pearl tones.

When washing a coat, be sure to remove any non-washable trimmings or shoulder pads.

Velvet Is In The Air

Make your first important wardrobe investment for summer in velvet. Actually velvet knows no season and is a real fashion buy today. The frosted look added to the traditional glamour and luxury of velvet is making summer fashion history this season. Equally smart with tailored as with dressy fashion, it will carry you from mid-summer straight through fall, winter and spring. There is no fabric we know of as appropriate for all seasons.

French and American designers are creating exciting mid-summer fashions in velvet. There are hats varying from the tiniest shapes introduced by Christian Dior, to dramatic cartwheels by Laddie Northridge. Boleros, fly - away jackets, shoulder-shrugs and stoles —all in velvet—are currently appearing in the better stores. Exquisite bags, belts, and gloves in velvets are so regally styled that their carry-over into fall is assured. When it comes to velvet, almighty black is always good but only one of the many selections. Brilliant navy, Rennaissance and garnet rose, jade, flower colors, and ivory are important in the color range. Nothing is cosier than a bed jacket or lounging robe —for the bride or the lady around the house who likes to envelop herself in feminine pastels and the luxury look.

Influenced by the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, velvet is given unusual impetus in fashions. Once a fabulous expensive fabric, handloomed and confined only to royalty, today velvet is within the price range of every wardrobe budget.

Our mothers and grandmothers, and their grandmothers knew well the traditional beauty and elegance of velvet, but it ramained primarily a luxury for the nobility. The modern miracle of industry has produced vast improvements in the finishes over the velvet known almost a generation ago. Such superior finishes are now applied to velvets that if you buy the right type, it will give you lasting service. The experts at the Velvet Institute of America tell us that you must make sure that you have fast-pile velvet wherever rubbing occurs. For purely decorative trims, hats and accessories, the non-fast types are frosted and becoming. If you've never owned one, you might look at the regal collection of transparent velvet raincoats that are as glamourous in the pouring rain as over a billowy ball gown.

How To Avoid A Fussy Look

How can I avoid a fussy look? This question is often asked by girls who want to dress smartly but somehow always wind up in some degree, overdressed.

Let's illustrate our point. We recently saw a perfect example of the fussy look. An otherwise nice-looking blonde young woman was wearing a lavender - and - white geometric print dress, the design very busy and tiring to look at. Her hat also had a design. It was a navy - and - white striped straw topped by a gewgaw.

She wore intricate sandals and had on a short navy topcoat that was far from simple. It had gigantic navy - and white cuffs and lapels.

There was nothing wrong with this girl's color scheme. But she made the mistake of having too much design in her costume. If she enjoyed a print dress, she would have made a better choice with plain hat, shoes and coat.

The lesson for anyone who would avoid the fussy look is simply this: one pattern, or design, per costume is enough. But, do you manage to get the fussy look in spite of having this knowledge? The answer may lie in your shopping habits.

Whenever you're tempted to buy a patterned garment or accessory, ask yourself exactly how many such you already have in your wardrobe. Perhaps you need to achieve balance with more plain things.

Wardrobe For Weekend Can Be Made Pretty

A smart girl with a flair for sewing can be as well dressed today as those ladies of unlimited income who enjoy yearly ratings on the lists of the "ten best-dressed."

Some of the world's best designers today are lending their talents to the pattern companies, and some of the country's top scientists are helping to perfect the finishing and quality of American fabrics.

The home sewing fan thus has at her disposal a selection of design and fabric which would have been impossible a generation ago.

The costume theme is the big idea in home dressmaking this season — planning an interchangeable wardrobe of separates which can be mixed or matched to double its utility.

The new fabric finishes, which resist wrinkling, spotting and general soil, make it possible to keep an outfit fresh for several days, and to take it from a suitcase crisp and unrumpled.

CARS ARE NOT KILLERS BY THEMSELVES

You can readily trust an automobile these days. Mechanically they are a pretty safe proposition. But you can't always trust the man or woman at the wheel.

Most of the traffic accidents this holiday—by a tremendous margin—will be due to HUMAN FAILURE . . . not anything going wrong with the car itself. Drivers will fall asleep. They will pass on hills or curves. They will take their eyes off the road for just a little instant. They will do other foolish things, forgetting that the impact of a collision at 60 miles per hour is precisely the same as driving a car off the roof of a fourteen story building.

Keep your mind on driving—your eyes on the road. To admire the beautiful scenery—pull your car into a parking clearing. Even a few seconds distraction invites disaster. An accident can be only a "head turn" away.

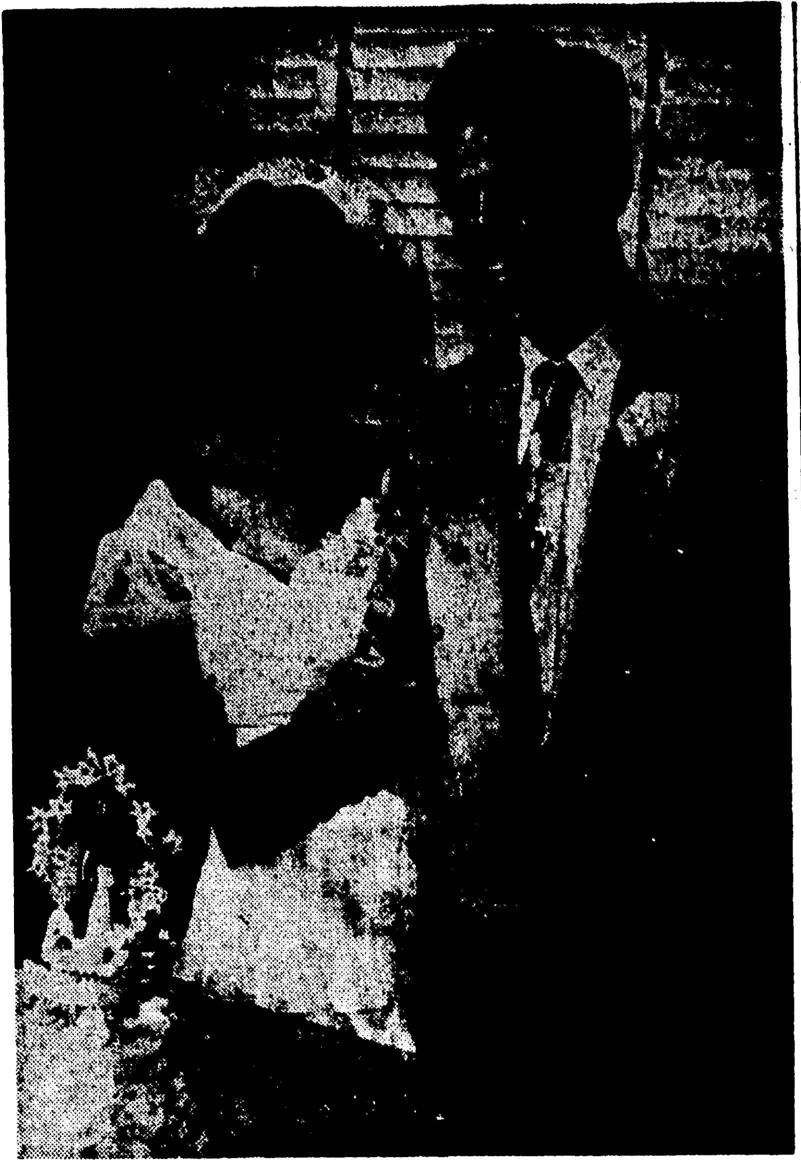
MR. AND MRS. MURRAY C. SMITH—Mrs. Smith before her wedding early in June was Miss Dixie Sills daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sills of Crowville. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith of Tioga. The ceremony was held in the Baptist Church in Crowville.



MARRIED IN COLUMBIA—Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Harrelson were married recently in the Baptist church at Columbia. The bride was the former Miss Elizabeth Pauline Wyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wyles of Columbia. The groom is the son of Mrs. Cicero Harrelson and the late Mr. Harrelson of Grayson.

VISITS RELATIVES—Miss Mary Hunt Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simmons of Belzoni, Miss., is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James "Nick" Everett. Miss Simmons' mother was formerly Miss Emma Mason of Delhi.

Miss Dixie Sills Becomes Bride Of Murry C. Smith

The wedding of Miss Dixie Sills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sills, of Crowville, to Murray C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, of Tioga, was held on June 5 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in the Crowville Baptist Church with the Rev. George C. Herndon, member of Louisiana College faculty performing the ceremony.

Magnoia leaves were used as a background for the seven branched candelabra, that was flanked on each side by tall standards of white gladioli.

Miss Betty Jackson of Vivian, La., played a program of soft music from the piano preceding the ceremony. Mr. Dewey Fugler, of Tioga, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony. After the vows, he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The candles were lighted by Loren Enete of St. Joseph and Wilbur Taylor of West Monroe.

Maid of honor was Miss Elaine Sills, sister of the bride. Her dress was of yellow organdy, with tight-fitting bodice, full ballerina-length skirt. Her slippers were the color of her dress. Her bouquet was of orchid color carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Sills, sister of the bride, of Crowville, Mrs. Eldred Smith, Corpus Christi, Tex., sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Lora Lynn Ivey, of Mansfield. They wore ballerina length dresses of organdy in pastel pink, blue, and green, with slippers to match. Their bouquets were of split carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Walter Enete, of St. Joseph, was radiantly lovely in brocaded organdy, with tight fitting bodice and V neckline worn over a hand-made slip that was taken from her mother's trousseau. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a satin headdress. She wore a single strand of pearls, and carried a bouquet of white split carnations.

The best man was Mr. Loyd Smith, of Crane, Tex., brother of the groom. The ushers were Messrs. Eldred Smith, Corpus Christi, Tex., brother of the groom, Wilbur Taylor, West Monroe, and Jimmie Eppinette, of West Monroe.

A reception was held in the recreation room of the church. Arrangements of beautiful summer flowers were used throughout the room. The bride's table was covered with a hand crocheted tablecloth centered with the wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom. The cake was surrounded by shasta daisies and fern, flanked on each side by candles in silver holders. The crystal punch bowl was placed on one end of the table.

Mrs. Walter Enete of St. Joseph, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Lyle Brown, Austin, Tex., sister of the bride, served the cake. Assisting in the serving courtesies were Misses Betty Jo Thornhill and Dora Parker of Crowville. Miss Katie Ruth Sowell, of Crowville presided at the bride's book.

The couple left on a short honeymoon, after which they will work with the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention in New Mexico for the summer. For traveling, the bride wore a blue shantung model with black accessories. She wore the split carnation from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Crowville High School and Louisiana College.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Tioga High School, Louisiana College, and is attending New Orleans Seminary in the fall.

Freedom Is Analyzed By AAUW President

An examination of freedom and education as fordes in a democracy keynoted the opening general meeting last night of the 17th national biennial convention of the American Association of University Women in Minneapolis, Minn. The AAUW president, Dr. Susan B. Riley, of Nashville, Tenn., presented this analysis in a speech titled, "The Raft with the Twin Sails."

Delegates, representing over 1,230 AAUW branches throughout the country, have assembled in Minneapolis for a five-day meeting to consider The Education of a Free People. They heard their president, who is professor of English at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, set the tone for the business and general sessions on education, international relations, social studies, the status of women, fellowships, the arts, and legislation. These sessions will be addressed by speakers who have made notable contributions in education, government, art and literature, and civic and social service.

Dr. Riley, in her opening remarks, summarized the values of the system of education enjoyed in the United States. She then went on to say that honest criticism of education is not only inevitable but essential since the aims of education must be constantly re-evaluated as the nature of society itself changes.

"The school," said Dr. Riley, "is one manifestation of the community and will be no better nor worse than the community decrees it shall be." She told her audience that in current fault-finding, decreased support, and organized attacks of doubtful origin there was a triple threat—to education; to freedom, which is nurtured by education; and to democracy.

Four factors that keep the schools from being as effective as the challenge of the times demands were cited by Dr. Riley. They are, she said:

(1) A teacher shortage coupled with a phenomenal increase in school population, overcrowded and antiquated buildings, and insufficient support;

(2) Lack of understanding of what our schools are doing as a necessary means of providing quality of education for all;

(3) Suspicion of the loyalty of teachers and investigation of schools; and

(4) Attempted control by self-appointed groups.

Recognition of the significance of these threats to education, Dr. Riley said, has brought from the friends of education a literature of defense remarkable for its extent, variety of origin, courage, and literary quality. She then went on to outline some of the false impressions with which this literature was concerned

Speaking of unauthorized investigations and attempted control by outside groups, Dr. Riley pointed out that the principle of academic freedom is at stake. "This academic freedom which educational institutions are so zealous to preserve is not an esoteric luxury, not an evasion of civic responsibilities, not a refuge from criticism. It is the means," she said, "by which their opportunity to make certain contributions to society shall be guaranteed. These contributions are the enlargement of pure knowledge, the methods of arriving at that knowledge, and the application of both that knowledge and the method to the practical affairs of men."

The best defense against communism, she emphasized, is to be found in the fearless thinking which good teachers provoke. "To seek and weigh all available evidence, to determine the truth and to be able to defend it, are the safeguards against any government which would seek to impose conformity from above," said Dr. Riley.

Dr. Riley pointed out that that academic freedom has made an equally tangible contribution to our economic system, adding "our advances in natural sciences and in certain applied sciences, as medicine, have stemmed from the same unhampered search for new knowledge."

"To deny the freedom of the classroom to discover, search, and publish the truth is gradually to close the doors of the laboratory," she stated. "A society that attempts to put education and science and scholarship in straitjackets will find that in straitjackets there can be no movement, and that the result will be intellectual stagnation. . . . A society that encourages state intervention in the realm of ideas will find itself an easy prey to state intervention in other realms as well," she warned.

In summarizing, Dr. Riley listed the following freedoms of education:

1. Freedom to guarantee to all the nation's children the best possible education within our knowledge and resources.
2. Freedom to offer to superior people adequate compensation and spiritual satisfaction in the teaching profession.
3. Freedom to search for truth so that man's great potentialities may never be bound by the narrow confines of conformity.
4. Freedom to communicate fearlessly individual concepts of truth so that from the totality of these concepts the community — local and world — may profit.
5. Freedom to adventure, to set forth fearlessly into new intellectual and physical fields so that man may be saved from the sterility of passivity, from his false belief that a riskless security is the most desirable kind of life.
6. Freedom to believe in man's power and right to choose from alternatives, in his moral responsibility to stand courageously for his beliefs.
7. Freedom to live happily rather than fearfully, bravely rather than cautiously, under the sun of good will rather than a lurking fog of suspicion.

Screening Sun Tan Lotion Is Now Available

Some 23,000,000 persons in this country are so susceptible to the burning rays of the sun that they can't endure even the shortest of exposures without painful results.

They need an ultraviolet-ray screening preparation. Fortunately, one is available. The makers claim that it will provide total blockage of these rays.

Every sun preparation, with the exception of certain oils for natural tanners, provides some degree of protection from the burning rays. You choose the one which gives a percentage of protection in accordance with your skin.

Thin-skinned die-hards who'll never be able to endure ultra-violet rays at all aren't the only ones who may benefit from this total-blockage preparation.

Anyone who has shoulders inclined to burn on the top, the end of a nose inclined to get red and peel, or any super-sensitive part, may well use this product. Children, whose daily dosage of sun is difficult to control, may benefit by it.

Footnotes To Summer Charm

Your footprints can leave sparkling imprints on summer sands.

Feet lead a sole-tickling existence in summertime, what with warm sands and dewy grasses underfoot by day and cool patios by night. The goal should be to keep your feet twinkling during this barefoot period.

A weekly pedicure should take only 15 minutes, and your reward may be little toes that give the appearance of bright seashells. Here's how:

1. Remove old nail polish with oily remover. Moisten cotton with it, pressing it against the nail for a few seconds, then wipe down with a single stroke toward the nail tip.
2. File toe nails straight across with an emery board. If nails are long use scissors to cut them, taking care not to cut them too close. Never file or cut your nails away at corners. This can cause ingrown toenails. Shape them slightly at the tip in an oval shape.
3. Soak your feet in warm soapy water, scrubbing them with a soft brush, then dry thoroughly.
4. Apply oily cuticle remover with an orangewood stick wrapped with cotton. This should be worked gently around the cuticle, pushing it back from the nail. Wipe loosened cuticle with towel or tissue.
5. After using cuticle oil go over the nails again with polish remover to remove all traces of oil.
6. Apply a polish foundation to your nails. Then choose your favorite polish, applying it sparingly with a not - too - full brush so that it does not run back on the cuticle or around the sides of the nail.
7. After the polish is dry, take cuticle oil and apply it around the cuticle. Massage cream around feet and ankles.

Pearly polishes are popular now because these give a jewel - like sparkle to the nails. You'll find them available in pink, rose, flame and even white pearl tones.

When washing a coat, be sure to remove any non-washable trimmings or shoulder pads.

How To Avoid A Fussy Look

How can I avoid a fussy look? This question is often asked by girls who want to dress smartly but somehow always wind up in some degree, overdressed.

Let's illustrate our point. We recently saw a perfect example of the fussy look. An otherwise nice-looking blonde young woman was wearing a lavender - and - white geometric print dress, the design very busy and tiring to look at. Her hat also had a design. It was a navy - and - white striped straw topped by a gewgaw.

She wore intricate sandals and had on a short navy topcoat that was far from simple. It had gigantic navy - and white cuffs and lapels.

There was nothing wrong with this girl's color scheme. But she made the mistake of having too much design in her costume. If she enjoyed a print dress, she would have made a better choice with plain hat, shoes and coat.

The lesson for anyone who would avoid the fussy look is simply this: one pattern, or design, per costume is enough. But, do you manage to get the fussy look in spite of having this knowledge? The answer may lie in your shopping habits.

Whenever you're tempted to buy a patterned garment or accessory, ask yourself exactly how many such you already have in your wardrobe. Perhaps you need to achieve balance with more plain things.

Wardrobe For Weekend Can Be Made Pretty

A smart girl with a flair for sewing can be as well dressed today as those ladies of unlimited income who enjoy yearly ratings on the lists of the "ten best-dressed."

Some of the world's best designers today are lending their talents to the pattern companies, and some of the country's top scientists are helping to perfect the finishing and quality of American fabrics.

The home sewing fan thus has at her disposal a selection of design and fabric which would have been impossible a generation ago.

The costume theme is the big idea in home dressmaking this season — planning an interchangeable wardrobe of separates which can be mixed or matched to double its utility.

The new fabric finishes, which resist wrinkling, spotting and general soil, make it possible to keep an outfit fresh for several days, and to take it from a suitcase crisp and unrumpled.

Velvet Is In The Air

Make your first important wardrobe investment for summer in velvet. Actually velvet knows no season and is a real fashion buy today. The frosted look added to the traditional glamour and luxury of velvet is making summer fashion history this season. Equally smart with tailored as with dressy fashion, it will carry you from mid-summer straight through fall, winter and spring. There is no fabric we know of as appropriate for all seasons.

French and American designers are creating exciting mid-summer fashions in velvet. There are hats varying from the tiniest shapes introduced by Christian Dior, to dramatic cartwheels by Laddie Northridge. Boleros, fly - away jackets, shoulder-shrugs and stoles —all in velvet—are currently appearing in the better stores. Exquisite bags, belts, and gloves in velvets are so regally styled that their carry-over into fall is assured. When it comes to velvet, almighty black is always good but only one of the many selections. Brilliant navy, Rennaissance and garnet rose, jade, flower colors, and ivory are important in the color range. Nothing is cosier than a bed jacket or lounging robe —for the bride or the lady around the house who likes to envelop herself in feminine pastels and the luxury look.

Influenced by the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, velvet is given unusual impetus in fashions. Once a fabulous expensive fabric, handloomed and confined only to royalty, today velvet is within the price range of every wardrobe budget.

Our mothers and grandmothers, and their grandmothers knew well the traditional beauty and elegance of velvet, but it ramained primarily a luxury for the nobility. The modern miracle of industry has produced vast improvements in the finishes over the velvet known almost a generation ago. Such superior finishes are now applied to velvets that if you buy the right type, it will give you lasting service. The experts at the Velvet Institute of America tell us that you must make sure that you have fast-pile velvet wherever rubbing occurs. For purely decorative trims, hats and accessories, the non-fast types are frosted and becoming. If you've never owned one, you might look at the regal collection of transparent velvet raincoats that are as glamourous in the pouring rain as ever a billowy ball gown.

Try Making Your Own Beach Bag

Every woman needs a carry-all bag, for motor trips, days at the beach or shopping sprees.

It's easy to make a capacious and colorful bag in a few minutes at home. The one pictured here is made of two straight strips of sanforized woven denim, striped for the outside, plain for the lining. It is completely washable and will not shrink. On laundry day, simply remove side lacings, unbutton lapover that holds embroidery-hoop handles in place, and the entire bag lies flat for washing and irnoing.

To make the bag, according to directions worked out by local sewing center experts, you require 1½ yards of striped denim and the same amount of plain denim for the lining. If you use different fabrics be sure both are market sanforized, so one won't shrink more than the other in washing. You also will need four large buttons, three yards of cord for side lacings, two 8¼ - inch (standard size) wooden embroidery hoops for handles and one 50-yard spool of mercerized thread.

Before cutting bag sections, remove selvage. Length of bag is 54 inches, width should be 23 inches including seam allowance. Place striped and plain fabric strips with wrong sides together and pin together. Next stitch the two sections together, leaving ½-inch seam allowance, stitching all the way around the four sides, except for a 12-inch opening left at one end so that the bag can be turned right side out.

Press entire length of fabric before drawing to right side, and then press again. Blind-stitch the opening so that raw edges are turned in.

Then with buttonhole attachment for your sewing machine, make four buttonholes — one at each corner, for handles. Make these buttonholes 1 inch from each corner and stitch on the lining side, which laps over to hold handles in place.

Now make seven buttonholes on each side back and front for side lacings. This makes 28 buttonholes in all. These should be 1 inch in width. To mark these buttonholes, first fold entire length of bag in half. Mark first buttonhole 1 inch up from the fold and continue to mark 1¼ inches apart until you have seven on each side, back and front.

Cut cord in two equal lengths and lace through buttonholes on each side of bag.

Draw top sections through embroidery hoop handles so that corners meet fourth buttonhole from fold. Sew large buttons at these points. Button lapover in place, and bag is completed.

If you wish more depth in bag, simply make extra side buttonholes for side lacings and shorten length of lapover. For an extra decorative touch, you may paint the hoop handles in gay colors or a floral design.

New FAB washes WHITER
WHITER WITHOUT A BLEACH THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!
AND FAB WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP ON EARTH!
BLEACH IF YOU LIKE—BUT WHETHER YOU DO OR DON'T, FAB WASHES CLOTHES WHITER THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!
GIANT SIZE
FAB
WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP
NO DULLING SOAP SCUM
WONDERFUL FOR DISHES, TOO!
WASHABLE COLORS LOOK BRIGHTER, TOO!
SO MILD TO HANDS!

Nothing whitens like FAB!

You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any other washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

WHAT'S MORE—FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt—leaves no dulling soap scum. Fab quickly loosens dirt, keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking needed.

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots, pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping—with Fab!

A COLGATE-PALMOLIVE-PEET PRODUCT

which TONI is most natural for you?
New TONI TRIO
3 custom-made permanents—ONE'S a NATURAL for you
Super Toni HOME PERMANENT REFILL my hard-to-wave hair needs urging very Gentle Toni HOME PERMANENT REFILL
my tinted hair needs pampering
Regular Toni HOME PERMANENT REFILL
my hair needs to avoid extremes

Super Toni is most natural for me!

Daphne Doré NEW YORK CITY, says: "My stubborn hair never looked naturally wavy until I used Super Toni."

For Hard-To-Wave Hair—

SUPER TONI takes beautifully and lasts longer on hair that resists ordinary permanents. Also for a curlier permanent.

Very Gentle Toni is most natural for me!

Joan Kemp SALINA, KANSAS, says: "I must be careful with my tinted hair. Very Gentle Toni is perfect."

For Easy-To-Wave Hair—

VERY GENTLE TONI is extra mild yet gives a wave that's in to stay. Also for bleached, tinted, or hair with some natural curl.

Regular Toni is most natural for me!

Pat Geoghegan NEW YORK CITY, says: "Other permanents curled too much or too little. Regular Toni waves my normal hair best of all."

For Normal Hair—

REGULAR TONI most natural Toni ever. And regular Toni holds a set longer, too. Millions of women prefer it.

HAIR DO'S AND DONT'S
BY Carol Douglas
Noted Beauty Consultant

DO "lower" a high forehead with bangs in your hairdo, "widen" a thin face with soft curls at the sides.

DON'T use an "adult" type permanent for your daughter if she's 2 to 12. Tonette by Toni is specially made for children's resistant hair. Gives natural looking, easy-to-care-for curls that won't wash out, month after month.

DO choose your own wave from the new Toni Trio—one's custom-made for your type of hair. No one permanent can be expected to wave all hair successfully.

DON'T struggle with ordinary curlers. Get Toni Spin Curlers, the world's finest. They're twice as easy, twice as fast—give a smoother, longer-lasting curl. Can be used again and again. A complete set for any home wave. Remember, only Toni makes Spin Curlers—they're patented.

HAIR DO'S AND DONT'S

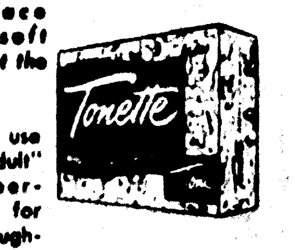
DO "lower" a high forehead with bangs in your hairdo, "widen" a thin face with soft curls at the sides.



DON'T use an "adult" type permanent for your daughter if she's 2 to 12. Tonette by Toni is specially made for children's resistant hair. Gives natural looking, easy-to-care-for curls that won't wash out, month after month.

DO choose your own wave from the new Toni Trio—one's custom-made for your type of hair. No one permanent can be expected to wave all hair successfully.

DON'T struggle with ordinary curlers. Get Toni Spin Curlers, the world's finest. They're twice as easy, twice as fast—give a smoother, longer-lasting curl. Can be used again and again. A complete set for any home wave. Remember, only Toni makes Spin Curlers—they're patented.
